22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heed of them that be thine owne household.]

23 In euery good worke be of a faithful heart: for this is the keeping of the commandements.

‖ Or, the Law.

24 Who so beleeueth in ‖ the Lord, keepeth the commandements: and he that trusteth in the Lord, shall take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answer of the wife. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 25 Of euill seruants.

§ The feare of God.

THere shall no euill come vnto him that ‖ feareth the Lord: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Law: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a shippe in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answere, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answere.

* Chap.21.16.

5 The heart of the *foolish is like a cartwheele: and his thoughtes are like a rolling axeltree.

6 As a wilde horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doth one day excell another, seeing that the light of ỹ dayes of the yere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lorde hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feastes.

9 Some of them hath he chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath he put among the dayes to number.

* Gene.1.27. and 2.7.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, and made their wayes diuers.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, & some of them hath he sanctified, & appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath he cursed, and brought them low, & put them out of their estate.

* Isa.45.9. rom.9.20,21.

12 *As the clay is in ỹ potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in ỹ hand of their Creator, so ỹ he may reward them as liketh him best.

13 Against euil is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most High thou mayst see ỹ there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lorde I am increased, and haue filled my wine presse, like a grape-gatherer.

* Chap.24.39.

16 *Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

17 Heare me, O ye great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, ye rulers of the Congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friende, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreate for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes bee excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt ende thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction & worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him goe idle, he shal seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whippe bowe downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whippes and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he goe not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if hee be not obedient, ‖ put on more heauie fetters.

§ How slaues were ordered in old time.

28 But bee not excessiue toward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 * If thou haue a faithfull seruant, let him bee vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intreat him as thy brother: for thou hast neede of him, as of thy selfe. If thou intreate him euill, and he runne away, wilt thou seeke him?

* Chap.7.20.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 18 The offrings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needie. 27 God doth not allow the works of an vnfaithfull man.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, ‖ and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that wil take holde of a shadow, and solow after the winde.

3 Euen so is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be clensed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a liar?

5 Southsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Where as such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Law shall be fulfilled without lies, and wisedome is sufficient to a faithfull mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 Whē I wandred to & fro, I saw many things, & mine vnderstanding is greater thē I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shal liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Who so ‖ feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

§ The feare of the Lord.

16 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth hee is trust? who is his strength?

16 * For the eies of the Lord haue respect vnto them, that loue him: he is their * mightie protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heat, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

* Psal.33.18. * Psal.91.1,2.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, doth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the needefull is the life of the poore: he ỹ defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.

15 Doth not the teares run downe the widowes cheekes? & her cry is against him that causeth them: [for frō her cheekes do they go vp vnto heauen, & the Lord which heareth them, doeth accept them.]

16 He that serueth ỹ Lord, shalbe accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the cloudes.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth thorowe the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, and will not depart till the most High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lorde will not be slacke, nor the Almighty will tary long from them, till hee hath smitten in sunder the loynes of the vnmercifull, and auenged himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruel, and broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, til he giue euery man after his workes, and rewarde them after their deuises, till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercie.

19 Oh how faire a thing is mercie in the time of anguish and trouble! It is like a cloude of raine, that commeth in the time of a drought.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that persecute his Church. 22 The praise of a good woman.

HAue mercy vpon vs, O Lord God of all things, and beholde vs, and [shewe vs the light of thy mercies,] 6 Renew the signes, and change the woonders: shew the glory of thine hand, and the right arme, that they may shew forth thy woondrous acts.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, & powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemie.

8 Make the time short: remember thine othe, that thy woonderons works may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the princes that be our enemies, & say, There is none other but we.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then nother.

22 The beautie of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenesse, meeknes, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

[The praise of a good woman.

24 He that hath ‖ gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and he that hath no wife, wandreth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is alway readie and wandreth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth, whereso euer the night taketh him?

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 Howe a man shoulde knowe friendes and counsellours. 12 To keepe his company that feareth God.

[Of friendship.

EVery friend saith, ‖ I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

2 Remaineth there not heauines vnto death, whe a companion & friend is turned to an enemy?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceite?

*Chap. 6. 10.

4 * There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the belies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy mind, & thinke vpon him in thy riches.

[Of whome we should take counsell.

7 Seeke no counsell at him of whome thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

*Chap. 8. 19. and 9. 16.

8 * Euery counseller praiseth his owne counsel: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

9 Beware of the counseller, and be aduised afore ‖ whereto thou wilt vse him: for he wil counsell for himselfe, least he cast the lot vpon thee,

[Or, what neede he haith.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shal become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching her of whom she is ielous, not of a coward in matters of warre, not of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankefulnesse, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhoneſt man of honestie,] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But be continuall with a godly man whome thou knowest to keepe the commaundements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sorie for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsel of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shewe more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an hie tower, 15 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure thinges appeare: good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernment ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in wordes, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all ‖ food,

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisedome.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisedome faile not.

23 A wise man shall be plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obteine credite among his people, and his name shalbe perpetuall.

26 My sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Be not ‖ greedie in all delites, and be not too hastie vpon all meates.

*Chap. 31. 19, 20.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sickenesse, and gluttonie commeth into cholericke diseases.

‖ Or, taketh heed.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but hee that ‖ dieteth himselfe prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 16 To burie the dead. 24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

[Of Physicians and physicke.

HOnour the ‖ Physician with that honour that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the King.

3 The knowledge of the Physician lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men he shalbe in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and he that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made sweet with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof?

* Exod. 15. 25.

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might be glorified in his wonderous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doeth the Apothecarie make a confection, and yet he can not finish his owne works: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sicknes, but * pray vnto the Lord, and he will make thee whole.

[God bestoweth first his benefits, & we must render a portion thereof to such vses as he appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not go from thee, for thou hast needs of him.

* Prou.15.13. and 17.22. 18 * For of heauinesse commeth death, and the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shalbe likewise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

* 2.Sam.21.10. 23 * Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdome of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisedome.

25 How can hee get wisedome that holdeth the plough, and he that hath pleasure in the goad, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breed of bullockes?

26 He giueth his minde to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut, and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfet imagerie, and watch to perfourme the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anuill, and doeth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire dryeth his flesh, and hee must fight with the heat of the fornace: the noise of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: hee setteth his mind to make vp his works: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth the wheele about with his feet: he is carefull alway at his worke, & maketh his worke by nũber.

30 Hee fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to clense the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euery one bestoweth his wisedome in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintei- ned, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Lawe, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mysterie of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 Hee shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: hee shall trauaile through strange countreyes: for hee hath tryed the good and the euill among men.

5 Hee will giue his heart to resort earely vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirite of vnderstanding, that hee may powre out wise sentences, and giue thankes vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 ‖ He shall direct his counsell and knowledge: ‖ Or, the Lord. so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 He shall shew forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 *The congregation shall declare his wisedome, and shew it. * Chap.44.15.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the same.

16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding * Gen.1.31. mar.7.37. good, and all his commandements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient they shall all bee sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man need not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigour lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shewe footth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

*Chap.40.9,10. 29 *Fire and haile, & famine, and death: al these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beastes, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sworde execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shalbe glad to do his commandements: and when neede is, they shall bee ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thought on these things, and haue put them in writing.

*Gen.1.31. 33 *All the workes of the Lord are good, and he giueth euery one in due season, & when neede is:

34 So that a man neede not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are al worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lorde with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogatiue of the feare of God.

‖The miseries of mans life. GReat ‖ trauaile is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam frō the day that they goe out of their mothers wombe, till the day that they returne to the mother of al things.

2 Namely their thoughts, and feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death,

3 Frō him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blewe silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble and vnquietnesse, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watch-tower in the day: hee is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, hee awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seuen folde to the vngodly:

*Chap.39.29,30. 9 Moreouer, * death and blood, and strife, and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the *flood also.

*Gen.7.11. *Gen.3.19. chap.41.10. *Eccles.1.7. 11 *Al things that are of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters, shall returne into the sea.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shal be put away: but ‖ faithfulnesse shall endure for euer.

14 When he openeth his hand, he reioyceth: but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane roots are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water so euer it be or water banke, it shall bee pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlinesse is a most plentifull garden of pleasure, and mercy endureth for euer.

*Phil.4.12. 1.Tim.6.6. 18 * To labour and to bee content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but he that findeth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of the city maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the haart: but the loue of wisdome is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweete noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beautie: but a greene seede time, rather then them both.

23 A friend, and companion come together at opportunitie: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends & helpe are good in the time of trouble, but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Golde and siluer fasten the feete: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde: but the feare of the Lorde is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lorde, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautiful as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggers life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nourtured, will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 7 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Lawe of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisdome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

‖Of death. O Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, and that hath prosperitie in al things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needfull, & vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is nowe in the last age & is vexed with all things, & to him y despaireth, & hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High? whether it bee tenne or an hundreth or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, & their posteritie shal haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O ye vngodly, which haue forsaken the Law of the most high God: for though you increase yet shall you perith.

9 If ye be borne, ycc shall be borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shalbe your portion.

Chap. 40. 11. 10 * All that is of the earth shall turne to earth againe: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall be put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shal continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of gold.

‖A good name. 13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but ‖ a good name endureth euer.

Chap. 20. 29. 14 My children, keepe wisedome in peace: * for wisdome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profite is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisdome.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my wordes: ‖ Of shamefastnesse. for it is not good in all things to be ‖ ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Be ashamed of whoredome before father and mother: bee ashamed of lyes before the prince and men of authoritie:

18 Of sinne before the Iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnesse before a companion and friend, 19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon ‖ the bread, or to be reproued for giuing or taking. ‖ Or, table.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinseman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to bee euil minded towards another mans wife,

22 Or to solicite any mans maide, or to stand by her bed, or to reproch thy friends with words, 23 Or to vpbraide when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueile secret wordes.

24 Thus mayest thou wel be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things: he searcheth the secrets of mens heart.

OF these things bee not thou ‖ ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person: ‖ In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

2 Of the Lawe of the most High and his couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, and of strangers: or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To bee diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sel marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beate an euil seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euil wife is, and to locke where many handes are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, & weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned, and the vnwise, & the aged, that contend against the yong: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

9 ¶ The daughter ‖ maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnes that he hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the youth, least shee should passe the flower of her age: and when shee hath an husband, least she should be hated. ‖ Or, is a secret watch to the father.

10 In her virginitie, least shee should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, & when she is with her husband, lest she misbehaue herselfe: and when she is married, lest she cõtinue vnfruitful.

11 * If thy daughter be vnshamefast, keepe her streightly, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the citie, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publique shame. Chap. 26. 10.

12 *Behold not euery bodies beautie, and companie not among women. Chap. 25. 13.

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments: *so doeth wickednes of the woman. * Gen. 3. 6.

14 The wickednesse of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproche.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lorde, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The sunne ỹ shineth, looketh vpon all things, & al the worke therof is ful of ỹ glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lorde appointed that his Saints should declare all his wonderous works, which the Almightie Lorde hath stablished to confirme all things by in his Maiestie?

18 He seeketh out the depth, & the heart, and he knoweth their practises: for the Lorde knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past and for to come, and discloseth the pathes of things that are secret.

20 * No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him. Iob 42. 4. Isai. 29. 15.

21 Hee hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisdome, and hee is from euerlasting to euerlasting, & for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be minished: hee hath no need of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all, and endure for euer: and whensoeuer neede is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double, one against another: hee hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one ‖ commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can bee satisfied with beholding Gods glory? ‖ Or, stablisheth.

CHAP. XLIII.

The glorie of the creation of the workes of God.

THis hie ornament ‖ the cleare firmament, the beautie of the heauen so glorious to behold, ‖ The wonderfull workes of God.

2 The sunne also a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth, at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heate thereof?

4 The sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a fornace with continuall heate: it casteth out the fierie vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement he caused it to runne hastily.

6 * The moone also hath hee made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world. Genes. 1. 16.

7 * The feastes are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the ende. Exod. 12. 2.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commandement of the Holy one they continue in their order, & faile not in their watch.

*Gene.9.13,14. 11 ¶ * Looke vpon the rainebowe, and praise him that made it: very beautiful is it in the brightnesse thereof.

*Isa.40.12. 12 * It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the handes of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commandement he maketh the snow to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie foorth as the foules.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth: so doeth the storme of the North: the whirlewind also, as birdes that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof is as the grashoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salte, and when it is frosen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the cold North winde bloweth, an yce is frosen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, & burneth the wildernes, & destroieth that that is greene, like fire.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dewe commeth vpon the heate, it refresheth it.

23 [By his word he stilleth the winde:] by his counsell he appeaseth the deepe, and planteth ylands therein.

24 They that saile ouer the sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marueile thereat.

25 For there be strange & wonderous workes, diuers maner of beasts, and the creation of whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good end, and are stablished by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, wee can not attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of al, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to praise him? for hee is aboue all his workes.

*Psal.96.4. 29 The Lord is terrible, and very * great, and marueilous is his power.

30 Praise the Lord, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre exceede: exalt him with all your power, and be not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

*Psal.106.2. Iohn 4.18. 31 *Who hath seene him, that he might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is?

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, & we haue seene but a fewe of his works.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisedome to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

LEt vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowmed for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophecies.

4 *They gouerned the people by counsel and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences. *Exod.18.19.

5 They inuented the melodie of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, & were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shalbe spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memoriall, * and are perished, as though they had neuer bene, and are become, as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them. *Gen.7.22.

10 But the former were mercifull men, whose righteousnesse hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whose posteritie a good inheritance is reserued, & their seed is conteined in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is conteined in the couenant, and their posteritié after them.

13 Their seed shall remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodyes are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 * The people speake of their wisedome, and the congregation talke of their praise. *Chap.39.13.

16 ‖ * Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore was he translated for an example of repentance to the generations. ‖ Enoch. * Gene 5.24. hebr.11.5.

17 ‖ * Noe was found perfite, and in the time of wrath he had a reward: therefore was he left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came. ‖ Noe. * Gene.6.9. and 7.1. heb.11.7.

18 An euerlasting couenant was made with him, that all flesh should no more * perish by the flood. * Gene.9.11.

19 ‖ Abraham was a * great father of many people: in glory was there none like vnto him. ‖ Abraham. * Gene 12.3. and 15.5. and 17.4.

20 He kept the Law of the most High, and was in couenant with him, and he set the couenant * in his flesh, and in tentation he was found faithfull. * Gene.21.4.

21 Therefore he assured him by an * othe, that he would blesse the nations in his seed, and that he would multiplie him as the dust of the earth, and exalt his seede as the starres, and cause them to inherite from sea to sea, and from the Riuer vnto the end of the world. * Gene.22.16, 17,18. galat.3.8

22 * With ‖ Isaac did he confirme likewise for Abraham his fathers sake, the blessing of all men, and the couenant, * Gene.26.2,3. ‖ Isaac.

23 And caused it to rest vpon the head of ‖ Iacob, and ‖ made himselfe knowen by * his blessings, and gaue him an heritage, & diuided his portions, * and parted them among the twelue tribes. ‖ Iacob. ‖ Or, knew him. * Gene.27.28. and 28.1. * Gene.28.14.

24 And hee brought out of him a ‖ mercifull man, which found fauour in the sight of all flesh. ‖ Ioseph.

CHAP. XLV.

The prayse of Moyses, Aaron, and Phinees.

AND ‖ Moyses, the * beloued of God and men, brought he forth, whose remembrance is blessed. ‖ Moyses. * Exod.11.3. actes 7.22.

2 Hee made him like to the glorious Saintes, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

3 By his wordes hee caused the wonders to cease, and he made him * glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commandements for his people, and shewed him his glory.

4 * He sanctified him with faithfulnesse, and meekenesse, and chose him out of all men.

5 He caused him to heare his voice, & brought him into the darke cloud, * and there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the Law of life and knowledge, that he might teach Iacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

6 He exalted || Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen his brother of the tribe of Leui.

7 An euerlasting couenant made he with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, & made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 Hee put perfect ioy vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

9 He compassed him about with belles of gold, and with many belles round about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, & might make a noyse in the Sanctuarie, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people,

10 And with an holy garment, with golde also, and blue silke, and purple, and diuers kindes of workes, and with a breastlappe of iudgement, and with the || signes of trueth,

11 And with worke of skarlet cunningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like seales, and set in gold by goldsmithes worke for a memoriall, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel,

12 And with a crowne of gold vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on, but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholy consumed euery day twise continually.

15 * Moyses filled his hands, and anointed him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, & to his seede, so long as the heauens should remaine, that he should minister before him, and also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and blesse his people in his Name.

16 Before all men liuing the Lord chose him that he should present offerings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 *He gaue him also his commandements, and authoritie according to the Lawes appointed, that he should teach Iacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Law.

18 * Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wildernesse, euen the men that tooke Dathans and Abirams part, and the companie of Core in furie and rage.

19 This the Lord sawe, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: he did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fierie flame.

20 *But he made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruites of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eat of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his seede.

22 * Els had he none heritage in the land of his people, neither had he any portion amõg the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

23 The third in glory is || *Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because he had zeale in the feare of the Lorde, and stood vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chiefe of the Sanctuarie and of his people, and that he and his posteritie should haue the dignitie of the Priesthood for euer,

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdom should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the only sonne of his sonne, and to his seed. God giue vs wisdome in our heart to iudge his people in righteousnesse, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glorie may endure for their posteritie.

18 So he discomfited the princes of the Tyrians, and all the rulers of the Philistims.

*1.Sam.12.3. 19 * And before his long sleepe he made protestation in the sight of the Lorde, and his anoynted, that he tooke no substance of any man, no not so much as a shooe, and no man could accuse him.

*1.Sam.28.18, 19. 20 * After his sleepe also hee tolde of the Kings death, and from the earth lift hee vp his voyce, and prophesied that the wickednesse of the people should perish.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, Dauid and Salomon.

||Nathan. *2.Sam.12.1. AFter him rose vp || * Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

2 For as the fatte is taken away from the peace offering, so was || Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

||Dauid. *1.Sam.17.34. 3 * Hee played with the lions, as with kids, and with beares, as with lambes.

*1.Sam.17.49, 50,51. 4 * Slewe hee not a gyant when hee was yet but yong, and tooke away the rebuke from the people, when he lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beate downe the pride of Goliah?

5 For he called vpon the most high Lord, which gaue him strength in his right hand, to slay that mightie warriour, and that he might set vp the horne of his people againe.

*1.Sam.18.7. ||Or, the people. ||Or, with thesongs of the Lord. *2.Sam.5.7. 6 *So ||hee gaue him the praise of ten thousand, and honoured him with ||great praises, and gaue him a crowne of glory.

7 * For he destroyed the enemies on euery side and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day.

8 In all his workes he praised the Holy one, and the most High with honorable words, and with his whole heart he sung songs, & loued him ỹ made him.

*1.Chro.16.4. 9 * Hee set singers also before the altar, and according to their tune hee made sweete songs, that they might praise God dayly with their songs.

10 He ordeined to keepe the feast-dayes comely, and appointed the times perfitly, that they might prayse the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to sound in the morning.

*2.Sam.12.13. 11 *The Lorde tooke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him the couenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glory in Israel.

12 After him rose vp a wise sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.

||Salomon. *1.King.4.21,24. 13 || *Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet round about, that he might builde an house in his Name, and prepare the Sanctuary for euer.

14 * How wise wast thou in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding as with a flood!

15 Thy minde couered the whole earth, & hath filled it with graue and darke sentences.

16 Thy Name went abroade in the yles, and for thy peace thou wast beloued.

*1.King.4.31,32. 17 * The countreis marueiled at thee for thy songs, and prouerbes, and similitudes, and interpretations.

18 By the Name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast *gathered golde as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as lead. *1.King.10.27.

19 * Thou diddest bowe thy loynes to women, and wast ouercome by thy body. *1.King.12.12.

20 Thou diddest staine thine honour, and hast defiled thy posteritie, and hast brought wrath vpon thy children, and hast felt sorow for thy folly.

21 * So the kingdome was deuided, and Ephraim began to be a rebellious kingdome. *1.King.12.25, 16,17. *2.Sam.15.16.

22 Neuertheles the Lord left not off his mercy, neither was he destroyed for his works, neither did hee abolish the posteritie of his elect, nor tooke away the seede of him that loued him, but hee left a remnant vnto Iacob, & a roote of him vnto Dauid.

23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, and of his seede hee left behinde him ||Roboam, euen || the foolishnesse of the people, and one that had no vnderstanding, * who turned away the people through his counsell, || and Ieroboam the sonne of Nabat, * which caused Israel to sinne, and shewed Ephraim the way of sinne, ||Roboam. ||Or, a most euident folie. *1.King.12.10, 11,13,14. ||Ieroboam. *1.King.12.28, 30.

24 So that their sinnes were so much increased, that they were driuen out of the land.

25 For they sought out all wickednesse, till the vengeance came vpon them.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Eliseus, & Ezekias, and Isaias.

||Elias. *1.King.17.1. THen stood vp || *Elias the Prophet as a fire, and his word burnt like a lampe.

2 Hee brought a famine vpon them, and by his zeale hee diminished them: [for they might not away with the commandements of the Lord.]

3 By the worde of the Lord he shut the heauen, * and three times brought he the fire from heauen. *1.King.18.38. *and 2.king.1.10, 12.

4 O Elias, how honorable art thou by thy wõderous deeds! who may make his bost to be like thee! *1.King.17.21, 22.

5 *Which hast raised vp the dead from death, & by the word of the most High out of the graue:

6 Which hast brought Kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their seate:

7 Which heardest the rebuke of the Lord in Sina, *and in Horeb the iudgment of the vengeance: *1 King.19.15.

8 *Which diddest anoint Kings that they might ||recompence, and Prophets to be thy successours: *1.Kin.19.16,17. ||The wickednes of Achab and Iezabel.

9 * Which wast taken vp in a whirle-winde of fire, and in a charet of fierie horses: *2.King.2.11. *Mala.4.5.

10 Which wast appointed * to reproue in due season, and to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before it kindled, and to turne the heartes of the fathers vnto the children, & to set vp the tribes of Iacob.

11 Blessed were they that sawe thee, and slept in loue: for we shall liue.

12 * When Elias was couered with the storme, ||Eliseus was filled with his spirit: while he liued, he was not mooued for any prince, neither could any bring him into subiection. *2 King.2.11,15, ||Eliseus.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, * and after his death his body prophesied. *2.King.13.21.

14 He did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes marueilous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their sinnes: * till they were caried away prisoners out of their land, and were scattered through all the earth, so that there remained but a very fewe people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid. *2.King.18.11,12.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

‖Ezekias. 17 ‖*Ezekias made his city strong, and conueyed water into the middes thereof: hee digged thorow the rocke with yron, & made fountaines of waters.

2.King.18.13. *2.King.18.13. 18 *In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rabsaces, and lift vp his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their hearts and hands, so that they sorowed like a woman in trauel.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is mercifull, and lift vp their handes vnto him, and immediatly the holy one heard them out of heauen.

21 [He thought no more vpon their sinnes, nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered them by the hand of Esai.

*2.King.19.35. isa.37.36. tob.1.18. 1.mac.4.41. 2.mac.8.19. ‖Isaias. 22 *He smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Lorde, and remained stedfastly in the wayes of Dauid his father, as ‖Esai the great Prophet, and faithfull in his vision had commanded him.

*2.King.20. 10,11. isa.38.8. 24 * In his time the sonne went backeward, and he lengthened the Kings life.

25 Hee sawe by an excellent Spirit what should come to passe at the last, and hee comforted them that were sorowfull in Sion.

26 Hee shewed what shoulde come to passe for euer, and secret things, or euer they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Ezekias, Dauid, Ieremie, Ezekiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, Nehemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Sem and Seth.

‖Iosias. THe remembrance of ‖* Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the arte of the apothecaire: it is sweete as hony in all mouthes, and as musike at a banquet of wine.

*2.King.22.1. and 23.2. 2.chron.34.3. 2 Hee behaued himselfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away al abominations of iniquitie.

*2.King.23.3. 3 Hee * directed his heart vnto the Lord, and in the time of the vngodly he established religion.

4 Al, except Dauid and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednesse: for euen the Kings of Iuda forsooke the Lawe of the most High, and failed.

12 So was ‖*Iesus also the sonne of Iosedec: these men in their time builded the house, and set vp the Sanctuarie of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euerlasting worship.

13 ¶*And among the elect was ‖Neemias, whose renoume is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were fallen, and set vp the gates and the barres, and layed the foundations of our houses.

CHAP. L.

Of Simon the sonne of Onias. 22 An exhortation to prayse the Lord. 27 The authour of this booke.

‖Simon. *2.Mac.3.4. ‖Or, people. ‖ SImon *the sonne of Onias the hie Priest, which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the ‖Temple,

2 Vnder him was the foundation of the double height layed, and the hie wals that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasse was about in measure as the sea.

4 He tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house couered with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning starre in the middes of a cloude, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, and as the rainebowe that is bright in the faire cloudes,

8 And as the flowre of the roses in the spring of the yeere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of sommer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of massie golde, set with all maner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire oliue tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth vp to the cloudes.

11 When he put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with al beautie, he went vp to the holy altar, & made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When he tooke the portions out of ỹ Priests handes, he himselfe stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed w̃ his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the stones of Aaron in their glory, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the generation of Israel.

14 And that he might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almightie, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and hee powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most High king of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, & made a great noise to bee heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hasted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God almightie, and most High.

18 The singers also sang with their voyces, so that the sound was great, and the melodie sweete.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lorde most High high with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went hee downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise all ye vnto God that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dayes from the wombe, & dealt with vs according to his mercie,

23 That he would giue vs ioyfulnesse of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in olde time, 24 That he would confirme his mercy with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two maner of people, that mine heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountaine of Samaria, the Philistims, and the foolish people that dwel in ‖ Sicinus.

‖ Or, Sichem.

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Syrach, the sonne of Eleazarus of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisdome of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: and he that layeth vp these in his heart, shalbe wise.

29 For if he doe these things, he shalbe strong in all things: for he setteth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdome to the godly. The Lord be praised for euermore: So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Syrach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God, my sauiour: I will giue thanks vnto thy name.

2 For thou art my defender & helper, and hast preserued my body from destruction, and from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lippes that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen mee against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercy, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, & out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifolde afflictions, which I had,

4 And frō the fire that choked me round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the bellie of hell, from an vncleane tongue, from lying words, from false accusation to the king, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shall praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, and there was no man to helpe me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuerest such as wait for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the ‖ enemies.

‖ Or, nations.

9 Then lifted I vp my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, & in the time of the proud without helpe.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and will sing praise with thanksgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauedst mee from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks, and praise thee, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet yoong, or euer I went abroad, I desired wisdome openly in my prayer.

14 I praied for her before the Temple, & sought after her vnto farre countries, & she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foot walked in the right way, and from my youth vp sought I after her.

16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wisdome.

17 And I profited by her: therefore wil I ascribe the glorie vnto him, that giueth me wisdome.

18 For I am aduised to doe thereafter: I will be ielous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my works: I lifted vp mine hands on hie, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureness: I haue had my heart ioyned with her frō the beginning: therefore shal I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 Draw nere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are ye slow? and what say you of these things, seeing your soules are very thirstie?

25 I opened my mouth, and sayd, * Buy her for you without money.

* Isa.55.1

26 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is readie that ye may finde her.

27 Beholde with your eyes, * how that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest.

* Chap.6.18.

28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much golde.

29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.

30 Doe your duetie betimes, and hee will giue you a reward at his time.

BARVCH.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the words of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of ‖ Asadias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon, ‖ Or, Sedeia.

2 In the fift yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Ioacim king of Iuda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke,

4 And

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the Kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, frō the lowest vnto the hiest, before all them ỹ dwelt at Babyloh by the riuer ‖Sud.

‖Or, Sodi.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power,

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioacim ỹ sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom priest, and vnto the other priests, & to all the people which were with him at Ierusalem,

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth ‖ Siuan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Iosias king of Iuda had made,

‖Or, Siban.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had led away Ieconias from Ierusalem, & his princes, and his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.

10 And they sayd, Beholde, wee haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a ‖ meat offring, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God,

‖Or, Manna, for Minhah, which was the euening and morning sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen, 12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that wee may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long do them seruice, & finde fauour in their sight.

13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the furie of the Lord and his wrath is not turned from vs.)

14 And reade this booke (which we haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.

*Ezra.2.5.

15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousnes, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And to our Kings, and to our Princes, and to our Priests, and to our Prophets, and to our fathers,

*Dan.9.5.

17 Because wee haue * sinned before the Lord our God,

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and we haue bene negligent to heare his voyce.

*Deut.28.59.

20 *Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that hee brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day, 21 Neuertheless, we haue not hearkened vnto the voice of the Lord our God, according to al the words of the Prophets, whom he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 Hee promiseth that hee will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and euerlasting Testament.

THerefore the Lord our God hath performed his word, which he pronounced against vs, and against our iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Princes, and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things that were * written in the Law of Moyses,

*Deut.28.53.

3 That some among vs should eate the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreouer, hee hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the kingdomes, that are round about vs, to be as a reproch and desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

*Chap.1.15.

6 * To the Lord our God apperteineth righteousnes, but vnto vs and to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord, that wee might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his works, which hee hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

*Dan.9.15.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an hie arme, & with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs fauor in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

*Deut.26.15. *isa 63.15. *Psal.6 5.6. and 115.17.18. isa. 38.18.

17 *Open thine eyes, and beholde: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, *giue vnto the Lord neither ‖praise, nor righteousnesse.

‖Or, glorie, or praise of righteousnesse.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatnesse of sinne, and he that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungrie soule will giue thee praise and righteousnesse, O Lord.

19 For we doe not require mercy in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousnesse of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by ‖ thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

* Iere.27.7.

21 *Thus saith the Lord, Bowe downe your shoulders, & serue the king of Babylon: so shal ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if yee will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I will cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will cause to cease the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shalbe desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets: namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers should be caryed out of their places.

25 And lo, they are cast out to the heate of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie, 28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou diddest command him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

* Leuit.26.14. deut.18.15.

29 *If ye wil not obey my voice, then shal this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very fewe among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I kuow that they wil not heare me: for it is a stiffenecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselues, 31 And knowe that I am the Lord their God: then wil I giue thē an heart to vnderstand, & eares.

32 And they shal heare, & praise me in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backes, and from their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shalbe Lordes of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I wil make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will bee their God, and they shal be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begunne for their deliuerance. 9 Hee praiseth wisdome vnto the people, shewing, that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Onely God was the finder of wisedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lorde Almightie, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirite that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lorde, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pitie vpon vs, because wee haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, & we vtterly perish.

4 O Lorde Almightie, the God of Israel, heare nowe the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voice of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednes of our fathers, but thinke vpō thy power, & thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lorde our God, and thee, O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for wee haue considered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Beholde, wee are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commaundements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisedome.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a strange countrey?

11 And art defiled with the dead? and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken ỹ fountaine of wisdome.

13 For if thou hadst walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisdome, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest know also from whence commeth long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer & golde, wherein men trust, & made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coined siluer, & were so careful of their worke, and whose inuention had none end, 19 Are come to nought, & gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steads.

20 When they were yoong, they saw the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the paths thereof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bin heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisdome vpon the earth, nor the marchants of Merran, & of Theman, nor ỹ expounders of fables, nor ỹ searchers out of wisdome haue knowen the way of wisdome, neither do they thinke vpon the paths thereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the House of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is hie, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the giants famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdome, & perished through their own foolishnes.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the clouds?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her, rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth al things, knoweth her, and he hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is hee which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it w̃ foure footed beasts.

33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and whē he calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce, When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulnesse they shewe light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iaakob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward hee was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Lawe, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

THis is the booke of the commaundements of God, and the Law that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnesse before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honor to another, nor ŷ things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Israel.

6 Ye are sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Yee haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and ye haue grieued Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When she saw the wrath comming vpō you frō God, she said, Hearken, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauines.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Euerlasting wil bring vpon them.

11 With ioy did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widowe, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Lawe of God.

13 They would not know his righteousnes, nor walke in the way of his commaundements: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousnesse.

14 Come, yee that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuity of my sonnes & daughters, which the euerlasting hath brought vpō them.

15 For hee hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the handes of your enemies.

19 Go your way, O children, goe your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon mee the sackecloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I will call vpon the Euerlasting.

21 Bee of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and hee will deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation through the Euerlasting, and ioy is come vpon mee from the Holy one, because of the mercy, which shall quickly come vnto you from our euerlasting Sauiour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, & mourning: but with ioy and perpetual gladnesse wil God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly your saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glory, and brightnesse from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crie vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to go astray from your God, so endeuour your selues ten times more to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, wil bring you euerlasting ioy againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is she that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, & was glad of thy fal, so shal she be sory for her owne desolation.

34 For I wil take away the reioycing of her great multitude, & her ioy shalbe turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, and she shalbe inhabited of deuils for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem, looke toward the East, and behold the ioy that cōmeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Lo, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let go) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

PVt off thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour, that commeth vnto thee from God, for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousnesse, that commeth from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euerlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, euer, The peace of righteousnesse, and the glory of the worship of God.

5 Arise, O Ierusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee toward the East, and beholde thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the word of the holy one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foot, & were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery hie mountaine, and the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto ỹ honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweet smelling trees shall ouershadow Israel at the commandement of God.

9 For God shal bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercy and righteousnesse that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPY OF THE EPISTLE THAT Ieremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

BEcause of the sinnes, that ye haue committed against God, ye shalbe led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remaine there many yeeres, and a long season, euen seuen generations: and after that will I bring you againe peaceably from thence.

3 * Now shall ye see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 Beware therefore that yee in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them,

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, wee must worship thee.

6 For mine Angell shall be with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselues are gilted, & layd ouer with siluer: yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a maid that loueth to be decke, 9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priests themselues conuey away the golde and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon them selues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of gold, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet can not they be preserued from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them ẅ clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certeine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is he not able to defend himselfe from battell, nor from theeues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessel that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken,

16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feet of those that come in:

17 And as the ‖ gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the King: or as one that should be led to be put to death: so the priests keepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, and with bares, lest their gods should be spoyled by robbers. ‖ Or, courts.

18 They light vp candles before them, yea, more then for themselues, whereof they can not see one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.

19 They consume, ỹ euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoake that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallowes & birds flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this yee may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 * They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feet, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worth: yea, and they that worship them, are ashamed. *Isai.46.7.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they can not rise vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vpright, can they moue of themselues, neither if they be bowed downe, can they make themselues streight: but they set gifts before them, as vnto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their Priests sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their sacrifices: by these things ye may know that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of siluer, and golde, and wood.

30 And the priestes sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed,

31 They roare, and cry before their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and children.

33 Whether it be euil that one doth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a King nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vow vnto them and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mightie.

36 They cannot restore a blind man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his need.

37 They can shew no mercy to the widow, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, golde, and siluer, are as stones, that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they they that worship them shalbe confounded,

39 How should a man then thinke or say that they are gods?

40 Moreouer the Chaldeans themselues dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee woulde make him to speake, as though he had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

42 Furthermore, the women, girded with coards, ‖Or, braun. sit in the streets, and burne ‖ straw.

43 And if one of them be drawen away, and lie with any such as come by, shee casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because she was not so woorthily reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lies: how may it then be thought or sayd, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmiths make them, neither be they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therfore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there cōmeth any warre or plague vpon them, the priests imagine within themselues where they may hide themselues with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselues from warre nor from plagues?

50 For *seeing they be but of wood, & of siluer, *Psal. 135. 4. and of golde, men shal know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations and Kings, that they be no gods, but the works of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no King in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, the priests will escape and saue themselues, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any king or enemies: how can it then be thought or said ỹ they be gods?

56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can neither defend themselues frō theeues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their golde and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselues.

58 Therefore it is better to be a King, and so to shew his power, or els a profitable vessell in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profit, then such false gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as be therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the sunne, and the moone, & the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessarie vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: & the wind bloweth in euery country.

61 And when God cōmandeth the clouds to go about the whole world, they do as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hilles and woods, it doeth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme, nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.

64 Forsomuch now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse kings:

66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and do themselues good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes, they are no gods: therfore feare them not.

69 For as a skar-crow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnesse, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they themselues shalbe consumed at the last, and they shall be a shame to the country.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shalbe farre from reproofe.

The song of the three children, which followeth in the third chapter of Daniel after this place, They fell downe bound into the middes of the hote firie fornace.

CHAP. I.

23 The prayer of Azarias. 46 The cruelties of the King. 48 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angell of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The three children praise the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 AND they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stood vp, and prayed on this maner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, sayd, 26 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is woorthy to be praised and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy works are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certeine.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespassed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haddest commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the handes of our wicked enemies, and most hatefull traitours, and to an vnrighteous King, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And nowe we may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy names sake, we beseech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy couenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaacs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake, 36 To whome thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiply their seed as the starres of heauen, & as the sand that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For wee, O Lord, are become lesse then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes:

38 So ỳ nowe we haue neither prince, nor prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that we might finde mercie.

39 Neuertheless, in a contrite heart and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rams and bullockes, and as in ten thousand of fat lambes, so let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindnesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord, 44 That all they which doe thy seruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou only art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the ouen hote with naphtha, and with pitch, and with towe, and with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the fornace fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeans, that it found by the fornace.

49 But the Angel of the Lorde went downe into the fornace with them that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fire out of the fornace, 50 And made in the middes of the fornace like a moyst hissing winde, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieued nor troubled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the fornace, saying, 52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praysed, and exalted aboue all things for euer, and blessed bee thy glorious and holy Name, and praised aboue all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Blessed bee thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and praysed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Blessed bee thou that beholdest the depthes, and sittest vpon the Cherubims, and praysed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Blessed bee thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praysed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised aboue all things, and glorified for euer.

57 All ye works of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

58 O *heauens, blesse ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer. *Psal. 148 4.

59 O Angels of the Lorde, blesse yee the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

60 Al ye waters that be aboue the heauen, blesse ye the Lorde: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

61 Al ye powers of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer

62 O sunne & moone, blesse ye the Lord: prayse him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

63 O starres of heauen, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

64 Euery showre and dewe, blesse ye the Lorde: praise him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

THE HISTORIE OF ‖SVSANna, which some ioyne to the ende of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

‖Or, Sosanna.

8 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Susanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They solicite her to wickednesse. 23 She chuseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accused. 45 Daniel doeth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioacim,

2 And he tooke a wife, whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moyses.

4 Now Ioacim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because he was more honourable then all others.

5 The same yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, such as the Lord speaketh of that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which seemed to rule the people.

6 These haunted Ioacims house, and all such as had any thing to doe in the Lawe, came thither vnto them.

7 Nowe when ỹ people departed away at noone, Susanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders sawe her that shee went in dayly and walked, so that their lust was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their minde, and cast downe their eyes, that they should not see heauen, nor remember iust iudgements.

10 And albeit they both were wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shewe another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one sayd to the other, Let vs go now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed, one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Now when they had spyed out a conuenient time, that shee went in, as her maner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to wash herselfe in the garden (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hidde themselues, and watched for her:

17 She said to her mayds, Bring me oyle & sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

18 And they did as shee bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselues at a backe doore, to fet the thing that shee had commaunded them: but they sawe not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Nowe when the maydes were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, saying, 20 Beholde, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lye with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witnes against thee, that a yong man was with thee: and therefore thou diddest send away thy mayds from thee.

22 Then Susanna sighed, & sayd, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I do this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I do it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, & not do it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Susanna cried with a loud voyce, and the two Elders cried out against her.

25 Then ran the one, & opened the gardē doore.

26 ¶ So when the seruants of the house heard the crie in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Susanna.

28 On the morow after, came the people to Ioacim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischieuous imagination against Susanna, to put her to death, 29 And said before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Helcias Ioacims wife. And immediatly they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kindred.

31 Now Susanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commanded to vncouer her face (for she was couered) that they might so be satisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two Elders stood vp in the middes of the people, and layd their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders said, As we walked in the garden alone, she came in with two mayds, whom she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.

38 Then we which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ranne vnto them, and we saw them as they were together,

39 But wee could not holde him: for hee was stronger stronger then we, & opened ſ doore, & leaped out.

40 Nowe when we had taken this woman, wee asked her what yong man this was, but shee would not tell vs: of these things are we witnesses.

41 Then the assemblie beleeued them, as those that were the Elders and Iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out with a loud voice, & said, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witnesse against me, and behold, I must die whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when she was led to bee put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.

46 Who cryed with a loud voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them towarde him, and sayde, What meanie these wordes, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, and said, Are ye such foodes, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witnesse against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit down among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto thē, Put these two aside, one farre from another, & I will examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder, one from another, he called one of them and said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, nowe thy sinnes which thou hast committed aforetime, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie go free, albeit the Lord saith, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. * Exod. 23. 7.

54 Now then if thou hast seene her, tell me, vnder what tree sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentiske tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verily thou hast lyed against thine owne ‖ head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two. ‖ Or, life.

56 So put he him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou seed of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hath deceiued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Nowe therefore tell me, vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a ‖ prime tree. ‖ Or, mirtle tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verily thou hast also lyed against thine head: so the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cryed with a loud voyce, and prayse God which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witnesse by their owne mouth)

62 * And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. * Deut. 19. 19. prou. 19. 5.

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Iocim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day foorth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was laid with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

THE HISTORIE OF BEL

and of the Dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

NOwe when King Astyages was laid with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued his kingdome.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Nowe the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euery day twelue ‖ great measures of fine flowre, and fourtie sheepe, and sixe great ‖ pots of wine.

‖ Called Attaba, whereof euery one conteined somewhat more then nine gallons, which make in all an hundreth and eight gallons at the least.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: But Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with handes, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? seest thou not howe much he eateth and drinketh euery day?

‖ Called Metreta, and euery one of these measures conteined about ten gallons, which in all make threescore.

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O king, be not deceiued: for this is but clay within, and brasse without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for his Priests, and said vnto them, if ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shall die:

9 But if yee can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for he hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the King, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Nowe the Priestes of Bel were threescore and ten, beside their wiues and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Priests said, Behold, we will go out, and set thou the meate there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet:

12 And to morowe when thou commest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we will suffer death, or else Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themselues sure inough:

for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the King set meates before Bel. Nowe Daniel had commanded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the Temple, in the presence of the king alone: then went they out, & shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet, & so departed.

15 Nowe in the night came the Priestes, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes the King arose, and Daniel with him.

17 And the king said, Daniel, are ỹ seales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they be whole.

18 And assoone as he had opened the doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loude voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and helde the King that he should not goe in, and said, Beholde nowe the pauement, and marke well whose footsteppes are these.

20 And the king said, I see the footsteps of men, women, & children: therefore the king was angry.

21 And tooke the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 Therefore the king slewe them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreouer in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King said vnto Daniel, Sayest thou, that this is of brasse also? loe, he liueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing god: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the King, I will worship the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.

26 But giue me leaue, O King, and I will slay this dragon without sword or staffe. And the King said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fat, and haire, and did seethe them together, and made lumpes thereof: this hee put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel said, Behold, whom ye worship.

28 When the Babolonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The king is become a Iew: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the Priestes to death.

29 So they came to the King, and said, Deliuer vs Daniel, or else we will destroy thee, and thine house.

30 Now when the King saw, that they preassed sore vpon him, and that necessitie constreined him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lyons denne, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lyons, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies & two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iurie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said vnto Abbacuc, Goe, cary the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lyons denne.

35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon me, and thou neuer fayledst them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.

40 Vpon the seuenth day, the King went to bewaile Daniel: and when he came to the denne, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sate in the middes of the Lyons.

41 Then cryed the King with a loude voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the denne, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

THE FIRST BOOKE of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

AFTER that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philippe, went foorth of the land of Chettiim, and slewe Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia, 2 He tooke great warres in hand, and wanne strong holdes, and slewe the kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow the endes of the world, and tooke spoyles of many nations, insomuch that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hautie.

4 Now when he had gathered a mighty strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, and knewe that he should die.

7 Then he called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had bene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he dyed.

9 And his seruants reigned euery one in his roume.

10 And they all caused themselues to be crowned ned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, euen Antiochus ‖ Epiphanes, the sonne of King Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundreth and seuen & thirtieth yere of the kingdome of the Greekes.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entised many, saying, Let vs go, and make a couenant with the heathen, that are round about vs: for since we departed from them, we haue had much sorow.

13 So this deuise pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready, and went to the King, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the facions of the heathen, 16 And made themselues [a] vncircumcised, & forsooke the holy Couenant, and ioyned themselues to the heathen, and were solde to do mischiefe.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore he entred into Egypt with a mightie company, with chariots, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie, 19 And mooued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, & fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoyles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundreth, fourtie and three yeere, 22 And went vp towarde Israel and Ierusalem with a mightie people, 23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden altar, and the candlesticke for the light, and al the instruments thereof, and the table of the shewbread, and the powring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden basins and the vaile, and the crownes, and the golden apparel, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 He tooke also the siluer & gold, and the precious iewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee found, and when hee had taken away all, he departed into his owne land, 25 After he had murthered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, and shee that sate in the marriage chamber, was in heauinesse.

29 The land also was mooued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeres the king sent his chiefe taxemaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in deceite, and they gaue credite vnto him.

32 Then hee fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when he had spoyled the citie, he set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the citie of Dauid with a great and thicke wall, and with mightie towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreouer they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselues therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and vitailes, and gathered the spoyle of Ierusalem, and layed it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare and were in ambushment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuarie, and defiled the Sanctuary.

40 Insomuch that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom shee had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuarie was left waste as a wildernes: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproche, and her honour brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorow.

43 Also the King wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes. Ioseph. Antiq. cap. 6. & 7.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idols, & defiled the Sabbath.

46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should folow the strange lawes of the countrey, 47 And that they shoulde forbid the burnt offerings, & sacrifices, & the ‖ offrings in the Sanctuary, Or, drinke offerings.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feastes.

49 And pollute the Sanctuary & the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars, and groues, and chappels of idols, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beastes,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannes, and pollute themselues, that they might forget the Lawe, and change all the ordinances, 52 And that whosoeuer would not doe according to the commandements of the King, should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote hee throughout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things,

54 And he commanded the cities of Iuda to do sacrifice, citie by citie, 55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Lawe, and so they committed euil in the land.

56 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euen whereso euer they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Casleu, in the hundreth and fiue and fourtieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Iuda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the ſtreetes they burnt incenſe.

59 And the bookes of the Lawe, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whoſoeuer had a booke of the Teſtament founde by him, or whoſoeuer conſented vnto the Lawe, the Kings commaundement was, that they ſhould put him to death by their authoritie.

61 And they executed theſe things euery moneth vpon the people of Iſrael that were founde in the cities.

62 And in the fiue & twentieth day of the moneth, they did ſacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the ſtead of the altar of ſacrifices.

63 And according to the commandement, they put certaine women to death, which had cauſed their children to be circumciſed, 64 And they hanged vp the children at their neckes, and they ſpoyled their houſes, and ſlewe the circumciſers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Iſrael, which were of courage, and determined in themſelues, that they would not eate vncleane things,

7 And he ſaid, Wo is me: wherefore was I borne, to ſee this deſtruction of my people, and the deſtruction of the holy citie, and thus to ſit ſtill? it is deliuered into the handes of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuarie is in the hands of ſtrangers: her Temple is as a man that hath no renoume.

9 Her glorious veſſels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are ſlaine in the ſtreetes, and her yong men are fallen by the ſword of the enemies.

10 What people is it, that haue not ſome poſſeſſion in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her ſpoyles?

11 Al her glory is taken away: of a free woman, ſhe is become an handmayd.

12 Behold, our Sanctuarie and our beautie, and honour is deſolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, hee, and his ſonnes, and put ſackcloth vpon them, and mourned very ſore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin to compell them to forſake God, and to ſacrifice.

16 So many of the Iſraelites conſented vnto them: but Mattathias and his ſonnes aſſembled together.

17 Then ſpake the Commiſſioners of the King, and ſayde vnto Mattathias, thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in the citie, and haſt many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore firſt, & fulfil the Kings commaundement, as all the heathen haue done, and alſo the men of Iuda, and ſuch as remaine at Ieruſalem: ſo ſhalt thou and thy family be in the Kings fauour, & thou and thy children ſhalbe enriched with ſiluer and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias anſwered and ſayde with a loude voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the Kings dominion, obey him, & fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and conſent to his commandements, 20 Yet will I and my ſonnes, and my brethren, walke in the couenant of our fathers.

21 God be merciful vnto vs, that we forſake not the Lawe and the ordinances.

22 Wee wil not hearken vnto the Kings wordes to tranſgreſſe our religion, neither on the right ſide, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off ſpeaking theſe wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the ſight of all to ſacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the Kings commandement.

24 Nowe when Mattathias ſawe it, he was ſo inflamed with zeale, that his reynes ſhooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Lawe: therefore he ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the ſame time he ſlew the kings commiſſioner, that compelled him to doe ſacrifice, and deſtroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to ſ Law of God, doing*, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the ſonne of Salom. Num. 25. 7.*

27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loude voyce in the citie, ſaying, Whoſoeuer is zealous of the Lawe, and wil ſtande by the couenant, let him come foorth after me.

28 So he, & his ſonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the citie.

29 Then many that ‖ ſought after iuſtice and iudgement, ‖ Or, that lived iuſtly and vprightly.

30 Went downe into the wilderneſſe to dwell there, both they, and their children, & their wiues, and their cattell: for the afflictions increaſed ſore vpon them.

31 ¶ Nowe when it was tolde vnto the Kings ſeruants, and to the gariſons, which were in Ieruſalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the Kings commandement, and were gone downe into the ſecret places in the wildernes,

32 Then many purſued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, they camped againſt them, and ſet the battell in aray againſt them on the Sabbath day, 33 And ſayd vnto them, Let this now be ſufficient: come forth and do according to the commandement of the King, and ye ſhall liue.

34 But they anſwered, We will not goe foorth, neither will we doe the Kings commaundement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battel.

36 But the other anſwered them nothing, neither caſt any one ſtone at them, nor ſtopped the priuie places.

37 But ſayd, Wee will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth ſhall teſtifie for vs, that ye deſtroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus

38 Thus they gaue them the battell vpon the Sabbath, and slewe both men and cattell, their wiues and their children to the number of a thousande people.

39 ¶When Mattathias and his friendes vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly, 40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then shal they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoeuer shall come to make battel with vs vpon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that we die not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assemblie of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned themselues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, & smote the wicked men in their wrath, & the vngodly in their anger: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars, 46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coastes of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proud men: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Lawe out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of Kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drewe neere that Mattathias should die, hee said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be yee zealous of the Lawe, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall yee receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

*Gen.22.9, 10. rom.4.3. 52 *Was not Abraham found faithful in tentation, & it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse?

*Gene.41.40. 53 * Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandement, and was made the lord of Egypt.

*Num.25.13. ecclus.45.23,24. 54 * Phinees our father, because he was zealous and feruent, obtayned the couenant of the euerlasting Priesthood.

*Iosh.1.2. 55 *Iesus for fulfilling the word, was made the gouernour of Israel.

*Num.14.6,7. iosh.14.13. *2.Sam.2.4. 56 *Caleb, because hee bare witnesse before the Congregation, receiued the heritage of the land.

57 *Dauid, because of his mercie obteyned the throne of the kingdome for euermore.

*2.King.2.11. 58 *Elias, because hee was zealous and feruent in the Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

*Dan.3.16,17, 18,26. 59 *Ananias, Azarias and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

*Dan.6.12. 60 *Daniel because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lyons.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, that whosoeuer put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

*Mat.10.28, 31.Isa.40.6,7,8. and 51.7,8. *Iam.1.10. 1.pet.1.24. ecclus.14.18. 62 *Feare not ye then the words of a sinfull man: for his glory is but dung and wormes, 63 To day is he set vp, and to morowe hee shall * not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 Wherefore, my sonnes, take good hearts and shew your selues men for the Lawe: for by it shall you obteine glory.

65 And beholde, I knowe that your brother Simon is a man of counsel: giue eare vnto him alway: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Iudas Maccabeus hath bene mightie and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him be your captaine, and fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Lawe, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, & giue your selues to the commandement of the Law.

69 So hee blessed them, and was laid with his fathers,

70 And dyed in the hundreth, fourtie and sixe yere, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Iudas toward God. 55 Iudas determineth to fight against Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his hoste.

THen Iudas his sonne, called Maccabeus rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that helde with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So hee gate his people great honour: hee put on a breastplate as a giant, and armed himselfe, and set the battel in aray, and defended the campe with the sword.

4 In his acts he was like a Lion, and as a Lions whelpe roaring after the praye.

5 For he pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people.

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And hee grieued diuers Kings, but Iacob reioyced by his actes, and his memoriall is blessed for euer.

8 Hee went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was hee renowmed vnto the ends of the earth, and he assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, & a great host out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Iudas perceiued, he went forth to meet him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Iudas tooke their spoyles, and tooke also Apollonius sword, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the army of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the Congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He said, I wil get me a name, and wil be glorious in the realme: for I will goe fight with Iudas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.

15 So he made him ready to go vp, & there went with him a mightie hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp to Bethhoron, Iudas went forth to meete him with a ſmall company.

17 But when they ſawe the armie comming againſt them, they ſaid to Iudas, Howe are we able, being ſo few, to fight againſt ſo great a multitude, and ſo ſtrong, ſeeing we be ſo weary, and haue faſted all this day?

18 Then ſaid Iudas, It is an eaſie thing for many to be ſhut vp in the hands of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a ſmall company.

19 For the victorie of the battell ſtandeth not in the multitude of the hoſt, but the ſtrength commeth from heauen.

20 They come againſt vs with a cruell & proud multitude to deſtroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes, 22 And God him ſelfe will deſtroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left off ſpeaking, he leapt ſuddenly vpon them: ſo was Seron and his hoſte deſtroyed before him.

24 And they purſued them frō the going downe of Bethhoron vnto the plaine: where there were ſlaine eight hundreth men of them, and the reſidue fled into the land of the Philiſtims,

25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about,

26 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when King Antiochus heard theſe tidings, he was angrie in his minde: wherefore he ſent forth, & gathered all the power of his realme, a very ſtrong armie.

28 And opened his treaſurie, and gaue his hoſte a yeeres wages in hand, commaunding them to be readie for a yeere for all occaſions.

29 Neuertheleſſe, when he ſawe that the money of his treaſures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were ſmall, becauſe of the diſſenſion, and plagues that he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of olde time,

30 He feared leaſt he ſhould not haue nowe at the ſecond time, as at the firſt, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberall hand afore: for in liberalitie he farre paſſed the other Kinges that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Perſia, for to take tributes of the countreyes, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lyſias a noble man & of the kings blood to ouerſee the Kings buſineſſe, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bring vp his ſonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreouer, he gaue him halfe of his hoſt and elephants, and gaue him the charge of all thinges that he would haue done,

35 And concerning thoſe which dwelt in Iuda and Ieruſalem, that he ſhould ſend an armie againſt them, to deſtroy and roote out the power of Iſrael and the remnant of Ieruſalem, & to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 And to ſet ſtrangers for to inhabite all their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the King tooke the halfe of the hoſte that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yeere an hundreth fourtie and ſeuen, and paſſed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorowe the hie countreyes.

38 Then Lyſias choſe Ptolomeus the ſonne of Doriminus, and Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men, and the Kings friends, 39 And ſent with them fourtie thouſand footemen, and ſeuen thouſand horſemen, to goe into the land of Iuda, and to deſtroy it, as the King commaunded.

40 So they went foorth with all their power, and came and pitched by ‖ Emmaus in the plaine countrey. ‖ Or, Emaus.

41 Nowe when the marchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much ſiluer and golde, and ſeruants, and came into the campe to buy the children of Iſrael for ſlaues, and the ſtrength of Syria and of ſtrange nations ioyned with them.

42 ¶ Nowe when Iudas and his brethren ſawe that trouble increaſed, and that the hoſte drewe neere vnto their borders, conſidering the Kings words, whereby he had commanded to deſtroy the people, and vtterly aboliſh them.

43 They ſaid one to another, Let vs redreſſe the decay of our people, & let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the Congregation were ſoone readie gathered to fight, and to pray, and to deſire mercie and compaſſion.

45 As for Ieruſalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderneſſe. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the ſtrangers kept the fortreſſe, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Iacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceaſed.

46 So they gathered them ſelues together, and came to Maſpha before Ieruſalem: for in Maſpha was the place where they praied aforetime in Iſrael.

47 And they faſted that day, and put ſackecloth vpon them, and caſt aſhes vpon their heads, & rent their clothes,

48 And opened ỹ booke of the law, wherein the heathen ſought to paint the likenes of their idoles, 49 And brought the Prieſtes garments, and the firſt fruites, and the tithes, and ſet there the Nazarites, which accompliſhed their dayes.

50 And they cryed with a loud voyce towarde heauen, ſaying, What ſhall we doe with theſe? and whither ſhall we carrie them away?

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and defiled, and thy Prieſts are in heauineſſe, and brought downe.

52 And beholde, the heathen are come againſt vs, to deſtroy vs: thou knoweſt what thinges they imagine againſt vs.

53 How can we ſtand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cryed with a loud voyce.

55 And after this, Iudas ordeined captains ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thouſands, and captaines ouer hundreths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer tenne.

56 And they commaunded them that builded houſes, or married wiues, or planted vineyardes, or were fearefull, that they ſhould returne euery one to his owne houſe, according to * the Lawe. * Deut. 20. 5. iudg. 7. 3.

57 So

57 So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Iudas sayd, Arme your selues, and be valiant men, & be ready against the morning to fight with these nations, which are gathered together against vs, to destroy vs and our Sanctuarie.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battel, then to see the calamities of our people & of our Sanctuary.

60 Neuertheless as the will of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iudas goeth against Gorgias which lyeth in waite. 14 Hee putteth Gorgias and his hoste to flight. 28 Lysias inuadeth Iudea. 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

Ioseph. lib. 12. chap. 13.

THen tooke Gorgias fiue thousande foote men, and a thousande of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to slay them suddenly: and the men of the fortresse were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, hee remooued, and they that were valiant men to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus, 4 Whiles yet the armie was dispersed from the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: and when hee founde no man there, he sought them in the mountaines: for saide he, They flee from vs.

6 But assoone as it was day, Iudas shewed himselfe in the fielde with three thousande men, which had neither harnesse nor swordes to their mindes.

7 And they sawe that the armies of the heathen were strong and well armed, and their horsemen about them, & that these were expert men of warre.

8 Then sayde Iudas to the men that were with him, Feare yee not the multitude, neither be afraide of their assault.

9 Remember, howe our fathers were deliuered *in the redde Sea, when Pharao pursued them with an armie. *Exo. 14. 9, 14.

10 Therefore nowe let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lorde will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenant of our fathers, and will destroy this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shall all the heathen knowe, that there is one, which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, and saw them comming against them, 13 And they went out of their tentes into the battell, and they that were with Iudas, blewe the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmost of them fel by the sword, & they pursued them vnto ‖Gazeron, & into ye plaines of Idumea, & of Azotus, and of Iamna, so that there were slaine of them aboue three thousand men. Or, Asaremoth.

16 So Iudas turned againe with his hoste from pursuing them, 17 And sayde vnto the people, Be not greedy of the spoyles: for there is a battel before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, and ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoyles.

19 As Iudas was speaking these words, there appeared one part which looked frō the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias saw that his were fled, and that Iudas souldiers burnt the tents: (for the smoke that was seene, declared what was done)

21 When they sawe these things, they were sore afraide, and when they sawe also that Iudas and his hoste were in the fielde ready to set themselues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into ye land of strangers.

23 So Iudas turned againe to spoyle the tentes, where he gate much golde and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, & sung Psalmes, and praysed toward the heauen: for hee is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had great victory in that day.

26 ¶ Nowe all the strangers that escaped, came, and tolde Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard these things, was sore afraid, and discouraged, because such things came not vpon Israel as hee would, neither such things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Lysias threescore thousande chosen foote men, and fiue thousand horsemen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into ‖Idumea, and pitched their tents at ‖ Beth-sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men. Or, Iudea. Or, Bethhoron.

30 And when he saw that mighty army, he prayed, and sayd, Blessed be thou, O Sauiour of Israel, * which diddest destroy the assault of the mightie man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, *and gauest the hoste of the strangers into the hande of Ionathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer: *1. Sam. 17. 50, 51. *1. Sam. 14. 13, 14.

31 Shut vp this armie in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them bee confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraide, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may bee astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, fiue thousande men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his armie put to flight, and the manlinesse of Iudas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, hee went into Antiochia and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudea.

36 Then said Iudas and his brethren, Beholde, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp to clense, and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion,

38 Nowe when they sawe the Sanctuary layde waste, and the altar defiled, & the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast asshes vpon their heads, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blewe an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, til he had clensed the Sanctuary.

42 So he chose Priestes that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the Lawe, 43 And hee clenſed the Sanctuarie, and bare out the defiled ſtones into an vncleane place, 44 And conſulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offring, which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was beſt to deſtroy it, leaſt it ſhoulde bee a reproch vnto them, becauſe the heathen had defiled it: therefore they deſtroyed the altar, 46 And layde vp the ſtones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, til there ſhould come a Prophet, to ſhewe what ſhould bee done with them.

47 So they tooke whole ſtones according to the Lawe, and builded a newe altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made alſo new holy veſſels, & brought into the Temple the candleſticke, and the altar of burnt offrings, and of incenſe, and the table.

50 And they burnt incenſe vpon the altar, and lighted the lampes which were vpon the candleſticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They ſet alſo the ſhewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, & finiſhed all the workes that they had begunne to make.

52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chaſleu, in the hundreth and eight and fourtieth yeere they roſe vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offred ſacrifice according to the Lawe, vpon the new altar of burnt offrings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the ſame day was it made newe with ſongs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worſhipping and prayſing toward the heauen him that had giuen them good ſucceſſe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offring burnt offrings with gladneſſe, and offred ſacrifices of deliuerance and prayſe, 57 And deckt the forefront of the Temple with crownes of golde and ſhieldes, and dedicated the gates & chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladneſſe among the people, and the reproche of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Iſrael, ordeyned that the dayes of dedication of the altar ſhould be kept in their ſeaſon from yeere to yeere, by the ſpace of eight daies, from the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth Chaſleu, with mirth and gladneſſe.

60 And at the ſame time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walles, & ſtrong towres round about, leſt the Gentiles ſhould come, and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they ſet a gariſon there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-ſura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence againſt Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Iudas vanquiſhed the heathen that goe about to deſtroy Iſrael, and is holpen of his brethren Simon and Ionathan. 50 Hee ouerthrowe the citie of Ephron, becauſe they denied them paſſage thorowe.

Ioſeph. lib. 13. Chap. 12.

NOwe when the nations round about hearde, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuarie renued afore, they were ſore grieued.

2 Therefore they thought to deſtroy the generation of Iacob that was among them, and began to ſlay and deſtroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought againſt the children of Eſau in Idumea at ‖ Arrabathene, becauſe they beſieged the Iſraelites, & hee ſmote them with a great plague, and droue them to ſtraites, and tooke their ſpoyles. ‖ Or, Arabathane.

4 He thought alſo vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had bene a ſnare and an hindrance vnto the people, when they laye in wayte for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he ſhut them vp in towres, & beſieged them, and deſtroyed them vtterly, & burnt their towres with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterwarde, went he againſt the children of Ammon, where he founde a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had many battels with them, but they were deſtroyed before him, and ſo hee diſcomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazar with the townes thereof and ſo turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together againſt the Iſraelites that were in their quarters, to ſlay them: but they fled to the caſtle of Datheman,

10 And ſent letters to Iudas, and to his brethrē, ſaying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered againſt vs, to deſtroy vs, 11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortreſſe, whereunto wee are fledde, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoſte.

12 Come nowe therefore, and deliuers vs out of their hands for many of vs are ſlaine:

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are ſlaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children and their goods, and deſtroyed there almoſt a thouſand men.

14 While theſe letters were yet a reading, beholde, there came other meſſengers from Galile, with their clothes rent, which tolde the ſame tidings, 15 And ſaid, that they of Ptolemais, & of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered againſt them to deſtroy them.

16 When Iudas, and the people hearde theſe wordes, a great congregation came together, to conſult what they might do for their brethren that were in trouble, and whome they beſieged.

17 Then ſaid Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuſe thee out men, and goe and deliuer thy brethren, in Galile, and I and my brother Ionathan, will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So hee left Ioſephus the ſonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoſte in Iudea, 19 And commanded them, ſaying, Take the ouerſight of this people, and make no warre againſt the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thouſand men to goe into Galile, and to Iudas eight thouſand men for the countrey of Galaad:

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were diſcomfited by him.

22 And he purſued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: & there were ſlaine of the heathen almoſt three thouſand men: ſo he tooke their ſpoyles.

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile and in Arbattis with their wiues,and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Ionathan went ouer Iorden,and trauailed three dayes iourney in the wildernes,

25 Where they mette with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, and told them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad, 26 And how that many of them were besieged in Bosorra and Bosor,in Alemis,‖ Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim(all these cities were strong,and great).

‖Or,Chaspor.

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad,and to morow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto those fortes,and to take them,and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Iudas and his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wildernesse towarde Bosorra, and wanne the citie,and slew al the males with the edge of the sworde,and tooke al their spoyle,and set fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night he remooued from thence, and went toward the fortresse.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp,beholde,there was an innumerable people bearing ladders,and instruments of warre, to take the forte,and had assaulted them.

31 When Iudas sawe that the battel was begun, and that the cry of the city went vp to heauen with trumpets,and a great sound.

32 Then he sayd vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went foorth behinde them with three companies,and they blewe the trumpets, and cryed with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knew,that it was Maccabeus,and they fled from him, and hee smote them with a great slaughter,so that there was killed of them the same day,almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha,and laid siege vnto it,and wanne it, and slewe all the males thereof,and spoyled it,and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chasbon, Maged,and Bosor,and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste,and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Nowe Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, and they brought him word againe,saying, All the heathen that be rounde about vs, are gathered vnto him,and the hoste is very great, 39 And hee hath hired the Arabians to helpe them,and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood,and are ready to come and fight against thee. So Iudas went to meete them.

40 Then Timotheus saide vnto the captaines of his hoste,When Iudas and his hoste come neere the flood,if he passe ouer first vnto vs,we shal not be able to withstand him:for he wil be too strōg for vs.

41 But if hee be afraide, and campe beyond the flood, we will goe ouer vnto him,and shall preuaile against him.

42 Now when Iudas came neere to the flood,he caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood,and cōmanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to ỹ battel.

43 So he went first ouer toward them, & all the people after him:and al the heathen were discomfited before him,and cast away their weapons, and fled into the Temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which citie Iudas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued,and might not withstand Iudas.

45 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad,from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage,a very great hoste, to come into the land of Iuda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way,and strongly defenced: they could not passe,neither at the right hand nor at the left,but must goe thorow it.

47 But they that were in the citie, shut themselues in,and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your lande, that we may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely goe thorowe on foote: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the hoste,that euery man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assaulted the citie all that day,and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword,& destroyed it,and tooke the spoile thereof, and went thorow the citie ouer them ỹ were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethsan.

53 And Iudas gathered together those that were behind,and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorowe,till they were come into the land of Iuda.

54 Thus went they vp with ioy, and gladnesse vnto mount Sion,where they offred burnt offrings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Nowe whileſt Iudas and Ionathan were in the land of Galaad,and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais, 56 Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines,hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had atchieued,said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also,and go fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commaundement and went toward Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie against them.

60 And Ioseph and Azarias were put to flight, and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrow among the people of Israel, 61 Because they were not obedient vnto Iudas, and his brethren, but thought to doe some valiant thing.

62 Also they came out of ỹ stocke of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Iudas,& his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen,wheresoeuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterwarde went Iudas foorth with his brethren,& fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the South, where hee wanne Hebron, and and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the castle thereof, and burnt the towres therof round about.

66 Then remoued he to go into the land of the ‖strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

‖Or, Philistims.

67 At the same time were the Priests of the cities slaine in the battell, which would shew their valiantnes, and went forth to battell without counsell: and when Iudas came to Azotus in the strangers land, hee brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoyles of their cities, and came againe into the land of Iuda.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus willing to take the cities of Elimais, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickenesse, and dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made king. 34 The maner to prouoke elephants to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiant act. 48 The siege of Sion.

Joseph. Antiq 12. chap. 13.

NOw when King Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countreys, he heard that Elimais in the countrey of Persia was a city greatly renowned for riches, siluer and golde.

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, where as were couerings of golde, coat armours, and harnesse, which Alexander King of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter.

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and hee fled & departed thence with great heauinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which broght him tidings in the countrey of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Iuda, were driuen away,

6 And that Lysias, which went forth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which he had set vp vpon the altar at Ierusalem, and fensed the Sanctuary with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his citie.

8 So when the king had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therefore he layd him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe, as he had thought.

9 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he saw he must needs die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, and said vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, into what aduersity am I come? and into what floods of misery am I fallen now, whereas aforetime I was in prosperitie, & greatly set by, by reason of my powers?

12 And now doe I remember the euils that I haue done at Ierusalem: for I tooke all the vessels of golde and of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and beholde, I must die with great sorow in a strange land.

14 Then called he for Philip, one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that he should instruct his sonne Antiochus, & bring him vp, till he might reigne himselfe.

16 So king Antiochus died there in the hundreth, and fortie and ninth yeere.

17 ¶ When Lysias knew, that the King was dead, he ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whom hee had brought vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Ierusalem, kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuarie, and sought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy them, & called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together, and besieged them in the hundreth and fiftie yere, and made instruments to shoot and other engins of warre.

21 But certeine of them that were besieged, gat foorth, (vnto whom some vngodly men of Israel ioyned themselues)

22 And they went vnto the king, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?

23 We haue bene readie to serue thy father, and to goe forward in those things, that he appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cause, and whereseuer they found any of vs, they slew them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layd hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And beholde, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuarie, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou doest not preuent them quickly, they will do greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the King heard this, hee was very angrie, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen, 29 And bands that were hired, came vnto him from the Kings, that were confederate, and from the iles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundreth thousand footmen, & twentie thousand horsemen, and two and thirtie elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came thorow Idumea and drew neere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season & made engins of warre: but they came out, & burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castle, and remoued the host toward Beth-zacarias ouer-against the kings campe.

33 So the king arose very early, and brought the armie and his power toward the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie set themselues in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberies,

35 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by euery elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coats of maile and helmets of brasse vpon their heads, and vnto euery beast were ordeined fiue hundreth horsemen of the best,

36 Which were readie at all times whereseoeuer the beast was: and whithersoeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towers of wood that couered euery beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and vpon euery one was two and thirtie men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to succour them vp, and to keepe them in the valleys.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shieldes, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was spred vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyse of their multitude, and the marching of the companie, and the rattling of the harnesse, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entred into the battell, and they slewe sixe hundreth men of the Kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar the sonne of || Abaron, saw one of the elephants armed with royal harnesse, and was more excellent then all the other beastes, he thought that the King should be vpon him.

44 Wherefore he ieoparded himselfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name,

45 And ran boldly vnto him through the mids of the hoste, slaying on the right hande and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides, 46 So went hee to the elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, and slewe him: then fell the elephant downe vpon him, and there he dyed.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the Kings armie went vp to meete them towarde Ierusalem, and the King pitched his tents in Iudea toward Sion.

49 Moreouer, the King tooke truce with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no vitailes there, and were shut vp therein, and the land had rested,

50 The King tooke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to keepe it, 51 And besieged the Sanctuarie many dayes, and made instruments to shoote, and other engins of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 || They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitailes: for it was the seuenth yeere, and then they that were in Iudea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store, 54 So that in the Sanctuarie were few men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Nowe when Lysias heard that Philippe (whome Antiochus the King, whiles hee liued, had ordeyned to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media, and the Kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 He and his hasted, and were stirred forwarde by them in the castle to goe and tell the King, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease daily, & our vitailes are but small: and the place that we lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Now therefore let vs || agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation.

59 And graunt them to liue after their lawe, as they did afore: for they be grieued, and doe all these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the King and the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when he sawe that the place was well defensed, hee brake his othe that he had made, and commaunded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed hee in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where he found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so hee fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

1 Demetrius reigned, after hee had killed Antiochus and Lysias. 5 Hee troubleth the children of Israel through the counsell of certaine wicked persons. 37 The prayer of the Priestes against Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after hee had made his prayer.

IN the hundreth, and one and fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there. Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 5.

2 And when hee came into the possession of his fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lysias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him, he said, Shew mee not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome, 5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel, whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the hie Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the King, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friendes, and driuen vs out of our owne land,

7 Wherefore send now some man, whom thou trustest, that he may goe and see all the destruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the Kings land, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the King chose Bacchides a friende of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whome he made hie Priest, and commaunded him to be auenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the lande of Iuda, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable wordes.

11 But they beleeued not their saying: for they sawe that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a company of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reasonable poynts.

13 And the || Asideans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel. ||Or, Hasidæans.

14 For saide they, He that is a Priest of the seede of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

ding to the words that were written,

*Psal.79.2. 17 * They haue cast the bodies of thy Saintes, and their blood round about Ierusalem, and there was no man that would bury them.

18 So there came a feare and trembling among all the people: for they sayd, There is neither trueth nor righteousnesse in them: for they haue broken the appoyntment and othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remoued from Ierusalem, and pitched his tent at ‖ Beth-zecha, where he sent foorth and tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people whom he slewe and cast into the great pit.

‖Or, Bethseth, or, Bezeth.

20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of warre with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went vnto the King.

21 Thus Alcimus stroue for the Priesthoode.

22 And all such as troubled the people, resorted vnto him: in so much that they obteined the lande of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 And when Iudas sawe all the mischiefe, that Alcimus and his company had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 He went foorth round about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroade in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus sawe that Iudas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knewe that he was not able to abide them, hee went againe to the king, and accused them of wicked things.

Iosephus Antiq. 12.cha.19. 26 Then the king sent Nicanor one of his chief princes, which hated Israel deadly, and commanded him that he should destroy the people.

26 ¶ So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying, 28 Let there bee no warre betweene mee, and you: I wil come with fewe men, to see howe ye doe, friendly.

29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.

30 Neuertheless, it was tolde Iudas, that hee came vnto him vnder deceite: therefore he feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counsell was bewrayed, hee went out to fight against Iudas, beside ‖ Carphasalama.

‖Or, Caphar-ierasama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors hoste about fiue thousand men: so they fledde vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priestes with the Elders of the people went foorth of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, and to shewe him the burnt offring that was offred for the King.

34 But he laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste bee not deliuered now into mine handes, if euer I come againe in safetie, I will burne vp this house. With that, he went out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priestes came in, and stoode before the altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

Isa.56.3.7. 37 For so much as thou, O Lorde, hast chosen this * house, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it shoulde bee an house of prayer, and petition for thy people, 38 Bee auenged of this man and his hoste, and let them bee slaine by the sworde: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, hee pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an hoste met him out of Syria.

40 And Iudas pitched in ‖ Adasa with three thousand men, where Iudas prayed, saying,

‖Or, Adarsa.

41 O Lord,* because the messengers of the King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angell went foorth, and slewe an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand of them.

*2.King.19.35. tobit.1.18. ecclus.48.22. isa.37.36. 2.mac.8.19.

42 So destroy thou this hoste before vs to day, that all other may knowe that he hath spoken wickedly against thy Sanctuarie, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battell, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and hee him selfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Nowe when his armie sawe that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after him a dayes iourney from Adasa vnto Gasera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came foorth of all the townes of Iudea rounde about, and rushed vpon them, and threwe them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sworde, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoyles, and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hande, which he helde vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordeyned to keepe yeerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the lande of Iuda was in rest a litle while.

9 Againe when it was tolde them that the Grecians were comming to deſtroy them,

10 They ſent againſt them a captaine, which gaue them battell, and ſlew many of them, and tooke many priſoners with their wiues, and children, and ſpoyled them, and conquered their land, and deſtroyed their ſtrong holdes, & ſubdued them to be their bondmen, vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, how they deſtroyed, & brought into ſubiection other kingdomes and yles, whoſoeuer had withſtood them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their owne friendes, and thoſe that ſtayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, inſomuch that whoſoeuer heard of their renowme, was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, thoſe reigned, and whom they would, they put downe: thus were they in moſt high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeined themſelues a counſell, wherein three hundreth and twentie men conſulted dayly, and prouided for the common affaires, to gouerne them well,

16 And that they committed their gouernment to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Iudas choſe Eupolemus the ſonne of Iohn, the ſonne of Accus, and Iaſon the ſonne of Eleazar, and ſent them vnto Rome to make friendſhip, and mutuall fellowſhip with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they ſaw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Iſrael in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the ‖ Senate, where they ſpake and ſaid,

‖Or, counſell.

20 Iudas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath ſent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendſhip, and peace with you, and ye to regiſter vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleaſed them.

22 And this is the copie of the epiſtle that they wrote in tables of braſſe, and ſent to Ieruſalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the peace, and mutuall fellowſhip.

23 Good ſucceſſe be to the Romans, and to the people of the Iewes, by ſea, & by land for euer, and the ſword, and enemie be from them.

24 If there come firſt any warre vpon the Romans, or any of their friends thorowout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes ſhall helpe them, as the time ſhalbe appointed, with all their heart.

‖Or, the Romans.

26 Alſo ‖ they ſhall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor ſerue them with wheat nor weapons, nor money, nor ſhippes, as it pleaſeth the Romans, but ‖ they ſhall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them.

‖Or, the Iewes.

27 Likewiſe alſo if warre come firſt againſt the nation of the Iewes, the Romans ſhall helpe them with a good will, according as the time ſhalbe appointed them.

28 Neither ſhall wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ſhips, as it pleaſeth the Romans, who will keepe theſe couenants without deceit.

29 According to theſe articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after theſe points the one partie, or the other will adde or diminiſh, they may doe it, at their pleaſures, and whatſoeuer they ſhall adde, or take away, ſhalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euill that Demetrius hath done vnto ỹ Iewes, we haue written vnto him, ſaying, Wherefore layeſt thou thine heauy yoke vpon our friends, and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more againſt thee, we will doe them iuſtice, and fight with thee by ſea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius ſendeth his armie againſt Iudas. 18 Iudas is ſlaine. 31 Ionathan is put in the ſtead of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Ionathan, and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is ſmitten with the palſie, and dieth. 68 Hee commeth vpon Ionathan by the counſell of certeine wicked perſons, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Ionathan with Bacchides.

IN the meane ſeaſon when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor, and his hoſte had giuen the battell, he ſent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his ‖ chiefe ſtrength with them.

Ioſeph. Antiq. 12. chap. 18.

‖Or, the right horne.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Meſaloth which is in Arbelis, and wan it, and ſlew much people.

3 And in the firſt moneth of the hundreth, fiftie and two yeere, they layed their ſiege againſt Ieruſalem.

4 But they raiſed their campe, and came to Berea, with twentie thouſand foot men and two thouſand horſemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at ‖ Eleaſa, and three thouſand choſen men with him.

‖Or, Latſa.

6 And when they ſaw that the multitude of the army was great, they were ſore afraid, & many conueyed themſelues out of the hoſte, ſo that there abode no mo of them, but eight hundreth men.

7 When Iudas ſaw that his hoſte failed him, and that he muſt needs fight, hee was ſore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was diſcouraged.

8 Neuertheleſſe, he ſaid vnto them that remained, Let vs riſe, and go vp againſt our enemies, if peraduenture we may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue ſtayed him, ſaying, We are not able: but let vs rather ſaue our liues: turne backe now, ſeeing our brethren are departed: for ſhall we fight againſt them, that are ſo few?

10 Then Iudas ſaid, God forbid, that we ſhould doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time be come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not ſtaine our honour.

11 Then the hoſt remoued out of the tents, and ſtood againſt them, who had diuided their horſmen into two troups, and they that threw with ſlings, and the archers marched in the foreward, and they that fought in the foreward, were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drew neere on both ſides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They

13 They of Iudas ſide blew the trumpets alſo, and the earth ſhooke at the noyſe of the armies, & the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Iudas ſaw that Bacchides and the ſtrength of his armie was on the right ſide, hee tooke with him all the hardie men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing ſaw that the right wing was diſcomfited, they followed Iudas behinde, and them that were with him hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a ſore battel: for many were ſlaine of both the parties.

18 Iudas alſo himſelfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Ionathan and Simon tooke Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers ſepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And al the Iſraelites wept for him, & mourned greatly for him, & lamented many daies, ſaying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Iſrael!

22 Concerning the other things of Iudas, both the battels and the valiant acts that he did, and of his woorthineſſe, they are not written: for they were very many.

Joſeph. Antiq. 13 chap. 1. & 3.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in all the coaſts of Iſrael, and there aroſe all ſuch as gaue themſelues to iniquitie.

24 In thoſe dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themſelues with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuſe wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 Theſe ſought out, and made ſearch for Iudas friends, & brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himſelfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came ſo great trouble in Iſrael, as was not ſince the time that no Prophet was ſeene among them.

28 Then came all Iudas friends together, and ſayd vnto Ionathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Iudas is dead, and there is none like him to goe foorth againſt our enemies, euen againſt Bacchides, and ‖ againſt them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

‖ Or, againſt the enemies of our nation.

30 Therefore, this day we chuſe thee, that thou mayeſt be our Prince and captaine in his place, to order our battell.

31 So Ionathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the ſame time, and ruled in ſtead of his brother Iudas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he ſought for to ſlay him.

33 Then Ionathan and Simon his brother, perceiuing that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with all their companie, and pitched their tents, by the water poole of Aſphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderſtood, hee came ouer Iorden with all his hoſte vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Ionathan ſent his brother Iohn, a captain of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

‖ Or, Iambri.

36 But the children of ‖ Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke Iohn, & all that he had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Ionathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great matriage, and brought the bride from ‖ Medaba with great pompe: for ſhe was daughter to one of the nobleſt Princes of Canaan.

‖ Or, Madobath.

38 Therefore they remembred Iohn their brother, and went vp, and hid themſelues vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they liſt vp their eyes, & looked, and beholde, there was a great noyſe, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came foorth, and his friends and his brethren met them with tymbrels, and inſtruments of muſike, and many weapons.

40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambuſh, roſe vp againſt them, & ſlew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, ſo that they tooke all their ſpoyles.

41 Thus the marriage was turned to mourning, and the noyſe of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And ſo when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Iorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, hee came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Ionathan ſaid vnto his companie, Let vs riſe now, and fight againſt our enemies: for it is not to day as in time paſt.

45 Beholde, the battel is before vs, and behinde vs, and the water of Iorden on this ſide and that ſide, and the mariſe, and foreſt, ſo that there is no place for vs to turne aſide.

46 Wherefore crie now vnto heauen, that yee may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: ſo they ioyned battell.

47 Then Ionathan ſtretched out his hand to ſmite Bacchides: but he turned aſide from him and reculed.

48 Then Ionathan, & they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and ſwimmed ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not paſſe thorow Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were ſlaine of Bacchides ſide about a thouſand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Ieruſalem, & built vp the ſtrong cities in Iuda, as the caſtle of Iericho, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, ‖ Pharathoni, and ‖ Tepho, with high walles, with gates, and with barres, ‖ Or, Phara. ‖ Or, Thopo.

51 And ſet gariſons in them, that they might vſe their malice vpon Iſrael.

52 He fortified alſo the citie Beth-ſura, and Gazara, and the caſtle, and ſet a gariſon in them with prouiſion of vitailes.

53 Hee tooke alſo the chiefeſt mens ſonnes in the countrey for hoſtages, and put them in the caſtle at Ieruſalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundreth, fiftie and three yere, in the ſecond moneth, Alcimus commanded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuarie ſhould be deſtroied, & he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to deſtroy them.

55 But at the ſame time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterpriſes were hindered, and his mouth was ſtopped: for he was ſmitten with a palſie, and could no more ſpeake, nor giue order concerning his houſe.

56 Thus died Alcimus with great torment at the ſame time.

57 And when Bacchides ſaw that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the King, and ſo the land of Iuda was in reſt two yeres.

58 Then

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsell, saying, Behold, Ionathan and his company dwel at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, & we wil take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Iudea, to take Ionathan and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowen vnto them.

‖ Or, Ionathan. 61 And ‖ they tooke fiftie men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednes, and slew them.

62 ¶ Then Ionathan and Simon with their ‖ Or, Beth-bessin. companie departed vnto ‖ Beth-basin which is in the wildernesse, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, he gathered all his hoste, & sent word to them that were of Iudea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.

65 But Ionathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went foorth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number,

‖ Or, Odares. 66 And slewe ‖ Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so hee began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the citie, and burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gaue him counsel to come into the countrey, and slewe many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Ionathan had knowledge, he sent Ambassadours vnto him, to intreate of peace with him, & that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the land of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Ionathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

1 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. cap. 2. 3. IN the hundreth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Nowe when Demetrius the King heard it, hee gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went foorth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Ionathan, with louing wordes, as though hee woulde preferre him.

4 For he said, We wil first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so hee gaue Ionathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to bee confederate with him, and commaunded the hostages that were in the castell, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Ionathan to Ierusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castel.

8 Therefore they were sore afraide, because they heard that the king had giuen him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castel, deliuered the hostages vnto Ionathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Ionathan also dwelt at Ierusalem, and began to build, and repaire the citie.

11 And he commanded the workemen to build the walles, and the mount Sion rounde about with hewen stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castels which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, and went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Lawe and the commaundements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when King Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Ionathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which he and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He said, Might we find such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these words, saying, 18 King Alexander to his brother Ionathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day wee ordeine thee to be the high Priest of thy nation, and to be called the kings friend: (and he sent him a purple robe, and a ‖ crowne of gold) that thou mayest ‖ consider what is for our profit, and keepe friendship toward vs.

‖ Or, mitre. ‖ Or, take our part.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundred and threescore yere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Ionathan put on the holy garment, and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, hee was marueilous sorie, and said, Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 3.

23 What haue wee done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these words, King Demetrius vnto the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And will release you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, & free you from the customes of salt, and the crowne taxes, and from the third part part of the seede.

30 And from the halfe of the fruite of the trees which is mine owne ductie, I so release them that from this day foorth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the three gouernments which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, from this day foorth for euermore.

31 Ierusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free from the tenths and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castell which is at Ierusalem, & giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shall chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreouer I freely deliuer euery one of the Iewes ỹ were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, & euery one of them shalbe free frō tributes, yea, euen their cattel,

34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, and newe Moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shalbe dayes of freedome and libertie for all the Iewes in my realme, 35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to vexe any of them in any maner of cause.

36 Also thirtie thousand of the Iewes shall bee written vp in the kings hoste, and haue their wages payed them, as appertaineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of them shalbe ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shalbe set ouer the Kings most secret affaires, and their gouernours and their Princes shalbe of themselues, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the King hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria, shalbe ioyned vnto Iudea, and they shalbe as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuarie at Ierusalem, for the necessarie expenses of the holy things.

40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thousand sickles of siluer of the Kings reuenues out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fiue thousande sicles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the account appointed for the interteinment of the Sanctuarie these yeeres passed, euen these things shalbe released because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whoso euer they bee that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indetred to the King for any maner of thing, they shalbe pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repayring of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expenses shall be giuen of the Kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holdes in Iudea may bee built vp, shall also the costes bee giuen out of the Kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Ionathan and the people heard these words, they gaue no credit vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednesse that he had done in Israel, and howe sore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered King Alexander a great host, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two Kings ioyned battell, but Demetrius host fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.

50 So that sore battell continued till the sunne went downe, & Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadours vnto Ptolemeus the King of Egypt with these wordes, saying, Ioseph. antiq. 13. cap. 5.

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroied Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs nowe make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in lawe, and giue thee rewardes, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.

55 Then Ptolemeus the King gaue answere, saying, Happie be the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meet me at Ptolemais that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threescore and two yeere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, & maried them at Ptolemais with great glory, as ỹ maner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Ionathan, that he should come and meet him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there hee met the two Kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certeine pestilent fellowes of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the King commanded that they should take off the garments of Ionathan, and clothe him in purple, and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him, 63 And said vnto his Princes, Go with him into the mids of the city, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the King preferred him to honour, and wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a Duke, and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Ionathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundreth, threescore and fiue yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, hee was very sorie, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Ionathan the hie Priest, saying, 70 Dare'st thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, & reproched, because of thee: nowe therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Nowe then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine fielde, and there let vs trie the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shal take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foote is not able to stande before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and footemen in the plaine: where is neyther stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Ionathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his minde: wherefore he chose ten thousand men, & went out of Ierusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Ioppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Ioppe.

76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: So Ionathan wanne Ioppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though he would goe forward, and came immediatly into the plaine fielde, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Ionathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his ariere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsmen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Ionathan knewe that there was an ambushment behind him: and though they had compassed in his hoste, and shot dartes at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stoode still, as Ionathan had commanded them, till their horses were wearie.

82 Then brought Simon foorth his hoste, and set them against the band: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the fielde, 83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselues.

84 But Ionathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoyles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Ionathan remooued the hoste from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Ionathan and his hoste againe to Ierusalem, with great spoyles.

88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Ionathan more honour, 89 And sent him a collar of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood. he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

8 The dissention betweene Ptolemeus and Alexander his sonne in lawe. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemeus. 22 Sion is besieged of Ionathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, setteth his armie againe. 53 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the king of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the sand that lyeth vpon the sea shore, and many shippes and went about through deceite to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it vnto his owne Realme. Ioseph. Anti. 13. cap. 7.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friendly wordes, and was let into the cities, and men came foorth to meete him: for king Alexander had commanded them to mecte him, because he was his father in lawe.

3 Now when he entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery citie.

4 And when hee came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbes thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where hee shoulde passe.

5 And they tolde the king what Ionathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king helde his peace.

6 And Ionathan met the king with great honour at Ioppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Ionathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, hee turned againe to Ierusalem.

8 So King Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon ỹ sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander, 9 ¶ And sent Ambassadours vnto King Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus hee slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And hee tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowen.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his own head, of Asia and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him.

15 But when Alexander heard it, hee came to warre against him, and Ptolemeus brought foorth his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemeus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemeus died: and they that were in the holdes, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundreth, threescore and seuenth yeere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Ionathan them that were in Iudea, to lay siege vnto ỹ castel, which was at Ierusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, & told him that Ionathan besieged the castel.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediatly came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Ionathan, that hee should lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meete him and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuertheless when Ionathan heard this, hee commanded to besiege it: he chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priestes, and put himselfe in danger.

24 And tooke with him siluer and gold, and apparell, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the king, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the King entreated him as his predecessors had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the hie priesthoode with all the honourable things, that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Ionathan also desired the King, that he would make Iudea free with the three gouernements, and the countrey of Samaria, and Ionathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the King consented, and gaue Ionathan writing of the same, containing these wordes, 30 KING DEMETRIVS vnto his brother Ionathan, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

31 We send you here a copy of the letter which we did write vnto our cousin Lasthenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lasthenes his father, sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulnes that our friends the nation of the Iewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will towards vs, wee are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Iudea with the three gouernments, Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Ierusalem: both concerning the paiments which the King tooke yeerely aforetime, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things appertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from hencefoorth.

36 And nothing hereof shall be reuoked from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copy of these things, and deliuer it vnto Ionathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

38 After this when Demetrius the King sawe that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his hoste, euery man to his owne place, except certaine bandes of strangers, whome he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when he sawe that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, he went to ‖ Simalcue the Arabian, that brough vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, ‖ Or, Emalcuel.

40 And lay sore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers steade: hee tolde him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and howe his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Ionathan sent vnto King Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castell at Ierusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Ionathan, saying, I will not onely doe these things for thee, and thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I will honour thee, and thy nation.

43 Nowe therefore thou shalt doe mee a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.

44 So Ionathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherefore the King was very glad at their comming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundreth and twentie thousande men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and woulde haue slaine the King.

46 But the king fledde into the palace, and the citizens kept the streetes of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him all together, and went abroade through the citie, 48 And slewe the same day an hundreth thousand, and set fire vpon the citie, and tooke many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the citie, and that they themselues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 ‖ Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the citie. ‖ Or, giue vs the right hand.

51 So they cast away their weapons, and made peace, and the Iewes were greatly honoured before the king, and before all that were in his Realme, & they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.

52 Then King Demetrius sate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheless he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrewe himselfe from Ionathan, neither did he reward him according to the benefites which hee had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him all the men of warre, whome Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon tooke the ‖ beastes, and wanne Antiochia. ‖ Or, Elephants.

57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Ionathan, saying, I appoint thee to bee the chiefe Priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernements, that thou mayest be a friend of the kings.

58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to bee serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of golde.

59 Hee made his brother Simon also captaine from the coasts of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Ionathan went foorth, and passed thorowe thorow the cities, beyond the flood, and al the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Askalon, and they of the city receiued him honourably.

61 And from thence went hee vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbes thereof with fire, and spoyled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Ionathan, and he made peace with them, & tooke of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Ionathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which hee granted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and tooke the citie, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Ionathan with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold the hostes of the ‖ strangers met him in the plaine, and had laid ambushments for him in the mountaines.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places & skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Ionathans side fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of ‖ Absalomus, and Iudas the sonne of Calphi the captaines of the hoste.

‖ Or, Absalomus.

71 Then Ionathan rent his clothes, & cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled, saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and holped him to follow after all vnto their tentes at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Ionathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Ionathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 And to the people of Sparta, to renue their couenant of friendship. 24 Ionathan putteth to flight the princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Ionathan by deceite.

Ioseph. Antiq. 3. chap. 8.

IOnathan now seeing that the time was meete for him chose certaine men, & sent thē vnto Rome, to establish and renue the friendship with them.

‖ Or, Lacedemonians.

2 He sent letters also vnto ‖ the Spartians, and to other places, for the same purpose.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and sayde, Ionathan the hie Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renue friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should lead them home into the land of Iuda peaceably.

5 ¶ AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Ionathan wrote vnto the Spartians, 6 Ionathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priestes, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from ‖ Arius, which then reigned among you, that ye woulde bee our brethren, as the copie hereunder written specifieth.

Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 5.

‖ Or, Darius.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honourably, & receiued the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of loue and friendship.

9 But as for vs, wee neede no such writings: for we haue the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuertheless wee thought it good to sende vnto you for the renuing of the brotherhood and friendship, least we should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore wee remember you at all seasons continually, & in the feasts & other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices & praiers, as it is meete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene enuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would we not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason, & sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renue the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commanded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renuing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things, 19 ¶ And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the hie Priest sendeth greeting.

22 It is found in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, ye shall doe well, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattel and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commaunded to bee shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Nowe when Ionathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 Hee went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And hee sent spies vnto their tentes, which came againe, and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherfore when the sunne was gone downe, Ionathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, & sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was ready with his men to the battel, they feared, and trembled in their heartes, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheless Ionathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they saw the fiers burning.

30 Then Ionathan followed vpon them, but hee could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Ionathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and shewed them, and tooke their spoile.

32 He proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went thorow all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Ascalon, and to the next holdes, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For he heard that he would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Ionathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build vp the strong holdes in Iudea, 36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem hyer, and to make a great mount betwixt the castell and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might be alone, and that men shoulde neyther buy nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the city: for part of the wal vpon the brooke of the Eastside was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 9.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, & to be crowned when he had slaine the King Antiochus.

40 But he was afraid that Ionathan woulde not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Ionathan, and to kill him: so hee departed, and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Ionathan foorth against him to the battell with fourtie thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Ionathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay hande vpon him,

43 But receiued him honourably, & commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to himselfe,

44 And said vnto Ionathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.

46 Ionathan beleeued him, and did as he sayde, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Iuda, 47 And reteined but three thousande with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galile, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Nowe assoone as Ionathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, and slewe all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footemen, and horsemen into Galile, and into the great plaine to destroy all Ionathans companie, 50 But when they knew that Ionathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they incouraged one another, and came foorth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes al they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Ionathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and al Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were rounde about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memorie from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Ionathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 27 Tryphon taking his children, and money for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the Realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possesseth the tower of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

NOwe when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Iuda, to destroy it, Ioseph. Antiq. 13. chap. 9.

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortaion, saying, Ye know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Lawe & the Sanctuarie, and the battels, & troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Nowe therefore God forbid, that I shoulde spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, & the Sanctuary, & our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cried with a loude voyce, saying, Thou shalt bee a captaine in steade of Iudas and Ionathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making hast to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it round about, 11 Then sent he Ionathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great hoste vnto Ioppe, which droue them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the land of Iuda, & Ionathan was with him as prisoner.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stoode vp in steade of his brother Ionathan, and that hee woulde fight against him, he sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Ionathan thy brother, it is for money that hee is owing in the Kings account concerning the busines that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundreth talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten foorth, hee will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuertheles Simon knew that he dissembled in his wordes,yet commaunded he the money and children to be deliuered vnto him least hee should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel, 17 Who might haue sayde, Because he sent him not the money and the children,therefore is Ionathan dead.

19 So he sent the children and an hundreth talents : but he dissembled,and woulde not let Ionathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it,and went rounde about by the way,that leadeth vnto Adora : but whersoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his hoste.

21 Now they that were in the castell, sent messengers vnto Tryphon that he shoulde make haste to come by the wildernes, & to send them vitailes.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snowe, so that he came not because of the snow : but hee remoued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when hee came neere to Bascama, hee slewe Ionathan,and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Ionathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation,and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren,a building hie to looke vnto,of hewen stone behinde and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another,for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for perpetuall memory, and carued ships beside the armes, that they might be seene of men sailing in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which hee made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

Joseph. Anti. 13. cap. 10.

31 ¶ Nowe as Tryphon went foorth with the yong King Antiochus,he slewe him traiterously, 32 And reigned in his steade, and crowned himself King of Asia,and brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castels of Iudea,and compassed them about with hie towers, and great walles,euen with towers, and gates,and barres, and layde vp vitailes in the strong holdes, 34 Moreouer Simon chose certaine men & sent them to king Demetrius,that hee would discharge the land : for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him,and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIVS the king vnto Simon the hie Priest,and the friend of Kings, & to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

‖Or,collar,or, bauarickein Greek Baiwen, or Jaben.

37 The golden crowne,and ‖precious stone that ye sent vnto vs,haue we receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers to release you of the things wherein we made you free.

38 So the things that wee haue graunted you, shall be stable : the strong holdes which yee haue builded,shall be your owne.

39 Also wee forgiue the ouersights, and faultes committed vnto this day,and the crowne taxe that ye ought vs : and whereas was any other tribute in Ierusalem,it shall be now no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to bee written with our men,let them be written vp, that there may be peace among vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundred and seuentie yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, and publique instruments, IN THE FIRST yeere of Simon,the hie and chiefe Priest gouernour and prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where hee set vp an engine of warre,and approched neere the citie,and beat a tower,and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie,and there was great trouble in the citie,

46 In so much that the people of the citie rent their clothes,and climed vp vpon the walles with their wiues,and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, beseeching Simon to graunt them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednes,but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them,and would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and clensed the houses,wherin the idoles were,and so entred thereunto with Psalmes and thankesgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out,hee set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Nowe when they in the castell at Ierusalem were kept,that they could not come foorth nor go into the countrey,neyther buy nor sell, they were very hungry,and many of them were famished to death.

50 In so much that they besought Simon to make peace with them, which he graunted them, and put them out from thence,and clensed the castell from filthines.

51 And vpon the three and twentie day of the second moneth, in the hundreth seuentie and one yeere,they entred into it with thankesgiuing, and branches of palme trees,and with harpes, and with cymbales and with violes,& with palms, & songs, because the great enemie of Israel was ouercome.

52 And he ordained that the same day shoulde be kept euery yeere with gladnes.

53 And hee fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castell where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that Iohn his sonne was now a man,he made him captaine of all the hostes, and caused him to dwell in ‖ Gazaris.

‖Or,Gaza.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces, 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel. 18 The couenant of friendship with the Romanes,and with the people of Sparta renued.

IN the hundred seuentie and two yeere gathered king Demetrius his host,and departed vnto Media,to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the King of Persia and Media heard,that Demetrius was entred within his borders,hee sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So he went,and ouercame the armie of Demetrius and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces,which kept him in warde.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest,so long as Simon liued: for he fought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also wanne the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people there, and conquered the countreys.

7* Hee gathered vp many of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castell, which he clensed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him,

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruite.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the common wealth, and the yong men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 Hee prouided vitailes for the cities, and all kinde of munition, so that his glorious fame was renoumed vnto the end of the world.

11 He made peace throughout the land, and Israel had perfite mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the fig trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were ouercome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke away the vngodly, and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuarie, and encreased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romanes heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Ionathan was dead, they were very sory.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made hie Priest in his steade, and howe he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it, 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renue the friendship, and bond of loue, which they had made with Iudas and Ionathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were reade before the congregation at Ierusalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent, 20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory & honor, we were glad of their comming, 22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publique records in this manner, NVMENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason the Iewes Ambassadours, came vnto vs, to renue amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased ỹ people, that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copy of their ambassage should bee registred in the publique records, that it might bee for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shielde of golde of a thousand pounde weight, to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstoode, they sayd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue stablished Israel, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentie day of the moneth ‖ Elul in the hundreth seuentie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the hie Priest. ‖ Or, August.

28 In ‖ Saramel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernors of the nation, and of the Elders of the countrey, wee would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue bene fought in our countrey. ‖ Or, Ierusalem.

29 Wherin Simon ỹ sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) and his brethren put themselues in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuarie, and Lawe might bee maintayned, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Ionathan gathered his nation together, & became their hie Priest, and is laid with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroyed their lande, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 He fortified also the cities of Iudea, & Beth-sura that lyeth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.

34 And hee fortified Ioppe, which lyeth vpon the sea, and Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus, (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof.

35 Now when the people saw the faithfulnes of Simon, and to what glory hee thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chief Priest, because he had done al these things, and for the vprightnesse, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nation, and that sought by al meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the citie of Dauid at Ierusalem, where they had made him a castell, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it for the assurance of the lande, and citie, and raised vp the walles of Ierusalem.

37 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his hie Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, and that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours, 41 And that the Iewes, and Priestes consented, that Simon shoulde be their Prince, and hie Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet.

42 And that he shoulde be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, & that should make prouision for the holy things,

43 And that he should be obeyed of euery man, and that all the writings in the countrey shoulde be be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and weare gold,

44 And that it shoulde not bee lawfull for any of the people or Priestes to breake any of these things, or to withstande his wordes, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or bee clothed in purple, or weare a collar of gold:

45 And if any were contrary to these things, or brake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it shoulde bee done to Simon according vnto these wordes.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high priest, and the captaine, and the Prince of the Iewes, and of the Priestes, and to bee the chiefe of all.

48 And they commanded to set vp this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same should be laid vp in the treasurie, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a couenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romanes write letters vnto Kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his couenant.

MOreouer King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the yles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Conteining these words, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to chalenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared shippes of warre,

4 That I may goe thorowe the countrey, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the Realme.

5 Nowe therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof al the kings my progenitours haue discharged thee, and al the payments, wherof they haue released thee,

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuarie bee free, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands shalbe thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the king, and al that shalbe due vnto the king, I forgiue it thee, from this time for euermore.

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdome, wee will giue thee, and thy nation and the Temple great honour, so that your honour shall be knowen throughout the world.

Ioseph. Antiq. 23. chap. 11.

10 ¶ In the hundreth seuentie and foure yeere, went Antiochus into his fathers lande, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with him.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but hee fled, and came to Dora, which lyeth by the sea side.

12 For he sawe that troubles were toward him, and that the armie had forsaken him, 13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twentie thousande fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the citie about, & the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the citie by land and by sea, in so much that they suffered no man to goe in nor out,

15 In the meane season came Numenius, & his company from Rome, hauing letters written vnto the kings and countries, wherein were conteined these wordes,

16 LVCIVS the Consull of Rome vnto King Ptolemeus sendeth greeting,

17 The Ambassadours of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friendes and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renewe friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shield of gold weying a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings countreyes, that they shoulde not goe about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their countrey, neither to maintayne their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there bee any pestilent fellowes fled from their coūtrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne Lawe.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes, and to Arsaces, 23 And to all the countreys, as ‖ Sampsames, and to them of Sparta, and to ‖ Delus, and to ‖ Mindus, and to Sycion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lysia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and Cos, and to Siden, and to Cortina, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

‖ Or, Sampsames. ‖ Or, Delo. ‖ Or, Myndo. or, Mydus.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the hie Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the King camped against Dora the seconde time euer ready to take it, and made diuers engins of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither goe in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousande chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Neuertheless, hee would not receiue them, but brake al the couenant, which he had made with him afore, and withdrewe himselfe from him,

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, saying, Ye withhold Ioppe, and Gazara with the castell that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my Realme, 29 Whose borders ye haue destroyed & done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore nowe deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea, 31 Or else giue mee for them fiue hundreth talents of siluer, and for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: If not, wee will come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Ierusalem, and when hee sawe the honour of Simon, and the cuppborde of golde and siluer plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, & said vnto him, We haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which apperteineth to others, but our fathers heritage which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, wee recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

‖Or, complainest concerning.

35 And whereas thou‖requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorowe our countrey, yet will we giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one worde, 36 But turned againe angry vnto the King, and tolde him all these wordes, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had seene: and the King was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Orthosias.

38 Then the King made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footemen and horsemen, 39 And commaunded him to remoue the hoste toward Iudea, & to build vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vexe the people, & to inuade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, and to slay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where he set horsemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Iudea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolomeus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banket. 23 Iohn killeth them that lye in wayte for his life.

Ioseph. Anti. 13. chap. 11.

THen came Iohn vp from Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and sayde vnto them, I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, & ỹ matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, & we haue deliuered Israel oftentimes.

3 But I am nowe olde, and yee by Gods mercy are of a sufficient age: bee ye therefore in steade of me and my brother, and goe foorth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So hee chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went foorth against Cendebeus, and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine fielde: and beholde, a mightie great hoste came against them both of footemen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when he sawe that the people was afraid to go ouer the riuer, he went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed through after him.

7 Then hee diuided his men, and set the horsemen in the middes of the footemen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blewe the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoste, whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gate them to the fortresse.

9 Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded: but Iohn followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fieldes of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousande men of them: so hee returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 ¶ Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and hee had aboundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For he had married the daughter of the hie Priest)

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his mind, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceite, 14 Nowe as Simon went about thorowe the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Mattathias, and Iudas his sonnes in the hundreth seuentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a litle holde, called Dochus which he had built, where hee made them a great banket, and had men hid there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolemeus stood vp with his men and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banket house, and slewe him with his two sonnes, and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby he committed a great vilenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemeus these things and sent to the King, that hee might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so woulde deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and golde and rewardes.

20 And to Ierusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ranne before, and told Iohn in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemeus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, & laid hands on them that were come to slay him, and slewe them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of Iohn, both of his warres, and of his noble actes (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deedes, 24 Beholde they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

THE SECOND BOOKE OF THE MACCABEES.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes, that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24 The prayer of Nehemias.

THE brethren the Iewes, which bee at Ierusalem, and they that are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto the brethrē ỹ Iewes, that are throughout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.

2 God be gracious vnto you and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob his faithfull seruants,

3 And giue you al an heart to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in his Lawe, and commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and bee reconciled with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundreth, threescore & ninth yere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in those yeeres, after that Iason, and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, & yhed innocent blood: Then we prayed vnto the Lord, and were heard we offered sacrifices and fine flowre, and lighted the lampes, and set foorth the bread.

9 Nowe therefore keepe yee the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in the moneth Casleu.

10 ¶ In the hundreth fourescore & eight yeere, the people that was at Ierusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsel and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus King Proleneus master, which is of the stocke of the anoynted Priestes, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 In so much as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though wee had ouercome the king.

12 For he brought them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holy citie.

13 For albeit the captaine, and the armie that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceite of Naneas Priests.

14 For Antiochus, as though hee woulde dwell with her, came thither, he, and his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.

15 But when the Priestes of Nanea had laide it foorth, and hee was entred with a small company within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in,

16 And by opening a priuie doore of the vaute, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in pieces, they cut off their heads and threwe them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in al things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Whereas we are now purposed to keepe the purification of the Temple vpon the fiue and twentie day of the moneth Casleu, we thought it necessarie to certifie you thereof, that yee also might keepe the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Neemias offered sacrifice, after that he had built the Temple, and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, the Priests, which sought the honor of God, tooke the * fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in an hollowe pit, which was drie in the bottome, and therein they kept it, so that the place was vnknowen vnto euery man. *Leuit.6.13. and 10.2. and 16.12.

20 Now after many yeeres when it pleased God that Neemias should be sent from the king of Persia, he sent of the posteritie of those Priestes, which had hid it to fetch the fire, and as they told vs, they found nó fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commaunded hee them to draw it vp, and to bring it: and when the things apperteining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commaunded the Priests to sprinkle the wood, & the things laide thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that euery man marueiled.

23 Now the Priestes, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Ionathan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lorde, Lorde God maker of all things, which art fearefull, and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious king,

25 Onely liberall, onely iust and almighty and euerlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from al trouble, & hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them, 26 Receiue the sacrifice for the whole people of Israel, and preserue thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together, ỹ are scattered from vs: deliuer them that serue among the heathen, looke vpon them which are despised, & abhorred. that the heathen may know that thou art our God:

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place * as Moyses hath spoken. *Deut.30.7.

30 And the Priestes sang Psalmes thereunto.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.

33 ¶ So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde the king of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his companie had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king tried out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, he gaue and bestowed many giftes.

36 And Neemias called the same place Ephthar, which is to say, purification: but many men call it ‖ Nephthar. ‖ Or, Nephi.

IT is founde also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet, that he commaunded them which were caried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commanded them that were led into captiuitie, *Baruch.6. 2 *Giuing them a lawe that they should not forget the commaundements of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their minds, when they saw images of golde and siluer, with their ornaments.

3 These and such other things commanded he them, and exhorted them that they should not let the Lawe goe out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, howe the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the tabernacle, and the arke, and followe him: and when he came vp into the mountaine where Moyses went Deut.34.1. vp, and saw the heritage of God,

5 Ieremias went foorth and found an hollowe caue, wherein he laid the Tabernacle, & the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of these ȳ followed him, to marke the place: but they could not find it.

7 Which whē Ieremias perceiued, he reproued, them saying, As for that place, it shal be vnknowen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, that mercie be shewed.

8 Then shal the Lord shew them these things, and the maiestie of the Lorde shal appeare and the cloude also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as *1.Kin.8.14.27, * when Salomon desired, that the place might bee 2.chro.6.21. honourably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that hee, being a wise man, *1.King.8.62.65 offered the * sacrifice of dedication, and consecra- 2.chro.7.5. tion of the Temple.

*Leuit.9.24. and 10.16. 10 * And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed 2.Chro.7.1. the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, the fire came downe from heauen, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Moyses sayd, because the sinne offering was not eaten, therefore is it consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in ȳ writings, §Some reade Ieremie. and registers of || Neemias, and howe he made a librarie, and howe he gathered the acts of the kings, and of the Prophets, and the acts of Dauid, and the epistles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts.

14 Euen so Iudas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, sende some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye shall doe well, if ye keepe the same dayes.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all and the kingdome, and the Priesthoode, and the Sanctuarie,

*Deut.30.5. 18 *As he promised in the lawe, wil shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into this holy place: for hee hath saued vs from great perils, and hath clensed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabeus, and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne, 21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stoode for ȳ Iewes religion: (for though they were but fewe, yet they ranne through whole countreyes, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repayred the Temple that was renowmed throughout all the worlde, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie)

23 Wee will assaye to abbridge in one volume those things, that Iason the Cyrenian hath declared in fiue bookes.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficultie that they haue that would bee occupied in the rehearsall of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 We haue endeuoured, that they that woulde reade, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and whosoeuer reade them, might haue profite.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abbridgement, but required both sweate, & watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, and seeketh other mens commoditie, hath no small labour: so we also for many mens sakes are very well content to vndertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the authour the exact diligence of euery particular, we will labour to goe forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as he that will builde a newe house, must prouide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the plat or goeth about to plant it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a story to enter deepely into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse fewe wordes, and to auoyde those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will wee begin the storie, adding thus much to our former wordes, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in words before the story, and to be short in the story.

CHAP. III.

2 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon vttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

WHat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very well kept, because of the godlinesse of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great giftes,

3 In so much that Seleucus king of Asia of his owne rents, bare all the costs belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Beniamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning || the iniquitie committed in the citie. ||Or, state and prouision.

4 And when hee could not ouercome Onias, hee gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas, which then was gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice,

6 And tolde him that the treasurie in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it it were possible that these things might come into the Kings hands.

7 Nowe when Apollonius came to the King, and shewed him of the money, as it was tolde him, the King chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandement, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediatly Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though he would visite the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the Kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the citie, hee declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his comming, and asked if these things were so in deede.

10 Then the hie Priest told him that there were such things laid vp by the widowes and fatherlesse, 11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundreth talents of siluer, and two hundreth of golde, 12 And that it were altogether vnpossible to doe this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place & Temple, which is honoured thorow the whole world for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the Kings commandement giuen him, said that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasury.

14 So he appointed a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole citie.

15 For the Priests fel downe before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him, which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they should be safely preserued for such as had committed them to be kept,

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorowe of his minde.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And the women girt with sackcloth vnder their breasts, filled the streetes, and the virgins that were kept in, ranne some to the gates, and some to the walles, and others looked out at the windowes.

20 And all held vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the hie Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almightie Lord, that he would keepe safe and sure the things, which were laid vp for those ỹ had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheless the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as hee and his souldiers were now there present by the treasurie, he that is the Lorde of the spirits, & of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare, and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly barbed, and he ranne fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his forefeete, and it seemed that hee that sate vpon the horse, had harnesse of golde.

26 Moreouer, there appeared two yong men, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparell, which stoode by him on euery side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fel suddenly vnto ỹ ground, and was couered with great darkenes: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, & put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great company, & many souldiers into ỹ said treasurie, was borne out: for he could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

27 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but he was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praised the Lorde that had honoured his owne place: for the Temple which a litle afore was full of feare & trouble, when the almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightwayes certaine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that hee would call vpon the most High to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the hie Priest, considering that the king might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the hie Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord graunted thee thy life:

34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lorde sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had graunted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the King.

36 Then testified he vnto euery man of the great workes of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the King asked Heliodorus, who were meete to bee sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he said, 38 If thou hast any enemie or traitour, send him thither, and thou shalt receiue him wel scourged, if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For he that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, hee beateth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it, 40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasurie.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason obtaineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the King. 27 And was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slaine traiterously by Andronicus.

THis Simon now, of whom we spake afore, being a bewrayer of the money and of his owne natural countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was he bolde to call him a traitour that was so beneficiall to the citie, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that through one that belonged to Simon, murthers were were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as hee that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 He went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuately and publikely.

6 For hee sawe it was not possible except the King tooke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his follie.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawful meanes to be hie Priest.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him three hundreth and threescore talents of siluer, and of another rent, fourtescore talents.

9 Besides this, hee promised him an hundreth and fiftie, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise and a place for the youth, and that they would ‖ name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

‖Or, that hee would write the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem among them.

10 The which thing when the King had graunted, and he had gotten the superioritie, he beganne immediatly to drawe his kinsemen to the customes of the Gentiles, 11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their Lawes and pollicies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

12 For he presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castell, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, & made them weare ‖ hattes.

‖Or, buskins in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

13 So there beganne a great desire to followe the maners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Iason, not the hie Priest, but the vngodly person, 14 So that the Priestes were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expenses at the play ‖ after the casting of the stone.

‖This game was to trie strength by casting a stone that had an hole in the middes, or a piece of metall.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

‖Or, Olympian sportes, which were games kept euery fift yeere.

18 ¶ Now when the ‖ games that were vsed euery fiue yeere, were played at Tyrus, the king being present,

19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to looke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundreth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caried them, desired they might not bee bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of galleis.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menastheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor. But when Antiochus perceiued that he was euill affectioned toward his affaires, he sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where hee was honourably receiued of Iason, and of the city, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great showtings, and so hee went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yeere afterward Iason sent Menelaus, the foresayde Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the king, and to bring to passe certaine necessarie affaires, whereof he had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for hee gaue three hundreth talents of siluer more then Iason, 25 So he gate the Kings ‖ letters patents, albeit he had nothing in himself worthy of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruel tyraunt, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

‖Or, commandement.

26 Then Iason, which had deceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the King, he tooke none order for it, albeit Sostratus the ruler of the castell required it.

28 For vnto him appertayned the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his steade in the Priesthoode, and Sostratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the king in all haste to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus supposing that he had gotten a conuenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some he solde at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a suretie, he reproued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuarie at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when he came to Onias, he counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an othe: (howbeit hee suspect him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so he slew him incontinently without any regard of right or iustnesse.

35 For the which cause not only the Iewes, but many other nations also were grieued, and tooke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the king was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the citie, and certaine of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorie in his minde, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, & rent his clothes, & commanded him to be led throughout the citie, and in the same place where hee had committed committed the wickednesse against Onias, he was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment as he had deserued.

39 ¶ Nowe when Lysimachus had done many wicked deedes in the citie through the counsell of Menelaus, and the bruit was spred abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for he had caried out now much vessell of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousande, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstoode the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfuls of dust, which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that inuaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe they killed besides the treasurie.

43 For these causes an accusation was laide against Menelaus.

44 And when the king came to Tyrus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus being now conuinced, promised to Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorimines much money, if he would perswade the King.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the king into a court, where as he was to coole himselfe, and turned the kings mind.

47 In so much that hee discharged Menelaus from the accusations (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischiefe) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, they shoulde haue beene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they sore punished vniustly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated y wickednes, and ministred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so through the couetousnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

CHAP. V.

2 Of the signes and tokens seene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the ende and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursuite of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spoyling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wildernesse.

ABout the same time Antiochus vndertooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there seene throughout all the citie of Ierusalem, fourty dayes long, horsemen running in the aire, with robes of golde, and as bandes of speare men,

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in aray, encountring and coursing one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of darts, & drawing of swordes, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour seene, and harnesse of all sortes.

4 Therefore euery man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had bene dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, & came suddenly vpon the city, and they that were vpon the wals, being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the castell but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercie, not considering that to haue the aduantage against his kinsemen is greatest disaduantage, but thought that he had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the superioritie, but at the last receiued shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabonde into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally hee had this ende of his wicked conuersation, that hee was accused before Areta the [Or, sir vpi.
king of the Arabians, and fledde from citie to citie, being pursued of euery man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemie of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt.

9 Thus hee that had chased many out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And he that had cast many out vnburied, was throwen out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was hee partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when these things that were done, were declared to the King, hee thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre also, that they should kil and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses,

13 Thus was there a slaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a destruction of men & women and children, and virgins, and infants were murthered:

14 So that within three dayes were slaine fourescore thousand, & fourty thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many solde as were slaine.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst goe into the most holy Temple of all the worlde, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his countrey, to be his guide, 16 And with his wicked handes tooke the holy vessels, which other kings had giuen for the garnishing glory and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So hautie in his minde was Antiochus, that hee considered not, that God was not a litle wroth for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many sinnes, hee, assoone as hee had come, had suddenly bene punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whome Seleucus the king sent to viewe the treasurie.

19 But God hath not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it bee partaker of the benefites of the Lorde, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almightie, so when the great Lord shalbe reconciled, it shall bee set vp in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteene hundred talents out of the Temple, he gate him to Antiochia in al haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the drie lande, and to walke vpon the sea: such an hie minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to vexe the people at Ierusalem

rusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that set him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grieuous to the citizens then the other, and was despiteful against the Iewes his citizens, 24 He sent also Apollonius a cruel prince, with an armie of two and twentie thousand, whome he commaunded to slay those that were toward mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger sort.

25 So when hee came to Ierusalem, hee fayned peace, and kept him still vnto the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slew al them that were gone forth to the shewe, and running through the citie with his men armed, he murthered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wildernesse, & liued there in the mountaines with his company among the beastes, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, least they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Lawe of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grieuous paine of Eleazarus.

NOt long after this, sent the king an olde man [Or, Antiochia. of ‖ Athens, for to compell the Iewes, to transgresse the Lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Lawe of God,

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did ỹ dwelt at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitalitie.

3 This wicked gouernement was sore and grieuous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was full of dissolution, and gluttonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things as were abominable and forbidden by the Lawe.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feasts, nor plainely to confesse him selfe to be a Iewe.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grieuously compelled perforce euery moneth to banket, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of yuie.

8 Moreouer through the counsell of Ptolemeus, there went out a commaundement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and ‖ banketting should be kept, [Or eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

9 And who so would not conforme themselues to the maners of ỹ Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought forth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had led rounde about the citie (the babes hanging at their breastes) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discouered vnto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraide to helpe themselues.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which read this booke, that they bee not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions, not to bee for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnes, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom hee punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their sinnes.

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not bee heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: and though he punish with aduersitie, yet doeth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this bee spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in fewe wordes.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall scribes, an aged man, and of a well fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offred himselfe willingly to the torment, and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banket, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him, that hee woulde take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as hee woulde prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appoynted by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice,

22 That in so doing he might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, hee would receiue this fauour.

23 But hee began to consider discretely, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeres, and the honour of his gray haires, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childehoode, but chiefly the holy Lawe made and giuen by God: therefore hee answered consequently, and willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, sayde he, to dissemble, whereby many young persons might thinke, that Eleazar being fourescore yere olde and ten were now gone to ‖ another religion, [Or, another maner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a little time of a transitorie life) they might be deceiued by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet coulde I not escape the hand of the Almightie, neither aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, & wil shew my self such as mine age requireth, 28 And so wil leaue a notable example for such as be yong, to die willingly & couragiously for the honourable and holy Lawes. And when he had said these wordes, immediately he went to torment.

29 Nowe they that ledde him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the wordes that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as hee was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, he sighed and sayd, The Lorde that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue bene deliuered from death, death, I am scourged and suffer these sore paynes of my body: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this maner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorial of vertue, not only vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seuen brethren and of their mother.

IT came to passe also, that seuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the King against the Law, to taste swines flesh, & were tormented with scourges and whippes.

2 But one of them, which spake first, said thus, What seest thou? and what wouldest thou knowe of vs? we are readie to die, rather then to transgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the King angry, and commaunded to heate paines and caldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to flay him, and to cut off the vtmost partes of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Now when he was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to bee brought aliue to the fire, and to frye him in the panne: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the panne, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to die couragiously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doeth regard vs, and in deede taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses * declared in the song wherein he testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants. *Chap.32.36.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him, if hee would eat, or he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But hee answered in his owne language, and sayde, No. Wherefore he was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when he was at the last breath, he sayd, Thou murtherer takest this present life from vs, but the king of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the thirde had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, and stretched foorth his handes boldely, 11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Lawe of God I depise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the king and they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when hee was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when he was now ready to dye, he sayd thus, It is better that we should change this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also and tormented him,

16 Who looked vpon the King, and said, Thou hast power among men, and though thou bee a mortal man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy seede.

18 After him also they brought the sixt, who, being at the point of death, sayde, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, and worthy of honourable memorie: for when she saw her seuen sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, shee exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage and wisdome, turned vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I cannot tell how ye came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body, 23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the worlde, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercy giue you breath and life againe, as ye now regarde not your owne selues, for his Lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious words, while the yongest was yet aliue, he did exhort him not only with wordes, but swore also vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the Lawes of his fathers, and that hee woulde take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man woulde in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when hee had exhorted her with many wordes, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So shee turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne haue pitie vpon mee, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankinde made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shewe thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffring death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these words, the yong man said, Whom wait ye for? I will not obey the Kings commaundement: but I will obey the commaundement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And thou that imaginest all mischiefe against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For wee suffer these things, because of our sinnes, 33 But though the liuing Lorde bee angrie with vs a little while for our chastening and correction, yet wil he be reconciled with his own seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion and most wicked of all men, lift not thy selfe vp in vaine, which which art puffed vp with vncertaine hope, & liftest thine hands against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almightie God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffred a little paine, are now vnder the diuine couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body & life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he wil soone be merciful vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the onely God, 38 And that in mee and my brethren the wrath of the Almightie, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously, that he was mocked.

40 So hee also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be ynough spoken concerning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is ouercome. 27 The Iewes giue thankes, after they haue put their enemis to flight, diuiding part of the spoyles vnto the fatherlesse and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

THen Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinsfokes and friends together, & tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion, and assembled sixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that he woulde haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that he wouldе haue compassion vpon the citie that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he woulde heare the voyce of the blood that cryed vnto him,

4 And that hee woulde remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that hee would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Nowe when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude he could not be withstood by ỹ heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned vnto mercy.

6 Therefore he came at vnwares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially he vsed the nights to make such assaults, in so much that the bruite of his manlinesse was spead euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philippe sawe that this man increased by litle and litle, and that things prospered with him for the most part, hee wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent hee speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twentie thousand men, to roote out ỹ whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king, of two thousand talents, which the Romanes shoulde haue to bee taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buye Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell foure score and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors comming, hee tolde them that were with him, of the comming of the armie.

13 Nowe were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousnesse of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other solde all that they had left, and besought the Lord together, to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had sold them, or euer he came neere them.

15 And though hee would not doe it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about sixe thousand, exhorting them not to be afraide of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of ỹ Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniustly done to the holy place, & the cruelty done to the citie by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, sayd he, trust in their weapons and boldenesse: but our confidence is in the Almightie God, which at a becke can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreouer he admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundreth and fourescore & fiue thousand vnder * Sennacherib,

2.King.19.35. Isa.37.36. 1.16.1.18. Eccl.48.22. 1.mac.7.41.*

20 And of the battel that they had in Babylon against the Gallatians, how they came in al to ỹ battel eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: & when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand slew an hundreth and twenty thousand, through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefites.

12 Thus when hee had made them bolde with these wordes, and ready to die for the lawes & the countrey, he diuided his armie into foure partes.

22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer the armie, to wit, Simon, and Ioseph and Ionathan, giuing eche one fifteene hundreth men.

23 And when ‖ Eleazarus had reade the holy booke, & giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the forward, ioyned with Nicanor, ‖ Or, Esdras.

24 And because the Almighty helped them, slewe aboue nine thousand men, and wounded and maymed the most part of Nicanors hoste, and so put all to flight, 25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoyled the enemies, and kept the Sabbath, giuing thankes and praysing the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercie.

Num.31.27. 1.sam.30.24.*

28 And after the Sabbath,* they distributed the spoyles spoyles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among them selues and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the merciful Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fell vpon Timotheus and Bacchides, and slew aboue twentie thousand, and wanne hie and strong holdes, and diuided great spoyles, and gaue an equall portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreouer they gathered their weapons together, and laid them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoyles to Ierusalem.

32 They slewe also Philarches a most wicked person, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victorie in their countrey, they burnt Calistenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a litle house: so he receiued a reward meete for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Iewes, 35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lorde brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, in so much that he put off his glorious raymēt, & fled ouerthwart the country like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus he that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by means of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a ‖ defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

‖ Or, God their defender.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoile Perspolis is put to flight. 5 As he persecuteth the Iewes, he is stricken of the Lord. 13 The fained repentance of Antiochus. 28 He dieth miserably.

AT the same time, came Antiochus againe with dishonour out of the countrey of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persepolis, and went about to robbe the Temple, and to subdue the citie, the people ranne in a rage to defend themselues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when he came to Ebatane, he vnderstood the things that had come to Nicanor, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commaunded his charet man to driue continually, & to dispatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 And the Lord Almightie and God of Israel smote him with an incurable and inuisible plague: for assoone as he had spoken these wordes, a paine of the bowels, that was remediless, came vpon him, and sore torments of the inner parts,

6 And that most iustly: for he had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit he would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, & commanded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that he fel downe from the charet that ran swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus he that a litle afore thought hee might commaund the floods of the sea, (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the hie mountaines in the balance, was nowe cast on the ground, and carryed in a horse-litter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God,

9 * So that the wormes came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: and while hee was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieued at his ‖ smell.

* Acts 12. 23.

10 Thus no man could beare, because of his stinke, him that a litle afore thought hee might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leaue off his great pride, and selfewill, when he was plagued and came to the knowledge of himself by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, he said these wordes, It is meete to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortal, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God thorow pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, who would now haue no mercie on him, 14 And said thus, that he would set at libertie the holy citie, vnto the which he made haste to destroy it, and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whom hee had iudged not worthie to be buryed, but would haue cast them out with their children to bee deuoured of the foules and wilde beastes) he would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And whereas he had spoiled the holy Temple afore, he would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that he would also become a Iewe himselfe, and go thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnderwritten, conteining the forme of a supplication.

19 ¶ THE KING and Prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens wisheth much ioy and health and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things goe after your minde, I giue great thankes vnto God hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet I am mindful of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Persia, and fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessarie to care for the common safetie of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickenesse.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the hie countreyes, he appointed who should succeede him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tidings were brought that were grieuous, they in the land might know to whome the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Againe, when I ponder how that the gouernours that are borderers, and neighbours vnto my kingdome, wait for all occasions and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my sonne Antiochus shall be King, whome I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the hie prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and require you to remember the benefites that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull vnto me and my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle, and louing vnto you according vnto my minde.

28 ¶ Thus the murtherer and blasphemer suffered most grieuously, & as he had intreated other men, so hee dyed a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, caried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 10 The acts of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 23 Timotheus inuadeth Iudea, with whom Iudas ioyneth battell. 29 Fiue men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

MAccabeus now and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, wanne the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, and chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And clensed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense two yeeres, and sixe moneths after, and set foorth the lampes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lorde, that they might come no more into such troubles, but if they sinned any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercie, and that they might not bee deliuered to the blasphemous and barbarous nations.

5 Nowe vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was clensed againe, euen the fiue and twenty day of the same moneth, which is || Chasleu.

|| Or, November.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembring, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beastes.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in clensing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Iewes.

9 And this was the ende of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Now will we declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when hee had taken the kingdome, he made one Lysias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice, and Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the realme.

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron purposed to do iustice vnto the Iewes, for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause he was accused of his friendes before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that hee was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poysoned himselfe, and dyed.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee intertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreouer the Idumeans that held the strong holdes, which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wan the places, and slewe all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they met with, and slue no lesse then twentie thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castels, hauing all maner of things conuenient to susteine the siege, 19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Ioseph, and Zacheus also, and those that were with them, which were ynow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessarie.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnesse, were intreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castel) and tooke seuentie thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had solde their brethren for mony, and let their enemies go.

22 So he slew them when they were conuict of treason: and immediatly wan the two castels:

23 And hauing good successe, as in al the warres that he tooke in hand, hee slewe in the two castels moe then twentie thousand.

24 Nowe Timotheus whome the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sortes, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iewrie by strength.

25 But when he drewe neere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth, 26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lord to bee mercifull vnto them, and to be an enemie to their enemies, and to bee an aduersarie to the aduersaries, * as their Lawe declareth.

* Exod.23.20. deut.20.4.

27 So after the prayer, they tooke their weapons, and went further from the citie, and when they came neere to the enemies, they tooke heede to themselues.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victorie, victory, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell waxed ſtrong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen fiue comely men vpon horſes with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery ſide with their weapons, and kept him ſafe, but ſhotte dartes, and lightnings againſt the enemies, ſo that they were confounded with blindeneſſe, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were ſlaine of foote men twentie thouſande and fiue hundreth, and ſixe hundreth horſemen.

32 As for Timotheus himſelfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very ſtrong holde, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company layde ſiege againſt the fortreſſes with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, truſting to the height of the place, blaſphemed exceedingly, and ſpake horrible wordes.

‖Or, the fiue and twentie day.

35 Neuertheleſſe vpon the ‖fifth day in the morning, twentie yong men of Maccabeus company, whoſe hearts were inflamed, becauſe of the blaſphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bold ſtomackes ſmote downe thoſe that they met.

36 Others alſo that climed vp vpon the engins of warre againſt them that were within, ſet fire vpō the towers, and burnt vp thoſe blaſphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the reſt of the armie, and tooke the citie.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Appollophanes.

38 When this was done, they prayſed the Lorde with pſalmes, and thankeſgiuing, which had done ſo great things for Iſrael, and giuen them the victory.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lyſias goeth about to ouercome the Iewes. 8 Succour is ſent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lyſias vnto the Iewes. 20 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lyſias. 27 A letter of the ſame vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VEry ſhortly after this, Lyſias the kings ſteward, and a kinſman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke ſore diſpleaſure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about foureſcore thouſand, with all the horſemen, he came againſt the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the temple would hee haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for hee would ſell the Prieſtes office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, becauſe of the great number of footemen, and thouſands of horſemen, and in his foureſcore Elephants,

5 He came into Iudea, and drewe neere to Bethſura, which was a caſtle of defence, fiue furlongs from Ieruſalem, and layd ſore ſiege vnto it.

6 But when Maccabeus, and his company knewe that he beſieged the holdes, they, and all the people made prayers with weeping, and teares before the Lorde, that he would ſend a good Angel to deliuer Iſrael.

7 And Maccabeus himſelfe firſt of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they woulde ieoparde themſelues together with him to helpe their brethren: ſo ther went foorth together with a couragious minde.

8 And as they were there beſides Ieruſalem, there appeared before them vpon horſebacke a man in white cloathing, ſhaking his harneſſe of golde.

9 Then they prayſed the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, inſomuch that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the moſt cruel beaſtes, and to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forwarde in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lyons, they ſlewe eleuen thouſand footemen, and ſixteene hundreth horſemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them alſo being wounded, eſcaped naked, and Lyſias himſelfe fled away ſhamefully, and ſo eſcaped,

13 Who as he was a man of vnderſtanding, conſidering what loſſe he had had, and knowing, that the Hebrewes coulde not be ouercome becauſe the Almightie God helped them, ſent vnto them,

14 And promiſed, that hee would conſent to all things which were reaſonable, & perſwade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lyſias requeſts hauing reſpect in all things to the common wealth, and whatſoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lyſias concerning the Iewes, the King graunted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lyſias conteyning theſe wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes ſendeth greeting.

17 Iohn and ‖ Abeſſalom, which were ſent from you, deliuered me the things that you demaund by writing, and required mee to fulfill the things that they had declared.

‖Or, Abſalom, or, Abſalome

18 Therefore what things ſoeuer were meete to bee reported to the King himſelfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was poſſible.

19 Therefore if ye behaue your ſelues as friends towarde his affaires, hereafter alſo I will endeuoure my ſelfe to doe you good.

20 As cōcerning theſe things, I haue giuen commandement to theſe men, and to thoſe whom I ſent vnto you, to commune with you of the ſame particularly.

21 Fare yee well, the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioſcorinthius.

22 ¶ Nowe the Kings letter conteined theſe words, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lyſias ſendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is tranſlated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, liue quietly, that euery man may apply his owne affaires.

24 Wee vnderſtande alſo that the Iewes would not conſent to our father, for to bee brought vnto the cuſtome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cauſe they require of vs, that we would ſuffer them to liue after their owne Lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is that this nation ſhal bee in reſt, and haue determined to reſtore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the cuſtome of their fathers.

tified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and cheerefully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the reſt of the Iewes, ſendeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, we haue our deſire: we are alſo in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your deſire was to returne home, and to apply your owne buſineſſe.

30 Wherefore, thoſe that will depart, wee giue them free libertie, vnto the thirtie day of the moneth of ‖ Panthicus, ‖ Or, April.

31 That the Iewes may vſe their owne maner of liuing and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any maner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue ſent alſo Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare yee well: the hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romanes alſo ſent a letter conteyning theſe wordes, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus ‖ Manilius ambaſſadours of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Iewes ſend greeting.

‖ Or, Manlius.

35 The things that Lyſias the Kings kinſeman hath granted you, we graunt the ſame alſo.

36 But concerning that which hee ſhall report vnto the King, ſend hither ſome with ſpeede, when yee haue conſidered the matter diligently, that wee may conſult thereupon as ſhall bee beſt for you: for we muſt goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haſte and ſende ſome men, that we may know your minde.

38 Fare well: this hundreth and eight and fourtie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

‖ Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deede of them of Ioppe againſt the Iewes. 6 Iudas is auenged of them. 9 Hee ſetteth fire in the hauen of Iamnia. 20 The proſpute of the Iewes againſt Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken and let go vnhurt. 32 Iudas purſueth Gorgias.

WHen theſe couenants were made, Lyſias went vnto the King, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus and Appollonius the ſonne of Genneus, and Ieronimus, and alſo Demophon, and beſides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in reſt and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe alſo did ſuch a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the ſhips, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euil wil.

4 And ſo by the common aduiſe of the city, they obeyed them, and ſuſpect nothing: but when they were gone foorth into the deepe, they drowned no leſſe then two hundreth of them.

5 Now when Iudas knew of this cruelty ſhewed againſt his nation, he commaunded thoſe men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, hee went foorth againſt the murtherers of his brethren, and ſet fire in the hauen by night, and burnt the ſhippes, and thoſe that fledde thence, hee ſlewe.

7 And when the citie was ſhut vp, hee departed as though he would come againe, and roote out all them out of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when hee perceiued that the Iamnites were minded to doe in like maner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them, 9 Hee came vpon the Iamnites by night, and ſet fire in the hauen with the nauie, ſo that the light of the fire was ſeene at Ieruſalem, vpon two hundreth and fourtie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in the iourney towarde Timotheus, about fiue thouſand men of foote, and fiue hundreth horſemen of the Arabians ſet vpon him.

11 So the battell was ſharpe, but it proſpered with Iudas, through the helpe of God: the ‖ Nomades of Arabia being ouercome, beſought Iudas to make peace with them, and promiſed to giue him certaine cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

‖ So called because they were ſhepheards.

12 And Iudas thinking that they ſhould in deed bee profitable concerning many things, graunted them peace: whereupon they ſhooke hands, and ſo they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas alſo aſſaulted a citie called Caſpis, which was ſtrong by reaſon of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put ſuch truſt in the ſtrength of the walles, and in ſtore of vitailes, that they were the ſlacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Iudas, and reproching them: yea, they blaſphemed and ſpake ſuch words as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus ſouldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the worlde (which without any ‖ inſtruments, or engins of warre, did * caſt downe the walles of Iericho, in the time of Ieſus) gaue a fierce aſſault againſt the walles, ‖ Or, battell rammes. * Ioſh. 6. 20.

16 And tooke the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great ſlaughter, in ſo much that a lake of two furlongs broade, which lay thereby, ſeemed to flowe with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, ſeuen hundreth and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a gariſon in a very ſtrong hold.

19 But Doſitheus, and Soſipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went foorth, and ſlewe thoſe that Timotheus had left in the fortreſſe, more then ten thouſand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, and ranged his armie by bandes, and went couragiouſly againſt Timotheus, which had with him an hundreth and twentie thouſand men of foote, and two thouſande and fiue hundreth horſemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he ſent the women and children, and the other baggage afore vnto a fortreſſe called Carnion: (for it was hard to beſiege, and vneaſie to come vnto becauſe of the ſtraites on all ſides.)

22 But when Iudas firſt band came in ſight, the enemies were ſmitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the preſence of him that ſeeth al things, inſomuch that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne ſwordes.

23 But Iudas was very earneſt in purſuing, and ſlewe slew those wicked men: yea, he slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dositheus, and Sosipater, whom hee besought with much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents and the brethren of some of them, which, if they put him to death, should be despised.

25 So when hee had assured them with manie wordes, and promised that he would restore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Atargation, and slew fiue and twentie thousand persons.

27 And after that he had chased away and slaine them, Iudas remooued the hoste toward Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lysias and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong yong men kept the walles defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engins of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and slew fiue and twentie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth six hundreth furlongs from Ierusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans delt louingly with them, & intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie, 31 They gaue them thankes, desiring them to be friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Ierusalem, as the feast of the weeks approched.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost they went foorth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foot and foure hundreth horsemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine, 35 And Dositheus one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke and a mighty man, tooke Gorgias, and layd holde of his garment, and drew him by force, because he would haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, & smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.

‖ Or, vnto Gorgias.

36 And when they that were ‖ with Eserin, had foughten long, and were wearie, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that he would shew himselfe to be their helper, and captaine of the field.

37 And then he beganne in his owne language, and sung psalmes with a loud voice, insomuch that streightwayes he made them that were about Gorgias to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seuenth day came, they clensed themselues (as the custome was) and kept the Sabath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as necessitie required, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and to burie them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coats of euery one that was slaine, they found iewels that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the * Iamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. Then euery man saw that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

* Deut.7.25. Iosh.7.1,11,12.

41 And so euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And they gaue themselues to prayer, and besought him, that they should not vtterly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themselues from sinne, forsomuch as they saw before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering thorow the companie, sent to Ierusalem about two thousand drachmes of siluer, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well, and honestly that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if hee had not hoped, that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene superfluous, and vaine, to ‖ pray for the dead.

‖ From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certeine doctrine can be gathered thereby: Also it is euident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it dissenteth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, and also the authour of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmitie, desireth pardon, if he haue not atteined to that he should. And it seemeth that this Iason the Cyrenean, out of whom he tooke this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben-Gorion, who hath written in Ebrew fiue books of these matters, and intreating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, lib.3. cap.19. for it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes, euen to this day, to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might minister the Sacraments. Exo.4 25. or the example of Razis that one might kill himselfe, whom this authour so much commendeth, Chap.14.41.

45 And therefore hee perceiued, that there was great fauour layd vp for those that died godly. (It was an holy, and a good thought.) So hee made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be deliuered from sinne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The comming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator, moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 Hee killeth foure score thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundreth fortie and nine yeere it was tolde Iudas, that Antiochus Eupator was comming with a great power into Iudea,

2 And Lysias the steward & ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundreth and ten thousand men of foot of the Grecians, and fiue thousand horsemen, and two and twentie elephants, and three hundreth charets set with hooks.

3 Menelaus also ioyned himselfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the sauegard of the country, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of Kings mooued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias informed the King that this man was the cause of al mischiefe, so that the King commanded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death, as the maner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a towre of fiftie cubits high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, & on euery side it rowled down into the ashes.

6 And there whosoeuer was condemned of sacrilege, or of any other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Menelaus should want burial,

8 For because hee had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire & ashes were holy: he himselfe also died in the ashes.

9 ¶ Now the King raged in his minde, and came came to shew himselfe more cruell vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, he commanded the people to call vpon the Lord night & day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they should be put frō their law, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple:

11 And hee that would not suffer the people, which a litle afore began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this all together, and besought the Lord for mercy with weeping, & fasting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themselues readie.

13 And he being a part with the Elders, tooke counsell to goe foorth, afore the King brought his hoste into Iudea, and should take the citie, & commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, he exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their countrey, and the common-wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watchword, The victorie of God, hee picked out the manliest yong men, & went by night into the kings campe, and slew of the hoste fourteene thousand men, and the greatest elephant with all that sate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had tasted the manlinesse of the Iewes, hee went about to take the holdes by policie, 19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but he was chased away, hurt and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, such things as were necessarie.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes host, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore hee was sought out, & when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and ‖tooke truce with them, departed, and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

‖Or, gaue and tooke the right hand.

23 But when he vnderstood, that Philip (whom he had left to be ouerseer of his businesse at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that hee yeelded himselfe to the Iewes, and made them an othe to doe all things that were right, and was appeased toward them, and offred sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuertheless, when he came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieued, they would that he should breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lysias vp into the iudgement seat, and excused the fact as well as he could, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the Kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius mooued by Alcimus, sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 29 which hee yet breaketh through the motion of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Razis to be taken, who slayeth himselfe.

After three yeeres was Iudas informed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and nauie by the hauen of Tripolis,

2 When hee had woon the countrey, and slaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Lysias.

3 Now Alcimus, which had bene the hie Priest, and wilfully defiled himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes he could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 He came to King Demetrius in the hundreth fiftie and one yeere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a palme, and of the boughes, which were vsed solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what deuices or counsels the Iewes leaned vnto.

6 To the which he answered, The Iewes that be called Asideans, whose captaine is Iudas Maccabeus, mainteine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the Realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the hie Priesthood) am now come hither,

8 Partly, because I was wel affectioned vnto the Kings affaires, and secondly, because I sought the profit of mine owne citizens: for all our people, through their rashnesse, are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, O King, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine own humanitie, that is readie to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these wordes, other friends also hauing euill will at Iudas, set Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor, the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine ouer Iudea, 13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high Priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled themselues with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himselfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remooued streightwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Dessan, 17 Where Simon Iudas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished through the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheless Nicanor hearing the manlines of them that were with Iudas, and the bolde stomacks that they had for their countrey, durst not proue proone the matter with bloodshedding.

‖Or, Theodotus. ‖Or, Matthias. 19 Wherefore, he sent Posidonius, ‖ Theodosius, and ‖ Matthias before, to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long aduisement thereupon, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mind, and consented to the couenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for euery man his stoole.

22 Nevertheless, Iudas commaunded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, least there should suddenly arise any euill through the enemies: and so they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

‖ Or, had Iudas before his eyes. 24 He ‖loued Iudas, & fauored him in his heart.

25 He prayed him also to take a wife, & to beget children: so he married, & they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betweene them, and vnderstanding the couenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hande, and ordeined Iudas a traitour to the Relame, to be his successour.

27 Then the King was displeased, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, saying, that he was very angry for the couenants, commaunding him that he should send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came to Nicanor, he was astonished and sore grieued, that he should breake the things wherein they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickednesse.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the King, hee sought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor began to be rough vnto him, and that he intreated him more rudely then hee was wont, he perceiued that such rigour came not of good, and therefore he gathered a few of his men, and withdrewe himselfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that he was preuented by Maccabeus worthy policie, came into the great & holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their vsual sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they sware that they could not tel where the man was, whom he sought, 33 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this maner, If ye will not deliuer mee Iudas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, & wil breake downe the altar, and will erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these wordes hee departed: then the Priestes lift vp their handes toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this maner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast neede of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore nowe, O most holy Lorde, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was clensed, and stoppe all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Nowe was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a louer of the citie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man aforetimes when the Iewes were minded to keepe them selues vndefiled and pure, being accused to bee of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life, with all constancie for the religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, sent about fiue hundreth men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this company woulde haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, and commaunded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that hee was ready to bee taken on euery side, he ‖ fell on his sword, 42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the handes of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as hee missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betweene the doores, he ranne boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conueyed themselues lightly away, and gaue place, so that he fell vpon his bellie.

45 Nevertheless while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, hee rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet he ranne thorow the middest of the people,

46 And gate him to the toppe of an high rocke: so when his blood was vtterly gone, hee tooke out his owne bowels with both his handes, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life and spirit, that hee would restore them againe vnto him, and thus he died.

‖ As this priuate example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the word of God although the autor seeme here to approue it: so that place as touching praier, Chap. 12. 44. though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proone a doctrine, because it is onely a particular example.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vision, incourageth them. 21 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head and hande to be cut off, & his tongue to be giuen vnto the foules. 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

NOw when Nicanor knew that Iudas and his companie were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheless, the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, sayd, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day, that is appoynted by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demanded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they sayd, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenth day to be kept,

5 Then he sayd, And I am mightie vpon earth to command them for to arme themselues, and to performe the Kings businesse. Notwithstanding, he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purposed to set vp a memoriall of the victorie obteined of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfit hope that the Lord would helpe,

8 And exhorted his people not to be afrayd at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember ber the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, & to trust now also, that they should haue the victorie by the Almightie.

9 Thus he incouraged them by the Lawe and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their hearts, and shewed them also the deceitfulnesse of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed euery one of them, not with the assurance of shields & speares, but with wholesome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to be beleeued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision, He thought that he saw Onias (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a child) holding vp his hands towards heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14 And Onias spake, and said, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy citie, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Ieremias held out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold: and as he gaue it, he spake thus, 16 Take this holy sworde a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the aduersaries.

17 And so being comforted by the wordes of Iudas, which were very sweete and able to stirre them vp to valiantnesse, and to incourage the hearts of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but couragiously to set vpon them, and manfully to assaile them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the citie and the Sanctuarie and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues, and children, and brethren and kinsfolkes, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Againe they that were in the citie, were carefull for the armie that was abroad.

20 Nowe whiles they all waited for the triall of the matter, and the enemies nowe mette with them, and the hoste was set in aray, and the ‖ beastes were separated into conuenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings:

‖ Or, Elephants.

21 Maccabeus considering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beasts, helde vp his hands towarde heauen, calling vpon the Lorde that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victory commeth not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victory to them that are worthy, as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer he said after this manner, O Lorde, * thou that diddest send thine Angel in the time of Ezechias King of Iudea, who in the hoste of Sennacherib slewe an hundreth, fourescore and fiue thousand,

* 2. King. 19. 35. Isa. 37. 36. Ecclus. 48. 21.

23 Sende nowe also thy good Angel before vs, O Lorde of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes he made an ende.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere with trumpets and showtings for ioy.

26 But Iudas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountered with the enemies, 27 So that with their handes they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slewe no lesse then fiue and thirtie thousande men: for through the presence of God they were wonderously comforted.

28 Nowe when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderstoode that Nicanor himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shoute & a cry, praysing the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to smite off Nicanors head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and set the Priests by the altar, and sent for them of the castle, 32 And shewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the hand of that blasphemour which hee had holden vp against the holy Temple of the Almightie with proud bragges.

33 Hee caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to be cut in litle pieces, and to be cast vnto the fowles, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man praised toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 He hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And here will I also make an end.

39 If I haue done wel, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delighteth the taste: so the setting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the storie. And here shalbe the end.

THE ENDE OF APOCRYPHA.

The Printer to the diligent Reader.

DEare Christian Reader, to the intent that thou mightest the better enioy the benefite of these notes or expositions vpon the newe Testament: I thought it not amisse to declare vnto thee the vse of the same. And first, for as much as the quotations or citing of places of the Scriptures in the margent which direct to other places, conteining like phrase or sense, haue bene so placed, that none without great labour could finde out the textes alleaged, I haue made these sixe seuerall figures or markes, ✣ ÷ ⁘ ✻ * and haue set them as well in the margent as in the text, so that thou mayest easily finde that which thou desirest. For example, in the first word of the first Chapter of Matthew is placed this first marke ✣, looke out the like marke in the margent, & there thou shalt find, Luke 3.23. which place agreeth to this of Matthew, and so likewise thou shalt finde in the residue. But if many quotations belong to one place, word or sentence, the first is onely marked, and those that follow vnmarked appertaine to the same. And if it fall out that there be more then sixe directions in one columne, then is the first repeated againe, and the residue following in order as at the beginning: as it appeareth in the first columne of Matthew, where both in the text and margent also, they are all two times set downe, and the foure first repeated againe.

The Notes which are directed by figures of Arithmetick, as 1.2.3.4. &c. throughout the Euangelistes and Actes, declare the effect or summe of the doctrine conteined betweene one of the said figures, & the next that followeth: as for example, from the figure 1. in the first line and first worde of Matthewe vnto the figure, 2. in the 18. verse of the same Chapter, the doctrine there gathered is set downe in the margent in this sort, 1 Iesus came of Abraham of the tribe of Iuda, and of the stocke of Dauid as God promised.

And in the Epistles in like sort they declare the methode and arte which the Apostles vse, and how euery argument or reason dependeth one vpon another: these figures are begunne againe at the beginning of euery Chapter. Lastly, the Notes which goe by order of the letters of the Alphabet placed in the text, with the like answering vnto them in the margent, serue to expound & lighten the darke words and phrases immediatly following them. As in the first line and second word, the letter, a, being referred vnto a, directly against him in the margent, sheweth that this word, Booke, signifieth A rehearsall as the Hebrewes vse to speake: as Gene. 5.1. The booke of the generations. These letters beginne at the beginning of euery Chapter, continuing vnto, z. and so beginning againe with a, if there be so many Notes that they doe exceede in number the letters of one Alphabet. This haue I faithfully done for thy commoditie, reape thou the fruite, and giue the prayse to GOD.

Farewell.

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST, ACCORDING TO S. MATTHEW.

CHAP. I.

1 That Iesus is that Messias, the Sauiour promised to the Fathers. 18 The nativitie of Christ.

✣ Luke 3.23.

THe ✣ [1] a booke of the [b] generation of Iesus Christ the [c] sonne of Dauid, the [c] sonne of Abraham.

2 ✣ Abraham begate Isaac. ∴ And Isaac begate Iacob. And ✻ Iacob begate Iudas and his brethren.

3 ✻ And Iudas begate Phares, and Zara of Thamar. And * Phares begate Esrom. And Esrom begate Aram.

4 And Aram begate Aminadab. And Aminadab begate Naasson. And Naasson begate Salmon.

5 And Salmon begate Booz of Rachab. And ✣ Booz begate Obed of Ruth. And Obed begate Iesse.

6 And ✣ Iesse begate Dauid the King. And ∴ Dauid the King begate Solomon of her that was the wife of Vrias.

7 And ✻ Solomon begate Roboam. And Roboam begate Abia. And Abia begate Asa.

8 And Asa begate Iosaphat. And Iosaphat begate Ioram. And Ioram begate Hozias.

9 And Hozias begate Ioatham. And Ioatham begate Achaz. And Achaz begate Ezekias.

10 And ✻ Ezekias begate Manasses. And Manasses begate Amon. And Amon begate Iosias.

11 And * Iosias begate Iakim. And Iakim [d] begate Iechonias and his brethren about the time they were caried away to Babylon.

12 And after they were caried away into Babylon, ✣ Iechonias begate Salathiel. ✣ And Salathiel begate Zorobabel.

13 And Zorobabel begate Abiud. And Abiud begate Eliacim. And Eliacim begate Azor.

14 And Azor begate Sadoc. And Sadoc begate Achim. And Achim begate Eliud.

15 And Eliud begate Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Iacob.

16 And Iacob begate Ioseph the husband of Mary, of whom was borne Iesus, ŷ is called Christ.

17 So [e] al the generations frō Abraham to Dauid, are fourteene generations. And frō Dauid vntil they were caried away into Babylon, fourteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon vntill Christ, fourteene generations.

18 ¶ Now the birth of [2] Iesus Christ was thus, When as his mother Mary was ∴ betrothed to Ioseph, before they came together, she was found with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her husband being a iust man, and not willing to ✻ make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But while he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dreame, saying, Ioseph, the sonne of Dauid, feare not to [f] take Mary thy [g] wife: for that which is [h] conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And she shall bring [3] foorth a sonne, and thou shalt ✣ call his name IESVS: for he shal ✣ i saue his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying, 23 ✣ Beholde, a [k] virgine shall be with childe, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

24 ¶ Then Ioseph, being raised from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.

25 But he knew her not, [l] till she had brought foorth her first borne sonne, and he called his name IESVS.

✣ Acts 4.12.

1 Deliuer, and this sheweth vs the meaning of this name Iesus.

✣ Esa.7.14.

k There is in the Hebrew & Greeke text, an article added, to point out the woman, and set her foorth plainly: as you would say, That Virgine, or a certeine Virgine.

l This litle word Till, in the Hebrew tongue, giueth vs to vnderstand also, that a thing shall not come to passe in time to come: as Michol had no children Till her death day, 2. Sam. 6. 23. And in the last Chapter of this Euangelist: Beholde, I am with you, Till the end of the world.

CHAP. II.

The wise men, who are the first fruites of the Gentiles, worship Christ. 14 Ioseph fleeth into Egypt with Iesus and his mother. 16 Herod slayeth the children.

∴ Luke 2 6.

WHen ∴ [c] Iesus then was borne at Bethleem in [a] Iudea, in the daies of Herod the king, beholde, there came [b] Wisemen from the East to Hierusalem, 2 Saying, Where is that King of the Iewes that is borne? for we haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.

3 When king Herod heard this, he was [c] troubled, and all Hierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the [d] chiefe Priests and [e] Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 And they sayd vnto him, At Beth-leem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 ✻ And thou Beth-leem in the land of Iuda, art not the [f] least among the Princes of Iuda: For out of thee shall come the gouernour that [g] shall feed my people Israel.

7 Then Herod priuily called the Wise men, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-leem, saying, Goe, and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring me word againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the king, they departed: and loe, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came and stood ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and [h] fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their [i] treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, euen golde, and frankincense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were [k] warned of God in a dreame, that they should not go againe to Herod, they returned into their countrey another way.

1 Christ a poore childe, layd downe in a crib, and no thing set by of his owne people, receiueth notwithstanding a noble witnes of his diuinitie frome heauen, and of his kingly estate, of strangers: which his own also vnwittingly allow of, although they doe not acknowledge him.

a For there was another in the tribe of Zabulon.

b Wise and learned men: for in a Persian word which they vse in good part.

c Was much moued, for he was a stranger and came to the kingdome by force: and the Iewes were troubled: for wickednesse is mad and raging.

d The chiefe priests, that is such as were of Aarons familie, which were deuided into foure & twentie orders, 1. Chron. 24. 5. and 2. chron. 36 14.

e They that expoūded the Law to the people for the Hebrews take this word of another which signifieth as much as to expound and declare.

f Though thou be a small towne, yet shalt thou be very famous and noble: For the birth of the Messias, who shall be borne in thee. g That shall rule and gouerne: for Kings are fitly called feeders and shepheards of the people. h After a kinde sort. i The rich and costly presents, which they brought. k Warned and told them so of it, when as they asked it not.

a Christ being yet scarse born, beginneth to be crucified for vs, both in himselfe, and also in his members.

13 ¶ [a] After their departure, beholde, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe & his mother, and flee into Egypt, & be there till I bring thee word: for Herod will seeke the babe, to destroy him.

14 So he arose and tooke the babe & his mother by night, and departed into Egypt,

15 And was there vnto the death of Herod, that that might be fulfilled, which is spoken of the Lord by the ✣ Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my sonne.

✣ Hose. 11. 1.

16 ¶ Then Herod, seeing that he was mocked of the Wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent foorth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-leem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two yere olde and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wise men.

17 Then was that fulfilled which is spoken [l] by the Prophet Ieremias, saying, 18 ✣ In Rhama was [m] a voice heard, mourning, and weeping, and great howling: [n] Rachel weeping for her children, and would not be comforted, because they were not.

19 [3] And when Herod was dead, beholde, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Ioseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the land of Israel: for they are dead which sought the babes life.

21 Then he arose vp, and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when hee heard that Archelaus did reigne in Iudea in stead of his father Herod, he was afrayd to go thither: yet after he was warned of God in a dreame, hee turned aside into the parts of Galile, 23 And went and dwelt in a citie called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophets, which was, That he should be called a Nazarite.

l For God speaketh by the mouth of the Prophets.

m A voice of lamenting, weeping, and howling.

n That is to say, All that compasse about Bethlehem: for Rachel Iacobs wife, who died in childbed, was buried in the way that leadeth to this town, which is also called Ephrata, because of the fruitfulnesse of the soile, and plentie of corne.

3 Christ is brought vp in Nazareth, after the death of the tyrant by Gods prouidence: that by the very name of ỹ place, it might plainly appeare to the world that he is the Lord, true Nazarite.

CHAP. III.

1 Iohn preacheth. 4 His apparell and meate. 5 He baptiseth. 8 The fruites of repentance. 10 The axe at the root of the tree. 12 The fanne and the chaffe. 13 Christ is baptized.

A Nd [a] in those dayes, [1] Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the [b] wildernesse of Iudea,

2 And said, [c] Repent: for the [d] kingdome of heaven is at hand.

3 For this is hee of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Esaias, saying, ✣ The voice of him that crieth in the wildernesse, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: [e] make his pathes streight.

4 ✣ And this Iohn had his garment of camels haire, and a girdle of a skinne about his loines: his meat was also [f] locusts and wilde hony.

5 ✣ Then went out to him [g] Ierusalem and all Iudea, and all the region round about Iordan.

6 And they were baptized of him in Iordan, [h] confessing their sinnes.

7 [2] Now when he saw many of the Pharises, and of the Sadduces come to his baptisme, he said vnto them, ✣ O generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the anger to come?

8 [3] Bring foorth therefore fruit woorthy amendment of life,

9 [4] And [i] thinke not to say [k] with your selues, ✣ We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able euen of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

10 And now also is the axe put to the root of the trees: [v] therefore euery tree which bringeth not foorth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

11 ✣ [5] In deed I baptize you with water to amendment of life, but he that commeth after me is mightier then I, whose shoes I am not worthy to beare: he will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with fire.

12 [6] Which hath his fan in his hand, and will [m] make cleane his floore, and gather his wheat into his garner, but will burne vp the chaffe with vnquenchable fire.

13 ¶ ✣ [7] Then came Iesus from Galile to Iordan vnto Iohn, to be baptized of him.

14 But Iohn earnestly put him backe, saying, I haue neede to be baptized of thee, and commest thou to me?

15 Then Iesus answering, sayd to him, Let be now: for thus it becommeth vs to fulfill [n] all righteousnesse. So he suffered him.

16 And Iesus when hee was baptized, came straight out of the water. And lo, the heauens were opened vnto [o] him, & Iohn saw the Spirit of God descending like a doue, and lighting vpon him.

17 [8] And loe, a voice came from heauen, saying, * This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am [p] well pleased.

1 Iohn, who through his singular holines & rare austerenes of life caused all men to cast their eyes vpon him, prepareth the way for Christ following fast on at his heeles, as the Prophet Esai foretolde: and deliuereth the summe of the Gospel, which in short space after should be deliuered more fully.

f Is come to you.
3 Christ thinking by time that he should at length depart from vs, euen at the beginning of his preaching, getteth him disciples after an heauenly sort, men indeede poore, and vtterly vnlearned, and therefore such as might be least suspected witnesses of the truth of those things which they heard and sawe.
✣ Marke 1.16. 1.cor.1.27.
4 Christ assureth the hearts of the beleeuers of his spirituall and saving vertue, by healing the diseases of the body.
h Their, that is the Gallilems.

8 Againe the deuill tooke him vp into an exceeding hie mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, and the glory of them,
9 And said to him, All these will I giue thee, if thou wilt fall downe, and worship me.
10 Then said Iesus vnto him, Auoyde Satan: for it is is written, ✣ Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him onely shalt thou serue.
11 ✣ Then the deuil left him: and behold, the Angels came, and ministred vnto him.
12 ¶ ∵ [2] And when Iesus had heard that Iohn was committed to prison, he returned into Galile.
13 And leauing Nazareth, went and dwelt in [d] Capernaum, which is nere the sea in the borders of Zabulon and Nephthalim,
14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying,
15 ※ The land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephthalim by the way of the [e] sea, beyond Iordan, [f] Galile of the Gentiles:
16 The people which sate in darknesse, sawe great light: and to them which sate in the region and shadow of death, light is risen vp.
17 ✣ From that time Iesus began to preach, and to say, Amend your liues: for the kingdome of heauen is at [g] hand.
18 ¶ [3] And Iesus walking by the sea of Galile, sawe two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fishers.)
19 * And he said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.
20 And they straightway leauing the nets, followed him.
21 And when he was gone forth from thence, he sawe other two brethren, Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother in a ship with Zebedeus their father, mending their nets, and hee called them.
22 And they without tarying, leauing the ship and their father, followed him.
23 So [4] Iesus went about all Galile, teaching in [h] their [i] Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the [k] kingdome, and healing [l] euery sickenesse, and euery [m] disease among the people.
24 And his fame spread abroad through all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sicke people, that were taken with diuers diseases and [n] torments, and them that were possessed with deuils, and those which were [o] lunatike, and those that had the [p] palsey: and he healed them.
25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galile, and Decapolis, and Hierusalem, and Iudea, and from beyond Iordan.

i Synagogues, that is, the Iewes Churches. k Of Messias. l Diseases of all kindes, but not euery one: that is, as we say, some of euery one. m The word signifieth properly, the weakenesse of the stomake: but here it is taken for those diseases which make men faint and weare away, that haue them. n The word signifieth properly the flaue wherewith gold is tryed: & by a borrowed kind of speach is applied to all kinde of examination by torture, when as by rough dealing & torments, we go about to draw out the truth of men, which otherwise they would not confesse: and in this place it is taken for those diseases, which put sicke men to great wor. o Which at euery full Moone, or other changes of the Moone are sore vexed, troubled and disteated. p Weake and feeble men, who haue the partes of their body loosed, and so weakened, that they are neither able to gather them vp together, nor put them out as they would.

CHAP. V.

1 Who are blessed. 13 The Apostles are the salt and light of the world. 14 The citie set on an hill. 15 The candle. 16 Good works. 19 The fulfilling of christs commandements. 21 What killing is. 23 Reconciliation is set before sacrifice. 27 Adulterie. 29 The plucking out of the eye. 30 Cutting off of the hand. 31 The bill of diuorcement. 33 Not to sweare, 38 To loue our enemies. 48 Perfectnesse.

AND when he sawe the multitude, he went vp into a mountaine: and when he was set, his disciples came to him.

16 ※ Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorifie your father which is in heauen.
17 [3] Thinke not that I am come to destroy the Lawe, or the Prophets. I am not come to destroy them, but to [g] fulfill them.
18 ✣ For truely I say vnto you, Till heauen and earth perish, one iote or one title of the Lawe shall not scape, till all things be fulfilled.
19 * [4] Whosoeuer therefore shall breake one of these least commandements, and teach men so, he shall be called the [h] least in the kingdome of heauen: but whosoeuer shall obserue and teach them, the same shall bee called great in the kingdome of heauen.
20 For I say vnto you, except your righteousnesse ✣ exceede the righteousnesse of the Scribes and Pharises, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heauen.
21 [5] Ye haue heard that it was said vnto them of the olde time, ✣ Thou shalt not kill: for whosoeuer killeth shall be culpable of iudgement.

1 Christ teacheth that the greatest ioy and felicitie is not in the commodities & pleasures of this life, but is laid vp in heauen for them that willingly rest in the good will & pleasure of God, and endeuour to profite all men, although they be cruelly vexed and troubled of the worldlings because they will not fashion themselues to their maners.

22 But I say vnto you, whosoeuer is angry with his brother vnadui sedly, shall be i culpable k of iudgement. And whosoeuer saith vnto his brother, Raca, shall be worthy to be punished by the l Councill. And whosoeuer shall say, Foole, shalbe worthie to be punished with m hell n fire.

23 o If then thou bring thy gift to the o altar, and there remembrest that thy brother hath ought against thee, 24 Leaue there thine offering before the altar, and goe thy way: first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 ✣ p Agree with thine aduersarie quickely, whiles thou art in the way with him, least thine aduersarie deliuer thee to the Iudge, and the Iudge deliuer thee to the sergeant, and thou bee cast into prison.

26 Verely I say vnto thee, thou shalt not come out thence, till thou hast q payed the vtmost farthing.

27 ¶ 7 Ye haue heard that it was said to them of olde time, ✣ Thou shalt not commit adulterie.

28 But I say vnto you, that whosoeuer looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adulterie with her alreadie in his heart.

29 ∴ Wherefore if thy r right eye cause thee ſ to offend, plucke it out, & cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath bene said also, ⁜ Whosoeuer shall put away his wife, let him giue her a bill of diuorcement.

32 But I say vnto you, whosoeuer shall put away his wife (except it be for fornication) causeth her to commit adulterie: & whosoeuer shal marrie her that is diuorced, committeth adulterie.

33 t Againe, ye haue heard that it was said to them of old time, ✣ Thou shalt not forsweare thy selfe, but shalt performe thine othes to the Lord.

34 But I say vnto you, Sweare not at all, neither by heauen, for it is the throne of God:

35 Nor yet by the earth, for it is his footstoole: neither by Hierusalem: for it is the citie of the great King.

36 Neither shalt thou sweare by thine head, because thou canst not make one haire white or blacke.

37 ✣ But let your communication be u Yea, yea: Nay, nay. For whatsoeuer is more then these, commeth of x euill.

38 ¶ 9 Ye haue heard that it hath bene said, An ✣ eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.

39 But I say vnto you, ∴ Resist not euill: but whosoeuer shall smite thee on the right cheeke, turne to him the other also.

40 And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coate, let him haue thy cloke also.

41 And whosoeuer will compell thee to goe a mile, goe with him twaine.

42 ⁜ Giue to him that asketh, and from him that would borow of thee, turne not away.

43 Ye haue heard that it hath bin said, ✣ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour, and hate thine enemie.

44 But I say vnto you, * Loue your enemies: bleſſe them that curse you: do good to them that hate you, ✣ and pray for them which hurt you, and persecute you, 45 10 ✣ That ye may be the children of your father that is in heauen: for he maketh his sunne to arise on the euill, and the good, and sendeth raine on the iust, and vniust.

46 For if ye loue them, which loue you, what reward shall you haue? Doe not the Publicanes euen the same?

47 And if ye be friendly to your brethren only, what singular thing doe ye? doe not euen the ˣ Publicanes likewise?

48 Ye shall therefore be perfite, as your Father which is in heauen, is perfite.

i He speaketh of the iudgement of God, and of the difference of sinnes, & therefore applieth his wordes to the forme of ciuil iudgement, which were then vsed.

n The Iewes vsed foure kindes of punishments, before their gouernment was taken away by Herode, hanging, beheading, stoning, and burning: this is it that Christ shot at, because burning was the greatest punishment, therefore in that he maketh mention of a iudgement, a councill, and a fire, he sheweth that some sinnes are worse then other some, but yet they are all such that we must giue accompt for them, and shall be punished for them. 6 The couetous Pharises taught that God was appeased by the sacrifices appointed in the Lawe, which they themselues deuoured. But Christ on the contrary side denieth that God accepteth any mans offering, vnlesse he maketh satisfaction to his brother whome he hath offended: and saith moreouer, that these stubburne and stiffenecked despisers of their brethren, shall neuer escape the wrath and curse of God, before they haue made full satisfaction to their brethren.

o He appleth all this speach, to the state of his time, when as there was an altar standing in Hierusalem: and therefore they are very foolish, that gather hereupon, that we must build altars, and vse sacrifices: but they are more foules, which drawe that to purgatorie, which is spoken of peacemaking and atonement one with another. ✣ Luke 12.58.

9 The froward carking carefulnes for things of this life is corrected in the children of God by an earneſt thinking vpon the prouidence of God.

Father knoweth whereof ye haue neede, before ye aſke of him.

9 3 After this maner therefore pray ye, ✣ Our father which art in heauen, halowed be thy name.

10 Thy kingdome come. Thy will bee done euen in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Giue vs this day our a dayly bread.

12 And forgiue vs our dettes, as wee alſo forgiue our detters.

13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deliuer vs ✣ from e euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glory for euer. Amen.

14 ∴ 4 For if ye doe forgiue men their treſpaſſes, your heauenly Father will alſo forgiue you.

15 But if ye doe not forgiue men their treſpaſſes, no more will your father forgiue you your treſpaſſes.

16 5 Moreouer, when ye faſt, looke not ſowre as the hypocrites: for they f diſfigure their faces, that they might ſeeme vnto men to faſt. Verely I ſay vnto you, that they haue their reward.

17 But when thou faſteſt, anoint thine head, and waſh thy face, 18 That thou ſeeme not vnto men to faſt, but vnto thy Father which is in ſecret: and thy Father which ſeeth in ſecret, will reward thee openly.

19 ¶ 6 Lay not vp treaſures for your ſelues vpon the earth, where the mothe & canker corrupt, and where theeues digge through and ſteale.

20 ✣ But lay vp treaſures for your ſelues in heauen, where neither the mothe nor canker corrupteth, and where theeues neither dig through, nor ſteale.

21 For where your treaſure is, there wil your heart be alſo.

22 ¶ ✣ 7 The light of the body is the eye: if then thine geye be ſingle, thy whole body ſhalbe light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body ſhalbe darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee, be darkeneſſe, how great is that darkeneſſe?

24 *8 No man can ſerue h two maſters: for either he ſhall hate the one, and loue the other, or els he ſhal leane to the one, and deſpiſe the other. Ye cannot ſerue God and i riches.

25 ✣ 9 Therefore I ſay vnto you, bee not carefull for your life, what yee ſhall eate, or what yee ſhall drinke: nor yet for your body, what ye ſhall put on. Is not the life more worth then meate? and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the foules of the k heauen: for they ſowe not, neither reape, nor cary into the barnes: yet your heauenly Father feedeth them. Are yee not much better then they?

27 Which of you by l taking care is able to adde one cubite vnto his ſtature?

28 And why care ye for rayment? Learne how the lillies of the fielde doe growe: they m are not wearied, neither ſpinne:

29 Yet I ſay vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his glory was not arayed like one of theſe.

30 Wherefore if God ſo clothe the graſſe of the fielde which is to day, and to morowe is caſt into the ouen, ſhall he not doe much more vnto you, O ye of litle faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, ſaying, What ſhal we eate? or what ſhall we drinke? or wherewith ſhall we be clothed?

32 (For after all theſe things ſeeke the Gentiles) for your heauenly Father knoweth, that yee haue neede of all theſe things.

33 But ſeeke yee firſt the kingdome of God, and his righteouſneſſe, and all theſe things ſhall be miniſtred vnto you.

34 Care not then for the morowe: for the morowe ſhall care for it ſelfe: the day hath ynough with his owne griefe.

CHAP. VII.

1 We may not giue iudgement of our neighbour, 6. Nor caſt that which is holy to dogges. 13 The broade and ſtraite way. 15 Falſe prophets. 18 The tree and fruite. 24 The houſe built on a rock, 29 and on the ſande.

IVdge [1] not, that ye be not iudged.

2 For with what ✣ iudgement ye iudge, yee ſhal be iudged, and with what ✣ meaſure ye mete, it ſhall be meaſured vnto you againe.

3 And why ſeeſt thou the mote, that is in thy brothers eye, and perceiueſt not the beame that is in thine owne eye?

4 ∴ Or howe ſayeſt thou to thy brother, Suffer me to caſt out the mote out of thine eye, and beholde, a beame is in thine owne eye?

5 Hypocrite, firſt caſt out that beame out of thine owne eye, and then ſhalt thou ſee clearely to caſt out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 ¶ [2] Giue ye not that which is holy to dogs, neither caſt ye your [a] pearles before ſwine, leſt they treade them vnder their feete, and turning againe, all to rent you.

7 ¶ ✣ 3 Aske, and it ſhalbe giuen you: ſeeke, and ye ſhall finde: knocke, and it ſhalbe opened vnto you.

8 For whoſoeuer aſketh, receiueth: and hee that ſeeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it ſhalbe opened.

9 For what man is there among you, which if his ſonne aſk him bread, would giue him a ſtone?

10 Or if he aſke fiſh, will he giue him a ſerpent?

11 If ye then, which are euill, can giue to your children good giftes, howe much more ſhall your Father which is in heauen, giue good things to them that aſke him?

12 ✣ + Therefore whatſoeuer ye woulde that men ſhould doe to you, euen ſo doe yee to them: for this is the b Lawe and the Prophets.

13 ¶ *5 Enter in at the ſtraite gate: for it is the wide gate, and broad way that leadeth to deſtruction: & many there be which goe in thereat, 14 Becauſe c the gate is ſtrait, and the way narrowe that leadeth vnto life, and fewe there be that finde it.

15 ¶ 6 Beware of falſe prophets, which come to you in ſheepes clothing, but inwardly they are rauening wolues.

16 Ye ſhall know them by their fruits. ✣ Doe men gather grapes of thornes? or figs of thiſtles?

17 So euery good tree bringeth foorth good fruite, and a corrupt tree bringeth foorth euill fruite.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth euil fruite: neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 ✣ Euery tree that bringeth not forth good fruite, is hewen downe, and caſt into the fire.

20 Therefore by their fruites yee ſhall knowe them.

NOwe when hee was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

2 ✣ [1] And loe, there came a Leper and worshipped him, saying, Master, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

Mark.1.40. Luke 5.12.

Christ in healing the leprous with the touching of his hand shewed that he is no abhorrer of sinners but come vnto him, be they neuer so vncleane.

Leuit.13.3,4. Luke 17.1.

Christ by setting before them the example of one vncircumcised Centurion, and yet of an excellent faith, prouoketh the Iewes to emulation, and together forewarneth them of their casting off, and the calling of the Gentiles.

3 And Iesus putting foorth his hand, touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane: and immediatly his leprosie was clensed.

4 Then Iesus saide vnto him, See thou tell no man, but goe, and shewe thy selfe vnto the Priest, and offer the gift that ✣ Moses commaunded, for a witnesse to them.

5 ¶ ∵ [2] When Iesus was entred into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him,

6 And saide, Master, my seruant lyeth sicke at home of the palsie, and is grieuously pained.

7 And Iesus sayde vnto him, I will come and heale him.

8 But the Centurion answered, saying, Master, I am not worthy that thou shouldest come vnder my roofe: but speake the word onely, and my seruant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man also vnder the authoritie of an other, and haue souldiers vnder me: and I say to one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another, Come, and he commeth: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

10 When Iesus heard that, he marueiled, and said to them that followed him, Verily, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, euē in Israel.

11 But I say vnto you, that many shall come from the East and West, and shall [a] sit downe with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob, in the kingdome of heauen, 12 And the children of the kingdome shall be cast out into [b] vtter ✣ darkenes: there shalbe weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13 Then Iesus sayde vnto the Centurion, Goe thy way, and as thou hast beleeued, so bee it vnto thee. And his seruant was healed the same houre.

14 ¶ ✣ [3] And when Iesus came to Peters house, he sawe his wiues mother layed downe, and sicke of a feuer.

15 And hee touched her hande, and the feuer left her: so she arose, and ministred vnto them.

16 ∵ When the Euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed [c] all that were sicke, 17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by ✣ Esaias the Prophet, saying, He tooke our infirmities, and bare our sicknesses.

18 ¶ ✣ And when Iesus sawe great multitudes of people about him, he commanded them to goe [d] ouer the water.

19 [4] Then came there a certaine Scribe, and sayd vnto him, Master, I will follow thee whithersoeuer thou goest, 20 But Iesus saide vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen haue [e] nestes, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to rest his head.

21 ¶ And another of his disciples saide vnto him, Master, suffer me first to goe, and burie my father.

22 But Iesus sayde vnto him, follow me, and let the dead bury their dead.

23 ¶ * [6] And when he was entred into [f] ship, his disciples followed him.

24 And beholde, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so that the ship was couered with waues: but he was asleepe.

25 Then his disciples came, and awoke him, saying, Master, saue vs: we perish.

26 And he said vnto them, Why are yee fearefull, O ye of little faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the winds and the sea: and so there was a great calme.

27 And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the winds and the sea obey him!

28 ¶ ✣ [7] And when he was come to the other side into [g] countrey of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with deuils which came out of the graues very fierce, so that no man might goe by that way.

29 And beholde, they cryed out, saying, Iesus the sonne of God, what haue we to do with thee? Art thou come hither to torment vs before [h] time?

30 Nowe there was [i] a farre off from them a great heard of swine feeding.

31 And [k] deuils besought him, saying, If thou cast vs out, suffer vs to go into the heard of swine.

32 And he said vnto them, Go. So they went out and departed into the heard of swine: and beholde, the whole heard of swine ranne headlong into the sea, and dyed in the water.

33 Then the heardmen fled: and when they were come into the citie, they told all things, and what was become of them that were possessed with the deuils.

34 And beholde, all [l] the citie came out to meete Iesus: and when they saw him, they besought him to [g] depart out of their coastes.

CHAP. IX.

1 One sicke of the palsie is healed. 5 Remission of sinne. 9 Matthew called. 10 Sinners. 17 New wine. 18 The rulers daughter raised. 20 A woman healed of a bloodie issue. 28 Two blinde men by faith receiue sight. 32 A dumme man possessed is healed. 37 The harueste and workemen.

THen he [1] entred into a ship, and passed ouer, and came into his [a] owne citie.

2 And ✣ loe, they brought to him a man sicke of the palsie layd on a bed. And Iesus [b] seeing their faith, sayd to the sicke of the palsie, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sinnes are forgiuen thee.

3 And beholde, certeine of the Scribes sayd with themselues, This man [c] blaspheméth.

4 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke ye euill things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sinnes, (then sayd he vnto the sicke of the palsie,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and go to thine house.

7 And he arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude saw it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giuen such authority to men.

9 ¶ ✣ [2] And as Iesus passed foorth from thence, he saw a man sitting at the [d] custome, named Matthew, and sayd to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meat in his house, beholde, many Publicanes and [e] sinners, that came thither, sate downe at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharises saw that, they sayd to his disciples, Why eateth your master with Publicanes and sinners?

12 Now when Iesus heard it, hee sayd vnto them, The whole need not a Physitian, but they that are sicke.

13 But goe ye and learne what this is, ∴ I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the [x] sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ ✣ [3] Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saing, Why doe we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

15 And Iesus said vnto them, Can the [f] children of the marriage chamber mourne as long as the bridegrome is with them? But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreouer no man pieceth an olde garment with a piece of [g] newe cloth: for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

17 Neither doe they put new wine into olde vessels: for then the vessels would breake, and the wine would be spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preserued.

18 ¶ * ✣ While he thus spake vnto them, beholde, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is nowe deceased, but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shall liue.

19 And Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples.

20 (And behold, a woman which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeres, came behind him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

21 For she said in her selfe, If I may touch but his garment onely, I shalbe whole.

22 Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at the same moment.)

23 [5] Nowe when Iesus came into the Rulers house, and sawe the [h] minstrels and the multitude making noise, 24 He said vnto them, Get you hence: for the maid is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorne.

25 And when the multitude were put foorth, he went in and tooke her by the hand, and the maid arose.

26 And this bruite went throughout all that land.

27 [6] And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercie vpon vs.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus said vnto them, Beleeue ye that I am able to doe this? And they sayd vnto him, Yea, Lord.

29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus gaue them great charge, saying, See that no man know it.

31 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame thorowout all that land.

32 ¶ ✣ [7] And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a dumme man possessed with a deuill.

33 And when the deuill was cast out, the dumme spake: then the multitude marueiled, saying, The like was neuer seene in Israel.

34 But the Pharises said, ✣ He casteth out deuils, through the prince of deuils.

35 ¶ And ∴ Iesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the kingdome, and healing euery sickenesse and euery disease among the people.

36 [8] But ✣ when hee saw the multitude, hee had compassion vpon them, because they were dispersed, and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepheard.

37 Then sayd he to his disciples, ✣ Surely the harueste is great, but the labourers are few.

38 Wherefore pray the Lord of the harueste, that hee would [i] send foorth labourers into his harueste.

3 Philip and Bartlemew: Thomas, and Matthew that Publicane: Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Lebbeus whose surname was Thaddeus:

4 Simon the Cananite, and Iudas [b] Iscariot, who also betrayed him.

5 These twelue did Iesus send forth, & commanded them, saying, Go not into the way of the Gentiles, and into the cities of the Samaritans enter ye not:

6 But goe rather ✣ to the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

7 ✣ [2] And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdome of heauen is at hand.

8 [3] Heale the sicke: cleanse the lepers: raise vp the dead: cast out the deuils. Freely ye haue receiued, freely giue.

9 ∵ [4] Possesse [c] not golde, nor siluer, nor money in your girdles, 10 Nor a scrippe for the iourney, neither two coats, neither shooes, nor a staffe: ✻ for the workman is worthy of his [d] meat.

11 [5] And into ✣ whatsoeuer city or towne ye shall come, enquire who is worthy in it, and there abide till ye go thence.

12 And when ye come into an house, salute the same.

13 And if the house be woorthy, let your [e] peace come vpon it: but if it be not worthy, let your peace returne to you.

14 * And whosoeuer shall not receiue you, nor heare your words, when ye depart out of that house, or that city, ✣ shake off the dust of your feet.

15 Truely I say vnto you, it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom and Gomorrha in the day of iudgement, then for that city.

16 ¶ ✣ [6] Behold, I send you as [f] sheepe in the middes of the wolues: be ye therfore wise as serpents, and [g] innocent as doues.

17 But beware of [h] men, for they will deliuer you vp to the Councels, and will scourge you in their Synagogues.

18 And ye shall be brought to the gouernours and kings for my sake, in witnesse to them, and to the Gentiles.

19 ∵ But when they deliuer you vp, take no thought how or what ye shall speake: for it shall be giuen you in that houre, what ye shall say.

20 For it is not ye that speake, but the spirite of your Father which speaketh in you.

21 And the ✻ brother shall betray the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

22 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Name: ✣ but he that endureth to the end, he shal be saued.

23 And when they persecute you in this citie, flee into another: for verely I say vnto you, yee shall not [i] goe ouer all the cities of Israel, till the Sonne of man be come.

24 * The disciple is not aboue his master, nor the seruant aboue his Lord.

25 It is ynough for the disciple to bee as his master is, and the seruant as his Lord. ✣ If they haue called the master of the house [k] Beel-zebub, howe much more them of his houshold?

26 [1] Feare them not therefore: ✣ for there is nothing couered, that shall not be disclosed, nor hid, that shall not be knowen:

27 What I tell you in darkenesse, that speake ye in light: and what ye heare in the eare, that preach ye on the [m] houses.

28 And [n] feare yee not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soule: but rather feare him, which is able to destroy both soule and body in hell.

29 Are not two sparrowes solde for a [o] farthing, and one of them shal not fal on the ground without your Father?

30 ✣ Yea, and all the haires of your head are numbred.

31 Feare ye not therefore, ye are of more value then many sparrowes.

32 ∵ Whosoeuer therefore shall confesse me before men, him will I confesse also before my Father which is in heauen.

33 But whosoeuer shall denie me before men, him will I also denie before my Father which is in heauen.

34 ✻ [8] Thinke not that I am come to send peace into the earth, but the sword.

35 For I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother in law.

36 ✣ And a mans enemies shall be they of his owne houshold.

37 * [9] He that loueth father or mother more then me, is not worthy of me. And he that loueth sonne, or daughter more then me, is not worthie of me.

38 ✣ And he that taketh not his crosse, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me.

39 ✣ He that will [p] finde his life, shall lose it: and he that loseth his life for my sake, shall finde it.

40 [10] He that receiueth you, receiueth me: and he that receiueth me, receiueth him that hath sent me.

41 ∵ [11] He that receiueth a Prophet in [q] the name of a Prophet, shall receiue a Prophets reward: and he that receiueth a righteous man, in the name of a righteous man, shall receiue the reward of a righteous man.

6 And blessed is he that shal not be offended in me.

7 [2] And as they departed, Iesus beganne to speake vnto the multitude, of Iohn, What went ye out into the wildernesse to see? a reede shaken with the winde?

8 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they that weare soft clothing, are in Kings houses.

9 But what went yee out to see? A Prophet? Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.

10 For this is hee of whom it is written, ✣ Beholde, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verely I say vnto you, Among them which are begotten of women arose there not a greater then Iohn Baptist: notwithstanding, he that is the least in the [c] kingdom of heauen, is greater thē he.

12 And from ∵ the time of Iohn Baptist hitherto, the kingdome of heauen suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force.

13 For all the Prophets and the Law [d] prophecied vnto Iohn.

16 ✣ [3] But whereunto shall I liken this generation? [e] It is like vnto litle children which sit in the markets, and call vnto their fellowes, 17 And say, We haue piped vnto you, and yee haue not daunced, wee haue mourned vnto you, and ye haue not lamented.

18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill.

19 The sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Beholde a glutton and a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicanes and sinners: 4 but [f] wisedome is iustified of her children.

20 ¶ 5 * Then began he to vpbraide the cities, wherein most of his great workes were done, because they repented not.

21 Woe be to thee Chorazin: Woe be to thee Bethsaida: for if ỹ great works, which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus and Sidon, they had repented long agone in sackeloth and ashes.

22 But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you.

23 And thou, Capernaum, which art lifted vp vnto heauen, shalt be brought downe to hell: for if the great workes, which haue bin done in thee, had bene done among them of Sodom, they had remained to this day.

24 But I say vnto you, that it shalbe easier for them of the land of Sodom in the day of iudgement, then for thee.

25 ✣ At that time Iesus answered, and sayde, I giue thee thankes, O Father, Lord of heauen and earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and men of vnderstanding, and hast [g] opened them vnto babes.

26 It is [h] so, O Father, because thy [i] good pleasure was such.

27 ✣ [6] All things are giuen vnto me of my Father: and ∵ no man knoweth the Sonne, but ỹ Father: neither knoweth any man the Father, but the Sonne, and he to whom ỹ Sonne wil reueile him.

28 Come vnto me, all ye that are wearie and laden, and I will ease you.

CHAP. XII.

1 The disciples plucke the eares of corne. 6 Mercie, sacrifice. 10 The withered hand is healed. 12 We must doe good on the Sabbath. 22 The possessed is holpen. 25 A kingdome deuided. 31 Sinne, blasphemie. 33 The good or euil tree. 34 Vipers. 41 The Ninuites. 42 The Queene of Saba. 48 The true mother and brethren of Christ.

AT [1] ∵ that time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his disciples were an hungred, and began to plucke the eares of corne and to eate.

2 And when the Pharises sawe it, they sayde vnto him, Behold, thy disciples doe that ※ which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.

3 But he sayd vnto them, ✣ Haue ye not read what Dauid did when he was an hungred, & they that were with him?

4 How hee went into the house of God, and did eate the [a] shew bread, which was not lawfull for him to eate, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the * Priests?

5 Or haue ye not read in the Law, how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priestes in the Temple ✣ [b] breake the Sabbath, and are blamelesse?

6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if yee knewe what this is, ✣ I will haue mercie, and not sacrifice, ye would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the sonne of man is Lorde, euen of the Sabbath.

9 ∵ [2] And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue:

10 And behold, there was a man which had his hand dryed vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 And he said vnto thē, What man shall there be among you, ỹ hath a sheepe, & if it fal on a Sabbath day into a pit, doth not take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore, it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then said he to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 [3] Then the Pharises went out, & consulted against him, how they might destroy him.

15 But whē Iesus knew it, he departed thence, & great multitudes followed him, & he healed thē al,

16 And charged them in threatning wise, that they should not make him knowen,

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying,

18 ※ Behold my seruant whom I haue chosen, my beloued in whom my soule deliteth: I wil put my Spirit on him, and he shall shew [c] iudgement to the Gentiles.

19 He shall not striue, nor crie, neither shall any man heare his voyce in the streetes.

20 A bruised reede shal he not breake, & smoking flaxe shal he not quench, till he [d] bring forth iudgement vnto victorie.

21 And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust.

23 And all the people were amased, and saide, Is not this that sonne of Dauid?

24 But when the Pharises heard it, they saide, ✣ This man casteth the deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 5 But Iesus knewe their thoughts, and sayde to them, Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, is brought to nought: and euery citie or house, diuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, he is diuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

27 Also if I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore they shall be your iudges.

28 But if I cast out deuils by the Spirit of God, then is the kingdome of God come vnto you.

29 Els how can a man enter into a strong mans house and spoyle his goods, except he first binde the strong man, and then spoyle his house?

30 He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

31 ✣ Wherefore I say vnto you, Euery sinne and blasphemie shall be forgiuen vnto men: but the blasphemie against the holy Ghost shall not be forgiuen vnto men.

32 And whosoeuer shal speake a word against the sonne of man, it shall be forgiuen him: [6] but whosoeuer shall speake against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiuen him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruite good: or els make the tree euill, and his fruite euill: for the tree is knowen by the fruite.

34 7 O generations of vipers, how can you speake good things, when ye are euill? For of the ∵ abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: & an euill man out of an euil treasure, bringeth forth euil things.

36 But I say vnto you, that of euery [c] idle word that men shall speake, they shall giue account thereof at the day of iudgement.

37 For by thy wordes thou shalt be iustified, and by thy wordes thou shalt be condemned.

38 ¶ [8] ✣ Then answered certaine of [f] the Scribes and of the Pharises, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered and said to them, An euill and [d] adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall be giuen vnto it, saue that signe of the Prophet Ionas.

40 ✣ For as Ionas was three dayes & three nights in the whales belly: so shall the sonne of man be three dayes & three nights in the heart of [f] the earth.

41 [9] The men of Nineue shal rise in iudgement with this generation, and condemne it: for they *repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

42 ✣ The Queene of the [g] South shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for she came from the [h] vtmost partes of the earth to heare the wisedome of Solomon: and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

43 ¶ ✣ Now when the vncleane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh throughout dry places, seeking rest and findeth none.

44 Then he saith, I wil returne into mine house from whence I came: and when he is come, hee findeth it emptie, swept and garnished.

45 ¶ Then he goeth, & taketh vnto him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: ✣ and the ende of that man is worse then the beginning. Euen so shal it be with this wicked generation.

46 ¶ [10] ✣ While he yet spake to [f] the multitude, behold, his mother, and his brethren stood without, desiring to speake with him.

47 Then one said vnto him, Beholde, thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to speake with thee.

48 But he answered, and said to him that tolde him, Who is my mother? & who are my brethren?

49 [11] And he stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, & said, Behold my mother & my brethren.

50 For whosoeuer shall doe my Fathers will which is in heauen, the same is my brother and sister and mother.

THe ∵ same day went Iesus out of the house, and sate by the sea side.

2 [1] And great multitudes resorted vnto him, so that he went into a ship, and sate downe: and the whole multitude stoode on the shore.

3 Then he spake many things to them in parables, saying, Behold, a sower went forth to sow.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the way side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stonie ground, where they had not much earth, and anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne was vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting withered away.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprung vp, and choked them.

8 Some againe fel in good ground, & brought forth fruite, one corne an hundreth fold, some sixtie folde, and another thirtie folde.

9 He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 ¶ Then the disciples came, and said to him, Why speakest thou to them in parables?

11 [2] And he answered, & said vnto them, Because it is giuen vnto you, to know the secrets of the kingdom of heauen, but to thē it is not giuen.

12 ✣ For whosoeuer hath, to him shalbe giuen, and he shal haue abundance: but whosoeuer hath not, from him shalbe taken away, euen [f] he hath.

13 Therefore speake I to them in parables, because they seeing, doe not see: and hearing, they heare not, neither vnderstand.

14 So in them is fulfilled the prophecie of Esaias, which prophecie saith, ✣ By hearing, ye shall heare, and shal not vnderstand, and seeing, ye shal see, and shall not perceiue.

15 For this peoples heart is waxed fat, & their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes they haue winked, lest they should see [w] with their eyes, and heare [w] with their eares, & should vnderstand [w] with their hearts, & should returne, that I might heale them.

16 [3] But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 *For verely I say vnto you, that many Prophets, and righteous men haue desired to see those things which yee see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things, which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

✣ Mar.4.15. Luke 8.12.

18 ¶ ✣ Heare ye therefore the parable of the sower.

19 Whensoeuer any man heareth the word of that kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, that euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sowen in his [a]heart: and this is hee which hath receiued the seede by the way side.

a Though there be mention made of the heart, yet this sowing is referred to hearing without vnderstanding. For whether the seede be receiued in the heart or no, yet he that soweth, soweth to the heart.

20 And hee that receiued seede in the stonie ground, is he which heareth the worde, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it, 21 Yet hath he no roote in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the worde, by and by he is offended.

22 And hee that receiued the seede among thornes, is he that heareth the worde: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulnesse of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But hee that receiued the seed in the good ground, is he that heareth the worde, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruite, and bringeth foorth, some an hundreth folde, some sixtie folde, and some thirtie folde.

4 Christ sheweth in another parable of the euill seede mixt with the good, that the Church shall neuer be free and quit from offences, both in doctrine and maners, vntill the day appointed for the restoring of al things doe come, & therefore the faithfull haue to arme themselues with patience & constancie.

24 ¶ [4] An other parable put hee foorth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his field.

25 But while men slept, there came his enemie and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought forth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the housholder, & said vnto him, Master, sowedst thou not good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And he sayd to them, Some enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants sayd vnto him, Wilt thou then that we go and gather them vp?

29 But he sayd, Nay, lest while ye go about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheate.

30 Let both grow together vntil the harueſt, and in time of harueſt I wil say to the reapers, Gather ye first the tares, & bind them in sheaues to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barne.

✣ Marke 4.30. Luke 13.19.

31 ¶ ✣ [5] Another parable he put foorth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seed, which a man taketh and soweth in his field:

5 God begin neth his kingdom with very small beginnings, to the end that by the growing on of it, beside the expectation & hope of all men, his mightie power and working may be the more set foorth.

32 Which indeede is the least of all seedes: but when it is growen, it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

∵ Luke 13.21.

33 ¶ ∵ An other parable spake hee to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leuen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three pecks of meale, till all be leauened.

✣ Mar.4.33,34.

34 ¶ ✣ All these things spake Iesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not to them,

✣ Psal.78.2.

35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, ✣ I will open my mouth in parables, and will vtter the things which haue bene kept secret from the foundation of the world.

6 He expoundeth the former parable of the good and euill seede.

36 Then sent Iesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of that field.

37 [6] Then answered he, and sayd to them, He that soweth the good seede, is the Sonne of man, 38 And the fielde is the worlde, and the good seede are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of that wicked one.

39 And the enemie that soweth them, is the deuill, ✣ and the harueſt is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels.

✣ Ioel.3.13. reuel.14.15.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so shall it be in the end of the world.

41 The Sonne of man shall send forth his Angels, and they shall gather out of his kingdome all things that offend, and them which doe iniquitie, 42 And shall cast them into a fornace of fire. There shalbe wayling and gnashing of teeth.

43 ✣ Then shal the iust men shine as the sunne in the kingdome of their Father. Hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

✣ Dan.12.3.

44 ¶ 7 Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a treasure hid in the field, which when a man hath found, he hideth it, and for ioy thereof departeth, and selleth all that hee hath, and buyeth the fielde.

7 Few men vnderstand how great the riches of the kingdome of heauen are, and no man can be partaker of them, but he that redeemeth them with the losse of all his goods.

45 ¶ Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like to a marchant man, that seeketh good pearles, 46 Who hauing found a pearle of great price, went and solde all that he had, and bought it.

47 ¶ [8] Againe, the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a drawe net cast into the sea, that gathereth of all kindes of things.

8 There are many in the Church, which notwithstanding are not of the Church, and therfore at length shalbe cast out: but the full and perfect clensing of them is deferred to the last day.

48 Which, when it is full, men drawe to land, and sit and gather the good into vessels, and cast the bad away.

49 So shall it be at the ende of the world. The Angels shall goe foorth, and seuer the bad from among the iust.

50 And shall cast them into a fornace of fire: there shalbe wayling, and gnashing of teeth.

51 ¶ [9] Iesus said vnto them, Vnderstand yee all these things? They said vnto him, Yea, Lord.

9 They ought to be diligent, which haue not onely to be wise for themselues, but to dispense the wisedome of God to other.

52 Then sayde he vnto them. Therefore euery Scribe which is taught vnto the kingdome of heauen, is like vnto an housholder, which bringeth forth out of his treasure things both new & olde.

53 ¶ And it came to passe, that when Iesus had ended these parables, he departed thence,

54 ∵ [10] And came into his owne countrey, and taught them in their Synagogue, so that they were astonied, and sayde, Whence commeth this wisedome and great workes vnto this man?

∵ Marke 6.1. luke 4.16.

1 Here is in Iohn, an example of an inuincible courage, which all faithfull ministers of Gods word ought to followe: in Herod, an example of tyrannous vanitie, pride, and cruelti e, and to be short, of a courtly conscience, and of their miserable slauerie, which haue once giuen themselues ouer to pleasures: in Herodias and her daughter, an example of whorelike wantonnesse, and womanly cruelti e.

2 And sayd vnto his seruants, This is that Iohn Baptist, hee is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great [a] workes are wrought by him.

3 ✣ For Herod had taken Iohn, and bound him, and put him in prison for Herodias sake, his brother Philips wife.

4 For Iohn sayd vnto him, It is not ✣ lawfull for thee to haue her.

5 And when hee would haue put him to death, hee feared the multitude, because they counted him as a ∵ Prophet.

6 But when Herods birth day was kept, the daughter of Herodias danced before them, and pleased [b] Herod.

7 Wherefore he promised with an othe, that he would giue her whatsoeuer she would aske.

8 And shee being before instructed of her mother, sayd, Giue me here Iohn Baptists head in a platter.

9 And the King was sorie: neuertheless, because of the othe, and them that sate with him at the table, he commanded it to be giuen her,

10 And sent, & beheaded Iohn in the prison.

11 And his head was brought in a platter, and giuen to the maide, and shee brought it vnto her mother.

12 And his disciples came, and tooke vp the body, and buried it, and went, and tolde Iesus.

13 ✲ And when Iesus heard it, hee departed thence by shippe into a desert place apart. And when the multitude had heard it, they followed him on foote out of the cities.

14 [2] And Iesus went foorth and sawe a great multitude, and was mooued with compassion toward them, and he healed their sicke.

15 ¶ And when euen was come, ✲ his disciples came to him, saying, This is a desert place, and the time is already past: let the multitude depart, that they may goe into the townes, and bye them vitailes.

16 But Iesus sayd to them, They haue no neede to goe away: giue ye them to eate.

17 Then sayd they vnto him, Wee haue here but fiue loaues, and two fishes.

18 And he said, Bring them hither to me.

19 And hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the grasse, and tooke the fiue loaues and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen and blessed, and brake, and gaue the loaues to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

20 And they did all eate, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the fragments that remained, twelue baskets full.

21 And they that had eaten, were about fiue thousand men, beside women and little children.

22 ¶ And straightway Iesus compelled his disciples to enter into a shippe, and to goe ouer before him, while he sent the multitude away.

23 And as soone as he had sent the multitude away, he went vp into a mountaine alone to pray: and * when the euening was come, hee was there alone.

24 [3] And the shippe was now in the middes of the sea, and was tossed with waues: for it was a contrary winde.

25 And in the [c] fourth watch of the night, Iesus went vnto them, walking on the sea.

26 And when his disciples saw him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, It is a [d] spirit, and cried out for feare.

27 But straightway Iesus spake vnto them, saying, Be of good comfort, It is I: be not afraid, 28 [4] Then Peter answered him, and sayd, Master, if it be thou, bid me come vnto thee on the water.

29 And he sayd, Come. And when Peter was come downe out of the ship, hee walked on the water, to goe to Iesus.

30 But when he saw a mightie winde, hee was afraid: and as he began to sinke, he cried, saying, Master, saue me.

31 So immediatly Iesus stretched foorth his hand, and caught him, and sayd to him, O thou of little faith, wherefore diddest thou doubt?

32 And as soone as they were come into the ship, the winde ceased.

33 Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a trueth thou art the Sonne of God.

34 ¶ ✣ And when they were come ouer, they came into the land of [e] Gennezaret.

35 [5] And when the men of that place knewe him, they sent out into all that countrey round about, and brought vnto him all that were sicke.

36 And besought him, that they might touch the hemme of his garment onely: and as many as touched it were made whole.

THen [1] came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharises, which were of Ierusalem, saying,

2 ✣ Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they [a] wash not their hands when they eate bread.

3 [2] But he answered and said vnto him, Why doe yee also transgresse the commaundement of God by your tradition?

4 ∵ For God hath commanded, saying, [b] Honour thy father and mother: ✲ and hee that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, [c] Whosoeuer shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profite,

6 Though hee honour not his father, or his mother, shalbe free: thus haue ye made the commandement of God of no [d] authoritie by your tradition.

7 [3] O hypocrites, Esaias prophecied well of you, saying,

8 ✲ This people draweth neere vnto mee with their mouth, and honoureth mee with the lips, but their heart is farre off from me.

9 But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines, mens precepts.

10 [4] Then hee called the multitude vnto him, and said to them, Heare and vnderstand.

c By the fourth watch is meant the time neere to day breaking: for in olde time they diuided the night into foure watches in which they counted.

c The meaning is this: whatsoeuer I bestowe vpon the temple, is to thy profit, for it is as good as if I gaue it therefor (as the Pharises of our time do) it shalbe meritorious for thee, for vnder this colour of religion, they raked all to themselues, as though that hee that had giuen any thing to the temple, had done the duetie of a childe. d You made it of no power and authoritie as much as lay in you: for otherwise the commaundements of God stand fast in the Church of God, in despite of the world and Satan. 3 The same men are condemned for hypocrisie and superstition, because they made the kingdome of God to stand in outward things. ✣ Esai. 29.13. 4 Christ teacheth vs that hypocrisie of false teachers which deceiue our soules, is not to be borne withall, no not in indifferent matters, and there is no reason why their ordinary vocation should blinde our eyes: otherwise we are like to perish with them.

k By this kinde of speech is ment mans naturall procreation vpon the earth, the creature not being destroyed which was made, but deformed through sinne: So then you is the meaning: this was not reuealed to thee by any vnderstanding of man, but God shewed it thee from heauen.

5 That is true faith, which confesseth Christ, the vertue whereof is inuincible.

l Christ spake in the Syrian tongue, and therefore vsed not the discanting betwixt Petros which signifieth Peter, and Petra, which signifieth a rocke, but in both places vsed this worde Cephas: but his minde was that wrote in Greeke, by the diuers termination to make a difference betweene Peter who is a piece of the building, and Christ the Petra, that is the rocke and foundation: or els he gaue his name Peter, because of the confession of his faith, which is the Churches as well as his, as the olde fathers witnesse, for so saith Theoph. That confession which thou hast made, shalbe the foundation of the beleeuers.

m The enemies of the Church are compared to a strong kingdome, and therefore by Gates, are meant cities which are made strong with counsaile and fortresses, and this is the meaning, whatsoeuer Satan can doe by counsell or strength. So doeth Paul, 2. Cor. 10. 4. call them strong holds. 6 The authoritie of the Church is from God. ✣ Iohn 20. 21.

n A metaphore taken of steward which carry the keyes: and here is set forth the power of the ministers of the worde, as Esa. 22. 22. and that power is common to all ministers, as Chap. 18. 18. and therefore the ministers of the Gospel may rightly be called the key of the kingdome of heauen.

o They are bound whose sinnes are retained, heauen is shut against them, because they receiue not Christ by faith: on the other side, howe happie are they, to whome heauen is open, which imbrace Christ, and are allured by him, and become fellow heires with him.

7 Men must first learne, and then teach. 8 The mindes of men are in time to be prepared & made ready against the stumbling blocke of persecution.

p It was a name of dignitie & not of age: & it is put for them, which were the Iudges, which the Hebrewes call Sanhedrin.

r The Hebrewes call him Satan, that is to say, an aduersarie, whom the Grecians call diabolos, that is to say, slanderer, or tempter: but it is spoken of them, that either of malice, as Iudas, Iohn 6. 70. or of sluggishnesse and pride resist the will of God.

s By this word we are taught that Peter sinned, through a false perswasion of himselfe.

23 9 Then he turned backe, and said vnto Peter, Get thee behinde me, r Satan: thou art an offence vnto me, because thou s vnderstandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 10 Iesus then said to his disciples, ∴ If any man will follow me, let him forsake himselfe, and take vp his crosse, and follow me.

25 For ✣ whosoeuer will saue his life, shal lose it: and whosoeuer shall lose his life for my sake, shall t finde it.

26 ✣ For what shall it profite a man though he should winne the whole world, if he lose his owne soule? or what shall a man giue for recompence of his soule?

27 For the Sonne of man shall come u in the glory of his Father with his Angels, and * then shal he giue to euery man according to his deeds.

11 And Iesus answered, & said vnto them, Certainely Elias must first come, & restore all things.

12 But I say vnto you that Elias is come alreadie, and they knew him not, but haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would: likewise shall also the Sonne of man suffer of them.

13 Then the disciples perceiued that he spake vnto them of Iohn Baptist.

14 ¶ ✣ 2 And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certaine man, and f fell downe at his feete,

15 And said, Master, haue pitie on my sonne: for hee is g lunatike, and is sore vexed: for oft times he falleth into the fire, and oft times into the water.

16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not heale him.

17 Then Iesus answered, and said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long nowe shall I be with you? howe long nowe shall I suffer you? bring him hither to me.

18 And Iesus rebuked the deuil, and hee went out of him: & the child was healed at that houre.

19 3 Then came the disciples to Iesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out?

20 And Iesus said vnto them, Because of your vnbeliefe: for * verely I say vnto you, if ye haue faith as much as is a graine of mustard seede, yee shall say vnto this mountaine, Remoue hence to yonder place, and it shall remoue: and nothing shalbe vnpossible vnto you.

21 4 Howbeit this kinde goeth not out, but by h prayer and fasting.

22 ¶ 5 And they ✣ being in Galile, Iesus said vnto them, The Sonne of man shalbe deliuered into the hands of men.

23 And they shall kill him, but the third day shall he rise againe: and they were very sory.

k By this kinde of speech is ment mans naturall procreation vpon the earth, the creature not being destroyed which was made, but deformed through sinne: So then you is the meaning: this was not reuealed to thee by any vnderstanding of man, but God shewed it thee from heauen.

5 That is true faith, which confesseth Christ, the vertue whereof is inuincible.

✣ Iohn 1.42.

l Christ spake in the Syrian tongue, and therefore vsed not the discanting betwixt Petros which signifieth Peter, and Petra, which signifieth a rocke, but in both places vsed this worde Cephas: but his minde was that wrote in Greeke, by the diuers termination to make a difference betweene Peter who is a piece of the building, and Christ the Petra, that is the rocke and foundation: or els he gaue his name Peter, because of the confession of his faith, which is the Churches as well as his, as the olde fathers witnesse, for so saith Theoph. That confession which thou hast made, shalbe the foundation of the beleeuers.

m The enemies of the Church are compared to a strong kingdome, and therefore by Gates, are meant cities which are made strong with counsaile and fortresses, and this is the meaning, whatsoeuer Satan can doe by counsell or strength. o They are bound whose sinnes are retained, heauen is shut against them, because they receiue not Christ by faith: on the other side, howe happie are they, to whome heauen is open, which imbrace Christ, and are allured by him, and become fellow heires with him.

25 He sayd, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Iesus preuented him, saying, What thinkest thou, Simon? Of whom doe the Kings of the earth take tribute, or polle money? of their [m] children, or of strangers?

26 Peter sayde vnto him, Of strangers. Then sayde Iesus vnto him, Then are the children free.

THE ✣ same time the disciples came vnto Iesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen?

2 [1] And Iesus called a [a] little childe vnto him, and set him in the mids of them,

3 And sayd, Verely I say vnto you, except ye be ✣ [b] conuerted, and become as litle children, ye shall not enter into the kingdome of heauen.

4 Whosoeuer therefore shall humble himselfe as this little childe, the same is the greatest in the kingdome of heauen.

5 And whosoeuer shall receiue one such litle childe in my Name, receiueth me.

6 ∵ [2] But whosoeuer shall offend one of these litle ones which beleeueth in me, it were better for him, that a milstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7 [3] Woebe vnto the world because of offences: for it must needes bee that [c] offences shall come, but woe be to that man by whom the offence commeth.

8 ✲ Wherefore, if thy hand or thy foote cause thee to [d] offend, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life, halt, or maimed, then hauing two hands, or two feete, to be cast into euerlasting fire.

9 And if thine eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, then hauing two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

10 [4] See that ye despise not one of these litle ones: for I say vnto you, that in heauen their ✣ Angels alwayes beholde the face of my Father which is in heauen.

11 For * the Sonne of man is come to saue that which was lost.

12 How thinke ye? ✣ If a man haue an hundreth sheepe, & one of them be gone astray, doth hee not leaue ninetie and nine, and goe into the mountaines, and seeke that which is gone astray?

13 And if so be that hee finde it, verely I say vnto you, he reioyceth more of that sheepe, then of the ninetie and nine which went not astray:

14 So is it not the wil of your Father which is in heauen, that one of these little ones should perish.

15 ¶ ✣ [5] Moreouer, if thy brother trespasse against [e] thee, go and tell him his fault betweene thee and him alone: if hee heare thee, thou hast wonne thy brother.

16 But if he heare thee not, take yet with thee one or two, that by the ✣ [f] mouth of two or three witnesses euery word may be [g] confirmed.

17 [6] And if hee [h] refuse to heare them, tell it vnto the [i] Church: and if he refuse to heare the Church also, let him be vnto thee as an [k] heathen man, and a Publicane.

18 Verely I say vnto you, ∵ Whatsoeuer ye binde on earth, shall bee bound in heauen: and ✲ whatsoeuer ye loose on earth, shalbe loosed in heauen.

19 Againe, verely I say vnto you, that if two of you shall [l] agree in earth vpon any thing, whatsoeuer they shall desire, it shalbe giuen them of my Father which is in heauen.

20 For where two or three are gathered together in my Name, there am I in the mids of them.

21 ? Then came Peter to him, and said, Master, how oft shall my brother sinne against me, and I shall forgiue him? ✣ vnto seuen times?

22 Iesus said vnto him, I say not to thee, Vnto seuen times, but Vnto seuentie times seuen times.

23 Therefore is the kingdome of heauen likened vnto a certaine king, which would take an account of his seruants.

24 And when he had begunne to reckon, one was brought vnto him, which ought him [m] tenne thousand talents.

25 And because hee had nothing to pay, his Lord commanded him to bee solde, and his wife, and his children, and all that he had, and the det to be payed.

26 The seruant therefore fell downe, & [n] worshipped him, saying, Lord, [o] refraine thine anger toward me, and I will pay the all.

27 Then that seruants Lord had compassion, and loosed him, and forgaue him the debt.

28 But when the seruant was departed, hee found one of his fellow seruants which ought him an hundreth pence, and he layd hands on him, and thratled him, saying, Pay me that thou owest.

29 Then his fellow seruant fell downe at his feete, and besought him, saying, Refraine thine anger towards me, and I will pay thee all.

30 Yet hee would not, but went and cast him into prison, till he should pay the debt.

31 And when his other fellowe seruants sawe what was done, they were very sory, and came, and declared vnto their Lord all that was done.

32 Then his Lord called him vnto him, and said to him, O euill seruant, I forgaue thee all that debt, because thou prayedst me.

33 Oughtest not thou also to haue had pitie on thy fellow seruant, euen as I had pitie on thee?

CHAP. XIX.

2 The sicke are healed. 3 and 7 A bill of diuorcement. 12 Eunuches. 13 Children brought to Christ. 17 God onely good. The commandements must be kept. 21 A perfect man 23 A rich man. 26 Saluation commeth of God. 27 To leaue all and followe Christ.

AND ✣ it came to passe, that when Iesus had finished these sayings, he [a] departed frō Galile, and came into the coasts of Iudea beyond Iordan.

2 And great multitudes folowed him, and hee healed them there.

3 ¶ [1] Then came vnto him the Pharises tempting him, and saying to him, Is it lawfull for a man to [b] put away his wife vpon euery occasion?

4 And he answered and sayd vnto them, Haue ye not read, ✣ that he which made them at the beginning, made them male and female,

5 And said, ∴ For this cause, shall a man leaue father and mother, and [c] cleaue vnto his wife, and they which were [d] two shalbe one flesh?

6 Wherefore they are no more twaine, but one flesh. Let no man therefore put asunder that, which God hath [e] coupled together.

7 [2] They sayd to him, Why did then ✻ Moses command to giue a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away?

8 Hee sayd vnto them, Moses [f] because of the hardnesse of your heart, [g] suffred you to put away your wiues: but from the beginning it was not so.

9 I say therefore vnto you, ✣ that whosoeuer shall put away his wife, except it be [h] for whoredome, and marry another, committeth adulterie: and whosoeuer marrieth her which is diuorced, doeth commit adulterie.

10 Then said his disciples to him, If the [i] matter be so betwene man & wife, it is not good to marry.

11 [3] But hee sayde vnto them, All men cannot [k] receiue this thing, saue they to whom it is giuen.

12 For there are some [l] eunuches, which were so borne of their mothers belly: and there be some eunuches, which be gelded by men: and there be some eunuches, which haue [m] gelded themselues for the kingdome of heauen. He that is able to receiue this, let him receiue it.

13 ¶ [4] ✻ Then were brought to him litle children, that he should put his handes on them, and pray: and the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus sayde, Suffer little children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the kingdome of heauen.

15 And when he had put his hands on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ [5] ✣ And beholde, one came & said vnto him, Good Master, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life?

17 And he said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe the commandements.

18 He said vnto him, Which? And Iesus sayd, ✣ These, Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnesse.

19 Honour thy father and mother: and thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

20 The yong man sayd vnto him, I haue obserued all these things from my youth: what lacke I yet?

21 Iesus said vnto him, If [n] thou wilt be perfite, go, sel that thou hast, and giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, and followe me.

22 And when the yong man heard that saying, he went away sorowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 [6] Then Iesus said vnto his disciples, Verely I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is [o] easier for a [p] camel to go through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into [q] kingdome of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amased, saying, Who then can bee saued?

26 And Iesus beheld them, and sayde vnto them, With men it is vnpossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 ¶ ✣ Then answered Peter, and said to him, Beholde, we haue forsaken all, and followed thee: what therefore shall we haue?

28 [7] And Iesus said vnto them, Verely I say to you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his maiestie, ye which followed me in the [r] regeneration, ✣ shall sit also vpon twelue thrones and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

29 And whosoeuer shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my Names sake, he shall receiue an hundreth folde more, and shal inherite euerlasting life.

30 [8] ∴ But many that are first, shalbe last, and the last shalbe first.

8 To haue begun well, and not continue vnto the ende, doeth not onely not profite, but also hurteth very much. ∴ Chap.20.16. mar.10.31. luke 13.30.

10 Now when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued euery man a peny.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, 12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equall vnto vs, which haue borne the burden & heat of the day.

13 And hee answered one of them, saying, Friend, I do thee no wrong: didst thou not agree with me for a peny?

20 ✣ [5] Then came to him the mother of Zebedeus children with her sonnes, worshipping him, and desiring a certeine thing of him.

21 And hee sayd vnto her, What wouldest thou? She sayd to him, Grant that these my two sonnes may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdome.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayd, Ye know not what ye aske. Are ye able to d drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and to be baptized with the e baptisme that I shalbe baptized with? they sayd to him, We are able.

23 And he sayd vnto them, Ye shall drinke in deed of my cup, and shall be baptized with the baptisme, that I am baptized with, but to sit at my right hand, and at my left hand, is f not mine to giue: but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.

24 ✣ And when the other ten heard this, they disdained at the two brethren.

25 Therefore Iesus called them vnto him, and sayd, Yee know that the lords of the Gentiles haue g domination ouer them, and they that are great, exercise authority ouer them.

26 But it shal not be so among you: but whosoeuer will be great among you, let him be your seruant.

27 And whosoeuer will be chiefe among you, let him be your seruant.

28 * Euen as the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransome of many.

29 ¶ [6] ✣ And as they departed from Iericho, a great multitude followed him.

30 And beholde, two blinde men, sitting by the way side, when they heard that Iesus passed by, cried, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should holde their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on vs.

32 Then Iesus stood still, and h called them, and said, What will ye that I should do to you?

33 They sayd to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

34 And Iesus mooued with compassion, touched their eyes, & immediatly their eyes receiued sight, and they followed him.

19 And seeing a figge tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaues onely, and sayd to it, Neuer fruit grow on thee hence-forwards. And anon the figge tree withered.

20 And when his disciples saw it, they maruciled, saying, How soone is the fig tree withered!

21 5 And Iesus answered and sayd vnto them, ✣ Verely I say vnto you, if ye haue faith, & i doubt not, ye shall not onely doe that, which I haue done to the figge tree, but also if ye say vnto this mountaine, Take thy selfe away, and cast thy selfe into the sea, it shalbe done.

22 ✣ And whatsoeuer ye shall aske in prayer, if ye beleeue, ye shall receiue it.

23 ¶ ✣ 6 And when hee was come into the Temple, the chiefe Priests, and the Elders of the people came vnto him, as hee was teaching, and said, By what k authority doest thou these things? and who gaue thee this authority?

24 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, I also wil aske of you l a certeine thing, which if ye tell me, I likewise will tell you by what authoritie I do these things.

25 The m baptisme of Iohn, whence was it? from n heauen, or of men? Then they o reasoned among themselues, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say vnto vs, Why did ye not then beleeue him?

26 And if we say, Of men, we feare the multitude, ✣ for all holde Iohn as a Prophet.

27 Then they answered Iesus, and said, We can not tell. And hee sayd vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things.

28 ¶ 7 But what thinke yee? A certeine man had two sonnes, and came to the elder, and sayd, Sonne, go and worke to day in my vineyard.

29 But he answered, and said, I will not: yet afterward he repented himselfe, and went.

30 Then came he to the second, and said likewise. And he answered, and said, I will, Sir: yet he went not.

31 Whether of them twaine did the wil of the father? They sayd vnto him, The first. Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that the Publicanes and the harlots p goe before you into the kingdome of God.

32 For Iohn came vnto you in the q way of righteousnesse, and ye beleeued him not: but the Publicanes and the harlots beleeued him, and ye, though yee saw it, were not mooued with repentance afterward, that ye might beleeue him.

33 ¶ 8 Heare another parable, There was a certeine housholder, ✣ which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, & made a wine-presse therein, and r built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange countrey.

34 And when the time of the fruit drew nere, he sent his seruants to the husbandmen to receiue the fruits thereof.

35 And the husbandmen tooke his seruants & beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Againe hee sent other seruants, moe then the first: and they did the like vnto them.

37 But last of all he sent vnto them his owne sonne, saying, They will reuerence my sonne.

38 But when the husbandmen saw the sonne, they sayd among themselues, * This is the heire: come, let vs kil him, & let vs take his inheritance.

39 So they tooke him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will he doe to those husbandmen?

41 They sayd vnto him, He will t cruelly destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard vnto other husbandmen, which shall deliuer him the fruits in their seasons.

42 Iesus sayd vnto them, Read ye neuer in the Scriptures, ✣ The stone which the u builders refused, the same is x made the y head of the corner? z This was the Lords doing, and it is marueilous in our eyes.

43 Therefore I say vnto you, The kingdome of God shalbe taken from you, and shalbe giuen to a nation, which shall bring foorth the a fruites thereof.

44 ✣ And whosoeuer shall fall on this stone, he shall be broken: but on whomsoeuer it shall fall, it will b dash him in pieces.

45 And when the chiefe Priests and Pharises had heard his parables, they perceiued that hee spake of them.

46 8 And they seeking to lay handes on him, feared the people, because they tooke him as a Prophet.

and saw there a man which had not on a wedding garment.

12 And he said vnto him, Friend, howe camest thou in hither, and hast not on a wedding garment? And he was [d] speachlesse.

13 Then said the King to the [e] seruants, Binde him hand and foot: take him away, and cast him into vtter darknesse: ✣ there shall bee weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 ✣ For many are called, but few chosen.

15 ¶ ∴ Then went the Pharises and tooke counsell how they might [f] tangle him in talke.

16 And they sent vnto him their disciples with the [g] Herodians, saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God [h] truely, neither carest for any man: for thou considerest not the [i] person of men.

17 [5] Tell vs therefore, how thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue [k] tribute vnto Cæsar, or not?

18 But Iesus perceiued their wickednesse, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shewe mee the tribute money. And they brought him a [l] peny.

20 And hee saide vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They said vnto him, Cæsars. Then said hee vnto them, ✣ Giue therefore to Cæsar, the things which are Cæsars, & giue vnto God, those things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marueiled, and left him, and went their way.

23 ¶ ✣ The same day the Sadduces came to him, (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him, 27 And last of all the woman dyed also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seuen? for all had her.

29 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Ye are deceiued, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the resurrection they neither marrie wiues, nor wiues are bestowed in marriage, but are as the [n] Angels of God in heauen.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying, 32 ✣ I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the liuing.

33 And when the multitude heard it, they were astonied at his doctrine.

34 ¶ ✣ 7 But when the Pharises had heard, that he had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled together.

35 And [o] one of them, which was an expounder of the Lawe, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying, 37 Iesus said to him, ✣ Thou shalt loue the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy [p] soule, and with all thy minde.

38 This is the first and the great commaundement.

39 And the second is like vnto this, ✣ Thou shalt loue thy [q] neighbour as thy selfe.

40 On these two commandements hangeth the whole Lawe and the Prophets.

41 ¶ [8] ∴ While the Pharises were gathered together, Iesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinke ye of Christ? [r] whose sonne is he? They said vnto him, Dauids.

43 He said vnto them, Howe then doeth Dauid in spirit call him Lord, saying, 44 * The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footestoole?

45 If then Dauid call him Lord, how is he his sonne?

11 ✣ [f] For yee haue the poore alwayes with you, but me shall ye not haue alwayes.

12 For [g] in that she powred this ointment on my body, she did it to burie me.

13 Verely I say vnto you, Whersoeuer this Gospel shalbe preached thorowout all the world, there shall also this that she hath done, be spoken of for a [h] memoriall of her.

14 ¶ ✣ Then one of the twelue, called Iudas Iscariot, went vnto the chiefe Priests, 15 And sayd, What will ye giue me, and I will deliuer him vnto you? and they [i] appoynted vnto him thirtie pieces of siluer.

16 And from that time, he sought opportunitie to betray him.

17 ¶ ✣ [k] Now [l] on the first day of the feast of vnleauened bread, the disciples came to Iesus, saying vnto him, Where wilt thou that wee prepare for thee to eate the Passeouer?

18 And he sayd, Goe yee into the city to such a man, and say to him, The master saith, My time is at hand: I will keepe the Passeouer at thine house with my disciples.

19 And the disciples did as Iesus had giuen them charge, and made ready the Passeouer.

20 ✣ So when the euen was come, hee [m] sate downe with the twelue.

21 And as they did eate, he sayd, * Verely, I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 And they were exceeding sorrowfull, and began euery one of them to say vnto him, Is it I, Master?

23 And hee answered and said. ✣ Hee that [n] dippeth his hand with me in the dish, hee shall betray me.

24 Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but wo be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

25 Then Iudas [o] which betrayed him, answered, and said, Is it I, master? Hee said vnto him, Thou hast said it.

26 ¶ 7 ✣ And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had [p] blessed, hee brake it, and gaue it to the disciples, and said, Take, eate: [q] this is my body.

27 Also he tooke the cuppe, and when he had giuen thankes, he gaue it to them, saying, Drinke yee [r] all of it.

28 [s] For this is my blood of the [t] newe Testament, that is shed for many, for the remission of sinnes.

29 I say vnto you, that I will not drinke henceforth of this fruite of the vine vntill that day, when I shall drinke it newe with you in my Fathers kingdome.

30 And when they had sung [u] a Psalme, they went out into the mount of Oliues.

31 ¶ 8 ✣ Then said Iesus vnto them, All yee shalbe offended by me this night: for it is written, I [x] will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe of the flocke shalbe scattered.

32 But ✣ after I am risen againe, I will go before you into Galile.

33 But Peter answered, and sayd vnto him, Though that all men should be offended by thee, yet will I neuer be offended.

34 ✣ Iesus sayd vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, that this night, before the cocke crow, thou shalt denie me thrise.

35 Peter said vnto him, Though I should die with thee, I will in no case denie thee. Likewise also said all the disciples.

36 ¶ * 9 Then went Iesus with them into a place which is called Gethsemane, & said vnto his disciples, Sit ye here, while I go, and pray yonder.

37 And hee tooke vnto him Peter, and the two sonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe sorrowfull, and [y] grieuously troubled.

38 [z] Then sayd Iesus vnto them, My [aa] soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarie ye here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a little further, and fell on his face, and prayed, saying, O my Father, if it be possible, [bb] let this [cc] cup passe from me: neuertheles, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

40 [dd] After, he came vnto the disciples, and found them asleepe, and sayd to Peter, What? could ye not watch with me one houre?

42 Againe he went away the ſecond time, and prayed, ſaying, O my Father, if this cuppe can not paſſe away from me, but that I muſt drinke it, thy will be done.

43 And he came, and found them aſleepe againe, for their eyes were heauy.

44 So he left them and went away againe, and prayed the third time, ſaying the ſame words.

45 Then came he to his diſciples, and ſaid vnto them, Sleepe hencefoorth, and take your reſt: beholde, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is giuen into the hands of ſinners.

46 [12] Riſe, let vs goe: beholde, he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 ✣ And while he yet ſpake, loe, Iudas one of the twelue came, and with him a great multitude with ſwordes and ſtaues, [u] from the high Prieſts and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, ſaying, Whomſoeuer I ſhall kiſſe, that is he, lay holde on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Ieſus, and ſaid, God ſaue thee, Maſter, and kiſſed him.

50 [13] Then Ieſus ſayd vnto him, [x] Friend, wherefore art thou come: Then came they, and layed hands on Ieſus, and tooke him.

51 And beholde, one of them which were with Ieſus, ſtretched out his hand, and drew his ſword, and ſtrooke a ſeruant of the high Prieſt, and ſmote off his eare.

52 [14] Then ſayd Ieſus vnto him, Put vp thy ſword into his place: ✣ for all that [y] take the ſword, ſhall periſh with the ſword.

53 [15] Either thinkeſt thou, that I can not now pray to my Father, and he will giue me moe then twelue legions of Angels?

55 The ſame houre ſayd Ieſus to the multitude, Ye be come out as it were againſt a thiefe, with ſwordes and ſtaues to take mee: I ſate dayly teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled. ✣ Then all the diſciples forſooke him, and fled.

57 ¶ ✣ [16] And they tooke Ieſus, and led him to [a] Caiaphas the hie Prieſt, where the Scribes and the Elders were aſſembled.

58 And Peter followed him afarre off vnto the hie Prieſtes [b] hall, and went in, and ſate with the ſeruants to ſee the end.

59 Nowe *the chiefe Prieſtes and the Elders, and all the whole Councill ſought falſe witneſſe againſt Ieſus, to put him to death.

62 Then the chiefe Prieſt aroſe, and ſaid to him, Anſwereſt thou nothing? [c] What is the matter that theſe men witneſſe againſt thee?

63 But Ieſus held his peace. Then the chiefe Prieſt anſwered, and ſaid to him, I charge thee ſweare vnto vs by the liuing God, to tell vs, If thou be that Chriſt the Sonne of God, or no.

64 ✣ Ieſus ſaid to him, Thou haſt ſaid it: neuertheleſſe I ſay vnto you, [d] hereafter ſhall ye ſee the Sonne of man, ſitting [e] at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the [f] cloudes of the heauen.

65 Then the hie Prieſt [g] rent his clothes, ſaying, He hath blaſphemed, what haue we any more neede of witneſſes? beholde: now ye haue heard his blaſphemie.

66 What thinke ye? They anſwered, and ſaid, He is guiltie of death.

67 ✣ Then ſpat they in his face, and buffeted him, and other ſmote him with roddes, 68 Saying, Prophecie to vs, O Chriſt, Who is he that ſmote thee?

69 ¶ ∴ [17] Peter [h] ſate without in the hall, and a maid came to him, ſaying, Thou alſo waſt with Ieſus of Galile:

70 But he denyed before them all, ſaying, I wote not what thou ſayeſt.

71 And when hee went out into the porch, another maide ſawe him, and ſaid vnto them that were there, This man was alſo with Ieſus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an othe, ſaying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that ſtood by, and ſayde vnto Peter, Surely thou art alſo one of them: for euen thy ſpeech bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began he to [i] curſe himſelfe, and to ſweare, ſaying, I know not the man. And immediatly the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembred the words of Ieſus, which had ſaid vnto him, Before the cocke crowe thou ſhalt denie me thriſe. So he went out, and wept bitterly.

13 Then said Pilate vnto him, Heareſt thou not how many things they lay against thee?

11 Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued Sonne, in whome I am [h] well pleased.

12 ✣ [6] And immediatly the Spirite [i] driueth him into the wildernesse.

13 And he was there in the wildernesse fourtie dayes, and was tempted of Satan: he was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 ¶ ✣ Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching the Gospel of the kingdome of God, 15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

16 ¶ ∴ [8] And as he walked by the sea of Galile, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea, (for they were fishers.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you to be fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 [9] And when hee had gone a litle further thence, he saw Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon he called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the shippe with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So ✣ they entred into [k] Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonied at his doctrine, ✣ for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 ¶ [10] And there was in their Synagogue a man [l] in whome was an vncleane spirite, and hee cryed out, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue we to do with thee, O [m] Iesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, euen that [n] holy one of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vncleane spirit [o] tare him, and cried with a loud voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amased, so that they demanded [p] one of another, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for he [q] commandeth euen the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region [r] bordering on Galile.

29 ¶ ✣ [11] And as soone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entred into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wiues mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they tolde him of her.

31 And hee came and tooke her by the hand, and lifted her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, at what time the sunne setteth, they brought to him all that were diseased, & them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the doore.

34 And he healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and he cast out many deuils, & [s] suffred not the deuils to say they knew him.

35 And in the morning very earely before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed carefully after him.

37 And when they had found him, they sayde vnto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 Then he said vnto them, Let vs goe into the [t] next townes, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the deuils out.

40 ¶ ✣ [12] And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, & kneeled downe vnto him, & said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Iesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will: be thou cleane.

42 And assoone as hee had spoken, immediately the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after hee had giuen him a straight commandement, he sent him away foorthwith, 44 [13] And sayde vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shewe thy selfe to the [u] ✣ Priest, and offer for thy clensing those things, which Moses commanded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, ∴ he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Iesus could no more openly enter into the citie, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

CHAP. IIII.

4 The parable of the sower, 14 And the meaning thereof. 18 Thornes. 21 The candle. 26 Of him that sowed, & then slept. 31 The graine of mustard seed. 38 Christ sleepeth in the ship.

AND ∵ he began againe to teach by ꝑ a sea side, and there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that he entred into a ship, and sate b in the sea, & all the people was by the sea side on ꝑ land.

2 And hee taught them many things in parables, and sayd vnto them in his doctrine,

3 1 Hearken: Beholde, there went out a sower to sowe.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the foules of the heauen came, and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stony ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But assoone as ꝑ Sunne was vp, it was burnt vp, and because it had not roote, it withered away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruite.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, and did yeelde fruite that sprung vp, and grew, and it brought foorth, some thirtie folde, some sixtie folde, and some an hundreth folde.

9 Then he said vnto them, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when he was c alone, they that were d about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And he sayd vnto them, To you it is giuen to know the mysterie of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are e without, all things be done in parables, 12 ✣ That they seeing, may see, and not discerne: and they hearing, may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should be forgiuen them.

13 Againe he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then should yee vnderstand all other parables?

14 The sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receiue the seede by the wayes side, in whome the word is sowen: but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth immediatly, and taketh away the word that was sowen in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the seede in stony ground, are they, which when they haue heard the worde, straightwayes receiue it with gladnesse.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselues, and endure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediatly they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seed among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares f of this world, and the ✣ deceitfulnesse of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring foorth fruite: one corne thirtie, an other sixtie, and some an hundreth.

21 ¶ 2 Also hee said vnto them, ✣ Commeth the candle in, to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the bed, and not to be put on a candlesticke?

22 ∵ For there is nothing hid, that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any mā haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 3 And he said vnto them, Take heede what ye heare. ✣ With what measure yee mete, it shall be measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen.

25 ✣ For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

26 ¶ 4 Also hee sayd, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seede in the ground, 27 And g should sleepe, and rise vp night and day, and the seede should spring and growe vp, he h not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth foorth fruite i of it selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that full corne in the eares.

29 And assoone as the fruite sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harueft is come.

30 ¶ * 5 He sayd moreouer, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdome of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seed, which when it is sowen in the earth, is the least of all seedes that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the foules of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And ✣ with many such parables he preached the word vnto them, k as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them: but he l expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ ✣ Nowe the same day when euen was come, he sayd vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as hee was in the shippe, and there were also with him other little ships.

37 6 And there arose a great storme of winde, and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

AND ✣ [1] they came ouer to the other ſide of the ſea into the countrey of the [a] Gadarens.

1 Many haue the vertue of Chriſt in admiration, and yet they will not redeeme it with the loſſe of the leaſt thing they haue.

2 And when hee was come out of the ſhip, there met him incontinently out of the graues, a man [b] which had an vncleane ſpirit:

a Looke Mat.8.30.

3 Who had his abiding among the graues, and no man could binde him, no not with chains:

b Word for word, in an vncleane ſpirit: now they are ſaid to be in the ſpirit, becauſe the ſpirit holdeth them faſt locked vp, and not were bound.

4 Becauſe that when hee was often bound with fetters and chaines, hee plucked the chaines aſunder, and brake the fetters in pieces, neither could any man tame him.

5 And alwayes both night and day hee cryed in the mountaines, and in the graues, and ſtrooke himſelfe with ſtones.

6 And when he ſaw Ieſus a farre off, he ranne, and worſhipped him,

7 And cryed with a loude voyce, and ſayd, What haue I to doe with thee, Ieſus the Sonne of the moſt High God? I [c] will that thou ſweare to me by God, that thou torment me not.

c That is, aſſure me by an oath, that thou wilt not vexe me.

8 (For he ſayd vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vncleane ſpirit.)

9 And he aſked him, What is thy name? and he anſwered, ſaying, My name is Legion: for we are many.

d That deuill that played the meſſager for his felowes.

10 And hee [d] prayed him inſtantly, that hee would not ſend them away out of the countrey.

e This whole countrey is for the greater part of it very hilly, for the mountaines of Galaad runne through it.

11 Now there was there in the [e] mountaines a great hearde of ſwine, feeding.

12 And all [f] deuils beſought him, ſaying, Send vs into the ſwine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Ieſus gaue them leaue. Then the vncleane ſpirits went out & entred into the ſwine, & the hearde ranne headlong from the high bank into the [f] ſea, (& there were about two thouſand ſwine) & they were choked vp in the ſea.

f Strabo in the ſixteenth booke ſaith that in Gadara there is a ſtanding poole of very naughtie water, which if beaſtes taſte of, they ſhead their haire, nailes, or houes & hornes.

14 And the ſwineheards fled, & tolde it in the citie, and in the countrey, and they came out to ſee what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Ieſus, and ſaw him that had bene poſſeſſed with the deuil, and had the legion, ſit both clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraide.

16 And they that ſaw it, tolde them, what was done to him that was poſſeſſed with the deuil, and concerning the ſwine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that hee would depart from their coaſtes.

18 And when he was come into the ſhip, hee that had bene poſſeſſed with the deuil, praied him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit, Ieſus would not ſuffer him, but ſaid vnto him, Goe thy way home to thy friends, and ſhewe them what great things the Lorde hath done vnto thee, and howe hee hath had compaſſion on thee.

20 So hee departed, and began to publiſh in Decapolis, what great things Ieſus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.

21 ¶ And when Ieſus was come ouer againe by ſhip vnto the other ſide, a great multitude gathered together to him, and he was neere vnto the ſea.

23 And beſought him inſtantly, ſaying, My little daughter lieth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldeſt come and lay thine hands on her, that ſhe may be healed, and liue.

24 Then he went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thronged him.

2 Ieſus being touched with true faith, although it be but weake, doth heale vs by his vertue.

25 (2 And there was a certaine woman, which was diſeaſed with an iſſue of blood twelue yeeres, 28 For ſhe ſayd, if I may but touch his clothes, I ſhalbe whole.

29 And ſtraightway the courſe of her blood was dried vp, and ſhe felt in her body, that ſhe was healed of that plague.

30 And immediatly when Ieſus did knowe in himſelfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the preaſſe, and ſayd, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his diſciples ſaid vnto him, Thou ſeeſt the multitude throng thee, and ſayeſt thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about, to ſee her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for ſhee knew what was done in her, and ſhee came and fell downe before him, and tolde him the whole trueth.

34 And hee ſayd to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: go in peace, and be whole of thy plague.)

35 While hee yet ſpake, there came from the ſame ruler of the Synagogues houſe certaine which ſayd, Thy daughter is dead: why diſeaſeſt thou the maſter any further?

A Nd ✣ [1] he departed thence, and came into his owne countrey, & his disciples folowed him.

2 And when the Sabbath was come, he began to teach in the Synagogue, and many that heard him, were astonied, and sayd, From whence hath this man these things? and what wisedome is this that is giuen vnto him, that euen such [a] great workes are done by his hands?

3 Is not this that carpenter Maries sonne, the brother of Iames & Ioses, and of Iuda and Simon? and are not his [b] sisters here with vs? And they were offended in him.

4 And Iesus sayde vnto them, A ✣ Prophet is not without [c] honour, but in his owne country, and among his owne kindred, and in his owne house.

5 And he [d] could there doe no great workes, saue that hee layde his handes vpon a fewe sicke folke, and healed them,

6 And he marueiled at their vnbeliefe. ∴ and went about by the townes on euery side, teaching.

7 ¶ ⁂ [2] And hee called vnto him the twelue, and began to send them foorth two and two, and gaue them power ouer vncleane spirits.

8 [3] And commaunded them that they should take nothing for their iourney, saue a staffe onely: neither scrippe, neither bread, neither money in their girdles:

9 But that they should be shod with ✣ [e] sandals, and that they should not put on [f] two coates.

10 And hee sayde vnto them, Whereseouer ye shall enter into an house, [g] there abide till ye depart thence.

11 ⁂ [4] And whosoeuer shall not receiue you, nor heare you, when ye depart thence, ✣ shake off the dust that is vnder your feete, for a witnes vnto them. Verely I say vnto you, It shalbe easier for Sodom, or Gomorrha at the day of iudgement, then for that citie.

12 ¶ And they went out, and preached, that men should amend their liues.

13 And they cast out many deuils: and they ✣ [h] anoynted many that were sicke, with oyle, and healed them.

14 ¶ ⁂ [5] Then King Herod heard of him (for his name was made manifest) and sayd, Iohn Baptist is risen againe from the dead, and therefore great [i] workes are wrought by him.

15 Other sayde, It is Elias: and some sayd, It is a Prophet, or as one of [k] those Prophets.

16 ✣ So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom [l] I beheaded: he is risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn, and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18 For Iohn said vnto Herod, ✣ It is not lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife.

19 Therefore Herodias [m] laid wait against him, and would haue killed him, but she could not:

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that hee was a iust man, and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when he heard him, hee did many things, and heard him [n] gladly.

21 But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birth-day made a banket to his princes and captaines, and chiefe estates of Galile:

22 And the daughter [o] of the same Herodias came in, and daunced, and pleased Herod, & them that sate at table together, the King sayd vnto the mayde, Aske of me what thou wilt, and I wil giue it thee.

23 And he sware vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my kingdome.

24 ∴ So [p] she went forth, & said to her mother, What shal I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then shee came in straightway with haste vnto the king, & asked, saying, I would that thou shouldest giue mee euen nowe in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26 Then the King was very sory: yet for his othes sake, and for their sakes which sate at table with him, he would not refuse her.

27 And immediatly the King sent the [q] hangman, and gaue charge that his head shoulde bee brought in. So he went and beheaded him in the prison, 28 And brought his head in a charger, and gaue it to the maide, and the maide gaue it to her mother.

29 And when his disciples heard it, they came and tooke vp his body, and put it in a tombe.

30 ¶ ⁂ And the Apostles gathered themselues together to Iesus, and rolde him all things, both what they had done, and what they had taught.

31 [6] And he sayd vnto them, Come ye apart into the wildernesse, and rest a while: for there were many commers and goers, that they had not leasure to eate.

32 ✣ So they went by ship out of the way into a desart place.

33 But the people saw them when they departed, and many knewe him, and ran a foote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

34 * Then Iesus went out, and saw a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like sheepe which had no shepheard: ✣ and he began to teach them many things.

35 ✣ And when the day was now farre spent, his disciples came vnto him, saying, This is a desart place, and now the day is farre passed.

36 Let them depart, that they may goe into the country and townes about, and buy them bread: for they haue nothing to eate.

37 But he answered, and said vnto them, Giue ye them to eate. And they sayd vnto him, [r] Shall we goe, and buy [r] two hundreth peny worth of bread, and giue them to eate?

39 So he commanded them to make them all sit downe by t companies vpon the greene grasse.

40 Then they sate downe by u rowes, by hundreds, and by fifties.

41 And hee tooke the fiue loaues, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and gaue thanks, and brake the loaues, and gaue them to his disciples to set before them, and the two fishes he diuided among them all.

42 So they did all eate, and were satisfied.

43 And they tooke vp twelue baskets full of the fragments, and of the fishes.

50 For they all sawe him, and were sore afraid: but anon he talked with them, & said vnto them, Be ye of good comfort: it is I, be not afraid.

51 Then hee went vp vnto them into the ship, and the winde ceased, and they were y much more amased in themselues, and marueiled.

CHAP. VII.

2 The Apostles are found fault with, for eating with vnwashen hands. 4 The Phariſes traditions about washings. Hypocrites. 8 Mens traditions more set by then Gods. 10 Parents must be honoured. 14 The things that doe in deede defile a man. 25 The woman of Chanaane. 32 The deafe dumme man is healed.

✣ Matth.15.3.

THen ✣ 1 gathered vnto him the Phariſes, and certaine of the Scribes which came from Hierusalem.

1 None doe more resist the wisdome of God then they that should bee wisest, and that vpon a zeale of their owne traditions: for men doe not please themselues more in any thing then in superstition, that is to say, in a worship of God fondly deuised among themselues.

2 And when they sawe some of his disciples a eate meate with b common handes, (that is to say, vnwashen) they complained.

3 (For the Phariſes, and all the Iewes, except they wash their hands oft, eate not, c holding the traditions of the Elders.

4 And when they come from the d market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and e pots, and of brasen vessels, and of beds.)

5 Then asked him the Phariſes and Scribes, Why f walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eate meate with vnwashen hands?

6 2 Then hee answered and sayd vnto them, Surely ✣ Esay hath prophecied well of you, hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth mee with lippes, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 3 But they worship mee in vaine, teaching for doctrines the commandements of men.

8 4 For yee lay the commandement of God apart, and obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and of cups, and many other such like things ye doe.

9 5 And hee sayd vnto them, Well, yee reiect the commandement of God, that ye may obserue your owne tradition.

10 For Moses said, ✣ Honour thy father and thy mother: and ∴ Whosoeuer shall speake euill of father or mother, let him g die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profite, he shalbe free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to doe any thing for his father or his mother, 13 Making the word of God of none authoritie, by your tradition which yee haue ordeined: and ye doe many such like things.

14 ✣ Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and sayd vnto them Hearken you all vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entreth into him: but the things which proceede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when hee came into an house, away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And hee sayde vnto them, What? are yee without vnderstanding also? Doe yee not knowe that whatsoeuer thing from without entreth into a man, cannot defile him, 19 Because it entreth not into his heart, but into the belly, and goeth out into the draught which is the purging of all meates?

20 Then he sayd, That which commeth out of man, that defileth man.

21 ✣ For from within, euen out of the heart of men, proceede euill thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murthers, 22 Thefts, i couetousnesse, wickednesse, deceite, vncleannesse, a k wicked eye, backebiting, pride, foolishnesse.

23 All these euill things come from within, and defile a man.

f Why shue they not? a kinde of speech taken from the Hebrewes: for amongst them, the way is taken for trade of life.

2 Hypocrisie is alwayes ioyned with superstition. ✣ Isa.29.14.

3 The more earnest the superstitious are, the more they are mad, in promising themselues Gods fauour by their deserts.

4 The deuises of superstitious men doe not onely not fulfill the Lawe of God (as they blasphemously perswade themselues) but also doe vtterly take it away.

5 True religion, which is cleane contrary to superstition, consisteth in spirituall worship: and all enemies of true religion, although they seeme to haue taken deepe roote, shall be plucked vp.

3 And if I ſend them away faſting to their owne houſes, they would a faint by the way: for ſome of them came from farre.

4 Then his diſciples anſwered him, Whence can a man ſatiſfie theſe with bread here in the wildernes?

5 And he aſked them, How many loaues haue ye? And they ſayd, Seuen.

6 Then he commanded the multitude to ſit downe on the ground: and hee tooke the ſeuen loaues, and gaue thanks, brake them, and gaue to his diſciples to ſet before them, and they did ſet them before the people.

36 And he tooke a litle childe, and set him in the middes of them, and tooke him in his armes, and said vnto them, 38 ¶ ✣ [9] Then Iohn answered him, saying, Master, wee sawe one casting out deuils by thy Name, which followeth not vs, and wee forbade him, because he followeth vs not.

39 ✣ But Iesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can doe a miracle by my Name, that can lightly speake euill of me.

40 For whosoeuer is not against vs, is on our part.

41 ∵ And whosoeuer shall giue you a cuppe of water to drinke for my Names sake, because yee belong to Christ, verely I say vnto you, hee shall not lose his reward.

CHAP. X.

9 The wife, onely for fornication, is to be put awar. 13 Little children are brought to Christ. 17 A rich man asketh Iesus, howe he may possesse eternall life. 28 The Apostles for sooke all things for Christes sake. 33 Christ foresheweth his death. 35 Zebedeus his sonnes request. 46 Blinde Bartimeus healed.

AND ∵ he [a] arose from thence, and went into the coastes of Iudea by the farre side of Iordan, and the people resorted vnto him againe, and as he was wont, he taught them againe.

2 Then the Pharises came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempted him.

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, What did ⁂ Moses commaund you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 [1] Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart hee wrote this [b] precept vnto you.

6 But at the beginning of the creation ✣ God made them male and female:

7 ✣ For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother, and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall be one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 ∵ Therefore, what God hath coupled together, let not man separate.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And he said vnto them, ⁂ Whosoeuer shall put away his wife and marry another, committeth adultery [c] against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and be married to another, she committeth adulterie.

13 ¶ ✣ [2] Then they brought litle children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus sawe it, he was displeased, and said to them, Suffer the litle children to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

15 Verely I say vnto you, Whosoeuer shall not receiue the kingdom of God [3] as a litle child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And he tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, and blessed them.

17 ¶ ✣ And when hee was gone out on the way, there came one * running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good Master, what shal I do, that I may possesse eternall life?

18 Iesus said to him, Why callest thou mee good? there is none good but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commaundements, ✣ Thou shalt not commit adulterie. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witnesse. Thou shalt [d] hurt no man. Honour thy father and mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, these things haue I obserued from my youth.

21 And Iesus looked vpon him, & loued him, and said vnto him, One thing is lacking vnto thee. Goe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, follow me, and take vp the crosse.

22 But he was sad at that saying, and went away sorowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and said vnto his disciples, Howe hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his disciples were afraid at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and said vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is easier for a camel to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying with themselues, Who then can be saued?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and said, With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 ¶ ✣ [5] Then Peter began to say vnto him, Lo, we haue forsaken all, and haue followed thee.

29 Iesus answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or landes for my sake and the Gospels,

30 But he shall receiue an [e] hundred fold, now

31 And the second is like, that is, ✣ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandement greater then these.

32 Then that Scribe said vnto him, Well, Master, thou hast saide the trueth, that there is one God, and that there is none but he,

33 And to loue him with all the heart, & with all the vnderstanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to loue his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then when Iesus saw that he answered discreetly, he said vnto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdome of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 ¶ ✣ 5 And Iesus answered & said teaching in the Temple, How say the Scribes that Christ is the sonne of Dauid?

36 For Dauid himself said by the holy Ghost, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, til I make thine enemies thy footestoole.

37 Then Dauid himselfe calleth him Lord: by what meanes is he then his sonne? and Much people heard him gladly.

38 ✣ 6 Moreouer he said vnto them in h his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes which loue to go in h long robes, and loue salutations in the markets,

39 And the chiefe seates in the Synagogues, and the first roumes at feastes, 40 Which ✣ deuoure widows houses, euen vnder a colour of long prayers. These shall receiue the greater damnation.

41 7 * And as Iesus sate ouer against the treasurie, he beheld how the people cast i money into the treasurie, and many rich men cast in much.

42 And there came a certaine poore widow, & she threw in two mites, which make a quadrin.

43 Then hee called vnto him his disciples, and said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that this poore widowe hath cast more in, then all they which haue cast into the treasurie.

44 For they all did cast in of their superfluitie: but she of her pouertie did cast in al that she had, euen all her liuing.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Of the destruction of Ierusalem. 9 Persecutions for the Gospell. 13 The Gospel must be preached to all nations. 26 Of Christes comming to iudgement. 35 We must watch and pray.

✣ AND as he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples said vnto him, Master, see what maner stones, and what maner buildings are here.

2 ✣ Then Iesus answered and saide vnto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone vpon a stone, that shall not bee thrown downe.

3 And as he sate on the mount of Olives, ouer against the Temple, Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew asked him secretly, 4 Tell vs, when shall these things bee? and what shalbe the signe when all these things shalbe fulfilled?

5 And Iesus answered them, and began to say, ✣ Take heed least any man deceiue you.

6 For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

7 Furthermore when ye shall heare of warres, and rumors of warres, be ye not troubled: for such things must needes be: but the end shal not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, & kingdome against kingdome, and there shall be earthquakes in diuers quarters, and there shalbe famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

9 But take yee heede to your selues: for they shall deliuer you vp to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: ye shall bee beaten, and brought before rulers and Kings for my sake, for a a testimoniall vnto them.

10 And the Gospel must first bee published among all nations.

11 ✣ But when they lead you, and deliuer you vp, b be not carefull before hand, neither c studie what ye shal say: but what is giuen you at the same time, that speake: for it is not ye that speake, but the holy Ghost.

12 Yea, and the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

13 And ye shall be hated of all men d for my Names sake: but whosoeuer shall endure vnto the end, he shalbe saued.

14 ✣ Moreouer, when ye shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by ✣ Daniel the Prophet) e set where it ought not, (let him that readeth, consider it) then let them that be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines, 15 And let him that is vpon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turne backe againe to take his garment.

17 Then wo shalbe to them that are with child, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.

18 Pray therefore that your flight bee not in the winter.

19 For f those dayes shalbe such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created vnto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those dayes, no flesh should be saued: but for the electes sake, which he hath chosen, he hath shortened those dayes.

21 Then ✣ if any man say to you, Loe, here is Christ, or lo, he is there, beleeue it not.

22 For false Christes shall rise, and false prophets, and shall shewe signes and wonders, to deceiue if it were possible the very elect.

23 But take ye heede: behold, I haue shewed you all things before.

24 ¶ Moreouer in those dayes, after that tribulation, ✣ the sunne shall waxe darke, and the moone shall not giue her light, 25 And the starres of heauen shal fal: and the powers which are in heauen, shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Sonne of man cõming in the clouds, with great power & glory.

27 * And he shal then send his Angels, & shall gather together his elect from the foure windes, and from the vtmost part of the earth to the vtmost part of heauen.

28 Nowe learne a parable of the figge tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth foorth leaues, ye know that sommer u neere.

come to passe, know that the kingdome of God is nere, euen at the doores.

30 Verely I say vnto you, that this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

31 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my words shall not passe away.

32 [2] But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no, not the Angels which are in heauen, neither the Sonne himselfe, but the Father.

33 ✣ Take heed: watch, and pray: for yee know not when the time is.

34 For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange countrey, and leaueth his house, and giueth authority to his seruants, and to euery man his worke, and commandeth the porter to watch.

35 Watch yee therefore, (for yee know not when the master of the house will come, at euen, or at midnight, at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning,) 36 Lest if he come suddenly, he should finde you sleeping.

37 And those things that I say vnto you, I say vnto all men, Watch.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The Priests conspiracie against Christ. 3 The woman powring oile on Christes head. 12 The preparing of the Passeouer. 22 The institution of the Supper. 41 Christ deliuered into the handes of men. 43 Iudas betrayeth him with a kisse. 53 Christ is before Caiaphas. 66 Peters denials.

AND ✣ [1] two dayes after followed the feast of the Passeouer, and of vnleauened bread: and the hie Priest, & Scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

2 But they sayd, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

3 ∵ And when hee was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as he sate at the table, there came a woman hauing a boxe of ointment of Spikenard, very costly, and she brake the boxe, and powred it on his head.

4 [2] Therefore some disdained among themselues, and said, To what end is this waste of ointment?

5 For it might haue bene solde for more then [a] three hundreth pence, and bene giuen vnto the poore, and they murmured against her.

6 But Iesus said, Let her alone: Why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 [3] For ye haue the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may doe them good, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

8 [4] She hath done that she could: she came afore hand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verely I say vnto you, whereseouer this Gospel shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shalbe spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ¶ ∴ [5] Then Iudas Iscariot, one of the twelue, went away vnto the hie Priestes, to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would giue him money: therefore he sought how he might conueniently betray him.

12 ¶ ✣ [6] Nowe the first day of vnleauened bread, [b] when [c] they sacrificed the [d] Passeouer, his disciples said vnto him, Where wilt thou that we goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the Passeouer?

13 Then hee sent foorth two of his disciples, and said vnto them, Goe ye into the citie, and there shall a man meete you bearing a pitcher of water: followe him.

14 And whithersoeuer he goeth in, say yee to the good man of the house, The Master saith, Where is the lodging where I shall eate the Passeouer with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you an [e] vpper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it readie for vs.

16 So his disciples went foorth, and came to the citie, and found as he had said vnto them, and made readie the Passeouer.

17 ¶ And at euen he came with the twelue.

18 ✣ [7] And as they sate at table and did eate, Iesus said, Verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me, which eateth with me.

19 Then they began to be sorowful, and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said vnto them, It is one of the twelue that [f] dippeth with me in the platter.

21 Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: ✣ but woe be to that man, by whome the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had beene good for that man, if he had neuer beene borne.

22 ∵ And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when hee had giuen thanks, he brake it and gaue it to them, and sayd, Take, eate, this is my body.

23 Also he tooke the cuppe, and when he had giuen thanks, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And he sayd vnto them, This is my blood of that new Testament, which is shed for many.

25 Verely I say vnto you, I will drinke no more of the fruit of the vine vntill that day, that I drinke it new in the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Oliues.

27 ¶ ∴ [8] Then Iesus sayd vnto them, All yee shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, ✣ I will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shalbe scattered.

28 But after that I am risen, I will goe into * Galile before you.

29 [9] And Peter sayd vnto him, Although all men should be offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Iesus said vnto him, Verely I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the cocke crowe twise, thou shalt denie me thrise.

31 But he sayd [g] more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not deny thee: likewise also sayd they all.

32 ¶ ✣ [10] After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then he sayd to his disciples, Sit ye here, till I haue prayed.

33 And he tooke with him Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and he beganne to be troubled, and in great heauinesse.

34 And sayd vnto them, My soule is very heauy, euen vnto the death: tarie here, and watch.

35 So he went forward a little, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

h This doubling of the word, was vsed in those dayes, when their languages were so mixed together: for this word, Abba, is a Syrian word.

36 And he said, h Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me: neuertheless not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done.

37 11 Then he came, and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one houre?

38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into tentation: the spirit in deed is ready, but the flesh is weake.

39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

40 And hee returned, and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heauy: neither knew they what they should answere him.

41 And he came the third time, and said vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is enough: the houre is come: beholde, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise vp: let vs goe: loe, he that betrayeth me, is at hand.

43 ✣ 12 And immediatly while he yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and with him a great multitude with swords & staues from the hie Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.

44 And he that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kisse, he it is: take him and leade him away i safely.

45 And assoon as he was come, he wēt streightway to him, & said, Haile Master, and kissed him.

46 Then they layed their hands on him, and tooke him.

47 And k one of them that stood by, drew out a sword, and smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and cut off his care.

48 And Iesus answered and sayd to them, Ye be come out as against a thiefe, with swords, and with staues, to take me.

49 I was dayly with you teaching in the Temple, and ye tooke me not: but thu is done that the Scriptures should be fulfilled.

50 Then they all forsooke him, and fled.

51 13 And there followed him a certeine yong man, clothed in m linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 ✣ So they led Iesus away to the hie Priest, and to him came n together all the hie Priestes, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him afarre off, euen into the hall of the hie Priest, and sate with the seruants, and warmed himselfe at the fire.

55 14 And the hie Priests, and all the Councill sought for witnesse against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witnesse against him, but their witnesse agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witnesse against him, saying, 58 Wee heard him say, ✣ I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes I will build another made without hands.

59 But their witnesse yet agreed not together.

60 Then the hie Priest stood vp amongest them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare witnesse against thee?

61 But he held his peace, & answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him, & said vnto him, Art thou that Christ the sonne of the o Blessed?

62 And Iesus said, I am he, ✣ and ye shall see the Sonne of man sit on the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heauen.

63 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, and said, What haue we any more neede of witnesses?

64 Yee haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to bee worthie of death.

65 15 And some began to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beate him with fistes, and to say vnto him, Prophesie. And the sergeants smote him with their roddes.

66 ✣ 16 And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maides of the hie Priest.

67 And when she sawe Peter warming himselfe, she looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But he denied it, saying, I knowe him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 ∵ Then p a maid saw him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But hee denied it againe: and anon after, they that stood by, sayd againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galile, and thy speech is like.

71 And he began to curse and sweare, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speake.

72 ✣ Then the second time the cocke crew, and Peter remembred the word that Iesus had sayd vnto him, Before the cocke crow twise, thou shalt denie me thrise, and weying that with himselfe, he wept.

desire that he would doe as he had euer done vnto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, and said, Will ye that I let loose vnto you the King of ỹ Iewes?

10 For he knewe that the hie Priests had deliuered him of enuie.

11 But the hie Priests had mooued the people to desire that hee would rather deliuer Barabbas vnto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and said againe vnto them, What wil ye then ỹ I doe with him, whom ye call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cried againe, Crucifie him.

14 Then Pilate said vnto them, But what euill hath he done? And they cried the more feruently, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barabbas, and deliuered Iesus, when he had scourged him, that he might be crucified.

16 Then the souldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band,

17 [2] And clad him with purpie, and platted a crowne of thornes, and put it about his head, 18 And began to salute him, saying, Haile, King of the Iewes.

19 And they smote him on the head with a reede, and spat vpon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reuerence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, & put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him.

21 ✣ And they [3] compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Syrene (which came out of the countrey, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.

22 ✣ [4] And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens skulles.

23 And they gaue him to drinke wine mingled with myrrhe: but he receiued it not.

24 ∵ [5] And when they had crucified him, they parted his garmenrs, casting lots for them, what euery man should haue.

25 And it was the third houre, when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cause was writtē aboue, THAT KING OF THE IEVVES.

27 They crucified also with him two theeues, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which saith, ✠ And he was counted among the wicked.

29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, ✣ Hey, thou that destroyest the Temple, & buildest it in three dayes, 30 Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse.

31 Likewise also euen the hie Priests mocking, said among themselues with the Scribes, He saued other men: himselfe he cannot saue.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel now come downe from the crosse, that we may see, and beleeue. They also that were crucified with him reuiled him.

33 ¶ Now when ỹ sixt houre was come, [6] darknes arose ouer c all the land vntil the ninth houre.

34 And at the [7] ninth houre Iesus cried with a loude voyce, saying, ✣ Eloi, Eloi, lammasabachthani? which is by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, sayd, Behold, he calleth Elias.

36 And one ranne, and filled a ✣ sponge full of vineger, and put it on a reede, and gaue him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs see if Elias will come, and take him downe.

37 And Iesus cryed with a loude voyce, and gaue vp the ghost.

38 And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome.

39 Nowe when the Centurion, which stood ouer against him, sawe that hee thus crying gaue vp the ghost, hee sayd, Truely this man was the Sonne of God.

40 ¶ [8] There were also women, which beheld afarre off, among whome was Marie Magdalene, and Marie (the mother of Iames the lesse, and of Ioses) and Salome, 41 Which also when he was in Galile, ∵ followed him, and ministred vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Hierusalem.

42 ✱ And now when the night was come (because it was the day of the preparation that is before the Sabbath)

43 ✣ Ioseph of Arimathea, an [d] honourable counsellour, which also looked for the kingdome of God, came, and went in [e] boldly vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus.

44 And Pilate marueiled, if he were already dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had bene any while dead.

45 And when he knew the trueth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Ioseph:

46 Who bought a linnen cloth, & tooke him downe, and wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and laied him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the doore of the sepulchre:

47 And Marie Magdalene, and Marie Ioses mother, beheld where he should be laied.

3 And they sayd one to another, Who shall roll vs away the stone from the doore of the sepulchre?

4 And when they [a] looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one)

5 ✣ So they went into the [b] sepulchre, and saw a yong man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: and they were sore troubled.

6 But he sayd vnto them, Be not so troubled: ye seeke Iesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen, he is not here: behold the place where they put him.

2 Christ, going about to take away the sinnes of men, who went about to vsurpe ỹ throne of God himselfe, is condemned as one that hunted after the kingdome, and mocked with a false shewe of a kingdome, that we on the other side, who shall in deed be eternall kings, might receiue the crowne of glory at Gods owne hand.

FOrasmuch as 1 many haue a taken in hand to set foorth the storie of those things, whereof we are fully perswaded,

2 b As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from the beginning sawe them their selues, and were ministers of the worde,

3 It seemed good also to mee (c most noble Theophilus) as soone as I had searched out perfectly all things d from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point,

4 That thou mightest e acknowledge the certaintie of those things, whereof thou hast bene instructed.

5 IN 2 the f time of g Herod King of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the ✣ h course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabet.

6 Both were i iust before God, and k walked in all the l commandements and ordinances of the Lord, m without reproofe.

7 And they had no childe, because that Elisabet was barren: and both were well striken in age.

8 And it came to passe, as hee executed the Priestes office before God, as his course came in order, 9 ✣ According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the n Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, ∵ while the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lord standing at the right side of the altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.

13 But the Angel sayde vnto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elisabet shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.

14 And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnes, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

15 For hee shall be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall neither drinke wine, nor p strong drinke: and he shalbe filled with the holy Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe.

16 ✣ And many of the children of Israel shall he q turne to their Lord God.

17 ✣ For he shall go r before him s in the spirit and power of Elias, to turne the t hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the u wisedome of the iust men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

18 Then Zacharias said vnto y Angel, Whereby shall I know this? for I am an olde man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto him, I am Gabriel x that stand in the presence of God, & am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings.

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumme, and not be able to speake, vntill the day that these things be done, because thou beleeuedst not my wordes, which shalbe fulfilled in their season.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marueiled that he taried so long in the Temple.

22 And when hee came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceiued that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: for hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumme.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that hee departed to his owne house.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabet conceiued, and hid her selfe fiue moneths, saying, 25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with me, in the dayes wherein he looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ 3 And in the sixt moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a citie of Galile, named Nazareth, 27 ✣ To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the y house of Dauid, and the virgins name was Marie.

28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and sayd, Haile thou that art z freely beloued: the Lord is with thee: a blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, she was b troubled at his saying, and thought what maner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel sayd vnto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast c found fauour with God.

31 ✣ For loe, thou shalt conceiue in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, ∵ and shalt call his Name Iesus.

32 Hee shalbe great, and shalbe d called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 ※ And hee shall reigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shalbe none ende.

34 Then said Marie vnto the Angel, e Howe shall this be, seeing f I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her, The holy Ghost g shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershadowe thee: therefore also that h holy thing which shall bee borne of thee, shall be i called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy k cousin Elisabet, she hath also conceiued a sonne in her olde age: and this is her l sixt moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be vnpossible.

38 Then Marie saide, Beholde the seruant of the Lord: be it vnto me according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ 4 And Mary arose in those dayes, and went into the m hill countrey with haste to a n citie of Iuda, 40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elisabet.

41 And it came to passe, as Elisabet heard the salutation of Marie, the babe o sprang in her belie, and Elisabet was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And she cried with a loud voyce, and sayd, Blessed art thou among women, because p the fruite of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence commeth this to mee, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For loe, assoone as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for ioy.

45 And blessed is shee that beleeued: for those things shalbe performed, which were tolde her from the Lord.

46 5 Then Marie saide, My soule magnifieth the Lord,

47 And my spirite reioyceth in God my Sauiour.

48 For hee hath q looked on the r poore degree of his seruant: for behold, from hencefoorth shall all ages call me blessed,

49 Because he that is mightie, hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercie is from generation to generation on them f that feare him.

51 ✣ Hee hath shewed strength with his t arme: ✣ hee hath u scattered the proude in the x imagination of their hearts.

52 ∵ Hee hath y put downe the mightie from their seates, and exalted them of z low degree.

53 ※ Hee hath filled the a hungry with good things, and sent away the rich emptie.

54 b ✣ Hee hath vpholden Israel his seruaunt to be mindfull of his mercie.

55 (* As hee hath c spoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham, and his seede for euer.

56 ¶ And Mary abode with her about three moneths: after, she returned to her owne house.

57 ¶ 6 Now Elisabets time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, & she brought forth a sonne.

58 And her neighbors, and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie vpon her, and they ✣ reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that on the eight day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharies after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and sayde, Not so, but he shall be called Iohn.

61 And they sayde vnto her, There is none of thy kindred, that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So he asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marueiled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue, ‖ and he spake and praised God.

65 Then feare came on all them that dweit neere vnto them, & all d those words were noised abroad throughout all the hill countrey of Iudea.

CHAP. II.

1 Auguſtus Ceſar taxeth all the world. 7 Chriſt is borne. 13 The Angels ſong. 21 Chriſt is circumciſed. 22 Marie purified. 28 Simeon taketh Chriſt in his armes. 29 His ſong. 36 Anna the Propheteſſe. 40 The childe Chriſt. 46 Ieſus diſputeth with the doctours.

1 Chriſt the ſonne of God taking vpon him the forme of a ſeruant, and making himſelfe of no reputation, is poorely borne in a ſtable: and by the meanes of Auguſtus [y] mightieſt prince in the world (thinking nothing leſſe) hath his cradle prepared in Beth-leem, as the Prophets fore warned.

c Which Dauid was borne, and brought vp in.
✣ Iohn 7. 42.

AND it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that there came a decree from Auguſtus Ceſar, that all the [a] world ſhould be [b] taxed.

2 (This firſt taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to be taxed, euery man to his owne Citie.

4 And Ioſeph alſo went vp from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth, into Iudea, vnto the [c] citie of ✣ Dauid, which is called Beth-leem (becauſe he was of the houſe and linage of Dauid,)

5 To bee taxed with Marie that was giuen him to wife, which was with childe.

6 ¶ And ſo it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accompliſhed that ſhee ſhould be deliuered,

7 And ſhe brought foorth her firſt begotten ſonne, and wrapped him in ſwadling clothes, and laid him in a cratch, becauſe there was no roome for them in the Inne.

8 ¶ [2] And there were in the ſame countrey ſhepheardes, [d] abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night ouer their flocke.

9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord [e] came vpon them, and the glorie of the Lord ſhone about them, and they were ſore afraid.

10 Then the Angel ſaid vnto them, Be not afraid: for beholde, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that ſhall be to all the people, 11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of Dauid, a Sauiour, which is Chriſt the Lord.

12 And this ſhalbe a ſigne to you, Yee ſhall finde the babe ſwadled, and laid in a cratch.

13 And ſtraightway there was with the Angel [f] a multitude of heauenly ſouldiers, praiſing God, and ſaying, 14 Glory be to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men [g] good will.

15 And it came to paſſe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the ſhepheards ſaid one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, and ſee this thing that is come to paſſe which the Lord hath ſhewed vnto vs.

16 So they came with haſte, and found both Mary and Ioſeph, and the babe laide in the cratch.

17 And when they had ſeene it, they publiſhed abroad the thing, that was tolde them of that childe.

18 And all that heard it, wondred at the things which were told them of the ſhepheards.

19 But Marie kept all thoſe ſayings, and pondred them in her heart.

20 And the ſhepheards returned glorifying and praiſing God, for all that they had heard and ſeene as it was ſpoken vnto them.

21 ¶ ✣ [3] And when the eight dayes were accompliſhed, that they ſhould circumciſe [y] childe, his name was then called ✣ Ieſus, which was named of the Angell, before he was conceiued in the wombe.

22 ∵ [4] And when the dayes of [h] her purification after the Law of Moſes were accompliſhed, they brought him to Hieruſalem, to preſent him to the Lord,

23 (As it is written in the Law of the Lorde, ✻ Euery man childe that firſt openeth the wombe, ſhalbe called holy to the Lord)

24 And to giue an oblation, ✣ as it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, a payre of turtle doues, or two yong pigeons.

25 [5] And behold, there was a man in Hieruſalem, whoſe name was Simeon: this man was iuſt, and feared God, and waited for the conſolation of Iſrael, and the [i] holy Ghoſt was vpon him.

26 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghoſt, that he ſhould not ſee death, before he had ſeene that Anointed of the Lord.

27 And he came by the motion of the ſpirite into the Temple, and when the [k] parents brought in the babe Ieſus, to do for him after the cuſtome of the Law,

28 Then he tooke him in his armes, and prayſed God, and ſaid,

29 Lord, now [l] letteſt thou thy ſeruant depart in peace, according to thy [m] worde,

30 For [n] mine eyes haue ſeene thy [o] ſaluation,

38 She then comming at the same instant vpon them, confessed likewise the Lord, & spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things according to the Law of the Lord, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazareth.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hierusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the mids of the doctours, both hearing them, and asking them questions:

47 And all that heard him, were astonied at his vnderstanding and answeres.

49 Then said he vnto them, How is it that yee sought me? knew yee not that I must goe about my Fathers busines?

40 Now at the sunne setting, all they that had sicke folkes of diuers diseases, brought them vnto him, and hee layde his handes on euery one of them, and healed them.

41 ✻ 8 And deuils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art that Christ that Sonne of God: but he rebuked them, and suffred them not to say that they knew him to be that Christ.

42 9 And when it was day, hee departed, and went foorth into a desart place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him that he should not depart from them.

43 But hee said vnto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdome of God to other cities: for therefore am I sent.

44 And hee preached in the Synagogues of Galile.

THEN 1 ✣ it came to passe, as the people 2 preassed vpon him to heare the worde of God, that he stoode by the lake of Gennesaret,

2 And sawe two shippes stand by the lakes side, but the fishermen were gone out of them, and were washing their nettes.

3 And he entred into one of the ships, which was Simons, and required him that he would thrust off a little from the land: and he sate downe, and taught the people out of the shippe.

4 ¶ Nowe when he had left speaking, he said vnto Simon, Lanch out into the deepe, and let downe your nettes to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and said vnto him, b Master, wee haue trauailed sore all night, and haue taken nothing: neuertheless at thy word I will let downe the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckened to their parteners, which were in the other shippe, that they shoulde come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the shippes, that they did sinke.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fell downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, go from me: for I am a sinfull man.

9 For hee was vtterly astonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke.

10 And so was also Iames and Iohn the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus sayde vnto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the shippes to land, they forsooke all, and followed him.

12 ¶ ✣ 2 Now it came to passe, as hee was in a certaine citie, beholde, there was a man full of leprosie, and when he sawe Iesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I wil, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him.

14 And he commanded him that hee shoulde tell it no man: but Go, saith he, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy clensing, as ✣ Moses hath commanded, for a witnesse vnto them.

15 3 But so much more wēt there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to be healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But hee kept himselfe apart in the wildernesse, and prayed.

17 ¶ 4 And it came to passe, on a certaine day, as he was teaching, that the Pharises and doctours of the Lawe sate by, which were come out of euery towne of Galile, and Iudea, and Hierusalem, and the power of the Lord c was in him, to heale them.

18 ∵ Then beholde, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsie, and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not finde by what way they might bring him in, because of the preasse, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tyling, bed and al, in the mids before Iesus.

20 And when he sawe their faith, he said vnto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiuen thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharises began to reason, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgiue sinnes, but God onely?

22 But when Iesus perceiued their reasoning, he answered, and said vnto them, What reason ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Rise and walke?

5 The more sharply the world is rebuked, the more it rageth openly: but the life of the godly is not simply subiect to the pleasure of the wicked.

24 But that ye may knowe that the Sonne of man hath authoritie to forgiue sinnes in earth, (he saide vnto the sicke of the palsie) I say to thee, Arise: take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

25 And immediatly hee rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon hee lay, and departed to his owne house, praysing God.

28 And he left all, rose vp, and followed him.

29 Then Leui made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great companie of Publicans, and of other that sate at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharises among them, murmured against his disciples, saying, Why eate yee and drinke ye with Publicanes and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, They that are whole, neede not the Phisician, but they that are sicke.

32 ✣ I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ ∴ 6 Then they said vnto him, Why do the disciples of Iohn fast often, and pray, & the disciples of the Pharises also, but thine eate & drinke.

34 7 And he said vnto them, Can ye make the children of the wedding chamber to fast, as long as the bridegrome is with them?

35 But the dayes will come, euen when the bridegrome shall be taken away from them: then shall they fast in those dayes.

36 Againe he spake also vnto them a parable, No man putteth a piece of a newe garment into an olde vesture: for then the newe renteth it, and the piece taken out of the new, agreeth not with the olde.

37 Also no man powreth new wine into olde vessels: for then the new wine wil breake the vessels and it wil runne out, & the vessels will perish:

38 But newe wine must be powred into newe vessels: so both are preserued.

39 Also no man that drinketh olde wine, straightway desireth newe: for he saith, The olde is more profitable.

AND ✣ 1 it came to passe on a second solemne Sabbath, that hee went through the corne fields, & his disciples a plucked the eares of corne, and did eate, and rubbe them in their hands.

2 And certaine of the Pharises said vnto them, Why doe yee that which is not lawfull to doe on the Sabbath dayes?

3 Then Iesus answered them, and said, ✣ Haue ye not read this, that Dauid did when he himselfe was an hungred, and they which were with him,

4 Howe hee went into the house of God, and tooke, and ate the shewbread, and gaue also to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the ✣ Priests onely?

5 And he said vnto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 ¶ ✣ 2 It came to passe also on another Sabbath, that hee entred into the Synagogue, and taught, and there was a man, whose right hand was dried vp.

7 And the Scribes and Pharises watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might finde an accusation against him.

8 But hee knewe their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand vp in the middes. And hee arose, and stoode vp.

9 Then said Iesus vnto them, I will aske you a question, Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or doe euill? to saue life, or to b destroy?

10 And hee beheld them all in compasse, and said vnto the man, Stretch foorth thine hand. And he did so, and his hand was restored againe, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madnesse, and communed one with another, what they might doe to Iesus.

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

39 7 Now when the Pharise which bade him, saw it, he spake within himselfe, saying, If this man were a Prophet, he would surely haue knowen who, and what maner of woman this is which toucheth him: e for she is a sinner.

7 Rashnesse is the fellow of pride.

f That is, saith Theophylact, she hath shewed her faith abundantly: and Basil in his sermon of Baptisme, sayeth, He that loueth much, hath much forgiuen him, that he may loue much more: And therefore Christs saying is so plaine by the similitude, that it is a wonder to see the enemies of the truth draw and racke this place so finely to establish their meritorious works: for the greater summe a man hath forgiuen him, the more he loueth him that hath bene so gracious to him: And this woman sheweth by dueties of loue, how great the benefit was shee had receiued: and therefore the charitie that is here spoken of, is not to be taken for the cause, but as a signe: for Christ saith not as the Pharises did, that shee was a sinner, but beareth her witnesse that the sinnes of her life past are forgiuen her.
g He confirmeth the benefit which he had bestowed with a blessing.

41 There was a certaine lender, which had two debters: the one ought fiue hundreth pence, and the other fiftie:

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgaue them both: Which of them therefore, tell mee, will loue him most?

43 Simon answered, and said, I suppose that he to whom he forgaue most. And he said vnto him, Thou hast truely iudged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and said vnto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entred into thine house, and thou gauest me no water to my feet: but she hath washed my feet with teares, and wiped them with the haires of her head.

45 Thou gauest me no kisse: but she, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my feet.

46 Mine head with oile thou didst not anoint: but she hath anointed my feet with ointment.

47 Wherefore I say vnto thee, many sinnes are forgiuen her: f for she loued much. To whom a little is forgiuen, he doth loue a little.

48 And he sayd vnto her, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee.

49 And they that sate at table with him, beganne to say within themselues, Who is this that euen forgiueth sinnes?

50 And he sayd to the woman, Thy faith hath saued thee: g goe in peace.

vp, and bare fruite, an hundreth fold. And as hee said these things, he cryed, He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

9 Then his disciples asked him, demaunding what parable that was.

10 And he said, Vnto you it is giuen to knowe the [a] secrets of the kingdome of God, but to other in parables, that when ✣ they see, they should not see, and when they heare, they should not vnderstand.

11 ✣ The parable is this, The seed is the worde of God.

12 And they that are beside the way, are they that heare: afterward commeth the deuil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, least they should beleeue, and be saued.

13 But they that are on the stones, are they which when they haue heard, receiue the word with ioy: but they haue no roots: which for a while beleeue, but in the time of tentation go away.

14 And that which fel among thornes, are they which haue heard, and after [b] their departure are choked with cares and with riches, and voluptuous liuing, and [c] bring foorth no fruite.

15 But that which fel in good ground, are they which with an [d] honest and good heart heare the word, [e] and keepe it, and bring foorth fruite with patience.

16 ¶ [f] No man when he hath lighted a candle, couereth it vnder a vessell, neither putteth it vnder the bed, but setteth it on a candlesticke, that they that enter in, may see the light.

17 ✣ For nothing is secret, that shal not be euident: neither any thing hidde, that shall not bee knowen, and come to light.

18 [g] Take heed therefore how ye heare: for ✣ whosoeuer hath, to him shall bee giuen: and whosoeuer hath not, from him shalbe taken euen that [g] which it seemeth that he hath.

19 ¶ ✣ Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come neere to him for the preasse.

20 And it was told him by certaine which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.

21 But he answered, and said vnto them, My mother and my brethren are these which heare the word of God, and doe it.

22 ¶ ✣ And it came to passe on a certaine day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and he said vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they launched foorth.

23 And as they sailed, he fell [h] asleepe, and there came downe a storme of wind on the lake, and [i] they were filled with water, and were in ieopardie.

24 Then they went to, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and [k] bukked the winde, and the waues of water: and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then he said vnto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, & wondered among themselues, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him?

26 ¶ ✣ So they sailed vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Galile.

27 [l] And as he went out to land, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had deuils long time, and he ware no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graues.

28 And when he sawe Iesus, he cryed out and fell downe before him, and with a loud voyce said, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the sonne of God the most High? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For hee commaunded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times hee had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but hee brake the bandes, [k] and was caryed of the deuill into wildernesses.)

30 Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and he said, Legion, because many deuils were entred into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not command them to goe out into the deepe.

32 And there was there by, an heard of many swine, feeding on an hill: and the deuils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them. so he suffered them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entred into the swine: and the heard was caryed with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the heardmen sawe what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they told it in the citie and in the countrey.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, sitting at the feet of Iesus, clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what meanes he that was possessed with the deuill, was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarenes, besought him that hee would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and he went into the shippe, and returned.

38 Then the man, out of whome the deuils were departed, besought him that he might bee with him: but Iesus sent him away, saying, 39 Returne into thine owne house, and shewe what great things God hath done to thee. So hee went his way, and preached throughout all the citie, what great things Iesus had done vnto him.

40 ¶ And it came to passe, when Iesus was come againe, that the people [m] receiued him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ ✣ And behold, there came a man named Iairus, & he was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feete, and besought him that he would come into his house.

42 For hee had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeeres of age, and she lay a dying, (and as he went, the people thronged him.

43 And a woman hauing an yssue of blood, twelue yeeres long, which had spent all her [n] substance vpon physicians, and could not be healed of any:

28 ✣ 6 And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those wordes, that he tooke Peter and Iohn, and Iames, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And beholde, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias:

31 Which appeared in glorie, and tolde of his [b] departing, which he should accomplish at Hierusalem.

b What death he should die in Hierusalem.

32 But Peter & they that were with him, were heauy with sleepe, & when they awoke, they sawe his glorie, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias, and wist not what he said.

34 Whiles he thus spake, there came a cloude and ouershadowed them, and they feared when they were entring into the cloude.

✣ 2.Peter 1.17.

35 ✣ And there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, This is that my beloued sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Iesus was founde alone: and they kept it close, and told no man in [i] those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

i Vntill Christ was risen againe from the dead.

37 ¶ 7 And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him.

7 Christ is offended with nothing so much as with incredulitie, although he beare with it for a time.

40 Now I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Iesus answered, & said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whiles he was yet comming, the deuill rent him, and tare him: and Iesus rebuked the vncleane spirite, and healed the childe, and deliuered him to his father.

43 ¶ 8 And they were all amased at the mightie power of God: & while they al wondered at al things, which Iesus did, he said vnto his disciples,

8 We haue no cause to promise our selues rest and quietnesse in this worlde, seeing that they themselues which seemed to fawne vpon Christ, doe shortly after crucifie him.

49 ¶ ✣ 10 And Iohn answered and saide, Master, we sawe one casting out deuils in thy Name, and we forbad him, because he followeth thee not with vs.

10 Extraordinarie things are neither rashly to be allowed nor condemned.

50 Then Iesus sayde vnto him, Forbid ye him not: for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 ¶ 11 And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that hee should be receiued vp, hee [m] settled himselfe fully to goe to Hierusalem, 11 Christ goeth willingly to death. m Word for word, he hardened his face: that is, he resolued with himselfe to die, and therefore determined vpon his iourney, and cast away all feare of death, and went on.

52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entred into a towne of the Samaritans, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receiue him, because his behauiour was as though he would go to Hierusalem.

54 12 And when his disciples, Iames and Iohn sawe it, they saide, Lorde, wilt thou that we commaund, that fire come downe from heauen, and consume them, euen as ✣ Elias did?

12 We must take heede of the immoderate rashe of zeale, and fonde imitation, euen in good causes, that, whatsoeuer we do, we doe it to Gods glory, and the profite of our neighbour.

✣ 2. King. 1.10, 12, 13.

55 But Iesus turned about, and rebuked them, and said, Ye know not of what [n] spirite ye are.

n So speake the Hebrewes, that is, you know not what will, minde, and counsell you are of: so the gifts of God are called the spirite, because they are giuen of Gods Spirite, and so are they, that are contrary to them, which procede of the wicked spirite, as the spirit of couetousnes, of pride, and madnesse.

56 For the Sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. Then they went to another towne.

57 ¶ 13 And it came to passe that as they went in the way, ✣ a certaine man said vnto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whithersoeuer thou goest.

13 Such as follow Christ, must prepare themselues, to suffer all discommodities.

✣ Mat.8.19.

58 And Iesus sayde vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen nests, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to lay his head.

59 14 But he sayde vnto another, Follow me. And the same saide, Lord, suffer me first to go and burie my father.

60 And Iesus said vnto him, Let the dead burie o their dead: but goe thou, and preach the kingdome of God.

14 The calling of God ought to be preferred, without all controuersie, before all dueties that we owe to men. o Who notwithstanding that they liue in this fraile life of man, yet are strangers from the true life, which is euerlasting and heauenly.

61 15 Then another saide, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first go bid them farewell, which are at mine house.

15 Such as follow Christ, must at once renounce all worldly cares.

62 And Iesus said vnto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, and looketh backe is apt to the kingdome of God.

30 And Iesus answered, and sayde, A certaine man went downe from Hierusalem to Iericho, & fell among theeues, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead.

31 Now so it fell out, that there came down a certaine Priest that same way, and when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Leuite, when hee was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certaine Samaritane, as hee iournied, came neere vnto him, and when hee sawe him, he had compassion on him, 34 And went to him, & bound vp his wounds, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made prouision for him.

35 And on the morrow when he departed, he tooke out two pence, and gaue them to the host, and sayd vnto him, Take care of him, & whatsoeuer thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the theeues?

37 And he sayde, Hee that shewed mercie on him. Then saide Iesus vnto him, Goe, and do thou likewise.

38 ¶ 10 Nowe it came to passe, as they went, that he entred into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, receiued him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Mary, which also sate at Iesus feete, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was combred about much seruing, and came to him, and saide, Master, doest thou not care that my sister hath left me to serue alone? bid her therefore, that she helpe me.

41 And Iesus answered, and said vnto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things, 42 But one thing is needfull, Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not bee taken away from her.

you shall haue a friend, and shall goe to him at mid-night, and say vnto him, Friend, lend me three loaues:

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to me, and I haue nothing to set before him.

7 And he within should answere, and say, Trouble me not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with mee in bed: I cannot rise and giue them to thee.

8 I say vnto you, Though he would not arise and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtlesse because of his [b] importunitie, he would rise, and giue him as many as he needed.

9 ✣ And I say vnto you, Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 ✣ For euery one that asketh, receiueth: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shalbe opened.

11 ∵ If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will he giue him a stone, or if hee aske a fish, will he for a fish giue him a serpent?

12 Or if hee aske an egge, will he giue him a scorpion?

13 If ye then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shall your heauenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them, that desire him?

14 ¶ ✣ Then hee cast out a deuill which was dumme: and when the deuill was gone out, the dumme spake, and the people woondered.

15 3 But some of them said, ✣ He casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of [y] deuils.

16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen.

17 4 But he knew their thoughts, and said vnto them, * Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be desolate, and an house diuided against an house, falleth.

18 So if Satan also be diuided against himselfe, how shall his kingdome stand, because yee say that I cast out deuils [c] through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whom doe your children cast them out? Therefore shall they be your iudges.

20 But if I by the [d] finger of God cast out deuils, doubtlesse the kingdome of God is come vpon you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his [e] palace, the thinges that hee possesseth, are in peace.

22 But when a stronger then he, commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: he taketh from him all his armour wherein he trusted, and diuideth his spoyles.

23 5 He that is not with me, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

24 ✣ [6] When the vncleane spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through drie places, seeking rest: and when he findeth none, he saith, I will returne vnto mine house whence I came out.

25 And when hee commeth, hee findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then goeth he, and taketh to him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe: and they enter in, and dwell there: ✣ so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

27 ¶ 7 And it came to passe as he said these things, a certaine woman of the companie lifted vp her voyce, and saide vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he said, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 ¶ ✣ [8] And when the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: They seeke a signe, and there shal no signe be giuen them, but the signe of ✣ Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a signe to the Niniuites: so shall also the Sonne of man be to this generation.

31 ∵ The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement, with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for she came from the vtmost partes of the earth to heare the wisedome of Solomon, and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Niniue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they ✣ repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 ¶ ✣ [9] No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a priuie place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlesticke, that they which come in, may see the light.

34 * The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be euill, then thy body is darke.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkenesse.

36 If therefore thy whole body shall be light, hauing no part darke, then shall all be light, euen as when a candle doth light thee with the brightnesse.

37 ¶ [10] And as hee spake, a certaine Pharise besought him to dine with him: and he went in, and sate downe at table.

38 And when the Pharise saw it, he marueiled that he had not first washed before dinner.

39 ✣ And the Lord said to him, In deed yee Pharises make cleane the outside of the cuppe, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of rauening and wickednesse.

40 Ye fooles, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within also?

41 Therefore, giue almes [f] of those things which you haue, and beholde, all things shall be cleane to you.

42 [11] But wo be to you, Pharises: for ye [g] tithe the mint and the rew, and [h] all maner herbes, and passe ouer [i] iudgement & the loue of God: these ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other vndone.

44 [13] Wo be to you, Scribes and Pharises hypocrites: ∵ for ye are as graues which appeare not, and the men that walke ouer them, perceiue not.

45 ¶ [14] Then answered one of the lawyers, and sayd vnto him, Master, thus saying thou puttest vs to rebuke also.

9 It is a fooliſh thing not to looke for ſmall things, at his hands, which giueth vs freely the greateſt things.

10 A godly bountifulnes is a ready way to get true riches.

k This is the figure Metonymie, for by this worde, Almes, is meant that compaſſion, and friendlineſſe of an hearte, that tendreth the miſerie and poore eſtate of a man, and ſheweth forth it ſelfe by ſome gift, and hath the name giuen it in the Greeke tongue, of mercie and compaſſion: and therefore he is ſaid to giue almes, who parteth with ſome thing to another, and giueth to the poore, ſhewing thereby, that he pitieth their poore eſtate.
✣ 1. Peter 1.13.

11 The life of the faithfull ſeruants of God, in this worlde is a certaine watchfull peregrination, hauing the light of the worde going before it.

l That is, euery moneth ſuch meaſure of corne as was appointed them.

m More then of him to whom ſo much was not giuen.

13 The Goſpel is the onely cauſe of peace betweene the godly, and ſo is it the occaſion of great trouble among the wicked.
✣ Matth.10.34.

31 8 But rather ſeeke ye after the kingdome of God, and all theſe things ſhalbe caſt vpon you.

32 9 Feare not, litle flocke: for it is your Fathers pleaſure, to giue you the kingdome.

33 ¶ ✣ 10 Sell that ye haue, and giue k almes: make you bagges, which waxe not old, a treaſure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no thiefe commeth, neither mothe corrupteth.

34 For where your treaſure is, there will your hearts be alſo.

35 ¶ ✣ 11 Let your loynes be girt about and your lights burning,

36 And yee your ſelues like vnto men that waite for their maſter, when he will returne from the wedding, that when hee commeth and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediatly.

37 Bleſſed are thoſe ſeruants, whom the Lord when hee commeth ſhall finde waking: verely I ſay vnto you, hee will girde himſelfe about, and make them to ſit downe at table, and will come forth, and ſerue them.

38 And if hee come in the ſecond watch, or come in the third watch, and ſhall finde them ſo, bleſſed are thoſe ſeruants.

39 ∴ Now vnderſtand this, that if the good man of the houſe had knowen at what houre the thiefe would haue come, hee would haue watched, and would not haue ſuffered his houſe to be digged through.

40 12 Be yee alſo prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when yee thinke not.

41 Then Peter ſaid vnto him, Maſter, telleſt thou this parable vnto vs, or euen to all?

42 And the Lord ſaid, Who is a faithfull ſteward and wiſe, whom the maſter ſhall make ruler ouer his houſholde, to giue them their l portion of meate in ſeaſon?

43 Bleſſed is that ſeruant, whome his maſter when he commeth, ſhall finde ſo doing.

44 Of a trueth I ſay vnto you, that hee will make him ruler ouer all that he hath.

45 But if that ſeruant ſay in his heart, My maſter doeth deferre his comming, and ſhal beginne to ſmite the ſeruants, and maydens, and to eate, and drinke, and to be drunken, 46 The maſter of that ſeruant will come in a day when he thinketh not, and at an houre when he is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnbeleeuers.

47 ¶ And that ſeruant that knewe his maſters wil, and prepared not himſelfe, neither did according to his will, ſhalbe beaten with many ſtripes.

48 But he that knewe it not, and yet did commit things worthy of ſtripes, ſhall be beaten with few ſtripes: for vnto whomſoeuer much is giuen, of him ſhalbe much required, and to whom men much commit, m the more of him will they aſke.

49 ¶ 13 I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my deſire, if it be already kindled?

51 ✣ Thinke ye that I come to giue peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there ſhall be fiue in one houſe diuided, three againſt two, and two againſt three.

53 The father ſhalbe diuided againſt ſ ſonne, and the ſonne againſt the father: the mother againſt the daughter, and the daughter againſt the mother: the mother in law againſt her daughter in lawe, and the daughter in lawe againſt her mother in lawe.

CHAP. XV.

4 The parable of the lost sheepe, 8 Of the groate, 11 And of the prodigall sonne.

THen ‖ resorted vnto f him a al the Publicanes and sinners, to heare him.

f We must not despaire of them, which haue gone out of the way, but according to the example of Christ, we must take great paines about them.

a Some Publicans and sinners came to Christ from all quarters.

2 Therefore the Pharises and Scribes murmured, saying, Hee receiueth sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake he this parable to them, saying,

4 ✣ What man of you hauing an hundreth sheepe, if hee lose one of them, doeth not leaue ninetie and nine in the wildernesse, and goe after that which is lost, vntill he finde it?

5 And when hee hath found it, he laieth it on his shoulder with ioy.

6 And when hee commeth home, hee calleth together his friends and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioyce with mee: for I haue found my sheepe which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which neede none amendment of life.

8 Either what woman hauing ten groates, if shee lose one groate, doth not light a candle, and sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till shee finde it?

9 And when she hath found it, she calleth her friends, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue found the groate which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 ¶ 2 He said moreouer, A certaine man had two sonnes.

2 Men by their voluntarie falling from God, hauing spoiled themselues of the benefites which they receiued of him, cast themselues headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodnesse, offering himselfe freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through the greatnesse of their miserie wherewith they were tamed, doeth not onely gently receiue them, but also enricheth them with farre greater gifts, and blesseth them with the chiefest blisse.

12 And the yonger of them sayde to his father, Father, giue mee the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So he diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So not many dayes after, when the yonger sonne had gathered altogether, hee tooke his iourney into a farre countrey, and there he wasted his goods with riotous liuing.

14 Now when hee had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to be in necessitie.

15 Then hee went and claue to a citizen of that countrey, and hee sent him to his farme, to feede swine.

16 And hee would faine haue filled his bellie with the huskes, that the swine ate: but no man gaue them him.

17 3 Then he came to himselfe, and said, How many hired seruantes at my fathers haue bread ynough, and I die for hunger?

3 The beginning of repentance is y acknowledging of the mercie of God, which stirreth vs to hope well.

18 I will rise and go to my father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against b heauen, and before thee, b Against God, because he is said to dwell in heauen.

19 And am no more worthy to bee called thy sonne: make me as one of thy hired seruants.

20 So hee arose and came to his father, and when hee was yet a great way off, his father saw him and had compassion, and ranne and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 4 And the sonne saide vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy sonne.

4 In true repentance there is a feeling of our sinnes, ioyned with sorow and shame, frō whence springeth a confession, after which followeth forgiuenesse.

22 Then the father saide to his seruants, Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shooes on his feete,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kil him, and let vs eate, and be mery:

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be mery.

25 5 Now the elder brother was in the fielde, and when he came and drew neere to the house, he heard melodie, and dancing,

5 Such as truely feare God, desire to haue all men to be their fellowes.

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And hee saide vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatte calfe, because he hath receiued him safe and sound.

28 Then he was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out and entreated him.

29 But he answered and said to his father, Lo, these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither brake I at any time thy commandement, and yet thou neuer gauest mee a kidde that I might make merie with my friends.

30 But when this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy goods with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat calfe.

31 And he sayd vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with me, and all that I haue, is thine. It was meete that we should make mery, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and hee was lost, but he is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the steward accused to his master. 13 To serue two masters. 16 The Lawe and Prophets. 19 Of Diues and Lazarus.

1 Seeing that men oftentimes purchase friendship to themselues, by other mens costes, it is shame for vs, if with a free and liberall bestowing of ỹ goods which the Lord hath giuen vs to that purpose, we doe not please him, nor procure the good will of our neighbours, seeing that by this onely meanes, riches, which are oftentimes occasions of sinne, are turned to another end and purpose.

a This parable doth not approoue the stewards naughtie dealing, for it was very theft: but parables are set forth, to shew a thing conuertly, & as it were vnder a figure to represent the truth, though it agree not throughly with the matter it selfe: so that (brist meaneth by this parable to teach vs, that worldly men are more heedie in the affaires of this world, then the children of God are carefull for euerlasting life.

b Men that are giuen to this present life, contrary to whom the children of light are set: S. Paul calleth those spirituall, and the other carnall.

c This is not spoken of goods that are euil gotten, for God will haue our bountifulnesse to the poore, proceede and come from a good fountaine: but he calleth those riches of iniquitie, which men vse naughtily.

d To wit, the poore Christians: for they are the inheritors of these Tabernacles. Theophyl. 2 We ought to take heede that for abusing our earthly function and duetie, we be not depriued of heauenly giftes: for howe can they vse spirituall giftes aright, who abuse worldly things?

e That is, heauenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and fleeting substance.

f In worldly goods, which are called other mens, because they are committed to our credite. ✣ Mat 6.24.

3 No man can loue God and riches together.

4 Our sinnes are not hidden to God, although they bee hidden to men, yea although they be hidden to them whose sinnes they are.

1 There was a certaine rich man, which had a steward, and hee was accused vnto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And hee called him, and sayd vnto him, Howe is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an accounts of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward sayde within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot digge, and to begge I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue mee into their houses.

5 Then called he vnto him euery one of his masters debters, & said vnto the first, Howe much owest thou vnto my master?

6 And he said, An hundreth measures of oyle. And hee said to him, Take thy writing, and sit downe quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then said he to another, How much owest thou? And hee sayd, An hundreth measures of wheate. Then he sayd to him, Take thy writing, and write foure score.

8 And the Lorde commended [a] the vniust steward, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the [b] children of this world are in their generation wiser then the children of light.

9 And I say vnto you, Make you friends with the riches [c] of iniquitie, that when ye shall want, they may receiue you into euerlasting [d] habitations.

10 [2] He that is faithfull in the least, hee is also faithfull in much: and he that is vniust in the least, is vniust also in much.

11 If then yee haue not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the [e] true treasure?

12 And if ye haue not bene faithfull in [f] another mans goods, who shall giue you that which is yours?

13 ✣ [3] No seruant can serue two masters: for either he shal hate the one, and loue the other: or els he shal leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

14 All these things heard the Pharises also which were couetous, and they scoffed at him.

15 [4] Then hee sayde vnto them, Ye are they, which iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 ✣ [5] The Lawe and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and since that time the kingdome of God is preached, and euery man preasseth into it.

17 ✣ Nowe it is more easie that heauen and earth should passe away, then that one tittle of the Lawe should fall.

18 ¶ ✣ Whosoeuer putteth away his wife, and marieth another, committeth adulterie: and whosoeuer marieth her [g] that is put away from her husband, committeth adulterie.

19 ¶ [6] There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in [h] purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately euery day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layde at his gate full of sores, 21 And desired to bee refreshed with the crommes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogges came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams bosome. The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, [i] hee lift vp his eyes, and saw Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his bosome.

24 Then he cried, and said, Father Abraham haue mercie on me, and send Lazarus that he may dippe the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham said, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedst thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therfore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulfe set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, can not: neyther can they come from thence to vs.

27 [7] Then he saide, I pray thee therefore father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house, 28 (For I haue fiue brethren) that he may testifie vnto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham said vnto him, They haue Moses and the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he said, Nay father Abraham: but if one come vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then he said vnto him, If they heare not Moses and the Prophets, neither will they bee persuaded, though one rise from the dead againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Offences. 3 We must forgiue him that trespasseth against vs. 10 We are vnprofitable seruants. 11 Of the tenne lepers. 20 Of the comming of the kingdome of heauen. 33 False Christes. 36 After what maner Christes comming shall be.

THen said he to his disciples, ✣ [1] It can not be auoyded, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his necke, and that hee were cast into the sea, then that hee should offend one of these litle ones.

3 ¶ [2] Take heede to your selues: if thy brother trespasse against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgiue him.

4 ✣ And though he sinne against thee seuen times

✣ Matth.11.12.

5 The Pharises despised the excellencie of the new Couenant, in respect of the old, being ignorant of the perfect righteousnesse of the law, and how false expounders they were of the Law, Christ declareth by the seuenth commandement.

g They that gather by the place, that a man cannot be maried againe after that he hath put away his wife for adulterie, while she liueth, reason fondly: for Christ speaketh of those diuorces which the Iewes vsed, of which sort we can not take the diuorcement for adulterie, for adulterers were put to death by the Law.

6 The end of the pouertie and miserie of the godly, shalbe euerlasting ioy: as the ende of the riotousnesse and cruell pride of the rich shalbe euerlasting miserie, without all hope of mercy.

h Very gorgeously and sumptuously: for purple garments were costly, and this fine linnen which was a kinde of linnen that came out of Achaia, was as deare as gold.

i Heauenly and spirituall things are expressed and set forth vnder colours and resemblances fit for our sensес.

7 Seeing that we haue a most sure rule to liue by, laid forth vnto vs in the word of God, rashly and vainely do men seeke for other reuelations.

✣ Matth.18.7. marke 9.42.

1 The Church is of necessitie subiect to offences, but the Lord will not suffer them vnpunished, if any of ỹ least be offended.

2 Our reprehensions must be iust, and proceede of loue and charitie.

times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, It repenteth me, thou shalt forgiue him.

5 ¶ [3] And the Apostles sayd vnto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said, ✣ If ye had faith, as much as [a] a graine of mustard seed, and should say vnto this mulberie tree, Plucke thy selfe vp by the rootes, & plant thy selfe in the sea, it should euen obey you.

7 ¶ [4] Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing or feeding catteli, would say vnto him by and by, when hee were come from the fielde, Goe, and sit downe at the table?

8 And would not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, and gird thy selfe, and serue mee, till I haue eaten and drunken, and afterward eate thou, and drinke thou?

9 Doeth hee thanke that seruant, because hee did that which was commaunded vnto him? I trowe not.

10 [5] So likewise yee, when yee haue done all those things, which are commanded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: wee haue done that which was our duetie to doe.

11 ¶ [6] And so it was when he went to Hierusalem, that hee passed through the middes of Samaria, and Galile.

12 And as hee entred into a certaine towne, there met him ten men that were lepers, which stoode afarre off.

13 And they lift vp their voyces and sayd, Iesus, Master, haue mercy on vs.

14 And when he saw them, he sayd vnto them, ✣ Goe, shew your selues vnto the Priests. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were clensed.

15 Then one of them, when hee saw that hee was healed, turned backe, and with a loud voyce praysed God, 16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gaue him thankes: and he was a Samaritan.

17 And Iesus answered, and said, Are there not ten clensed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to giue God prayse, saue this stranger.

19 And he sayd vnto him, Arise, go thy way, thy faith hath saued thee.

20 ¶ [7] And when he was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God should come, he answered them, and said, The kingdome of God commeth not with [b] obseruation.

21 Neither shall men say, Lo here, or lo there: for behold, the kingdome of God is [c] within you.

22 [8] And he said vnto the disciples, The dayes will come, when ye shal desire to see [d] one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shal not see it.

23 ∴ [9] Then they shall say to you, Behold here, or behold there: but goe not thither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lighteth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But first must he suffer many things, and be reproued of this generation.

26 ✣ [10] And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.

27 They ate, they dranke, they married wiues, and gaue in mariage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 ✣ Likewise also, as it was in the dayes of Lot: They ate, they dranke, they bought, they solde, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.

30 After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the Sonne of man is reueiled.

31 [11] At that day hee that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in y house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the fielde likewise, let him not turne backe to that he left behinde.

32 ∴ Remember Lots wife.

33 ✣ Whosoeuer will seeke to saue his soule, shall lose [e] and whosoeuer shall lose it, shall [e] get it.

34 ✣ I tell you, in that night there shalbe two in one bed: the one shalbe receiued, and the other shalbe left.

35 Two women shalbe grinding together, the one shalbe taken, and the other shalbe left.

36 Two shalbe in the fielde: one shall be receiued, and another shalbe left.

37 [12] And they answered, and sayd to him, Where, Lord? And he sayd vnto them, *Wheresoeuer the body is, thither shall also the egles be gathered together.

2 The parable of the vnrighteous Iudge and the widow. 10 Of the Pharise and the Publicane. 15 Children are of the kingdome of heauen. 22 To sell all and giue to the poore. 28 The Apostles forsake all. 31 Christ foreselleth his death. 35 The blinde man receiueth sight.

AND [1] hee spake also a parable vnto them, to this ende, that they ✣ ought alwayes to pray, and not to [a] waxe faint,

2 [b] Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine city, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.

3 And there was a widow in that citie, which came vnto him, saying, Doe mee iustice against mine aduersarie.

4 And hee would not of long time: but afterward he sayd with himselfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man,

5 Yet because this widowe troubleth mee, I will doe her right, lest at the last shee come and [c] make me wearie.

6 And the Lord sayd, Heare what the vnrighteous Iudge sayth.

7 Now shal not God auenge his elect, which cry day & night vnto him, yea, though [d] he suffer long for them?

8 I tell you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, shall he finde faith on the earth?

9 ¶ [2] He spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselues that they were iust, and despised other.

10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray:

the one a Pharise, and the other a Publican.

11 3 The Pharise stood and prayed thus with him selfe, O God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vniust, adulterers, or euen as this Publican.

12 I fast twise in the weeke: I giue tithe of all that euer I possesse.

13 But the Publican standing e a farre off, would not lift vp so much as his eyes to heauen, but smote his brest, saying, O God, be mercifull to me a sinner.

14 I tell you, this man departed to his house iustified rather then the other: ✣ for euery man that exalteth himselfe shall be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himselfe, shalbe exalted.

15 ¶ ✣ f They brought vnto him also babes that he should touch them. And when his disciples sawe it, they rebuked them.

16 5 But Iesus g called them vnto him, & sayd, Suffer the babes to come vnto mee, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdome of God.

17 6 Verely I say vnto you, whosoeuer receiueth not the kingdome of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.

18 ∵ Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying, Good Master, what ought I to doe, to inherite eternall life?

19 And Iesus sayd vnto him, Why calleste thou me good? none is good, saue one, euen God.

20 Thou knowest the cõmandements, ✣ Thou shalt not commit adulterie: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witnesse: Honour thy father and thy mother.

21 7 And he sayd, All these haue I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Iesus heard that, he sayd vnto him, yet thou lackest one thing, Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, & thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, & come folow me.

23 But when he heard those things, he was very heauie: for he was marueilous rich.

24 8 And when Iesus saw him very sorowfull, he sayd, With what difficultie shall they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

25 Surely it is easier for a camel to go through a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 Then said they that heard it, And who then shalbe saued?

27 And he sayd, The things which are vnpossible with men, are possible with God.

28 ¶ ✣ Then Peter sayd, Loe, we haue left all, and haue followed thee.

29 9 And he sayd vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdome of Gods sake, 30 Which shal not receiue much more in this world, and in the world to come life euerlasting.

31 ¶ *10 Then Iesus tooke vnto him ỹ twelue, and said vnto them, Behold, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and all things shalbe fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For he shalbe deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shalbe mocked, and shalbe spitefully entreated, and shalbe spitted on.

33 And when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death: but the third day he shall rise againe.

34 But they vnderstood h none of these things, and this saying was hid from them, neither perceiued they the things, which were spoken.

35 ¶ ✣ 11 And it came to passe, that as he was come neere vnto Iericho, a certaine blinde man sate by the way side, begging.

36 And when he heard the people passe by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they sayd vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by.

38 Then he cried, saying, Iesus the Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

39 12 And they which went before, rebuked him that he should holde his peace, but he cried much more, O Sõne of Dauid haue mercy on me.

40 And Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And he sayd, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saued thee.

43 Then immediatly he receiued his sight, and followed him, praysing God: and all the people, when they sawe this, gaue prayse to God.

2 Zaccheus the Publican. 13 Ten pieces of money deliuered to seruants to occupie withall. 29 Iesus entreth into Hierusalem. 41 Hee foretelleth the destruction of the cuse with teares. 45 He casteth the sellers out of the Temple.

NOwe 1 when Iesus entred and passed through Iericho,

2 Behold, there was a man named Zaccheus, which was the a chiefe receiuer of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And he sought to see Iesus, who he should be, and could not for the preasse, because hee was of a lowe stature.

4 Wherefore he ranne before, and climed vp into a wilde fig tree, that he might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Iesus came to the place, he looked vp, and saw him, & sayd vnto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house.

6 Then he came downe hastily, and receiued him ioyfully.

7 2 And when all they sawe it, they murmured, saying, that hee was gone in to lodge with a sinfull man.

8 3 And Zaccheus stood forth, & said vnto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by b forged cauillation, I restore him foure fold.

9 Then Iesus said to him, This day is saluation come vnto this house, forasmuch as he is also become the c sonne of Abraham.

10 ✣ For the Sonne of man is come to seeke, and to saue that which was lost.

11 4 And whilest they heard these things, hee continued and spake a parable, because hee was neere to Hierusalem, & because also they thought that the kingdom of God should shortly appeare.

12 He said therefore, ∵ A certaine noble man went into a farre countrey, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe.

5 There are three sorts of men in the Church: the one sort fall from Christ whom they see not: the other, which according to their vocation, bestow the gifts, which they haue receiued of God, to his glory with great paines & diligence: the thirde liue idlely, & doe no good. As for the first, the Lord when he commeth wil iustly punish them in his time: the other he wil blesse, according to the paines which they haue taken: and as for the slouthfull and idle persons he will punish them as the first.

d This was a piece of money which the Grecians vsed, and was in value about an hundred pence, which is about ten crownes.

6 Against them which spend their life idlely in deliberating & otherwise in contemplation.

e To the bankers and changers.

13 5 And he called his ten seruants, and deliuered them ten pieces of money, & said vnto them, Occupie till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, & sent an ambassage after him, saying, Wee will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when he was come againe, and had receiued his kingdom, that he commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whom he gaue his mony, that he might know what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, d thy piece hath encreased ten pieces.

17 And he sayd vnto him, Well, good seruant: because thou hast bene faithfull in a very little thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath encreased fiue pieces.

19 And to the same he sayd, Be thou also ruler ouer fiue cities.

20 e So the other came, & said, Lord, beholde thy piece, which I haue laid vp in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straite man: thou takest vp that thou laiedst not downe, and reapest that thou diddest not sowe.

22 Then hee said vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruaunt. Thou knewest that I am a straite man, taking vp that I layd not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe.

23 Wherefore then gauest not thou my money into the e banke, that at my comming I might haue required it with vantage?

24 And he sayd to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they said vnto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

26 ✣ For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, it shalbe giuen: and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shalbe taken from him.

27 Moreouer, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

31 And if any man aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath need of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he sayd vnto them.

33 And as they were loosing the colt, the owners thereof sayde vnto them, Why loose ye the colte?

34 And they sayde, The Lorde hath neede of him.

35 ¶ So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as he went, they spred their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was nowe come neere to the going downe of the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the disciples began to reioyce, & to prayse God with a loude voyce, for all the great workes that they had seene, 38 Saying, Blessed be the King that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, & glory in the highest places.

39 8 Then some of the Pharises of the company sayd vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and sayd vnto them, I tell you, that if these should holde their peace, the stones would cry.

44 And shal make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leaue in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou kneweste not n that season of thy visitation.

45 ¶ ✣ 10 He went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, & them that bought, and let it foorth to husbandmen: and went into a strange countrey, for a great time.

10 And at the time conuenient he sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruit of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away emptie.

11 Againe hee sent yet another seruant: and they did beat him, and foule intreated him, and sent him away emptie.

12 Moreouer he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I do? I will send my beloued sonne: it may be that they will do reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselues, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore do vnto them?

16 He will come and destroy these husbandmen, and wil giue out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they sayd, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, & said, What meaneth this then that is written, ✣ The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

25 Then he sayd vnto them, ∴ Giue then vnto Cæsar the things which are Cæsars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reproue his saying before the people: but they marueiled at his answere, and held their peace.

27 ✣ 4 Then came to him certeine of the Sadduces (which deny that there is any resurrection) and they asked him, 29 Now there were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childelesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, The [g] children of this world marry wiues, and are married.

35 But they which shalbe counted worthy to enioy the world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wiues, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equall vnto the Angels, & are the sonnes of God, since they are the [h] children of the resurrection.

35 ¶ And he sayd vnto them, ✣ When I sent you without bagge, and scrip, and shooes, lacked ye any thing? And they said, Nothing.

37 For I say vnto you, That yet the same which is written, must be performed in me, ✣ Euen with the wicked was he numbred: for doubtlesse those things which are written of me, haue an end.

38 And they sayd, Lord, beholde, here are two swords. And he said vnto them, It is enough.

49 7 Now when they which were about him, saw what would follow, they said vnto him, Lord, shall we smite with the sword?

50 And one of them smote a seruant of the hie Priest, and strooke off his eare.

59 And about the space of an houre after, a certeine other affirmed, saying, Verely, euen this man was with him: for he is also a Galilean.

60 And Peter sayd, Man, I know not what thou sayest. And immediatly while he yet spake, the cocke crew.

61 Then the Lord turned backe, and looked vpon Peter: and Peter remembred the word of the Lord, how he had said vnto him, ✣ Before the cocke crowe, thou shalt denie me thrise.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 He is accused before Pilate. 7 He is sent to Herode. 11 Hee is mocked. 24 Pilate yeeldeth him vp to the Iewes request. 27 The women bewaile him. 33 He is crucified. 39 One of the theeues reuileth him: 43 The other is saued by faith. 45 He dyeth. 53 He is buried.

THen [1] the whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We haue found this man [a] perverting the nation, and forbidding to pay tribute to Cæsar, saying, That he is Christ a King.

3 ∵ And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

4 Then said Pilate to the hie Priestes, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, saying, Hee mooueth the people, teaching throughout all Iudea, beginning at Galile, euen to this place.

6 [2] Now when Pilate heard of Galile, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when he knew that he was of [b] Herods iurisdiction, he sent him to Herod, which was also at Hierusalem in those dayes.

8 And when Herod saw Iesus, he was exceedingly glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, & trusted to haue seene some signe done by him.

9 Then [3] questioned hee with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.

10 The hie Priestes also and Scribes stoode foorth, and accused him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his [c] men of warre, despised him, and mocked him, and arayed him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate.

12 [3] And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.

13 ¶ ✣ Then Pilate called together the high Priestes, and the [d] rulers, and the people,

14 ✣ And said vnto them, Yee haue brought this man vnto me, as one that peruerted the people: and beholde, I haue examined him before you, and haue found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and lo, nothing worthy of death is done of him.

16 [4] I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

17 (For of necessitie he must haue let one loose vnto them at the feast.)

18 Then all the multitude cried at once, saying, Away with him, and deliuer vnto vs Barabbas:

19 Which for a certaine insurrection made in the citie, and murther, was cast in prison.

20 Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose.

21 But they cryed, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him.

22 [5] And he said vnto them the third time, But what euill hath hee done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

23 But they were instant with loud voyces, and required that he might be crucified: and the voyces of them and of the hie Priestes preuailed.

24 So Pilate gaue sentence, that it should bee as they required.

25 And hee let loose vnto them him that for insurrection and murther was cast into prison, whome they desired, and deliuered Iesus to doe with him what they would.

26 ¶ ✣ 7 And as they ledde him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, comming out of the field, and on him they laid the crosse, to beare it after Iesus.

27 [8] And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Iesus turned backe vnto them, & said, Daughters of Hierusalem, weepe not for me, but weepe for your selues, and for your children.

29 For behold, the dayes will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombes that neuer bare, and the pappes which neuer gaue sucke.

30 Then shall they begin to say to the mountaines, ✣ Fall on vs: and to the hilles, Couer vs.

31 ∵ For if they doe these things to a [e] greene tree, what shall be done to the drie?

31 ✲ And there were two others, which were euil doers, led with him to be slaine.

33 [9] And when they were come to the place, which is called Caluarie, there they crucified him, and the euill doers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

34 [10] Then said Iesus, Father, forgiue them: for they knowe not what they doe. And they parted his raiment, and cast lottes.

35 And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, Hee saued others: let him saue himselfe, if he be that Christ, the [f] Chosen of God.

36 The souldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vineger, 37 And said, If thou be the King of the Iewes, saue thy selfe.

38 [11] And a superscription was also written ouer him, in Greeke letters, and in Latin, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE IEVVES.

39 ¶ g And [12] one of the euill doers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou bee that Christ, saue thy selfe and vs.

40 But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Feareſt thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

41 We are in deede righteously here: for we receiue things worthy of that we haue done: but this man hath done nothing [h] amisse.

31 Then their eyes were opened, & they knew him: and he was e no more seene of them.

32 And they sayd betweene themselues, Did not our hearts burne within vs, while hee talked with vs by the way, and when he opened to vs the Scriptures?

33 And they rose vp the same houre, and returned to Ierusalem, and found the Eleuen gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Which said, The Lord is risen in deede, and hath appeared to Simon.

35 Then they told what things were done in the way, and how hee was knowen of them in f breaking of bread.

36 ¶ ✣ 6 And as they spake these things, Iesus himselfe stood in the mids of them, and said vnto them. Peace be to you.

37 But they were abashed and afraid, supposing that they had seene a spirit.

38 Then he said vnto them, Why are ye troubled? & wherfore do g doubts arise in your hearts?

39 Behold mine hands and my feete: for it is I my selfe: handle mee and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me haue.

40 And when he had thus spoken, hee shewed them his hands and feete.

41 And while they yet beleeued not for ioy, and wondred, he said vnto them, Haue yee here any meate?

42 And they gaue him a piece of a broyled fish, and of an hony combe, 43 And he tooke it, and did eate before them.

44 7 And he sayd vnto them, These are the wordes, which I spake vnto you while I was yet with you, that all must be fulfilled which are written of me in the Lawe of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalmes.

45 Then opened he their vnderstanding, that they might vnderstand the Scriptures,

46 And said vnto them, Thus is it written, and thus it behoued Christ to suffer, and to rise againe from the dead the third day, 47 And that repentance, & remission of sinnes should be preached in his Name among all nations, h beginning at Hierusalem.

48 Now ye are witnesses of these things.

49 And beholde, I doe send the ✣ promise of my Father vpon you: but tarie yee in the citie of Hierusalem, i vntil ye be endued with power from an hie.

51 And it came to passe, that as hee blessed them, ✣ hee departed from them, and was caried vp into heauen.

52 And they worshipped him, and returned to Hierusalem with great ioy,

THE HOLY GOSPEL OF IESVS CHRIST ACCORDING TO IOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 That word begotten of God before all worldes, 2 and which was euer with the Father 14 is made man. 6.7 For what ende Iohn was sent from God: 16 His preaching of Christes office 19. 20 The record that hee bare giuen out vnto the Priests. 40 The calling of Andrew, 42 of Peter, 43 Philip, 45 and Nathanael.

IN the a beginning b was c that Word, and that Word was d with God, and that e Word was God.

2 This same was in the beginning with God

3 ✣ 2 All f things were made by it, and g without it h was made nothing that was made.

4 i In it k was life, and that life was l the light of men.

5 3 And that light shineth in the darkenesse, and the darkenesse m comprehended it not.

6 ¶ ✣ 4 There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn.

7 This same came for a witnesse, to beare witnesse of that light, that all men n through him might beleeue.

8 Hee was not o that light, but was sent to beare witnesse of that light.

9 5 This was p that true light, which lighteth euery man that commeth into the world.

10 9 He was in the world, and the worlde was q made by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came r vnto his owne, and his owne receiued him not.

12 6 But as many as receiued him, to them he gaue s prerogatiue to bee the sonnes of God, euen to them that beleeue in his Name.

13 Which are borne not of blood, nor of the t wil of the flesh, nor of u wil of man, but of God.

a From the beginning, as the Euangelist saith 1. epistle 1.1. as though he said, that the world began not then to haue his being, when God began to make all that was made: for the word was euen then when all things that were made, began to be made, and therefore he was before the beginning of all things.

b Had his being.

c This word, That, poynteth out vnto vs a peculiar and chosen thing aboue all other, and putteth a difference betweene the Wordes, which is the Sonne of God, and the Lawes of God, which otherwise are also called the word of God.

d This worde With, poynteth out the distinction of persons to vs.

e This word (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, and is that which the learned call (subiectum) and this worde (God) is the latter in order, and the same which the learned call (predicatum) ✣ Col. 1.16.

2 The sonne of God declareth that same his euerlasting Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and also by the preserueing of them, and especially by the excellent gifts of reason and vnderstanding, wherewith he hath beautified man aboue all other creatures.

f Paul expoundeth this place, Colos. 1.15. and 16. verses.

g That is, as the Father did worke, so did the Sonne worke with him: for he was fellow-worker with him.

h Of all those things which were made, nothing was made without him.

i That is, by him: and it is spoken after the maner of the Hebrewes, meaning thereby that by his force and working power all life commeth to the world.

k To wit, euen then, when all things are made by him, for els he would haue said, Life is in him, and not life was.

l That force of reason and vnderstanding, which is kindled in our soules to acknowledge him, the author of so great a benefite.

3 The light of men is turned into darkenesse, but yet so that there is clearenes ynough to make them without excuse.

m They could not perceiue nor reach vnto it, to receiue any light of it, nor, they did not so much as acknowledge him.

✣ Matth. 5.1. marke 1.4. luke 3.2.

4 There is an other more full manifestation of the Sonne of God, to the confideration whereof men are in good time stirred vp, euen by Iohns voyce, who n That light which we spake of, to wit, Christ, who onely can lighten our darkenesse.

5 When as the Sonne of God sawe, that men did not acknowledge him by his workes, although they were endued with vnderstanding (which he had giuen to them all,) hee exhibited himselfe vnto his people to bee seene of them with their corporall eyes: yet neither so did they acknowledge him, nor receiue him.

o Who onely and properly deserueth to be called the light, for he shineth of himself and to receiueth light of none.

p That person of the Word, was made manifest vnto at that time when the world was made.

r The Word shewed himselfe againe, when he came in the flesh.

s The Sonne being shut out of the most of his people, and acknowledged but of a fewe, doeth regenerate them by his owne vertue and power, and receiueth them into that honour which is common to all the children of God, that is to be the sonnes of God.

t He vseth these to note them this prerogatiue to take them to be his children.

u Of the grosse and corrupt nature of man, which is altogether the Scripture set as enemie to the Spirit.

✣ Mat.1.16.
7 That Sonne, who is God from euerlasting, tooke vpon him mans nature, that one and the selfe same might be both God and man, which manifestly appeared to many witnesses, that saw him amongst who he was conuersant, and vnto whom by sure and vndoubted arguments he shewed both his natures.
u That is, man: so that the part is taken for the whole, by the figure Synecdoche: for he tooke vpon him all our whole nature, that is to say, a true body, and a true soule.
x For a season, and when that was ended, he went vp into heauen: for the word which he vseth, is taken from tents: and yet notwithstanding, his absence from vs in body is not such, but that he is alwayes present with vs, though not in flesh, yet by the vertue of his spirit.
y The glory which he speaketh of here, is that manifestation of Christ his maiesty, which was as it were laid open before our eyes when the Sonne of God appeared in flesh. z This worde (as) doeth not in this place betoken a likelihesse, but the truth of the matter, for his meaning is this, that we saw such a glory as becommed and woonderful for the true and only begotten Sonne of God, who is Lord and King ouer all the world. a He was not only a partaker of grace and trueth, but was full of the very substance of grace and trueth.
8 Iohn is a faithful witnesse of the excellencie of Christ. b That is, He before whom I am sent to prepare him the way: so that those wordes are referred to the time of his calling, and not of his age, for Iohn was sixe moneths older then he. c This sentence hath in it a turning of the reason as we call it, as who would say, a setting of that first which should last, and that last which should be first: for in plaine speach this is: He that commeth after me, is better then I am, for he was before me. The like kind of turning the reason we finde in Luke 7.47. many sinnes are forgiuen her, because she loued much, which is thus much to say, she loued much, because many sinnes are forgiuen her. Colosse.1.19. and 2.9.
9 Christ is the most plentifull fountaine of all goodnesse, but then he powred out his gifts most bountifully, when as he exhibited and shewed himselfe to the world. d That is grace vpon grace, as a man would say, graces heaped one vpon another.
10 The true knowledge of God proceedeth onely from Iesus Christ. ✣ 1.Tim.6.16.1 Iohn 4.12. e Who is neerest to his father, not onely in respect of his loue toward him, but by the lord of nature, and for that vnion or oneneese that is betweene them, wherein the Father and the Sonne are one. f Reuealed him, and shewed him vnto vs, whereas before he was hid vnder the shadowes of the Lawe, so that the grossenesse of the sight of our minds was not able to perceiue him: for whosoeuer seeth him, seeth the Father also.
11 Iohn is neither the Messias, nor like to any of the other Prophets, but is the herault of Christ, who is now present. g He did acknowledge him, and spake of him plainly and openly. h This is the very forme of one and the selfe same thing, though in diuers words, if you much of the Hebrewes, and it hath great force, for they vse to speake one thing twise to set it out more certainely and plainely. ✣ Esay 40.3. i The Iewes thought that Elias should come againe before the dayes of Messias, and they tooke the ground of that their opinion out of Mal.4. which place is to be vnderstoode of Iohn, Mat.11.14. And yet Iohn denieth that he is Elias, answering them in deede according as they meant. k They inquire of Iohn as a great Prophet, and not of Christ, for him denied before that he is Christ, for they thought that some great Prophet should be sent like vnto Moses, meaning to that purpose that place of Deut.18.15. which is to be vnderstood of all the company of Prophets and ministers, which haue true and shall be to the ende, and especially of Christ who is the head of all Prophets. ✣ Esa.40.3. mat.3.3 Iuke 3.4.
12 Christ is the author of baptisme and not Iohn: and therefore the force thereof consisteth not in Iohn who is the minister but wholly in Christ the Lord l Hereby we may proone that the Iewes knew there should be some change in religion vnder Messias. m Whom 48 the world seeke, and cannot amongst vs.

14 ✣ 7 And that Word was made [u] flesh, and [x] dwelt among vs, (and wee ✣ sawe the [y] glory thereof, [z] as the glory of the onely begotten Sonne of the Father) [a] full of grace and trueth.

15 ¶ 8 Iohn bare witnesse of him, and cryed, saying, This was he of whom I said, Hee that commeth [b] after me, was [c] before me: for he was better then I.

16 [d] 9 And of his fulnesse haue all we receiued, and [d] grace for grace.

17 For the Law was giuen by Moses, but grace, and trueth came by Iesus Christ.

18 [10] ✣ No man hath seene God at any time: that onely begotten Sonne, which is in the [e] bosome of the Father, he hath [f] declared him.

19 ¶ [11] Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priests and Leuites from Hierusalem to aske him, Who art thou?

20 And he [g] confessed and [h] denied not, and said plainly, I ✣ am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou Elias? And hee said, [i] I am not. Art thou [k] that Prophet? And he answered, No.

22 Then said they vnto him, Who art thou, that wee may giue answere to them that sent vs? What sayest thou of thy selfe?

23 He said, I [*] am the voyce of him that cryeth in the wildernesse, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Esaias.

24 [12] Nowe they which were sent, were of the Pharises

25 And they asked him, and sayde vnto him, Why baptizest thou then, if thou bee not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?

26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one [m] among you, whome yee knowe not.

27 ✣ Hee it is that commeth after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthie to vnloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did baptize.

29 ¶ [13] The next day Iohn seeth Iesus comming vnto him, and saieth, Beholde [n] that Lambe of God, which [o] taketh away the [p] sinne of the world.

30 This is he of who I said, After me commeth a man, which was before mee: for he was better then I.

31 And [q] I knewe him not: but because hee should be declared to Israel, therfore am I come, baptizing with water.

32 [14] So Iohn bare record, saying, I beheld ✣ that Spirite come downe from heauen, like a doue, and it abode vpon him, 33 And I knew him not: but he that sent me to baptize with water, hee sayde vnto mee, Vpon whom thou shalt see that Spirit come downe, and tary still on him, that is he which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

34 And I sawe, and bare record that this is [r] that Sonne of God.

35 ¶ [15] The next day, Iohn stood againe, and two of his disciples.

36 [16] And hee beheld Iesus walking by, and sayd, Behold that Lambe of God.

37 [17] And the two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus.

38 Then Iesus turned about, and sawe them follow, and said vnto them, What seeke ye? And they sayd vnto him, Rabbi (which is to say by interpretation, Master) [s] where dwellest thou?

39 Hee sayde vnto them, Come, and see. They came and sawe where he dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the [t] tenth houre.

40 Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.

41 The same found his brother Simon first, and said vnto him, We haue found that Messias which is by interpretation, that [u] Christ.

42 And hee brought him to Iesus. And Iesus beheld him, and sayde, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, a stone.

43 ¶ The day following, Iesus would goe into Galile, and found Philip, & said vnto him, Follow me.

44 Nowe Philip was of Bethsaida, the citie of Andrew and Peter.

45 [18] Philip found Nathanael, and sayde vnto him, Wee haue found him of whome [v] Moses did write in the Lawe, and the ✣ Prophets, Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, that was of Nazareth.

13 The body and trueth of all the sacrifices of the Law, to make satisfaction for the sinne of the world, is in Christ.
n This word (that) which is added hath great force in it, not onely to set foorth the worthinesse of Christ, and so to separate him from the Lambe which was a figure of him, and from al other sacrifices of the Law, but also to bring into our minds the Prophesies of Esay and others.
o This word of the present time, signifieth a continual act, for the Lambe hath this vertue proper vnto him, and for euer, to take away the sinnes of the world.

CHAP. II.

1 Christ turneth water into wine, 11 which was the beginning of his miracles. 12 He goeth downe to Capernaum: 13 from thence he goeth vp to Hierusalem, 15 and casteth the marchandize out of the Temple. 19 He foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his body shalbe destroyed of the Iewes. 23 Many beleeue in him, seeing the miracles which he did.

AND [1] the [a] third day was there a marriage in Cana a towne of Galile, and the mother of Iesus was there.

2 And Iesus was called also, and his disciples vnto the marriage.

3 [2] Now when the wine failed, the mother of Iesus said vnto him, They haue no wine.

4 Iesus sayd vnto her, Woman, what haue I to do with thee? mine [b] houre is not yet come.

5 His mother sayd vnto the seruants, Whatsoeuer he saith vnto you, do it.

6 And there were set there, sixe [c] waterpots of stone, after the maner of the purifying of the Iewes, conteining two or three [d] firkins a piece.

7 And Iesus said vnto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them vp to the brimme.

8 Then he sayd vnto them, Draw out now, and beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. So they bare it.

9 Now when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for hee knew not whence it was, but the seruants, which drew the water, knew) the gouernour of the feast called the bridegrome,

10 And said vnto him, All men at the beginning set foorth good wine, and when men haue [e] well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Iesus in Cana a towne of Galile, and shewed forth his glorie: and his disciples beleeued on him.

12 After that, he went downe into Capernaum, he and his mother, and his [f] brethren, & his disciples: but they continued not many dayes there.

13 [3] For the Iewes Passeouer was at hand. Therefore Iesus went vp to Hierusalem.

14 [4] And he found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheepe, and doues, and changers of money sitting there.

15 Then he made a scourge of small cordes, and draue them all out of the Temple with the sheepe and oxen, and powred out the changers money, and ouerthrew their tables;

16 And said vnto them that sold doues, Take these things hence: make not my fathers house, an house of marchandise.

17 And his disciples remembred, that it was written, ✣ The [g] zeale of thine house hath eaten me vp.

18 [5] Then answered the Iewes, and said vnto him, What [h] signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things?

19 Iesus answered, and said vnto them, ✣ Destroy this Temple, and in three dayes I will raise it vp againe.

20 Then said the Iewes, Fourtie and six yeeres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in three dayes?

21 But he spake of the [i] temple of his body.

22 As soone therefore as hee was risen from the dead, his disciples remembred that hee thus said vnto them: and they beleeued the Scripture, and the word which Iesus had said.

23 Nowe when hee was at Hierusalem at the Passeouer in the feast, many beleeued in his Name, when they saw his miracles which he did.

24 [6] But Iesus did not commit himselfe vnto them, because he knew them all,

25 [7] And had no need that any should testifie of man: for he knew what was in man.

1 Christ declaring openly in an assembly by a notable miracle, that hee hath power ouer the nature of things, to feed mans body, leadeth the mindes of all men, to his spirituall and saluing vertue and power.

CHAP. III.

1 Christ teacheth Nicodemus the very principles of Christian regeneration. 14 The serpent in the wildernesse. 23 Iohn baptizeth, 27 and teacheth his, that he is not Christ.

THere [a] was nowe a man of the Pharises, named Nicodemus, a [a] ruler of the Iewes.

2 This man came to Iesus by night, and sayd vnto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a [b] teacher come from God: for no man could do these miracles that thou doest, [c] except God were with him.

3 [2] Iesus answered, & said vnto him, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, Except a man be borne againe, he cannot [d] see the [e] kingdome of God.

4 Nicodemus said vnto him, How [f] can a man be borne which is olde? can he enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be borne?

5 Iesus answered, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, except that a man be borne of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdome of God.

6 That which is borne of the flesh, is [g] flesh: and that that is borne of the Spirit, is spirit.

7 Marualle not that I sayd to thee, Ye must be borne againe.

2 The beginning of Christianitie consisteth in this, that we know our selues not onely to be corrupt in part, but to be wholly dead in sinne: so that our nature hath need to be created anew, as touching the qualities thereof: which can be done by no other vertue, but by the diuine and heauenly, whereby we were first created.

f How can I that am olde, be borne againe? for hee answereth, as if Christ his words belonged to none but to him.
g That is, fleshly, to wit, wholly vncleane and vnder the wrath of God: and therefore this word (Flesh) signifieth the corrupt nature of man: contrary to which is the spirit, that is, the man regenerated in Christ through the grace of the holy Ghost, whose nature is euerlasting and immortall, though the strife of the flesh remaineth.

thou heareſt the ſound thereof, but canſt not tell whence it commeth, and whither it goeth: ſo is euery man that is borne of the Spirit.

3 The ſecret myſterie of our regeneration which cannot be comprehended by mans capacitie, is perceiued by faith, and that in Chriſt only becauſe that he is both God on earth, and man in heauen, that is to ſay, in ſuch ſort man, that he is God alſo, & therefore almighty: and in ſuch ſort God, that he is man alſo, and therefore his power is manifeſt vnto vs.

i You handle doubtfull things and ſuch as you haue no certeine authour for, and yet may beleeue you: but I teach thoſe things that are of a trueth and well knowen, & you beleeue me not.

k Onely Chriſt can teach vs heauenly things, for no man aſcendeth, &c.

l That is, hath any ſpirituall light and vnderſtanding, or euer had, but onely that Sonne of God, which came downe to vs.

m Whereas he is ſaid to haue come down from heauen, that muſt be vnderſtood of his Godhead, and of the manner of his conception: for Chriſt his birth vpon the earth was heauenly, and not earthly, for he was conceiued by the holy Ghoſt.

n That which is proper to the diuinitie of Chriſt, is here ſpoken of whole Chriſt, to giue vs to vnderſtand that he is but one perſon, wherein two natures are vnited, and this kind of ſpeach men call, the communicating of proprieties. ✣ Num. 21. 9 chap. 12. 32. ✣ 1. Iohn 4. 9.

5 Nothing els but the free loue of the Father, is the beginning of our ſaluation, and Chriſt is he in whome our righteouſneſſe and ſaluation is reſident: and faith is the inſtrument or meane whereby we apprehend it, and life euerlaſting is that which is ſet before vs to apprehend.

o It is not all one to beleeue in a thing, and to beleeue of a thing, for we may not beleeue (in any thing) ſaue onely in God, but we may beleeue (of any thing) whatſoeuer, the ſcith Nazianzene in his oration of the Spirit. ✣ chap. 9. 39. and 12. 47.

6 Not Chriſt, but the deſpiſing of Chriſt doeth condemne.

p That is, to be the cauſe of the condemning of the world, for in deede men are the cauſe of death, but Chriſt ſhall iudge the quicke and the dead.

q Not only the people of the Iewes, but whoſoeuer ſhall beleeue in him. ✣ chap. 1. 9.

7 Onely wickednesſe is the cauſe, why men refuſe the light that is offered them.

r That is, the cauſe of condemnation, which ſticketh faſt in men, vules through God his great benefit they be deliuered from it.

ſ That is, he that leadeth an honeſt life, and void of all craft and deceit.

t That is, with God, God as it were going before. ✣ chap. 2. 1.

8 Satan inflameth the diſciples of Iohn with a fond emulation of their maſter, to hinder the courſe of the Goſpel: but Iohn being mindfull of his office, doeth not onely breake off their endeuours, but alſo taketh occaſion thereby to giue teſtimonie of Chriſt, howe that in him onely the Father hath ſet fourth life euerlaſting. ✣ chap. 1. 36.

27 Iohn anſwered, & ſaid, A man can receiue nothing, except it be giuen him from heauen.

28 Ye your ſelues are my witneſſes, that ✣ I ſaid, I am not that Chriſt, but that I am ſent before him.

29 He that hath the bride, is the bridegrome: but the friend of the bridegrome which ſtandeth and heareth him, reioyceth greatly, becauſe of the bridegromes voyce. This my ioy therefore is fulfilled.

30 He muſt increaſe, but I muſt decreaſe.

31 He that is come from an hie, is aboue al: he that is of the earth, is of the x earth, & y ſpeaketh of the earth: he that is come from heauen, is aboue al.

32 And what he hath z ſeene & heard, that he teſtifieth: but a no man receiueth his teſtimonie.

33 He that hath receiued his teſtimonie, hath ſealed that ✣ God is true.

34 For he whome God hath ſent, ſpeaketh the wordes of God: for God giueth him not the Spirit by meaſure.

35 The Father loueth the Sonne, and hath b giuen all things into his hand.

36 ✣ Hee that beleeueth in the Sonne, hath euerlaſting life, & he that obeyeth not the Sonne, ſhall not c ſee life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

13 Iesus answered, and said vnto her, Whosoeuer drinketh of this water, shall thirst againe:

14 But whosoeuer drinketh of the water that I shall giue him, shall neuer be more athirst: but the water that I shall giue him, shall be in him a well of water, springing vp into euerlasting life.

15 The woman sayd vnto him, Sir, giue me of that water, that I may not thirst, neither come hither to drawe.

16 Iesus said vnto her, Go, call thine husband, and come hither.

17 The woman answered, and said, I haue no husband. Iesus said vnto her, Thou hast well said, I haue no husband.

18 For thou hast had fiue husbands, and hee whom thou now hast, is not thine husband: that saidest thou truely.

19 The woman sayd vnto him, Sir, I see that thou art a Prophet.

20 [3] Our fathers worshipped in this [f] mountaine, and yee say, that in ✣ Ierusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Iesus said vnto her, Woman, beleeue me, the houre commeth, when yee shall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hierusalem worship the Father.

22 Yee worship that which ye ✣ knowe not: we worship that which we know: for saluation is of the Iewes.

23 But the houre commeth, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in [g] spirit, and trueth: for the Father requireth euen such to worship him.

24 [*] God is a [h] Spirite, and they that worship him, must worship him in spirit and trueth.

25 The woman saide vnto him, I knowe well that Messias shall come which is called Christ: when he is come, he will tell vs all things.

26 Iesus said vnto her, I am he, that speake vnto thee.

27 ¶ And vpon that, came his disciples, and marueiled that he talked with a woman: yet no man said vnto him, What askest thou? or why talkest thou with her?

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the citie, and said to the men, 29 Come, see a man which hath told me all things that euer I did: is not he that Christ?

30 Then they went out of the citie, and came vnto him.

31 ¶ In the meane while, the disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eate.

32 [4] But hee said vnto them, I haue meate to eate that ye know not of.

33 Then sayde the disciples betweene themselues, Hath any man brought him meate?

34 Iesus said vnto them, My meate is that I may doe the will of him that sent mee, and finish his worke.

35 [5] Say not ye, There are yet foure moneths, and then commeth harueſt? Beholde, I say vnto you, Lift vp your eyes, and looke on the regions: [*] for they are white alreadie vnto harueſt.

38 I sent you to reape that, whereon yee bestowed no labour: other men laboured, and yee are entered into their labours.

39 [7] Now many of the Samaritanes of that citie beleeued in him, for the saying of the woman which testified, He hath told me all things that euer I did.

40 Then when the Samaritans were come vnto him, they besought him, that hee would tarrie with them: and he abode there two dayes.

41 And many moe beleeued because of his owne word.

44 For Iesus himselfe had ✣ testified, that a Prophet hath none honour in his owne countrey.

45 Then when hee was come into Galile, the Galileans receiued him, which had seene all the things that he did at Hierusalem at the feast: for they went also vnto the feast.

46 [9] And Iesus came againe into ✣ Cana a towne of Galile, where hee had made of water, wine. And there was a certaine [l] ruler, whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum.

47 When hee heard that Iesus was come out of Iudea into Galile, he went vnto him, and besought him that he would goe downe, and heale his sonne: for he was euen readie to dye.

48 Then sayde Iesus vnto him, Except yee see signes and wonders, ye will not beleeue.

49 The ruler sayd vnto him, Sir, goe downe before my sonne die.

50 Iesus said vnto him, Go thy way, thy sonne liueth: and the man beleeued the word that Iesus had spoken vnto him, and went his way.

51 And as hee was now going downe, his seruants met him, saying, Thy sonne liueth.

52 Then enquired he of them the houre when he began to amend. And they said vnto him, Yesterday the seuenth houre the feuer left him.

53 Then the father knew, that it was the same houre in the which Iesus had said vnto him, Thy sonne liueth. And he beleeued, & al his houshold.

54 This second miracle did Iesus againe, after he was come out of Iudea into Galile.

bene diseased eight and thirtie yeeres.

6 When Iesus saw him lie, and knew that hee now long time had bene diseased, hee sayde vnto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The sicke man answered him, Sir, I haue no man, when the water is troubled, to put mee into the poole: but while I am comming, another steppeth downe before me.

8 Iesus said vnto him, Rise: take vp thy bed, and walke.

9 And immediatly the man was made whole, and tooke vp his bed, and walked: and the same day was the Sabbath.

10 [2] The Iewes therefore said to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: ✣ it is not lawfull for thee to cary thy bed.

11 He answered thē, He that made me whole, he said vnto me, Take vp thy bed, and walke.

12 Then asked they him, What man is that which saide vnto thee, Take vp thy bed, and walke?

13 And hee that was healed, knew not who it was: for Iesus had conueied himselfe away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Iesus found him in ỹ Temple, and said vnto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sinne no more, lest a worse thing come vnto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed and tolde the Iewes that it was Iesus, which had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Iewes did persecute Iesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the Sabbath day.

17 [3] But Iesus answered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I worke.

18 ✣ Therefore the Iewes sought the more to kill him: not onely because hee had broken the Sabbath: but said also that God was [c] his Father, and made himselfe equall with God.

19 Then answered Iesus, and said vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, The Sonne can doe nothing [d] of himselfe, saue that he [e] seeth the Father doe: for whatsoeuer things he doth, the same things doeth the Sonne [f] in like maner.

23 For the Father loueth the Sonne, & sheweth him all things, whatsoeuer he himselfe doeth, and he will shew him greater workes then these, that ye should marueile.

21 [4] For likewise as the Father raiseth vp the dead, and quickeneth them, so the Sonne quickeneth whom he will.

22 For the Father [g] iudgeth [h] no man, but hath committed all iudgement vnto the Sonne, 23 Because that all men should honour the Sonne, as they honour the Father: he that honoureth not the Sonne, the same honoureth not the Father, which hath sent him.

24 [5] Verely, verely I say vnto you, he that heareth my worde, and beleeueth him that sent mee, hath euerlasting life, and shal not come into condemnation, but hath passed from death vnto life.

25 [6] Verely, verely I say vnto you, the houre shall come, and now is, when the dead shall heare the voyce of the Sonne of God: and they that heare it, shall liue.

26 For as the Father hath life in himselfe, so likewise hath he giuen to the Sonne to haue life in himselfe, 27 And hath giuen him [i] power also to execute iudgement, in that he is the [k] Sonne of man.

28 [7] Marueile not at this: for the houre shall come, in the which all that are in the graues, shall heare his voyce.

29 [8] And they shall come [l] forth, ✣ that haue done good, vnto ỹ [m] resurrection of life: but they that haue done euil, vnto ỹ resurrection of condemnation.

30 [9] I can [n] doe nothing of mine owne selfe: [o] as I heare, I iudge: and my iudgement is iust, because I seeke not mine owne will, but the will of the Father who hath sent me.

31 If I ✣ should beare witnesse of my selfe, my witnesse were not [p] true.

32 ∴ There is another that beareth witnesse of me, and I know that the witnesse, which hee beareth of me, is true.

34 But I receiue not the record of man: neuertheless these things I say, that ye might be saued.

35 He was a burning, & a shining candle: and ye would for [q] a season haue reioyced in his light.

36 But I haue greater witnesse then the witnesse of Iohn: for the workes which the Father hath giuen me to finish, the same works that I do, beare witnesse of me, that the Father sent me.

37 And the ✣ Father himselfe, which hath sent mee, beareth witnesse of mee. Yee haue not heard his voyce at any time, * neither haue yee seene his shape.

38 And his word haue you not abiding in you: for whom he hath sent, him ye beleeued not.

39 ✣ Searche the Scriptures: for in them yee thinke to haue eternal life, & they are they which testifie of me.

40 But ye will not come to me, that ye might haue life.

41 I receiue not the praise of men.

42 But I know you, that ye haue not the [r] loue of God in you.

43 I am come in my Fathers Name, and ye receiue me not: if another shall come in his owne name, him will ye receiue.

44 How can ye beleeue, which receiue ✣ honour one of another, and seeke not the honour that commeth of God alone?

3 Then Iesus went into a mountaine, and there he sate with his disciples.
4 Now the Passeouer a ✣ feast of the Iewes, was neere.
5 ✣ 1 Then Iesus lift vp his eyes, and seeing that a great multitude came vnto him, he said vnto Philip, Whence shall we buy bread, that these might eate?
6 (And this he sayd to prooue him: for hee himselfe knew what he would doe.)
7 Philip answered him, Two hundreth penie worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that euery one of them may take a little.
8 Then sayd vnto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother, 9 There is a little boy here, which hath fiue barly loaues, and two fishes: but what are they among so many?
10 And Iesus said, Make the people sit downe, (Now there was much grasse in that place.) Then the men sate downe in number, about fiue thousand.
11 And Iesus tooke the bread, & gaue thanks, and gaue to the disciples, and the disciples, to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.
12 And when they were satisfied, he said vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meate which remaineth, that nothing be lost.
13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the fiue barley loaues, which remained vnto them that had eaten.
14 Then the men, when they had seene the miracle that Iesus did, said, This is of a trueth that Prophet that should come into the world.

15 2 When Iesus therefore perceiued that they would come, and take him to make him a king, he departed againe into a mountaine himselfe alone.
16 ¶ 3 When euen was now come, his disciples went downe vnto the sea, 17 ∵ And entred into a ship, and went ouer the sea, b towards Capernaum: and now it was darke, and Iesus was not come to them.
18 And the Sea arose with a great winde that blewe.
19 And when they had rowed about fiue and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they sawe Iesus walking on the sea, and drawing neere vnto the ship: so they were afrayd.
20 But he said vnto them, It is I: be not afraid.
21 Then c willingly they receiued him into the ship, and the ship was by and by at the land, whither they went.
22 ¶ The day following, the people which stood on the other side of the sea, sawe that there was none other ship there, saue that one, whereinto his disciples were entred, and that Iesus went not with his disciples in the ship, but that his disciples were gone alone,
23 And that there came other ships from Tiberias neere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thanks,
24 Now when the people sawe that Iesus was not there, neither his disciples, they also tooke shipping, and came to Capernaum, seeking for Iesus.
25 And when they had found him on the other side of the sea, they saide vnto him, Rabbi, when camest thou hither?
26 4 Iesus answered them, and said, Verily, verely I say vnto you, ye seeke mee not, because ye saw the miracles, but because ye ate of the loaues, and were filled.
27 d Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euerlasting life, which the Sonne of man shall giue vnto you: for him hath ✣ God the Father e sealed.

33 For the bread of God is hee which commeth downe from heauen, and giueth life vnto the world.

35 And Iesus sayd vnto them, I am that bread i of life: he that commeth to me, shal not hunger, and he that beleeueth in me, shall neuer thirst.
36 But I say vnto you, that ye also haue seene me, and beleeue not.
37 8 All that the Father giueth me, shall come to me: and him that commeth to mee, I cast not away.
38 For I came not from heauen, not to do mine k owne wil, but his will which hath sent me.
39 And this is the Fathers will which hath sent mee, that of all which he hath giuen mee, I should lose nothing, but should raise it vp againe at the last day.
40 And this is the will of him that sent mee, that euery man which l seeth the Sonne, and beleeueth in him, should haue euerlasting life: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

43 Iesus then answered, and sayd vnto them, Murmure not among your selues.

44 No man can come to mee, except the Father, which hath sent me, drawe him: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

45 It is written in the ✣ [m] Prophets, And they shalbe all [n] taught of God. Euery man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, commeth vnto me:

46 ✣ Not that any man hath seene the Father, [o] saue he which is of God, he hath seene the Father.

47 Verely, verely I say vnto you, hee that beleeueth in me, hath euerlasting life.

48 [10] I am that bread of life.

49 Your fathers did eate Manna in the wildernesse, and are dead.

50 [p] This is that bread, which commeth down from heauen, that hee which eateth of it, should not die.

51 [11] I am that [q] liuing bread, which came downe from heauen: if any man [r] eate of this bread, he shall liue for euer: and the bread that I wil giue is my flesh, which I will giue for the life of the world.

52 [12] Then the Iewes stroue among them selues, saying, How can this man giue vs his flesh to eate?

53 Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Except yee eate the flesh of the Sonne of man, and drinke his blood, yee haue [s] no life in you.

54 Whosoeuer eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternall life, and I will raise him vp at the last day.

55 For my flesh is meate in deede, and my blood is drinke in deede.

56 He that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As [t] that liuing Father hath sent me, so liue I by the [u] Father, and he that eateth me, euen hee shall liue by me.

58 This is that bread which came downe from heauen: not as your fathers haue eaten Manna, and are dead. Hee that eateth of this bread, shall liue for euer.

59 These things spake he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60 [13] Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) said, This is an hard saying: who can heare it?

61 But Iesus knowing in himselfe, that his disciples murmured at this, said vnto them, Doth this offend you?

62 What then if ye should see that Sonne of man ascend vp ✣ where he was before?

63 [14] It is the [x] spirite that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the wordes that I speake vnto you, are spirit and life.

64 But there are some of you that beleeue not: for Iesus knewe from the beginning, which they were that beleeued not, and who should betray him.

65 And hee sayd, Therefore sayd I vnto you, that no man can come vnto mee, except it be giuen vnto him of my Father.

66 [15] From that time, many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him.

67 Then sayde Iesus to the twelue, Will yee also goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we goe? thou hast the wordes of eternall life.

69 And we beleeue and knowe that thou art that Christ that Sonne of the liuing God.

70 [16] Iesus answered them, Haue not I ✣ chosen you twelue, and one of you is a deuill?

71 Now he spake it of Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon: for he it was that should betray him, though he was one of the twelue.

3 [1] His bretheren therefore saide vnto him, Depart hence, and goe into Iudea, that thy disciples may see thy workes that thou doest.

4 For there is no man that doeth any thing secretly, and he himselfe seeketh to bee famous. If thou dost these things, shew thy selfe to [y] worlde.

5 For as yet his [b] brethren beleeued not in him.

6 [2] Then Iesus sayde vnto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway ready.

7 The world cannot hate you: but me it hateth, because I testifie of it, that the workes thereof are euill.

8 Go ye vp vnto this feast: I will not go vp yet vnto this feast: for my time is not yet fulfilled.

9 ¶ These things hee sayde vnto them, and abode still in Galilee.

10 [3] But as soone as his brethren were gone vp, then went hee also vp vnto the feast, not openly, but as it were priuily.

u Christ his meaning is, that though he be man, yet his flesh can giue life, not of the owne nature, but because that flesh of his liueth by the Father, that is to say, doeth sucke and draw out of the Father, that power which it hath to giue life.

13 The reason of man cannot comprehend the vniting of Christ and his members: therefore let it worship and reuerence that which is better then it selfe.

35 Then sayd the Iewes among themselues, Whither will hee goe, that we shall not find him? Will he go vnto them that are h dispersed among the Grecians, and teach the Grecians?

36 What saying is this that he sayd, Yee shall seeke mee, and shall not find mee? and where I am, can ye not come?

10 [3] When Iesus had lift vp himselfe againe, and sawe no man, but the woman, hee sayde vnto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 She said, No man, Lord. And Iesus said Neither doe I condemne thee: go and sinne no more.

12 [4] Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, I ✣ am that light of the world: hee that followeth me, shall not walke in darkenes, but shall haue that light of life.

13 [5] The Pharises therefore sayde vnto him, [a] Thou beareſt record of thy selfe: thy recorde is not true.

14 ✣ Iesus answered, & said vnto thē [b] Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I go: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I goe.

15 Ye iudge after the flesh: I [c] iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement, is true for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Lawe, ∴ that the testimonie of two men is true.

18 [d] I am one that beare witnesse of my selfe, and ỹ Father that sent me, beareth witnes of mee.

19 [6] Then saide they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Ye neither knowe me, nor ỹ Father of mine. If ye had knowen me, ye should haue knowen that Father of mine also.

20 These wordes spake Iesus in the [e] treasurie, as hee taught in the Temple, and no man layde handes on him: for his houre was not yet come.

21 [8] Then sayd Iesus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and ye shall seeke me, & shall die in your sinnes. Whither I goe, can ye not come.

22 Then said the Iewes, Will he kill himselfe, because he saith, Whither I goe, can ye not come?

23 And he sayde vnto them, Yee are from beneath, I am from aboue: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore vnto you, That ye shall die in your sinnes: for except ye beleeue, that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.

25 [9] Then sayd they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus sayd vnto them, Euen [f] the same thing that I sayd vnto you from the beginning.

26 [10] I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent me, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those speake I to the world.

27 [11] They vnderstood not that hee spake to them of the Father.

28 Then said Iesus vnto them, When ye haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall ye know that I am he, and that I do nothing of my selfe, but as my Father hath taught me, so I speak these things.

29 For he that sent me, is with me: the Father hath not left me alone, because I do alwaies those things that please him.

30 ¶ As he spake these things, many beleeued in him.

31 [12] Then sayd Iesus to the Iewes which beleeued in him, If ye continue in my word, yee are verily my disciples, 32 And shall know the trueth, and the trueth shall [g] make you free.

33 [h] They answered him, We be [i] Abrahams seede, and were neuer bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shalbe made free?

34 Iesus answered them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that whosoeuer committeth sinne, is the ✣ seruant of sinne.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If that Sonne therefore shall make you free, ye shalbe free in deede.

37 [13] I know that ye are Abrahams seede, but ye seeke to kill mee, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and ye doe that which ye haue seene with your father.

39 They answered, and sayd vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus sayd vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the workes of Abraham.

40 But nowe ye goe about to kill me, a man that haue tolde you the trueth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye doe the worke of your father. Then said they to him, Wee are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Iesus sayd vnto them, If God were your Father, then would ye loue mee: for I proceeded foorth, and came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why doe yee not vnderstand my [k] talke? because ye cannot heare my word.

44 ✣ Ye are of your father the deuill, and the lustes of your father ye will doe: hee hath bene a murtherer from the [l] beginning, and [m] abode not in the [n] trueth, because there is no trueth in him. When he speaketh a lie, then speaketh he of his [o] owne: for he is a liar, and the [p] father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the trueth, yee beleeue me not.

46 [14] Which of you can rebuke me of sinne? and if I say the trueth, why do ye not beleeue me?

47 ∴ He that is of God, heareth Gods wordes: ye therefore heare them not, because yee are not of God.

48 [15] Then answered the Iewes, and said vnto him, Say we not well that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a deuill?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured me.

50 And I seeke not mine owne prayse: but there is that [q] seeketh it, and iudgeth.

51 [16] Verely, verely I say vnto you, If a man keepe my word, he shall neuer [r] see death.

52 [17] Then

CHAP. IX.

1 Christ giueth sight on the Sabbath day, to him that was borne blinde: 13 Whom, after he had long reasoned against the Pharisees, 22 35 and was cast out of the Synagogue, 38 Christ endueth with the knowledge of the euerlasting light.

1 Sinne is the beginning euen of al bodily diseases, and yet doth it not follow, that God alway respecteth their sinnes, whom he most sharpely punisheth.

a Christ reasoneth here, as his disciples thought, which presuppose that these come no diseases but for sinnes only: whereupon he answereth that there was another cause of the mans blindnesse, and that was, that God his worke might be seene.

2 The workes of Christ are as it were a light, which lighten the darkenesse of the world.

b By (day) is ment, the light, that is, the light some doctrine of the heauenly trueth: and by night is meant the darkenesse which commeth by the obscuritie of the same doctrine. ✣ Chap. 7. 9. and 8. 12. and 12. 35. 3 Christ healing the man borne blinde, by taking the signe of clay, and afterward the signe of the fountaine of Siloam (which signifieth Sent) sheweth that as he at the beginning made man, So doeth he againe restore both his body and soule: and yet so, that he himselfe commeth first of his owne accord to healevs. 4 A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blinde, doe neither themselues receiue the light that is offered vnto them, nor suffer it in other, and yet make a great adoe amongst themselues.

AND 1 as Iesus passed by, he saw a man which was blinde from his birth.

2 And his disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sinne, this man, or his parents, that hee was borne blinde?

3 Iesus answered, a Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God should be shewed on him.

4 2 I must worke the workes of him that sent me, while it is b day: the night commeth when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the worlde, ✣ I am the light of the world.

6 3 As soone as hee had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, and made clay of the spettle, and anoynted the eyes of the blinde with the clay,

7 And said vnto him, Goe wash in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore and washed, and came againe seeing.

8 4 Nowe the neighbours and they that had seene him before, when he was blinde, said, Is not this he that sate and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: and other said, He is like him: but he himselfe said, I am he.

10 Therefore they said vnto him, Howe were thine eyes c opened?

c This is an Hebrewe kinde of speech, for they call a mans eyes shut, when they cannot receiue any light: And therefore they are sayde to haue their eyes opened, which of blinde men are made to see.

11 Hee answered, and saide, The man that is called Iesus, made clay, and anoynted mine eyes, and sayde vnto me, Goe to the poole of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and receiued sight.

12 Then they said vnto him, Where is he? He said, I cannot tell.

13 ¶ They brought to the Pharises him that was once blind.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Iesus made the clay, and opened his eyes.

15 Then againe the Pharises also asked him, how he had receiued sight. And he said vnto them, He laid clay vpon mine eyes, and I washed, and doe see.

16 5 Then said some of the Pharises, This man is not of God, because hee keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others said, How can a man that is a sinner, doe such miracles? and there was a dissention among them.

5 Religion is not assaulted by any meanes more, then by pretence of Religion: but the more it is pressed downe, the more it riseth vp.

17 Then spake they vnto the blinde againe, What sayest thou of him, because he hath opened thine eyes? And he said, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Iewes did not beleeue him (that he had bene blind, and receiued his sight) vntill they had called the parents of him that had receiued sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne, whom ye say was borne blind? How doeth he now see then?

20 His parents answered them, and saide, We know that this is our sonne, & that he was borne blinde:

21 But by what meanes he now seeth, we know not: or who hath opened his eyes, can we not tel: he is olde ynough: aske him: he shall answere for himselfe.

22 These wordes spake his parents, because they feared the Iewes: for the Iewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confesse that hee was Christ, hee should bee excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore sayde his parents, Hee is olde ynough: aske him.

d A solemne order, whereby men were constreined in olde time to acknowledge their faults before God, as if they should say, Consider thou art before God, who knoweth the whole matter, and therefore see thou remembrance his maiestie, and doe him this honour, rather to confesse the whole matter openly, then to lie before him, Iosh. 7. 19. 1. Sam. 6. 5.

24 Then againe called they the man that had bene blinde, and said vnto him, d Giue glory vnto God: we know that this man is a e sinner.

e He is called a sinner in the Hebrew tongue, which is a wicked man, and maketh as if were an arte of sinning.

25 Then he answered, and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I can not tell: one thing I know, that I was blinde, and now I see, 26 Then said they to him againe, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I haue tolde you alreadie, and ye haue not heard it: wherefore would ye heare it againe? will ye be also his disciples?

28 6 Then reuiled they him, and said, Be thou his disciple: we be Moses disciples.

6 Proud wickednesse must needes at length breake foorth, which in vaine lieth hid vnder a zeale of godlinesse.

29 We know that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, and said vnto them, Doubtlesse, This is a marueilous thing, that yee know not whence he is, and yet he hath opened mine eyes.

31 Now we knowe that God heareth not sinners: but if any man be a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world began, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blinde.

33 If this man were not of God, he could haue done nothing.

34 They answered and sayd vnto him, f Thou art altogether borne in sinnes, & doest thou teach vs? so they cast him out.

35 7 Iesus heard that they had cast him out: and when hee had found him, hee saide vnto him, Doest thou beleeue in the Sonne of God?

36 He answered, and sayd, Who is hee, Lord, that I might beleeue in him?

37 And Iesus sayde vnto him, Both thou hast seene him, and he it is that talketh with thee.

38 Then hee sayd, Lord, I beleeue, and worshipped him.

39 8 And Iesus sayd, I am come vnto g iudgement into this world, that they h which see not, might see: and that they ✣ which see, might bee made blinde.

40 And some of the Pharises which were with him, heard these things, and sayd vnto him, Are we blinde also?

41 Iesus sayd vnto them, If ye were blinde, ye should not haue sinne: but now ye say, We see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

f Thou art naught euen from thy cradle, and as we vse to say, there is nothing in thee but sinne.

7 Most happy is their state, which are cast furthest out of the Church of the wicked (which proudly boast themselues of the name of the Church) that Christ may come neerer to them.

8 Christ doeth lighten all them by the preaching of the Gospel, which acknowledge their owne darkenesse, but such as seeme to themselues to see clearely ynough, those he altogether blindeth: of which sort are they oftentimes, which haue the hiest place in the Church.

g With great power and authoritie, to doe what is righteous and iust: as if he said, These men take vpon them to gouerne the people of God after their owne lust, as though they sawe all things, and no man but they: but I will rule farre otherwise then these men doe: for whom they account for blinde men, them will I lighten, and such as take themselues to be wisest, them will I drowne in most grosse darkenesse of ignorance.

h In these words (of seeing and not seeing) there is a secret taunting and checke to the Pharises: for they thought all men blinde but themselues. ✣ Chap. 3.17. and 12.47.

4 And when hee hath sent foorth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, and the sheepe followe him: for they know his voyce.

5 And they will not followe a stranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voyce of strangers.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheepe.

14 I am that good shepheard, and know mine, and am knowen of mine.

36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, & sent into the world, Thou blaspheмest, because I sayd, I am the Sonne of God?

37 If I doe not the works of my Father, beleeue me not.

38 But if I doe, then though ye beleeue not me, yet beleeue the works, that ye may know and beleeue, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 [11] Againe they went about to take him: but he escaped out of their hands, [11] Christ fleeth danger, not of mistrust, nor for feare of death, nor that he would be idle, but to gather a Church in another place.

40 And went againe beyond Iordan, into the place where Iohn first baptized, and there abode.

41 And many resorted vnto him, and sayd, Iohn did no miracle: but all things that Iohn spake of this man, were true.

42 And many beleeued in him there.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ, to shew that he is 25 the life and the resurrection, 14 commeth to Lazarus being dead, 17. 34 and buried, 43 and raiseth him vp. 47 As the Priests were consulting together, 49 Caiaphas 50 propheseith that one must die for the people, 54. 57 They command to seeke Christ out, and to take him.

[1] Christ in restoring the stinking carcase of his friend to life, sheweth an example both of his mighty power, and also of his singular good will toward men: which is also an image of the resurrection to come.

AND [1] a certeine man was sicke, named Lazarus of Bethania, the [a] towne of Marie, and her sister Martha.

[a] Where his sisters dwelt.

2 (And it was that ✣ Mary which anoynted the Lord with oyntment, and wiped his feet with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)

✣ Chap. 12. 3. mat 26. 7.

3 Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying, Lord, beholde, he whom thou loueſt, is sicke.

4 When Iesus heard it, he sayd, This sickneſſe is not vnto [b] death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

[b] That is to say, sent for the purpose to kill him.

4 ¶ Now Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 [2] And after he had heard that he was sicke, yet abode he two dayes still in the same place where he was.

[2] In that, that God seemeth some times to linger in helping of vs, he doth it both for his glory, and for our saluation, as the falling out of the matter in the end, plainly proueth.

7 Then after that, sayd he to his disciples, Let vs go into Iudea againe.

8 [3] The disciples sayd vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to ✣ stone thee, and doeſt thou go thither againe?

[3] This only is the sure and right way to life, to follow God boldly without feare, who calleth vs and shineth before vs, in the darkeneſſe of this world.

✣ Chap. 7. 30. and 8. 59. and 10. 33.

9 Iesus answered, Are there not [c] twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, hee stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

[c] All things are fitly wrought and brought to passe in their season.

10 But if a man walke in the night, hee stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake he, and after, he said vnto them, Our friend Lazarus [d] sleepeth: but I go to wake him vp.

[d] The Iewes vsed a rather kinde of speech, and called death a sleepe, whereupon in other languages the place of buriall where the dead are laid, waiting for the resurrection, is called a sleeping place.

12 Then sayd his disciples, Lord, if he sleepe, he shalbe safe.

13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

14 Then sayd Iesus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleeue: but let vs go vnto him.

16 Then sayd Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellow disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure dayes already.

18 (Nowe Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fifteene furlongs off.)

19 ✣ And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

4 God who is the maker of nature, doth not condemne naturall affections, but sheweth that they ought to be examined by the rule of faith.

20 Then Martha, when shee heard that Iesus was comming, went to meet him: but Mary sate still in the house.

21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

22 But now I know also, that whatsoeuer thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus sayd vnto her, Thy brother shall [e] rise againe.

[e] That is, shall recouer life againe.

24 Martha said vnto him, I know that he shall rise againe ✣ in the resurrection at the last day.

✣ Chap. 5. 29. Luke 14. 14.

25 Iesus sayd vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: ✣ he that beleeueth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he liue.

✣ Chap. 6. 35

26 And whosoeuer liueth, and beleeueth in me, shall neuer die: Beleeueſt thou this?

27 She said vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleeue that thou art that Christ that Sonne of God, which should come into the world.

28 ¶ And when she had so sayd, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came vnto him.

30 For Iesus was not yet come into the towne, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Marie, that she rose vp hastily, & went out, followed her, saying, She goeth vnto the graue, to weepe there.

32 Then when Marie was come where Iesus was, and saw him, she fell downe at his feet, saying vnto him, Lord, if thou haddeſt bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 [5] When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, hee [f] groned in the spirit, & was troubled in himselfe.

[5] Christ tooke vpon him together with our flesh all affections of man (sinne onely excepted) and amongst them especially mercy and compassion.

[f] These are tokens that he was greatly moued, but yet they were without sinne: and these affections are proper to mans nature.

34 And sayd, Where haue ye layd him? They sayd vnto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Iesus wept.

36 Then sayd the Iewes, Beholde, how he loued him.

37 And some of them sayd, ∵ Could not hee, which opened the eyes of the blinde, haue made also, that this man should not haue died?

∵ Chap. 9. 6.

38 Iesus therefore againe groned in himselfe, and came to the graue. And it was a caue, and a stone was layed vpon it.

39 Iesus sayd, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, said vnto him, Lord, he stinketh already: for he hath bene dead foure dayes

40 Iesus sayd vnto her, Sayd I not vnto thee, that if thou diddeſt beleeue, thou shouldeſt see the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was layed. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and sayd, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me.

42 I know that thou heareſt me alwayes, but because of the people that stand by, I sayd it, that they may beleeue, that thou hast sent me.

43 As hee had spoken these things, hee cried with a loud voice, Lazarus, come foorth.

44 Then he that was dead, came forth, bound hand and foot with bandes, and his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus said vnto them, Loose him, and let him go.

45 ¶ Then many of the Iewes, which came to Mary, and had seene the things, which Iesus did, beleeued in him.

46 6 But some of them went their way to the Phariſes, & told them what things Ieſus had done.

47 Then gathered the hie Prieſts, & the Phariſes a 8 councell, and ſayd, What ſhall we doe? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will beleeue in him, and the Romanes will come and b take away both our place, and the nation.

47 7 Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the hie Prieſt that ſame yeere, ſaid vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all,

50 ✣ Nor yet doe you conſider that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation periſh not.

51 8 This ſpake he not of himſelfe: but being hie Prieſt that ſame yeere, he propheſied that Ieſus ſhould die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that he ſhould gather together in one the children of God, which i were ſcattered.

53 Then from that day foorth they conſulted together, to put him to death.

54 9 Ieſus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence vnto a countrey neere to the wildernesse, into a citie called Ephraim, and there continued with his diſciples.

55 ¶ And the Iewes Paſſeouer was at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hieruſalem before the Paſſeouer, to puriſie themſelues.

56 Then ſought they for Ieſus, & ſpake among themſelues, as they ſtood in the Temple, What thinke ye, that he commeth not to the feaſt?

57 Now both the high Prieſts and the Phariſes had giuen a commandement, that if any man knew where he were, he ſhould ſhew it, that they might take him.

6 The laſt poynt of hard and vnlikelihood vnbutonneſſe is this, to proclame open warre againſt God, and yet ceaſeth not to make a pretence both of godlineſſe, and of the profit of the common wealth.

g The Iewes called the councell Sanhedrin: and the word that Iohn vſeth is Synedrii.

h That is, take away from vs by force: for at that time, though the hie Prieſts authoritie was greatly leſſened and decayed, yet there was ſome kinde of gouernement left among the Iewes.

7 The raging and mad company of the falſe Church, perſwade themſelues that they cannot be in ſafetie, vnleſſe he be taken away, who onely vpholdeth the Church: And ſo likewiſe iudgeth the wiſedome of the fleſh in worldly affaires, which is gouerned by the ſpirit of giddines or madneſſe.

8 Chriſt doeth ſometimes ſo turne the tongues, euen of the wicked, that euen in curſing, they bleſſe.

i For they were not gathered together in one countrey, as the Iewes were, but to be gathered from all quarters, from the East to the West.

9 We may giue place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient ſo to doe, but yet in ſuch ſort, that we ſwarue not from Gods vocation.

CHAP. XII.

2 Chriſt is at ſupper with Lazarus, 3 Marie anointeth his feet. 5 Iudas findeth fault with her. 7 Chriſt defendeth her. 10 The Prieſts would put Lazarus to death. 12 Chriſt commeth to Hieruſalem, 18 The people meet him. 20 The Grecians deſire to ſee him. 42 The chiefe rulers that beleeue in him, but for feare doe not confeſſe him, 44 he exhorteth to faith.

✣ Chap. 26. 17. marke 14. 3.

THen ✣ Ieſus, ſixe dayes before the Paſſeouer, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raiſed from the dead.

2 There they made him a ſupper, and Martha ſerued: but Lazarus was one of them that ſate at the table with him.

3 Then tooke Mary a pound of oyntment of Spikenard very coſtly, and anoynted Ieſus feet, and wiped his feet with her haire, and the houſe was filled with the ſauour of the oyntment.

4 Then ſaid one of his diſciples, euen Iudas Iſcariot Simons ſonne, which ſhould betray him:

5 1 Why was not this ointment ſold for three hundreth pence, and giuen to the poore?

6 Now he ſaid this, not that he cared for the poore, but becauſe he was a thiefe, and ∴ had the bagge, and bare that which was giuen.

7 2 Then ſaid Ieſus, Let her alone: againſt the day of my burying ſhe kept it.

8 For the poore alwayes yee haue with you, but me ye ſhall not haue alwayes.

9 3 Then much people of the Iewes knew that he was there: and they came, not for Ieſus ſake onely, but that they might ſee Lazarus alſo, whom he had raiſed from the dead.

10 The high Prieſts therefore conſulted, that they might put Lazarus to death alſo, 11 Becauſe that for his ſake many of the Iewes went away, and beleeued in Ieſus.

12 ¶ ✣ On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feaſt, when they heard that Ieſus ſhould come to Hieruſalem, 13 Tooke branches of palme trees, and went foorth to meet him, and cried, Hoſanna, Bleſſed is the King of Iſrael that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Ieſus found a yong aſſe, and ſate thereon, as it is written, 15 ✣ Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King commeth ſitting on an aſſes coalt.

16 But his diſciples vnderſtoode not theſe things at the firſt: but when Ieſus was glorified, then remembred they, that theſe things were written of him, and that they had done theſe things vnto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witneſſe that he called Lazarus out of the graue, and raiſed him from the dead.

18 Therefore mette him the people alſo, becauſe they heard that he had done this miracle.

19 4 And the Phariſes ſaid among themſelues, Perceiue ye how ye preuaile nothing? Beholde, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certeine Greeks among them that a came vp to worſhip at the feaſt.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethſaida in Galile, and deſired him, ſaying, Syr, we would ſee that Ieſus.

22 Philip came and tolde Andrew: and againe Andrew and Philip tolde Ieſus.

23 And Ieſus anſwered them, ſaying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man muſt be glorified.

24 5 Verely, verely I ſay vnto you, Except the wheat corne fall into the grounde and b die, it bideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth foorth much fruit.

25 ∴ He that loueth his life, ſhall loſe it, and he that hateth his life in this world, ſhall keepe it vnto life eternall.

26 ✣ If any man ſerue me, let him follow me: for where I am, there ſhall alſo my ſeruant be: and if any man ſerue me, him will my Father honour.

27 6 Now is my ſoule troubled: and what ſhal I ſay? Father, ſaue me from this c houre: but therefore came I vnto this houre.

28 Father, d glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce from heauen, ſaying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 Then ſayd the people that ſtood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other ſayd, An Angel ſpake to him.

30 7 Ieſus anſwered and ſaid, This voyce came not becauſe of me, but for your ſakes.

31 Now is the iudgement of this world: now ſhall the prince of this world be caſt out.

32 ✣ And I, if I were e lift vp from the earth, will draw f all men vnto me.

33 Now this said he, signifying what death he should die.

34 The people answered him, We haue heard out of the ✣ Law, that Christ bideth for euer: and how saiest thou, that that Sonne of man must be lift vp? Who is that Sonne of man?

35 [8] Then Iesus said vnto them, Yet a little while is the light with you: walke while ye haue that light, least the darkenesse come vpon you: for he that walketh in the darke, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While ye haue that light, beleeue in that light, that ye may be the g children of the light. These things spake Iesus, and departed, and hid himselfe from them.

45 And he that seeth me, seeth him that sent mee.

46 I ✣ am come a light into the world, that whosoeuer beleeueth in me, should not abide in darkenesse.

47 ✣ And if any man heare my wordes, and beleeue not, I iudge him not: for I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world.

48 He that refuseth me, and receiueth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth him: ∴ the worde that I haue spoken, it shall iudge him in the last day.

27 And after the ſoppe, Satan entred into him. Then ſaid Ieſus vnto him, That thou doeſt, doe quickely.

28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cauſe he ſpake it vnto him.

29 For ſome of them thought becauſe Iudas had ỹ bag, that Ieſus had ſaid vnto him, Buy thoſe things that we haue neede of againſt the feaſt: or that he ſhould giue ſome thing to the poore.

30 Aſſoone then as he had receiued the ſoppe, he went immediatly out, and it was night.

31 ¶ 3 When he was gone out, Ieſus ſayde, g Now is the Sonne of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

32 If God be glorified in him, God ſhall alſo glorifie him in himſelfe, and ſhal ſtraightway glorifie him.

33 4 Litle children, yet a litle while am I with you: ye ſhall ſeeke mee, but as I ſaid vnto the ✣ Iewes, Whither I goe, can ye not come: alſo to you ſay I now, 34 ✣ A new commandement giue I vnto you, that ye loue one another: as I haue loued you, that ye alſo loue one another.

35 By this ſhall all men knowe that ye are my diſciples, if ye haue loue one to another.

36 5 Simon Peter ſaid vnto him, Lord, whither goeſt thou? Ieſus anſwered him, Whither I goe, thou canſt not folow me now: but thou ſhalt folow me afterward.

37 Peter ſaid vnto him, Lord, why can I not folowe thee nowe? ∴ I will lay downe my life for thy ſake.

38 Ieſus anſwered him, Wilt thou lay downe thy life for my ſake? Verely, verely I ſay vnto thee, The cocke ſhall not crow, till thou haue denied me thriſe.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 He comforteth his diſciples, 2. 7 declaring his diuinitie and the fruite of his death, 16 promiſing the comforter, 17 euen the holy Spirit, 26 whoſe office he ſetteth out. 27 He promiſeth his peace.

1 He beleeueth in God that beleeueth in Chriſt and there is no other way to confirme our mindes in greateſt diſtreſſes.

LEt t not your heart be troubled: ye beleeue in God, beleeue alſo in me.

2 In my Fathers houſe are many dwelling places: if it were not ſo, a I would haue told you: I goe to b prepare a place for you.

3 2 And if I goe to prepare a place for you, I wil c come againe, and receiue you vnto my ſelfe, that where I am, there may ye be alſo.

4 3 And whither I goe, ye knowe, and the way ye know.

5 Thomas ſaid vnto him, Lord, we knowe not whither thou goeſt: how can we then know ỹ way?

6 Ieſus ſaid vnto him, I am d that Way, and that Trueth, and that Life. No man commeth vnto the Father, but by me.

7 e If ye had knowen me, ye ſhould haue knowen my Father alſo: and from henceforth ye know him, and haue ſeene him.

8 Philip ſaid vnto him, Lord, ſhewe vs thy Father, and it ſufficeth vs.

9 Ieſus ſaid vnto him, I haue bene ſo long time with you, and haſt thou not knowen me, Philip? he that hath ſeene me, hath ſeene my Father: how then ſayeſt thou, Shew vs thy Father?

10 4 Beleeueſt thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The wordes that I ſpeake vnto you, I ſpeake not of my ſelfe: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the workes.

11 Beleeue me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me: at the laſt, beleeue mee for the very workes ſake.

12 5 Verely, verely I ſay vnto you, he that beleeueth in me, the workes that I doe, he ſhall doe alſo, and f greater then theſe ſhall he do: for I go vnto my Father.

13 ✣ And whatſoeuer ye aſke in my Name, that will I doe, that the Father may be glorified in the Sonne.

14 If ye ſhal aſke any thing in my Name, I wil doe it.

15 6 If ye loue me, keepe my commandements,

17 And I will pray the Father, and he ſhal giue you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for euer.

17 Euen the g Spirit of trueth, whome the h world can not receiue, becauſe it ſeeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him: for hee dwelleth with you, and ſhall be in you.

18 I will not leaue you fatherleſſe: but I will come to you.

19 Yet a litle while, and the world ſhall ſee me no more, but ye ſhall ſee me: becauſe I liue, yee ſhall liue alſo.

20 At that day ſhall ye know that I am i in my Father, and you in me, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commandements, & keepeth them, is he that loueth me: and hee that loueth me, ſhall be loued of my Father: and I will loue him, and wil k ſhew mine owne ſelfe to him.

22 7 Iudas ſaid vnto him, (not Iſcariot) Lord, what is the cauſe that thou wilt ſhew thy ſelfe vnto vs, and not vnto the world?

23 Ieſus anſwered, and ſaid vnto him, If any man loue me, he will keepe my worde, and my Father will loue him, and we wil come vnto him, and will dwell with him.

24 He that loueth me not, keepeth not my words, and the word which ye heare, is not mine, but the Fathers which ſent me.

25 8 Theſe things haue I ſpoken vnto you, being preſent with you.

26 ✣ But the Comforter, which is the holy Ghoſt, whom the Father will ſend in my Name, he ſhall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, whiche I haue tolde you.

5 We haue to conſider the glorifying of Chriſt in his ignominie.

g This verſe and the next following, are a moſt plaine and euident teſtimonie of the diuinitie of Chriſt.

4 The eternall glory ſhall flow by litle and litle from the head into the members. But in the meane time, we muſt take good heed, that we paſſe ouer the race of this life in brotherly loue.

This Ieſus ſhall ſo come as you ſaw him goe vp, Acts 1.11. and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God ſhall be all in all, and wherefore cal it the day of redemption.* 3 Chriſt onely is the way to true and euerlaſting life, for he it is in whome the Father hath reuealed himſelfe.

4 The maieſtie of God ſheweth it ſelfe moſt euidently, both in Chriſtes doctrine and deedes.

5 The approouing of the vertue of Chriſt is not included within his owne perſon, but it is ſpred through the body of his whole Church.

g The holy Ghoſt is called the Spirit of trueth, of the effect which he worketh, becauſe he inſpireth the trueth into vs, where as otherwiſe he hath trueth in himſelfe. h Worldly men.

i The Sonne is in the Father after ſuch ſort, that he is of one ſelfe ſame ſubſtance with the Father, but he is in his diſciples in a certaine reſpect as an ayder and helper of them. k I will ſhewe my ſelfe to him, and be knowen of him, as if he ſawe me with his eyes: but this ſhewing of himſelfe is not bodily, but ſpiritually, yet ſo plaine as none can be more. 7 We muſt not aske why the Goſpel is reuciled to ſome rather then to other, but wee muſt rather take heede, that we embrace Chriſt who is offered vnto vs, and that we truely loue him, that is to ſay, that we giue our ſelues wholy to his obedience. 8 It is the office of the holy Ghoſt to imprint in the mindes of the elect in their times and ſeaſons, that which Chriſt once ſpake. ✣ Chap.15.26.

9 All true felicitie commeth to vs by Christ alone.
10 So farre is it, that we should be sory for the departing of Christ, frō vs according to the flesh, that we should rather reioyce for it, seeing that all ỹ blessing of the members dependeth vpon the glorifying of the head.
l Thus is spoken in that, that he is Mediator, for so the Father is greater then he, in as much as the person to whome request is made, is greater then hee that maketh the request.
11 Christ goeth to death not vnwillingly, but willingly, not as yeelding to the deuill, but obeying his Fathers decree. m As who would say, Satan willy and by set vpon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power ouer me, neither shall he find any such thing in me as he thinketh he shall.

27 9 Peace I leaue with you: my peace I giue vnto you: not as ỹ world giueth, giue I vnto you. Let not your heart be troubled, nor feare.

28 10 Yee haue heard how I said vnto you, I goe away, and wil come vnto you. If ye loued me, ye would verily reioyce, because I said, I goe vnto the Father: for the Father is l greater then I.

29 And now haue I spoken vnto you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, yee might beleeue.

30 11 Hereafter wil I not speake many things vnto you: for the prince of this world commeth, and hath m nought in me.

31 But it is that the world may know that I loue my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I doe. Arise, let vs goe hence.

CHAP. XV.

1 By the parable of the vine, 2 & the branches, 5. 6 He declareth how the disciples may beare fruite. 12. 17 He commandeth mutuall loue. 18 He exhorteth them to beare afflictions patiently, 20 by his owne example.

I Am that true vine, and my Father is that husbandman.

2 ✣ Euery branch that beareth not fruite in me, he taketh away: and euery one that beareth fruite, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruite.

3 ✣ Nowe are ye cleane through the worde, which I haue spoken vnto you.

4 Abide in mee, and I in you: as the branch cannot beare fruite of it selfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in me.

5 I am that vine: ye are the branches: he that abideth in me, & I in him, ỹ same bringeth foorth much fruite: for without me can ye doe nothing.

6 ∴ If a man abide not in me, he is cast foorth as a branch, & withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.

7 ✣ 2 If ye abide in mee, and my wordes abide in you, aske what ye wil, & it shalbe done to you.

8 2 Herein is my Father glorified, that yee beare much fruite, and be made my disciples.

9 3 As the Father hath loued mee, so haue I loued you: b continue in that my loue.

10 If ye shall keepe my commandements, yee shall abide in my loue, as I haue kept my Fathers commandements, and abide in his loue.

11 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, and that your ioy might be full.

12 ✣ This is my commandement, that yee loue one another, as I haue loued you.

13 Greater loue then this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friendes, if ye doe whatsoeuer I commaund you.

15 4 Henceforth call I you not seruants: for the seruant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I haue called you friends: for all things that I haue heard of my Father, haue I made knowen to you.

16 5 Ye c haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordeined you, ✣ that ye goe & bring foorth fruite, and that your fruite remaine, that whatsoeuer yee shall aske of the Father in my Name, he may giue it you.

17 These things command I you, that yee loue one another.

18 6 If the world hate you, yee knowe that it hated me before you.

19 If ye were of the worlde, the world would loue his owne: but because ye are not of ỹ world, but I haue chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.

20 Remember the word that I saide vnto you, ✣ The seruant is not greater then his master. ∴ If they haue persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they haue kept my worde, they will also keepe yours.

21 7 But ✣ all these things will they doe vnto you for my Names sake, because they haue not knowen him that sent me.

22 d If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they should not haue had sinne: but now haue they no cloke for their sinne, 23 He that hateth me, hateth my Father also.

24 If I had not done workes among them which none other mā did, they had not had sinne: but nowe haue they both seene, and haue hated both me, and my Father.

25 But it is that the word might bee fulfilled, that is written in their e Lawe, ✣ They hated mee without a cause.

26 8 But when that Comforter shall come, * whom I will send vnto you from the Father, euen the Spirit of trueth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testifie of me.

27 And ye shall witnesse also, because ye haue bene with me from the beginning.

5 Christ is the authour, and preseruer of the ministerie of the Gospel, euen to the worlds end, but the ministers haue aboue all things need of prayer & brotherly loue.
c This place teacheth vs plainly, that our saluation commeth from the onely fauour and gracious goodnesse of the euerlasting God toward vs, & of nothing that we coeer can deserue. ✣ Mat.18.29.
6 It ought not onely not to feare, but rather confirme the faithfull Ministers of Christ, when they shalbe hated of the world as their Master was.
✣ Chap.13.16. mat.10.24.
∴ Mat.24.9.
7 The hatred that the world beareth against Christ, proceedeth of the blockishnesse of the mind, which notwithstanding is voluntary blind, so that the world can pretend no excuse to couer their fault.

3 The loue of the Father towards the Sonne, and of the Sonne towards vs, and ours towards God and our neighbour, are ioyned together with an vnseparable knot: and there is nothing more sweete and pleasant then it is. CHAP. XVI.

1 He foretelleth the disciples of persecution. 7 Hee promiseth the Comforter, and declareth his office. 21 He compareth the afflictions of his, to a woman that is trauileth with child.

THese 1 things haue I spoken vnto you, that yee should not be offended.

2 They shal excommunicate you: yea, the time shal come, that whosoeuer killeth you, will thinke that he doeth God seruice.

3 And these things will they doe vnto you, because they haue not knowen the Father, nor me.

4 ✣ But these things haue I told you, that when the houre shall come, ye might remember, that I told you them. And these things said I not vnto you from ỹ beginning, because I was w you.

5 But now I goe my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?

6 But because I haue sayde these things vnto you, your hearts are full of sorow.

7 2 Yet I tell you the trueth, It is expedient for you that I goe away: for if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come vnto you: but if I depart, I will send him vnto you.

1 The ministers of the Gospel must looke for all maner of reproches, not onely of them which are open enemies, but euen of them also which seeme to be of the same household, and the very pillars of the Church. ✣ Chap.15.21.

3 The Spirit of God worketh so mightily by the preaching of the word, that he constraineth the world, will it, will it not, to confesse it owne vnrighteousnesse, and Christes righteousnesse and almightinesse.
a He will reproue the world, that the worldlings shalbe able to pretend no excuse.
b He respecteth the time that followed his ascension, when as all gainesayers were manifestly reproued through the powring out of the holy Ghost vpon the Church: So that the very enemies of Christ were reproued of sinne, in that they were constrained to confesse that they were deceiued, in that they beleeued not, and therefore they sayd to Peter, Actes 1. Men and brethren, what shall we doe?
c Of Christ himselfe: For when the world shall see, that I haue powred out the holy Ghost, they shall be constrained to confesse that I was iust, and was not condemned of my Father, when I went out of this world.
d Of that authoritie and power, which I haue both in heauen & earth.
e That is, because they shall then vnderstand and knowe in deed, that I haue ouercome the deuil, and doe gouerne the world, when all men shall see, that they sit therefore lies against you in vaine, for I will ioyne you with that heauenly power, whereby you may destroy euery high thing which is lifted vp against the knowledge of God, 2 Cor. 10. 12.

8 3 And when he is come, he will a reproue the b world of sinne, and of righteousnesse, and of iudgement.

9 Of sinne, because they beleeued not in mee:

10 Of c righteousnesse, because I goe to my Father, and ye shall see me no more.

11 Of d iudgement, e because the prince of this world is iudged.

12 4 I haue yet many things to say vnto you, but ye cannot beare them now.

13 Howbeit, when hee is come which is the Spirit of trueth, he will leade you into all trueth: for he shall not speake of himselfe, but whatsoeuer he shall heare, shall he speake, and he will shew you the things to come.

14 5 He shal glorifie me: for hee shall receiue of mine, and shall shew it vnto you.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore sayd I, that hee shall take of mine, and shew it vnto you.

16 6 A f little while, and ye shal not see me: and againe a little while, and ye shall see me: g for I go to the Father.

17 Then said some of his disciples among them selues, What is this that he saieth vnto vs, A little while, and ye shall not see mee, and againe, a little while, and ye shall see mee, and, For I goe to the Father.

18 They sayd therefore, What is this that hee saith, A little while? we know not what he saith.

19 Now Iesus knew that they would aske him, and said vnto them, Doe ye enquire among your selues, of that I said, A little while, & ye shal not see me: and againe, a little while, and ye shall see me?

20 Verily, verily I say vnto you, that yee shall weepe and lament, and the world shall reioyce: and ye shal sorowe, but your sorow shalbe turned to ioy.

21 A woman when she trauaileth, hath sorow, because her houre is come: but as soone as she is deliuered of the childe, she remembreth no more the anguish, for ioy that a man is borne into the world.

22 And ye nowe therefore are in sorow: but I will see you again, & your hearts shall reioyce, and your ioy shall no man take from you.

23 And in that day shall ye aske me nothing. ✣ Verily, verily, I say vnto you, whatsoeuer yee shall aske the Father in my Name, he will giue it you.

24 Hitherto haue yee asked nothing in my Name: aske, and ye shal receiue, that your ioy may be full.

27 7 These things haue I spoken vnto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speake to you in parables: but I shall shew you plainly of the Father.

26 8 At that day shall yee aske in my Name, and I say not vnto you, that I will pray vnto the Father for you:

27 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because ye haue loued me, ✣ and haue beleeued that I came out from God.

28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: againe I leaue the worlde, and goe to the Father.

29 9 His disciples sayde vnto him, Lo, now, speakest thou plainely, and thou speakest no parable.

30 Nowe knowe wee that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should aske thee. By this we beleeue, that thou art come out from God.

31 Iesus answered them, Doe you beleeue nowe?

32 ✣ 10 Beholde, the houre commeth, & is already come, that ye shall be scattered euery man into his owne, and shall leaue me alone: but I am not alone: for the Father is with me.

33 11 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that h in me ye might haue peace: in the world ye shall haue affliction, but be of good comfort: I haue ouercome the world.

1 Christ prayeth that his glory together with his Father may bee made manifest. 9 He prayeth for his Apostles, 20 and for all beleeuers.

THese 1 things spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and sayde, 2 Father, that houre is come: glorifie thy Sonne, that thy Sonne also may glorifie thee,

3 And this is life eternall, that they knowe thee to be the b onely very God, and whome thou hast sent, Iesus Christ.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe.

5 And now glorifie mee, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

6 :: I haue declared thy Name vnto the men which thou gauest mee out of the world: c thine they were, and thou d gauest them me, and they haue kept thy word.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, euen them whom thou hast giuen me, that they may bee one, as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the ✣ Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speake I in the world, that they might haue my ioy fulfilled in themselues.

14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 ‡ I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepe them from euill.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 ‡ Sanctifie them with thy truth: thy word is truth.

18 § As thou diddest send mee into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through the ‖ truth.

20 ¶ I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleeue in mee, through their word, 21 That they all may be one, as thou, O Father, art in me, and I in thee: euen that they may be also one in vs, that the world may beleeue that thou hast sent me.

22 And the glory that thou gauest me, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as we are one,

23 I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loued them as thou hast loued me.

24 ✣ Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be with me euen where I am, that they may behold e that my glory, which thou hast giuen me: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not knowen thee, but I haue knowen thee, and these haue knowen, that thou hast sent me.

26 ¶ And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the loue wherewith thou hast loued me, may be in them, and I in them.

e He prayeth that his people may peaceably agree and be ioyned together in one, that as the Godhead is one, so they may be of one minde & one consent together.

4 Hee sheweth what maner of deliuerance he meaneth, not that they should be in no danger, but that they being preserued from all, might proue by experience that the doctrine of saluation is true, which they receiued at his mouth to deliuer to other.

f That is, make them holy: and that is said to be holy, which is dedicated and made proper to God only.

5 Hee addeth moreouer, that the Apostles haue a vocation common with him, & therefore that they must be holden vp by the selfe same vertue to giue vp themselues wholly to God, whereby he being first, did consecrate himselfe to the Father.

g The true and substantiall sanctification of Christ is set against the outward purifyings.

6 Secondarily he offereth to God the Father, all his, that is, how many so euer shall beleeue in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as he cleaueth vnto the Father receiuing from him all fulnesse, so they being ioyned with him may receiue life from him, and at length being together beloued in him, may also with him enioy euerlasting glory. ✣ Chap.12.26.

1 By Christs power, whom Iudas betrayeth, 6 the souldiers are cast downe to the ground. 13 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22. 23 His answer to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being deliuered to Pilate, 35 he declareth his kingdome.

1 Christ goeth of his own accord into a garden, which his betrayer knew, to be taken: that by his obedience he might take away the sinne that entred into the world by one mans rebellion, and that in a garden. ✣ Mat.26.36. mar.14.32. luke 22.39.

WHen ‡ Iesus had spoken these things, hee went foorth with his disciples ouer the brooke ✣ Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred, and his disciples.

2 And Iudas which betrayed him knewe also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples.

3 ✣ ‡ Iudas then, after he had receiued a band of men and officers of the high Priestes, and of the Pharises, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons.

4 ‡ Then Iesus, knowing all things that should come vnto him, went foorth and said vnto them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said vnto them, I am he. Nowe Iudas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 Assoone then as he had said vnto them, I am he, they went away backewardes, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whome seeke ye? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.

8 ‡ Iesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seeke me, let these go their way.

16 But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was knowen vnto the hie Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then sayd the mayd that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.

18 And the seruants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coles: for it was colde, and they warmed themselues. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe.

19 ¶ (‡ The hie Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I euer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou mee? aske them which heard me what I sayd vnto them: behold, they know what I said.

21 When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?

23 Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witnesse of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

30 They answered, and said vnto him, If hee were not an euil doer, we would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

36 [11] Iesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then sayd vnto him, Art thou a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king: for this cause I am borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witnes vnto the trueth: euery one that is of the trueth heareth my voice.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Pilate, when Christ was scourged, 2 and crowned with thorne, 4 maudesfrom to let him loose: 8 but being ouercome with the outrage of the Iewes, 16 he deliuereth him to be crucified. 26 Iesus committeth his mother to the disciple. 30 Hauing tasted vinegre, he dyeth: 34 and being dead, his side is pierced with a speare. 40 He is buried.

THen ✣ Pilate tooke Iesus, and scourged him.

2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment,

3 And said, Haile, King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their rods.

4 Then Pilate went forth againe, and said vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know that I find no fault in him at all.

5 Then came Iesus foorth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate said vnto them, Behold the man.

6 Then when the hie Priests and officers sawe him, they cryed, saying, [a] Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate said vnto them, Take yee him, and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a lawe, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ [3] When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid,

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answere.

10 Then said Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto me? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thenceforth Pilate sought to loose him, but the Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cæsars friend: for whosoeuer maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cæsar.

13 ¶ [4] When Pilate heard this word, hee brought Iesus forth, and sate downe in the iudgement seat in a place called the pauement, and in Hebrew, [b] Gabbatha.

14 And it was the Preparation of the Passeouer, and about the sixt houre: and he said vnto the Iewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate sayd vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The hie Priests answered, We haue no King but Cæsar.

16 [5] Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified. ✣ And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.

17 And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, & Iesus in the mids.

19 ¶ [6] And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, and it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke, and Latine.

21 Then sayd the high Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he sayd, I am King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 ¶ [7] Then the ✣ souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part) and his coat: and the coat was without seame wouen from the top thorowout.

24 Therefore they sayd one to another, Let vs not deuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which sayeth, ∴ They parted my garments among them, and on my coat did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things in deed.

25 ¶ [8] Then stood by the crosse of Iesus, his mother, a They will haue him crucified, with an olde custome of theirs, they should haue stoned and hanged vp as conuicts of blasphemie: but they desire to haue him crucified after the maner of the Romans.

3 Pilates conscience fighteth for Christ, but straightway it yeeldeth, because it is not vpholden with the singular vertue of God.

31 10 The Iewes then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remaine vpon the crosse on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an hie day) besought Pilate that their legges might be broken, and that they might be taken downe.

33 But when they came to Iesus and saw that he was dead already, they brake not his legges.

39 And there came ✣ also Nicodemus (which first came to Iesus by night) & brought of myrrhe and aloes mingled together about an hundreth pound.

40 Then tooke they the body of Iesus, and wrapped it in linnen clothes with the odours, as the maner of the Iewes is to burie.

✣ Mat.16.18.

21 ✣ Then saide Iesus to them againe, Peace be vnto you: as my Father sent me, so send I you.
22 And when he had sayd that, hee breathed on them, and sayd vnto them, Receiue the holy Ghost.
23 6 Whosoeuers sinnes ye remit, they are remitted vnto them: and whosoeuers sinnes yee reteine, they are reteined.
24 ¶ 7 But Thomas one of the twelue, called Didymus, was not with them when Iesus came.
25 The other disciples therefore saide vnto him, Wee haue seene the Lord: but he sayd vnto them, Except I see in his handes the print of the nayles, and put my finger into the print of the nayles, and put mine hand into his side, I will not beleeue it.
26 ¶ And eight dayes after, againe his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Iesus, when the doores were shut, and stood in the mids, and said, Peace be vnto you.
27 After sayde he to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see mine hands, & put forth thine hand, and put it into my side, and bee not faithlesse, but faithfull.
28 Then Thomas answered, and sayde vnto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.
29 8 Iesus said vnto him, Thomas, because thou hast seene mee, thou beleeuest: blessed are they that haue not seene, and haue beleeued.
30 ¶ ✣ 9 And many other signes also did Iesus in the presence of his disciples, which are not written in this booke.
31 But these things are written, that ye might beleeue, that Iesus is that Christ that Sonne of God, and that in beleeuing yee might haue life through his Name.

6 The publishing of the forgiuenesse of sinnes by faith in Christ, and the setting forth and denouncing the wrath of God in retaining the sinnes of the vnbeleeuers, is the summe of the preaching of the Gospel.
7 Christ draweth out of the vnbelefe of Thomas, a certaine and sure testimonie of his resurrection.
8 True faith dependeth vpon the mouth of God, and not vpon fleshly eyes.
✣ Chap.21.25.
9 To beleeue in Christ the Sonne of God and out onely Sauiour, is the ende of the doctrine of the Gospel, & especially of the historie of the resurrection.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iesus appeareth to his disciples as they were a fishing, 6. 7 whom they know by a miraculous draught of fishes. 15 Hee committeth the charge of the sheepe to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the maner of his death.

1 In that, that Christ here is not onely present, but also eateth with his disciples, he giueth a most full assurance of his resurrection.

AFter these things, 1 Iesus shewed himselfe againe to his disciples at the sea of Tiberias: and thus shewed he himselfe:
2 There were together Simon Peter, & Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and the sonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his disciples.
3 Simon Peter said vnto them, I goe a fishing. They said vnto him, We also will goe with thee. They went their way and entred into a shippe straightway, and that night caught they nothing
4 But when the morning was now come, Iesus stood on the shore: neuertheless the disciples knew not that it was Iesus.
5 Iesus then sayd vnto them, Sirs, haue ye any meate? They answered him, No.
6 Then he sayde vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall finde. So they cast out, & they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes.
7 Therefore sayd the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his a coat to him (for he was naked) and cast himselfe into the sea.
8 But the other disciples came by shippe (for they were not farre from lande, but about two hundreth cubites) and they drewe the net with fishes.

a It was a linnen garment, which could not let him swimming.

9 As soone then as they were come to land, they sawe hote coales, and fish laied thereon, and bread.
10 Iesus said vnto them, Bring of the fishes, which ye haue now caught.
11 Simon Peter stepped foorth and drew the net to land, full of great fishes, an hundreth, fiftie and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.
12 Iesus sayde vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the disciples durst aske him, Who art thou? seeing they knewe that hee was the Lord.
13 Iesus then came and tooke bread and gaue them, and fish likewise.
14 This is now the third time that Iesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that he was risen againe from the dead.
15 ¶ 2 So when they had dined, Iesus sayd to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me more then these? He said vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feede my lambes.
16 He said to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? He sayd vnto him, Yea Lorde, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feede my sheepe.
17 Hee said vnto him the b third time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? Peter was sorie because he said to him the third time, Louest thou me? and sayd vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee. Iesus sayd vnto him, Feede my sheepe.
18 3 Verely, verely I say vnto thee, When thou wast yong, thou c girdedst thy selfe, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when thou shalt bee olde, thou shalt stretch foorth thine hands, and another shall d gird thee, and leade thee whither thou wouldest e not.
19 And this spake he signifying by fwhat death he should glorifie God. And when hee had sayde this, he said to him, Follow me.
20 4 Then Peter turned about, and sawe the disciple whom IESVS loued, following, which had also ✣ leaned on his breast at supper, and had sayde, Lorde, which is hee that betrayeth thee?
21 When Peter therefore saw him, he said to Iesus, Lord, what shall this man doe?
22 Iesus said vnto him, If I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee? follow thou me.
23 Then went this worde abroad among the brethren, that this disciple should not die. Yet Iesus sayd not to him, Hee shall not die; but if I will that hee tarie till I come, what is it to thee?
24 5 This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we know that his testimonie is true.
25 ✣ Now there are also many other things which Iesus did, the which if they should bee written euery one, I suppose the worlde selfe could not conteine the bookes that should be written. Amen.

2 Peter by his triple confession is restored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple denial: and therewithall is admonished, that he is in deede a pastour, which sheweth his loue to Christ, in feeding his sheepe.
b It was meete that he that had denied him thrise, should confesse him thrise, that Peter might neither doubt of the forgiuenesse of his so grieuous a sinne, nor of his restoring to the office of the Apostleship.
3 The violent death of Peter is foretolde.
c They that tooke farre iourneys, especially in the East countrey, and in those places where the people vsed long garments, had need to be girded and trussed vp.
d He meant that kinde of girding which is vsed toward captiues, when they are bound fast with cordes and chaines, as who would say, Now thou girdest thy (selfe as thou thinkest best, to goe whither thou listest, but the time will be, when thou shalt not gird thee with a girdle, but another shall binde thee with chaines, and carie thee whither thou wouldest not.
e Not that Peter suffred ought for the truth of God against his will: for we reade that he came with ioy and gladnesse when he returned from the Councill where he was whipped: but because this will commeth not from the flesh, but from that gift of the Spirit which is giuen vs from aboue, therefore he shewed there should be a certain struggling & conflict or repugnancie, which also is in vs, in all our sufferances as touching the flesh.
f That is, that Peter should die by a violent death. 4 We must take heede, that whiles wee cast our eyes vpon other, we neglect not that which is inioyned vs. ✣ Chap.13.22. 5 The historie of Christ is true and warily written; not for the curiositie of men, but for the saluation of the godly. ✣ Chap.20.30.

THE ACTES OF THE HOLY APOSTLES WRITTEN BY LVKE THE EVANGELIST.

CHAP. I.

1 Luke tieth this historie to his Gospel. 9 Christ being taken into heauen, 10 the Apostles. 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 returne, 14 and giue themselues to prayer. 15 By Peters motion, 18 into Iudas the traytors place, 26 Matthias is chosen.

THE former treatise, O Theophilus, of all that Iesus began to [a] doe and teach,

2 Vntill the day that hee was taken vp, after that hee through the holy Ghost, had giuen commandements vnto the Apostles, whome hee had chosen:

3 [2] To whome also he presented himselfe aliue after that he had suffered, by many [b] infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourtie dayes, and speaking of those things which appertaine to the kingdome of God.

4 ✣ And when he had [c] gathered them together, hee commanded them that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, which said he, yee haue heard of me.

5 ∵ For Iohn in deede baptized with water, but yee shalbe baptized [d] with the holy Ghost within these few dayes.

6 [3] When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time [e] restore the kingdome to Israel?

7 And he sayd vnto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the [f] seasons, which the Father hath put in his owne power,

8 ✲ But yee shall receiue power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come on you: and ye shalbe witnesses vnto me both in Hierusalem and in all Iudea, and in Samaria, and vnto the vttermost part of the earth.

9 ✲ [4] And when hee had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken vp: for a cloude tooke him vp out of their sight.

10 And while they looked stedfastly towarde heauen, as he went, beholde, two men stoode by them in white apparell, 11 Which also said, Yee men of Galile, why stand ye gasing into heauen? This Iesus which is taken vp [g] from you into heauen, shall so come, as ye haue seene him goe into heauen.

12 ¶ Then returned they vnto Hierusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Oliues, which is neere to Hierusalem, being from it a Sabbath [h] dayes iourney.

13 5 And when they were [i] come in, they went vp into an vpper chamber, where abode both Peter and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemewe, and Matthewe, Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Iudas Iames brother.

14 These all [k] continued with [l] one accord in [m] prayer and supplication with the [n] women, and Marie the Mother of Iesus, and with his [o] brethren.

15 ¶ [6] And in those dayes Peter stoode vp in the middes of the disciples, and saide (nowe the number of [p] names that were in one place were about an hundreth and twentie.)

16 7 Ye men and brethren, this scripture must needes haue bene fulfilled, which the ✣ holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Iudas, which was ✣ guide to them that tooke Iesus.

17 For hee was numbred with vs, and had obtained felowship in this ministration.

18 He therefore hath [q] purchased a field with the reward of iniquity: and when ∵ he had [r] throwen downe himselfe headlong, he brast asunder in the middes, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it is knowen vnto all the inhabitants of Hierusalem, in so much, that that field is called in their owne language, Aceldama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the booke of Psalmes, ✲ Let his habitation be void, and let no man dwel therein: ✲ also, Let another take his [s] charge.

21 [8] Wherefore of these men which haue companied with vs, all the time that the Lord Iesus was [t] conuersant among vs, 22 Beginning from the baptisme of Iohn vnto the day that he was taken vp [u] from vs, must one of them be made a witnesse with vs of his resurrection.

23 ✧ And they [x] presented two, Ioseph called Barsabas, whose surname was Iustus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lorde, which knowest the hearts of all men, shew whether of these two thou hast chosen, 25 That hee may take the [y] roume of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Iudas hath [z] gone astray, to goe to his owne place.

26 Then they gaue forth their lottes: and the lot fell on Matthias, and hee was by a common consent counted with the eleuen Apostles.

---

1 A passing ouer from the historie of the Gospel, that is, from the historie of the saings and doings of Christ, vnto the actes of the Apostles.

a The actes of Iesus are the miracles and doings which shewed his Godhead, and his most perfit holines and examples of his doctrine.

2 Christ did not straightwayes ascend into heauen after his resurrection, because he would throughly proue his resurrection, and with his presence confirme his Apostles in the doctrine, which they had heard.

b He calleth those infallible tokens, which are otherwise termed necessarie: now in that, that Christ spake, and walked, & ate, and was felt of many, these are sure signes and tokens that he truely rose againe.

c They were dispersed here and there, but he gathereth them together that they might altogether be witnesses of his resurrection.

✣ Iohn 14.25.

∵ Matth. 3.11. marke 1.8. luke 3.16. chap. 2.2. and 11.16. and 19.4.

d Either of the Father, or of me: so that either the Father or Christ is set here against Iohn, as the holy Ghost is against the water, as things answerable the one to the other. 3 We must fight before wee triumph: and wee ought not curiously to search after those things, which God hath not reuealed. e To the olde and ancient state. f That is, the fitte occasions that serue to doing of matters which the Lord hath appointed to bring things to passe in. ✲ Chap. 2.2. ✣ Luke 24.51. 4 After that Christ had promised the full vertue of the holy Ghost, wherewith he would gouerne his Church, although hee should be absent in body, hee tooke vp his body from vs into the heauenly tabernacles, there to continue vntill the latter day of iudgement, as the Angels witnesse. g That is, out of your sight. h About two miles. 5 Ecclesiasticall assemblies to heare the word, and to make common prayer, were first instituted and kept in priuate houses by the Apostles. ∵ They went into the house, which the Church had chosen at that time to be a receit for the whole assemblie.

k The Greeke word signifieth an immutable constancie, and stedfastnesse.

l It is to good purpose, that this concord is so mentioned: for those prayers are most acceptable to God, which are made with agreeing mindes and willes.

m The disciples prayed for the sending of the holy Ghost, and also to be deliuered from present dangers wherewith they were beset.

n For it was behoueable to haue the wiues confirmed, who were afterward to be partakers of the dangers with their husbands.

o With his kinsfolkes.

6 Peter is made the mouth and interpreter of the whole company of the Apostles, either by secret reuelation of the holy Ghost, or by expresse iudgement of the congregation.

p Because men are commonly billed and enrolled by their names.

7 Peter preuenteth the offence that might be taken of the falling away of Iudas the betrayer, the wing that all things which came vnto him, were foretold by God.

✣ Psal. 41.9.

✣ Iohn 13.27. q Luke considered not Iudas his purpose, but that that followed of it, and so we vse to say, that a man hath procured himself harme, not that his will and purpose was so, but in respect of that which followed. ∵ Matth. 27.5. r The Greeke words signifieth thus much, that Iudas fell downe flat and was rent in sunder in the midst, with a maruelous huge noyse. ✲ Psalm. 69.26. ✣ Psalm. 109.7.

s His office and ministerie. Dauid wrote these wordes against Doeg the Kings headman: And these words, Shepheard, Sheepe, and Flocke, are put ouer to the Church of see and ministerie, so that the Church and the offices thereof are called by these names.

8 The Apostles deliberate vpon nothing, but first they consult and take aduisement by Gods word: and againe they do nothing that concerneth and is behoueable for the whole body of the Congregation, without making the Congregation priuie vnto it.

t Word for worde, went in and out, which kinde of speach he tooke vp much in the Hebrew tongue, as the exercising of a publique and painefull office, when they speake of such as are in any publique office, Deuter. 31.2. 1. Sam. 18.27. 1. Chron. 27.1.

u From our companie. 9 Apostles must be chosen immediatly from God, and therefore after prayers, Matthias is chosen by lotte, which is as it were, GODS owne voyce.

x Openly, and by the voyces of all the whole company. ✧ That he may be fellow and partaker of this ministerie.

z Departed from, or fallen from: Audit is a Metaphore taken from the way: For callings are signified by the name of wayes, with the Hebrewes.

CHAP. II.

1 The Apostles 4 filled with the holy Ghost 8 speake with diuers tongues: 12 They are thought to be drunke, 15 but Peter disprooueth that: 34 Hee teacheth that Christ is the Messias: 37 And seeing the hearers astonied, 38 hee exhorteth them to repentance.

1 The Apostles being gathered together on a most solemne feast day in one place, that it might euidently appeare to all the world, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, are by a double signe from heauen authorised, & anointed with all the most excellent gifts of the holy Ghost, and especially with an extraordinarie and neeessarie gift of tongues.

AND [1] when the day of Pentecost was [a] come, they were [b] all with one accord in one place.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heauen, as of a rushing and mightie winde, and it filled all the house where they sate.

3 And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues, like fire, and it sate vpon eche of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, & began to speake with [c] other tongues, as the [d] Spirit gaue them vtterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Hierusalem Iewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen.

6 Now when this was noised, the multitude came together and were astonied, because that euery man heard them speake his owne language.

7 And they wondered all, and marueiled, saying among themselues, Beholde, are not all these which speake, of Galile?

8 [e] How then heare we euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, & [f] Iewes, and Proselytes, 11 Cretes, and Arabians: wee heard them speake in our owne tongues the wonderful workes of God.

12 [2] They were all then amased, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?

13 And others [g] mocked, and sayd, They are full of new wine.

14 ¶ But Peter standing with the eleuen, [h] lift vp his voyce, and said vnto them, Yee men of Iudea, and ye all that inhabite in Hierusalem, be this knowen vnto you, and hearken vnto my wordes.

15 For these are not drunken, as yee suppose, since it is but the [i] third houre of the day.

16 But this is that, which was spoken by the [k] Prophet ✣ Ioel.

17 [3] And it shalbe in the last dayes, saith God, I will powre out of my Spirit vpon [l] all [m] flesh, & your sonnes, and your daughters shall prophecie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your old men shall dreame dreames.

18 And on my seruants, and on mine handmaides I will powre out of my Spirit in those dayes, and they shall prophecie.

19 And I will shew wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and the vapours of smoke.

20 The Sunne shall be turned into darkenesse, and the moone into blood, before that great and notable day of the Lord come.

21 [4] And it shalbe, that whosoeuer shall [n] call on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued.

22 [5] Yee men of Israel, heare these wordes, IESVS of Nazareth, a man [o] approued of God among you with great workes, and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the middes of you, as ye your selues also know:

23 Him, I say, being deliuered by the determinate counsell, and [p] foreknowledge of God, after you had taken, with wicked [q] handes you haue crucified and [r] slaine.

24 [6] Whome God hath raised vp, and loosed the [s] sorowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For Dauid saith concerning him, ✣ I beheld the Lord alwayes before me: for he is at my right hand, that I should not be shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shal rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not [t] leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine Holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast [u] shewed me the wayes of life, and shalt make mee full of ioy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, I may boldely speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid, ✣ and that hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing hee was a Prophet, and knewe that God had [x] sworne with an othe to him, that of the fruite of his loines he would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne, 31 He knowing this before, spake of [y] resurrection of Christ, that [z] his soule should not be left in graue, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 [7] This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we all are witnesses.

33 Since then that hee by the [y] right hand of God hath bene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed forth this which ye now see and heare.

34 For Dauid is not ascended into heauen, but he saith, ✣ The Lord saide to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Vntill I make thine enemies thy foote-stoole.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath [z] made him both Lorde, and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whom ye haue crucified.

4 The chiefest vse of all the gifts of the holy Ghost, is to bring men to saluation by faith.

n Thou word Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and crauing for helpe at Gods hand.

5 Christ being innocent, was by Gods prouidence crucified of wicked men.

o Who is by those workes which God wrought by him, so manifestly approoued and allowed of, that no man can gainsay him.

p Gods euerlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsell, as the Epicures say, neither yet be the cause of euill: for God in his euerlasting & vnchangeable counsell, appointed the wicked acte of Iudas to an excellent ende: and God doeth that well which the instruments doe ill.

q Gods counsell doth not excuse the Iewes, whose hands were wicked.

r The fact is said to be theirs by whose counsell and egging forward it is done.

6 Christ (as Dauid foretolde) did not onely rise againe, but also was in the graue voide of all corruption.

s The death that was full of sorowe both of body and minde: therefore when death appeared conqueror and victorer ouer those sorowes, Christ is rightly said to haue ouercome those sorowes of death, when as being dead, he ouercame death, to liue for euer with his Father.

✣ Psal.16.9.

t Thou wilt not suffer me to remaine in graue.

u Thou hast opened mee the way to the true life. ✣ 1.King.2.10. chap.13.36.

x Psalm.132.11. y Had sworne solemnly. ✣ Psal.16.10. chap.13.35. 7 Peter witnesseth that Iesus Christ is the appointed euerlasting King, which he proueth manifestly by the gifts of the holy Ghost, and the testimonie of Dauid.

z Might and power of God. ✣ Psal.110.1. z Christ is said to bee made, because he was aduanced to that dignitie: and therefore it is not spoken of his nature, but of his state and dignitie.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said vnto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we doe?

38 [8] Then Peter said vnto them, Amend your liues, and bee baptized euery one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of sinnes: and ye shall receiue the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the [a] promise is made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are afarre off, euen as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 [9] And with many other words he besought and exhorted them, saying, Saue your selues from this forward generation.

41 [10] Then they that gladly receiued his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand soules.

42 [11] And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, and [b] fellowship, and [c] breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 ¶ [12] And feare came vpon euery soule: and many wonders & signes were done by ỹ Apostles.

44 [13] And all that beleeued, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they sold their possessions & goods, and parted them to al men, as euery one had need.

46 [14] And they continued dayly with one accord in the Temple, & breaking bread at home, did eate their meate together with gladnesse and singlenesse of heart, 47 Praysing God, and had fauour with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saued.

8 Repentance and remission of sinnes in Christ, are two principles of the Gospel, and therefore of our saluation: and they are obtained by the promises apprehended by faith, and are ratified in vs by Baptime, wherewith is ioyned the vertue of the holy Ghost.
a The word that is vsed here, giueth vs to vnderstand that it was a free gift.
9 Hee is truely ioyned to the Church which separateth himselfe from the wicked.
10 A notable example of the vertue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptized, before they make confession of their faith.
11 The markes of the true Church are the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charitie, the pure & simple administration of the Sacraments, and true inuocation vsed of all the faithfull. b (Communicating of goods, & all other duties of charitie, as is shewed afterward. c The Iewes vsed thin loaues, and therefore they did rather breake them then cut them. So by breaking of bread, they vnderstood that liuing together, and the banquets which they vsed to keep. And when they kept their loue feastes, they vsed to celebrate the Lordes Supper, which euen in these dayes began to be corrupted, & Paul amendeth it, 1.Cor.11.
12 So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he bridleth the rage of strangers, that the Church may be planted, and haue some refreshing.
13 Charitie maketh all things common concerning the vse, according as necessitie requireth.
14 The faithfull came together at the beginning with great fruit, not only to the hearing of the word, but also to meate.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter goeth into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple. 9 To the people gathered together to see the miracle, 12 he expoundeth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ. 14 accusing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring their repentance.

NOw [1] Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certaine man which was a creeple frō his mothers wombe, was caried, whom they layde dayly at the gate of the Temple called Beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into ỹ Temple.

3 Who seeing Peter and Iohn, that they would enter into ỹ Temple, desired to receiue an almes.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with Iohn, sayd, Looke on vs.

5 And hee [a] gaue heede vnto them, trusting to receiue some thing of them.

6 Then said Peter, Siluer & gold haue I none, but such as I haue, that giue I thee: In the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke.

7 And he tooke him by the right hand, and lift him vp, and immediatly his feete and ankle bones receiued strength.

8 And he leaped vp, stoode, and walked, and entred with them into the Temple, walking and leaping, and praysing God.

9 And all the people sawe him walke, and praysing God.

10 And they knew him, that it was he which sate for the almes at the Beautifull gate of the Temple: and they were amased, and sore astonied at that, which was come vnto him.

1 Christ in healing a man that was borne lame, and well knowen to all men, both in place and time very famous, by the hands of his Apostles, doeth partly confirme them which beleeued, and partly also calleth other to beleeue.
a Both with heart and eyes.

11 ¶ And as the creeple which was healed, [b] held Peter & Iohn, all the people ranne amased vnto them in the porch which is called Salomons.

12 [2] So when Peter saw it, hee answered vnto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marueile ye at this? or why looke yee so stedfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlines, wee had made this man goe?

13 The God of Abraham, and Isaac, & Iacob, the ✣ God of our fathers hath glotified his Sonne Iesus, whom ye betraied, & denied in the presence of Pilate, whē he had iudged him to be deliuered.

15 And killed the Lord [c] of life, whome God hath raised frō the dead, wherof we are witnesses.

16 And his Name hath made this man sound, whom ye see, & know, through faith in his Name: [d] and the faith which is by him, hath giuen to him this perfite health of his whole body in the presence of you all.

17 [3] And now brethren, I know that through ignorance ye did it, as did also your gouernours.

18 But those things which God before had shewed [e] by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, he hath thus fulfilled.

19 Amend your liues therefore, and turne, that your sinnes may be put away, when ỹ time of refreshing shal come from ỹ presence of the Lord.

20 And hee shall send Iesus Christ, which before was preached vnto you, 21 [f] Whome the heauen must containe vntill the time that all things be restored, which God had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began.

23 For it shalbe ỹ euery person which shall not heare ỹ Prophet, shalbe destroied out of ỹ people.

24 Also all the Prophets [h] from Samuel, and thence foorth as many as haue spoken, haue likewise foretold of these dayes.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Peter and Iohn 3 are taken and brought before the councill. 7 and 19 They speake boldly in Christes cause. 24 The disciples pray vnto God. 32 Many sell their possessions: 36 Of whome Barnabas is one.

ANd [1] as they spake vnto the people, the Priestes and the [a] Captaine of the Temple,

1 None are commonly more diligent or bolder builders: but the more they rage, the more constantly the faithfull seruants of God doe continue.
a The Iewes had certaine garrisons for the garde and safetie of the Temple and holy things, Matth.26.65. These garrisons had a Captaine, such as Eleazarus Ananias the hie Priestes sonne was in the time of the warre that was in Iudea, being a very impudent and proud young man, Iosephus lib.2. of the taking of Iudea.

and the Sadduces came vpon them,

2 Taking it grieuously that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus Name the resurrection of the dead.

3 And they laid hands on them, and put them in holde, vntill the next day: for it was nowe euentide,

4 Howbeit many of them which heard the word, beleeued, and the number of the [o] men was about fiue thousand.

5 ¶ And it came to passe on the morow, that their [c] rulers, and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Hierusalem,

6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and Iohn, and Alexander, and as many as were of the [d] kinred of the hie Priests.

7 [2] And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what [e] Name haue ye done this?

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, said vnto them, Ye rulers of the people, & Elders of Israel,

9 [3] For as much as we this day are examined of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes he is made whole,

10 [4] Be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, whome yee haue crucified, whom God raised againe from the dead, euen by him doth this man stand here before you, whole.

11 ✣ This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men there is [f] giuen none other [g] Name [h] vnder heauen, whereby we must be saued.

13 [5] Now when they saw the boldnesse of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstood that they were vnlearned men and without [i] knowledge, they marueiled, and knew them, that they had bene [k] with Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they commanded them to goe aside out of the Counsel, and [k] conferred among themselues, 16 [6] Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it [u] openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem: and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it be noised no farther among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake hencefoorth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speake or teach in the Name of Iesus.

19 [7] But Peter and Iohn answered vnto them, and said, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge ye.

20 For we cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 [8] So they threatned them, and let them goe, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praysed God for that which was done.

22 For the man was aboue fourtie yeeres old, on whom this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 [9] Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priests and Elders had sayd vnto them.

24 [10] And when they heard it, they lift vp their voices to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art [ŷ] God which hast made the heauen, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them.

25 Which by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid hast said, ✣ Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The Kings of the earth assembled, and the rulers came together against the Lord, & against his Christ.

27 For doubtlesse, against thine holy Sonne Iesus, whom thou haddest anoynted, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the [l] people of Israel gathered themselues together, 28 To [m] doe whatsoeuer [n] thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to be done.

29 And nowe, O Lord, beholde their threatnings, and graunt vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy word, 30 So that thou stretch foorth thine hand, that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thine holy Sonne Iesus.

31 [11] And when they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 [12] And the multitude of them that beleeued, were of [o] one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them sayd, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all things ✣ common.

33 And with great power gaue the Apostles witnesse of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus: and great grace was vpon them all.

34 [13] Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessours of lands or houses, solde them, and brought the price of the things that were solde,

35 And layde it downe at the Apostles feete, and it was distributed vnto euery man, according as he had neede.

36 Also Ioses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation, the sonne of consolation) being a Leuite, and of the countrey of Cyprus, 37 Where as he had land, solde it, and brought the money, & laid it downe at the Apostles feete.

b While they thought to diminish the number, they increased them.
c These were they that made the Sanhedrin, which were all of the tribe of Iuda, vntil Herod vsed that cruelties against Dauids flocke.
d Of whome the high Priests were wont to be chosen and made, the execution of the yeerely office being nowe changed.

b filled thine heart, that thou shouldest c lye vnto the holy Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of this possession?

4 Whiles it remained, appertained it not vnto thee? and after it was solde, was it not in thine owne power? how is it that thou hast d conceiued this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lyed vnto men, but vnto God.

5 Nowe when Ananias heard these wordes, he fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the yong men rose vp, and tooke him vp, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said vnto her Tell me, solde ye the land for so much? And she said, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter sayd vnto her, Why haue ye agreed together, to e tempt the Spirit of the Lord? beholde, the feete of them which haue buried thine husband, are at the f doore, and shall carie thee out.

10 Then shee fell downe straightway at his feete, and yeelded vp the ghost: and the yong men came in, and found her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 [2] And great feare came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.

12 Thus by the hands of the Apostles were many signes and wonders shewed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Solomons porch.

13 And of the other durst no man ioyne himselfe to them: neuertheless the people g magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that beleeued in the Lord, both of men and women, grewe more and more)

15 In so much that they brought the sicke into the streetes, and layde them on beds and couches, that at the least way the shadowe of Peter, when he came by, might shadowe some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about vnto Hierusalem, bringing sicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spirits, who were all healed.

17 ¶ [3] Then the chiefe Priest rose vp, and all they that were with him (which was the h sect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation, 18 And layde handes on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 [4] But the Angel of the Lord by night opened the prison doores, and brought them foorth, and sayd, 20 [5] Goe your way, and stand in the Temple, and speake to the people, all the i wordes of this life.

21 [6] So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Council together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came, and found them not in the prison, they returned and tolde it, 23 Saying, Certainely we found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doores: but when we had opened, we found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Priest and the captaine of the Temple, and the hie Priests heard these things, they doubted of them, whereunto this would growe.

25 [7] Then came one and shewed them, saying, Beholde, the men that yee put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 [8] Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people, lest they should haue bene stoned)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Councill, and the chiefe Priest asked them, 28 [9] Saying, Did not we straightly cõmand you, that yee should not teach in this name? and behold, yee haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and ye would k bring this mans blood vpon vs.

29 [10] Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and said, We ought rather to obey God then men.

30 [11] The ✣ God of our fathers hath raised vp Iesus whom ye slewe, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lift vp with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Sauiour, to giue repentance to Israel, and forgiuenesse of sinnes.

32 [12] And wee are his witnesses concerning these things which we say: yea, & the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 Nowe when they heard it, they l brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 [13] Then stoode there vp in the Councill a certaine Pharise named Gamaliel, a doctour of the Lawe, honoured of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles foorth a little space, 35 And sayde vnto them, Men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what yee intend to doe touching these men.

36 [14] For before these times, rose vp Theudas m boasting himselfe, to whome reported a number of men, about a foure hundreth, who was slaine: and they all which obeyed him were scattered, and brought to nought.

37 After this man, arose vp Iudas of Galile, in the dayes of the tribute, and drewe away much people after him: he also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And nowe I say vnto you, n Refraine your selues from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsell, or this worke be of o men, it will come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, ye can not destroy it, lest ye be found euen fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commaunded that they shoulde not speake in the Name of Iesus, and let them goe.

41 [15] So they departed from the Councill, reioycing, that they were counted worthy to suffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And daily in the p Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Iesus Christ.

CHAP. VI.

2 The Apostles 3 appoint the office of Deaconship 5 to seuen chosen men: 8 Of whom Steuen, full of faith, is one: 12 He is taken, 13 and accused as a transgressour of Moses Lawe.

AND [1] in those daies, as the number of the disciples grew, there arose a murmuring of the [a] Grecians to wardes the Hebrewes, because their widowes were neglected in the [b] daily ministring.

2 [2] Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, and sayd, It is not [c] meete that we should leaue the word of God to serue the [d] tables.

3 [3] Wherefore brethren, looke you out among you seuen men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisedome, which we may appoynt to this businesse.

4 And we will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministration of the word.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and ✣ Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proselyte of Antiochia,

6 [4] Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and [e] layed their handes on them.

7 [5] And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priests were obedient to the [f] faith.

8 ¶ [6] Now Steuen ful of faith & [g] power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 [7] Then there arose certaine of the [h] Synagogue, which are called Libertines, & Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

10 [8] But they were not able to resist the wisedome, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which sayd, We haue heard him speake blasphemous wordes against Moses, and God.

12 [9] Thus they mooued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill, 13 [10] And set forth false witnesses, which said, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the Lawe.

14 For we haue heard him say, that this Iesus of Nazareth shal destroy this place, & shal change the ordinances which Moses gaue vs.

15 And as all that sate in the Councill looked stedfastly on him, they [i] saw his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

1 When Satan hath assailed the Church without, and that to small purpose and in vaine, he assaileth it within, with ciuill dissension and strife betwixt themselues: But the Apostles take occasion thereby to set order in the Church.

a Of their parties which of Grecians became religious Iewes.

b In the bestowing of almes according to their necessitie.

2 The office of preaching the word, and dispensing the goods of the Church, are different one from another, and not rashly to be ioyned together, as the Apostles doe here institute: And the Apostles doe not chuse so much as the Deacons without the consent of the Church.

c It is such a matter, as we may in no wise accept of it.

d Banquets: though by the name of tables, other offices are also meant, which are annexed to it, such as pertaine to the care of the poore.

3 In chusing of Deacons (& much more of Ministers) there must be examination both of their learning and maners of life.

✣ Chap.21.8.

4 The ancient Church did with laying on of hands, as it were consecrate to the Lord, such as were lawfully elected.

e This ceremonie of laying on of hands, came from the Iewes, who vsed this order both in publike affaires, and offring of sacrifices, and also in priuate prayers and blessings, as appeareth Gene.28. and the Church obserued this ceremonie, 1.Timoth.5.22. actes 8.17. but here is no mention made either of creame, or shauing, or rasing, or crosing, &c.

5 An happie ende of temptation.

f This is the figure Metonymia, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Gospell which engendreth faith.

6 God exerciseth his Church first with euill wordes and slaunders, then with imprisonments, afterward with scourgings, and by these meanes prepareth it in such sort, that at length he causeth it to encounter with Satan and the world, euen to bloodshead and death, and that with good successe.

g Excellent and singular gifts.

7 Schooles and Vniuersities were of olde time addicted to false pastours, and were the instruments of Satan to blowe abroad and defend false doctrines.

h Of the company and Colledge as it were.

8 False teachers, because they will not be ouercome, flee from disputations to maintaine and open slaundering and false accusations.

i Hereby it appeared that Steuen had an excellent and goodly countenance, hauing a quiet and setled minde, a good conscience, and sure perswasion that his cause was iust: for seeing hee was to die before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the ende that with the beholding of him, the Iewes mindes might be pearced and amased.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, 20 before Moses was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built: 44 And that all ordinances were ordained according to the heauenly Paterne. 54 The Iewes gnashing their teeth, 59 stone him.

THEN [1] sayde the chiefe Priest, Are these things so?

2 [2] And he said, Ye men, brethren, and Fathers, hearken. ✣ That God of [a] glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while he was in [b] Mesopotamie, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And said vnto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kinred, and come into the land, which I shall shewe thee.

4 Then came he out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein ye now dwell,

5 And he gaue him none inheritance, in it, no, not the [c] bredth of a foot: yet he [d] promised that he would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seede after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 But God spake thus, that his ✣ seede should be a soiourner in a strange land: and that they should keepe it in bondage, and entreate it euill [e] foure hundreth yeeres.

7 But the nation to whome they shall be in bondage, will I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come foorth and serue in this place.

8 ∴ He gaue him also the couenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begate ✲ Isaac, and circumcised him the eight day: and Isaac begate ✣ Iacob, and Iacob the twelue * Patriarkes.

9 [3] And the Patriarkes moued with enuie, sold ✣ Ioseph into Egypt: but God was [f] with him,

10 And deliuered him out of al his afflictions, and ✣ gaue him [g] fauour & wisedome in the sight of Pharao king of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when ∴ Iacob heard that there was corne in Egypt, he sent our fathers first:

13 ✲ And at the second time Ioseph was knowen of his brethren, and Iosephs kinred was made knowen vnto Pharao.

14 Then sent Ioseph and caused his father to be brought, and all his kindred, euen threescore and fifteene soules.

15 So ✣ Iacob went downe into Egypt, and he * died, and our fathers, 16 And were [h] remoued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought ✣ for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promise drewe neere, which God had sworne to Abraham, the people ✣ grewe and multiplied in Egypt.

1 Steuen is admitted to pleade his cause, but to this end and purpose, that vnder a cloke and colour of Lawe, he might be condemned.

2 Steuen witnesseth vnto the Iewes, that hee acknowledgeth the true fathers, and the onely true God: and sheweth moreouer, that they are more ancient then the Temple, with all that seruice appointed by the Lawe, and therefore they ought to lay an other foundation of true religion, that is to say, the free couenant that God made with the fathers.

18 Till another King arose, which knew not Ioseph.

19 The same i dealt subtilly with our kindred, and euill intreated our fathers, and made them to cast out their yong children, that they should not remaine aliue.

20 ✣ The same time was Moses borne, and was k acceptable vnto God, which was nourished vp in his fathers house three moneths.

21 And when he was cast out, Pharaos daughter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her owne sonne.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdome of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

23 Now when he was full fortie yeere olde, it came into his heart to visit his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 ✣ And when he saw one of the suffer wrong, he defended him, & auenged his quarell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For hee supposed his brethren would haue vnderstood, that God by his hand should giue them deliuerance: but they vnderstood it not.

26 ∵ And the next day, he shewed himselfe vnto them as they stroue, and would haue set them at one againe, saying, Sirs, ye are brethren: why do ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a prince, and a iudge ouer vs?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didst the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fled Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begate two sonnes.

30 And when forty yeeres were expired, there appeared to him in the wildernes of mount Sina, an l Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a bush.

31 And when Moses saw it, he woondered at the sight: and as he drew neere to consider it, the voice of the Lord came vnto him, saying, 32 I am the God of thy fathers, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob. Then Moses trembled, & durst not behold it.

33 Then the Lord said to him, Put off thy shooes from thy feet: for the place where thou standest, is holy ground.

34 I haue seene, I haue seene the affliction of my people, which is in Egypt, & I haue heard their groning, and am come downe to deliuer them: and now come, and I will send thee into Egypt.

35 This Moses whom they forsooke, saying, Who made thee a prince and a iudge? the same God sent for a prince & a deliuerer by the hand of the Angel which appeared to him in the bush.

36 He m brought them out, doing woonders, and miracles in the land of Egypt, and in the red sea, and in the wilderne* fortie yeres.

37 ✣ This is that Moses, which said vnto the children of Israel, ✣ A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise vp vnto you, euen of your brethren, like vnto me: him shall ye heare.

38 ✣ This is he that was in the Congregation, in the wildernesse with the Angel which spake to him in mount Sina, and with our fathers, who receiued the liuely oracles to giue vnto vs.

39 To whom our fathers would not obey, but refused, and in their hearts turned backe againe into Egypt.

40 Saying vnto Aaron, ✣ Make vs gods that may goe before vs: for we know not what is become of this Moses that brought vs out of the land of Egypt.

41 And they made a n calfe in those dayes, and offered sacrifice vnto the idole, and reioyced in the works of their owne hands.

42 Then God turned himselfe away, and o giue them vp to serue the p host of heauen, as it is written in the booke of the Prophets, ✣ O house of Israel, haue ye offered to me slaine beasts & sacrifices by the space of fortie yeres in the wildernesse?

43 And ye q tooke vp the tabernacle of Moloch, & the starre of your god Remphan, figures, which ye made to worship them: therefore I will cary you away beyond Babylon.

44 s Our fathers had the tabernacle of r witnesse, in the wildernesse, as he had appointed, speaking vnto ∵ Moses, that he should make it according to the fashion that he had seene.

45 ✲ Which tabernacle also our fathers t receiued, and brought in with Iesus into the u possession of the Gentiles, which God draue out before our fathers, vnto the dayes of Dauid:

46 ✲ Who found fauour before God, and desired that hee might finde a tabernacle for the God of Iacob.

47 *6 But Solomon built him an house.

48 Howbeit the most High ✣ dwelleth not in temples made with hands, as saith the Prophet, 49 ✣ Heauen is my throne, and earth is my footstoole: what house will ye build for me, saith the Lord? or what place is it that I should rest in?

50 Hath not mine hand made all these things?

51 ∵ 7 Ye stiffenecked and of x vncircumcised hearts and eares, ye haue alwayes resisted the holy Ghost: as your fathers did, so do you.

52 Which of the Prophets haue not your fathers persecuted? & they haue slaine them, which shewed before of the comming of that Iust, of whom ye are now the betrayers and murtherers, 53 ✲ Which haue receiued the law by the y ordinance of Angels, and haue not kept it.

54 8 But when they heard these things, their hearts brast for anger, and they gnashed at him with their teeth.

55 9 But he being full of the holy Ghost, looked stedfastly into heauen, and saw the glory of God, & Iesus z standing at the right hand of God, 56 And said, Behold, I see the heauens open, and the Sonne of man standing at the right hand of God.

57 10 Then they gaue a shout with a loud voice, and stopped their eares, and a ranne vpon him violently all at once, 58 And cast him out of the citie, and stoned him: and the b witnesses laid downe their clothes at a yong mans feet, named Saul.

59 And they stoned Steuen, who called on

1 Christ vseth the rage of his enemies to the spreading foorth and enlarging of his kingdome.
2 The godlie mourne for Steuen after his death, and burie him, shewing therein an example of singlar faith and charity: but no man prayeth to him.
a Amongst all the duties of charitie which the godly vse, there is no mention made of shrining vp of reliques.
3 The dispersion or scattring abroad of the faithfull, is the ioyning together of Churches.
4 Philip, who was before a Deacon in Hierusalem, is made of God extraordinarily an Euangelist.
5 Christ ouercommeth Satan so oft as he lusteth, and carieth him about as it were in a triumph, in the sight of them, whom he deceiued and bewitched.

7 Peter not chiefe, but as an ambassadour sent from the whole companie of the Apostles, and Iohn his companion, according to the authoritie which was committed vnto them, confirme and build vp the Churches of Samaria, whose foundation had bene layd afore by Philip.
d Those excellent gifts, which are necessarie, especially for them that were to be appointed rulers and gouernours of the Church.
8 Ambition and couetousnesse doe at length plucke the hypocrites out of their denes.

AND 1 Saul consented to his death. And at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Hierusalem, and they were all scattered abroad thorow the regions of Iudea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.
2 2 Then certeine men fearing God, a caried Steuen among them, to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.
3 3 But Saul made hauocke of the Church, and entred into euery house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.
4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.
5 ¶ 4 Then came Philip into the city of Samaria, and preached Christ vnto them.
6 And the people gaue heed vnto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.
7 For vncleane spirits crying with a loud voyce, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsies, and that halted, were healed.
8 And there was great ioy in that citie.
9 5 And there was before in the citie a certeine man called Simon, which vsed b witchcraft, and c bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himselfe was some great man.
10 To whom they gaue heed from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.
11 And they gaue heed vnto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.
12 But assoone as they beleeued Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdome of God, and the Name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.
13 6 Then Simon himselfe beleeued also, and was baptized, and continued with Philip, & wondred, when he saw the signes and great miracles which were done.
14 ¶ 7 Now when the Apostles, which were at Ierusalem, heard say, that Samaria had receiued ỹ word of God, they sent vnto them Peter & Iohn.
15 Which when they were come down, prayed for thẽ, that they might receiue the d holy Ghost.
16 (For as yet hee was fallen downe on none of them, but they were baptized onely in the Name of the Lord Iesus.)
17 Then layd they their hands on them, and they receiued the holy Ghost.
18 8 And when Simon saw, that through laying on of the Apostles hands the holy Ghost was giuen, he offered them money.
19 Saying, Giue me also this power, that on whomsoeuer I lay the hands, he may receiue the holy Ghost.
20 9 Then sayd Peter vnto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obteined with money.
21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this e businesse: for thine heart is not f right in the sight of God.
22 10 Repent therefore of this thy wickednes, and pray God, that if it be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiuen thee.
23 For I see that thou art in the g gall of bitternesse, and in the h bond of iniquitie.
24 Then answered Simon, and sayd, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye haue spoken, come vpon me.
25 ¶ So they, when they had testified & preached the word of the Lord, returned to Hierusalem, and preached the Gospel in many townes of the Samaritans.
26 11 Then the Angel of the Lord spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise, and goe toward the South vnto the way that goeth downe from Hierusalem vnto Gaza, which is waste.
27 And he arose and went on: and beholde, a certeine Eunuch of Ethiopia, Candaces the Queene of the Ethiopians i chiefe Gouernour, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Hierusalem to worship.
28 And as he returned sitting in his charet, he read Esaias the Prophet.
29 Then the Spirit said vnto Philip, Goe neere and ioyne thy selfe to yonder charet.
30 And Philip ranne thither, and heard him reade the Prophet Esaias, and said, But vnderstandest thou what thou readest?
31 And he sayd, How can I, except I had k a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come vp and sit with him.
32 12 Now the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, ✣ He was led as a sheepe to the slaughter: and like a lambe dumme before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth.
33 In his humilitie his iudgement hath bene exalted: but who shall declare his l generation? for his life is taken from the earth.
34 Then the Eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the Prophet this? of himselfe, or of some other man?
35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, & preached vnto him Iesus.
36 And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certeine water, and the Eunuch sayd, See, here is water: what doth let me to be baptized?
37 13 And Philip said vnto him, If thou beleeuest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and said, m I beleeue that that Iesus Christ is that Sonne of God.
38 Then he commanded the charet to stand still: and they went downe both into the water, both Philip & the Eunuch, and he baptized him.
39 And assoone as they were come vp out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch saw him no more: so he went on his way reioycing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and hee walked to and fro preaching in all the cities, till he came to Cesarea.

CHAP. IX.

1 Saul going toward Damascus, 4 is stroken down to the ground of the Lord: 10 Ananias is sent 18 to baptize him. 23 The laying await of the Iewes 25 hee escapeth, being let downe through the wall. 33 Peter cureth Aeneas of the palsie, 36 and by him Tabitha being dead, 40 is restored to life.

AND 1 ✣ Saul yet a breathing out threatnings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went vnto the hie Priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, that if he found any that were of that b way, (either men or women) hee might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 Now as he iourneyed, it came to passe that as he was come neere to Damascus, ✣ suddenly there shined round about him a light from heauen.

4 And he fell to the earth, and heard a voyce saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou mee?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: it is c hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

6 He then both trembling and astonyed, sayd, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lorde said vnto him, Arise, and goe into the citie, and it shall be tolde thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which iourneyed with him, d stood amased, hearing his e voyce, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but sawe no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus, 9 Where hee was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Beholde, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and go into the streete which is called Streight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of f Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth.

12 (And he saw in a vision a man named Ananias comming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receiue his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord, I haue heard by many of this man, how much euil he hath done to thy Saintes at Hierusalem.

14 Moreouer here he hath authoritie of the hie Priestes, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said vnto him, Go thy way: for he is a g chosen vessell vnto me, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, and Kings, and the children of Israel.

16 For I will h shew him, how many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

17 Then Ananias went his way, and entred into i that house, and put his handes on him, and said, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent mee (euen Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eyes as it had bene scales, and suddenly he receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized, 19 And receiued meat, and was strengthened. So was Saul certaine dayes with the disciples which were at Damascus.

20 2 And straightway hee preached Christ in the Synagogues, that hee was that Sonne of God, 21 So that all that heard him were amased, and said, Is not this hee, that made hauocke of them which called on this Name in Hierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that hee should bring them bound vnto the hie Priestes?

22 3 But Saul encreased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus, k confirming, that this was that Christ.

23 4 And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes tooke counsell together, to kill him, 24 But their laying awaite was knowen of Saul: nowe they ✣ watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 5 Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe by a rope in basket.

26 6 And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, he assayed to ioyne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and beleeued not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, & declared to them, how he had seene the Lord in the way, and that he had spoken vnto him, and how he had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 7 And hee was conuersant l with them at Hierusalem, 29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the m Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 8 But when the brethren knewe it, they brought him to Cesarea, and sent him foorth to Tarsus.

31 9 Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were n edified and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 10 And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout al quarters, he came also to the saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palsie.

34 Then said Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trusse thy couch together. And he arose immediatly.

35 And all that dwelt at o Lydda and Saron, sawe him, and turned to the Lord.

36 11 There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a disciple named Tabitha, (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) shee was full of good workes and almes which she did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come vnto them.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber, where all the widowes stood by him weeping, and shewing the coates and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

40 But Peter put them all foorth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the bodie, and said, Tabitha, arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, sate vp.

41 Then he gaue her the hand and lift her vp, and called the Saintes and widowes, and restored her aliue.

42 And it was knowen throughout all Ioppa, and many beleeued in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe, that he taryed many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

CHAP. X.

1 Cornelius, 4 at the Angels commandement, 5 sendeth for Peter: 11 Who also by a vision 15. 20 is taught not to despise the Gentiles: 34 He preacheth the Gospel to Cornelius and his houshold: 45 Who hauing receiued the holy Ghost, 47 are baptized.

1 Peter consecrateth the first fruites of the Gentiles to God by the meane of two miracles.

1 FVrthermore [1] there was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band,

2 A [2] deuout man, and one that feared God with [b] all his houshold, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He saw in a vision euidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angel of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, [c] What is it, Lord? and he said vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are [d] come vp into [e] remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 He lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to doe.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his seruants, and a souldier that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And told them all things, and sent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morowe as they went on their iourney, and drew neere vnto the citie, Peter went vp vpon the house to pray, about the sixt houre.

10 Then waxed he an hungred, and would haue eaten: but while they made some thing ready, he fell into a trance.

11 And he sawe heauen opened, and a certaine vessell come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheete, knit at the [g] foure corners, and was let downe to the earth, 12 Wherein were [h] al maner of [i] foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes and [k] creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

13 And there came a voyce to him, Arise, Peter: kill, and eate.

14 [2]But Peter said, Not so, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is polluted, or vncleane.

15 And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath purified, [l] pollute thou not.

16 This was so done thrise, and the vessel was drawen vp againe into heauen.

17 ¶ Nowe while Peter doubted in himselfe what this vision which he had seene, meant, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons house, and stoode at the gate, 18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirite said vnto him, Beholde, three men seeke thee.

20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doubt nothing: for I haue sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

22 And they said, Cornelius the captaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God, & of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy wordes.

23 Then called he them in, and lodged them: and the next day, Peter went foorth with them, and certaine brethren from Ioppa accompanyed him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entred into Cesarea. Nowe Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsemen, and speciall friendes.

25 [3] And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter tooke him vp, saying, Stand vp: for euen I my selfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said vnto them, Ye know that it is an vnlawful thing for a man that is a Iew, to company, or come vnto one of another nation: but God hath shewed me, that I should not call any man polluted, or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I aske therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for mee?

30 Then Cornelius said, Foure dayes agoe, about [m] this houre, I fasted, and at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and behold, a man stoode before me in bright clothing, 31 [4] And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, and thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 [5] Sende therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter, (hee is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by the sea side) who when he commeth, shall speake vnto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediatly, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are we all here present before God to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 [6] Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a trueth I perceiue, that [n] ✠ God is no accepter of persons.

a So that he worshipped one God, and was no Idolater, neither could be voyd of faith in Christ, because he was a deuout man: but as yet he knewe not that he was come.

b This is a great commendation to this man, that he laboured to haue all his houshold and familiar friends and acquaintance to be religious and godly.

c What wilt thou with me, Lord? for he feeleth himselfe to heare.

d This is a borowed kinde of speach, which the Hebrews vse very much, taken from sacrifices, and applied to prayers: for it is said of whole burnt sacrifices, that the smoke and sauour of them goeth vp into Gods nostrels: so do our prayers as a swete smelling sacrifice which the Lord taketh great pleasure in.

e That is, in so much that they will not suffer God as it were to forget thee: for so doeth the Scriptures vse oftentimes to praise with vs as nurses doe with litle children, when they frame their tongues to speake.

f For though Peter stand not amased as one that is tongue tyed, but talketh with God, and is instructed in his mysteries, yet his minde was fare otherwise then it was wont to be, but shortly returned to the olde bent.

g So that it seemed to be a foure square sheete.

h Here in this word (All) which is generall, plainly put for an infinite and vncertaine that is to say, for some of all sortes, not for all of euery sort.

i That is, such as were meete for mans vse.

k What is meant by these creeping things, Looke Leuit. 11.

l Doe not thou holde them as vncleane.

1 Peter profiteth daily in the knowledge of the benefite of Christ, yea, after that he had receiued the holy Ghost.

3 Religious adoration or worship agreeth onely to God: but ciuil worship is giuen to the Ministers of the word, although not without danger.

m He meaneth not the selfe same houre, but like, that is, about nine of the clocke the other day, as it was then nine when he spake to Peter.

4 Cornelius saith the weeth foorth it selfe by prayer and charitie.

5 As faith commeth by hearing, so is it nourished and groweth vp by the same.

6 Distinction of nations is taken away by the coming of Christ: And it is euidently seene by faith and righteousnes, who is agreeable to him, or whome he accepteth.

n That God iudgeth not after the outward appearance.

35 But in euery nation he that o feareth him, and worketh righteousnes, is accepted with him.

36 Ye p know the word which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Iesus Christ, which is Lord of all:

37 7 Euen the word which came through all Iudea, ✣ beginning in Galile, after the baptisme which Iohn preached:

38 To wit, how God q anointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, & with power: who went about doing good, & healing all that were oppressed of the deuill: for God was with him.

39 And we are witnesses of al things which he did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hierusalem, whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.

40 Him God raised vp the third day, and caused that he was shewed openly:

41 Not to all the people, but vnto ỹ witnesses r chosen before of God, euen to vs which did eat & drinke with him, after he arose from the dead.

42 And he commanded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testifie, that it is he that is ordained of God a iudge of quicke and dead.

43 To him also gaue all the ✣ Prophets witnes, that through his Name all that beleeue in him, shall receiue remission of sinnes.

44 8 While Peter yet spake these wordes, the holy Ghost fell on all them which heard ỹ word.

45 So they of the circumcision, which beleeued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.

46 For they heard them speake with tongues, and magnifie God. Then answered Peter, 47 9 Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghost, as well as we?

48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tary certaine dayes.

o By the feare of God, the Hebrewes vnderstand the whole seruice of God: whereby we perceiue that Cornelius was not voyd of faith, no more then they were which liued before Christs time: and therefore they deale foolishly, which build preparatiue works and free will, vpon this place.

p God gaue Israelites to vnderstand, that whosoeuer liueth godly, is acceptable to God, of what nation so euer he be, for he preached peace to men through Iesus Christ, who is Lord not of one nation onely, that is, of the Iewes, but of all.

7 The summe of the Gospel (which shall be made manifest at the latter day when Christ himselfe shal sit as iudge both of the quicke and dead) is this, that Christ promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in his time with the mightie power of God, (which was by all meanes shewed) & at length crucified to reconcile vs to God, did rise againe the third day, that whosoeuer beleeueth in him should be saued through the remission of sinnes. ✣ Luke 4

q The stile is taken from an old custome of the Iewes, who vsed to anoint their Kings & Priests, whereupon it grew, to call them anointed, vpon whome God bestoweth gifts and vertues.

r This chusing of the Apostles is properly giuen to God: for though God be present in the lawfull election of Ministers, yet there is in the place a secret opposition and setting of Gods chusing, and mans voyces the one against the other, for the Apostles are immediately appointed of God, and the Church Ministers by means. ✣ Ier. 31.34. mica. 7.18. chap. 15.9. 8 The Spirit of God sealeth that in the heart of the hearers, which the Minister of the word speaketh by the commandement of God, as it appeareth by the effects. 9 Baptisme doeth not sanctifie or make them holy which receiue it, but sealeth vp and confirmeth their sanctification.

CHAP. XI.

1 Peter being accused for going to the Gentiles, 4 defendeth himselfe. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antiochia, 26 where the disciples are called Christians 28 And there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

1 Peter being without cause reprehended of the vnskilfull and ignorant, doeth not obiect that he ought not to be iudged of any, but openly giueth an accompt of his doing.

NOwe 1 the Apostles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard, that the Gentiles had also receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying,

5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I sawe this vision, A certaine vessell comming downe as it had bene a great sheete, let downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me.

6 Towarde the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and sawe foure footed beastes of the earth, and wilde beastes, and creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

7 Also I heard a voyce, saying vnto mee, Arise, Peter: slay and eate.

8 And I sayde, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth.

9 But the voyce answered me the second time from heauen, the things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken vp into heauen.

11 Then behold, immediatly there were three men alreadie come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me.

12 And the Spirite said vnto me, that I should go with them, without doubting: moreouer these sixe brethren came with mee, and we entred into the mans house.

13 And he shewed vs, how hee had seene an Angel in his house, which stoode and said to him, Send men to Ioppa, & call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 He shall speake wordes vnto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shalbe saued.

15 And as I began to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, ✣ euen as vpon vs at the beginning.

16 Then I remembred the word of the Lord, how he said, ✣ Iohn baptized with water, but yee shalbe baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 For as much then as God gaue them a like gift, as hee did vnto vs, when wee beleeued in the Lorde Iesus Christ, who was I, that I coulde let God?

18 2 When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance vnto life.

19 ¶ 3 And they which were ⁘ scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Steuen, went throughout till they came vnto Phenice and Cyprus, and ⁘ Antiochia, preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely.

20 4 Nowe some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, & preached the Lord Iesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleeued and turned vnto the Lord.

22 5 Then tidings of those things came vnto the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, and they sent foorth Barnabas, that he should goe vnto Antiochia.

23 Who when hee was come and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, & faith, and much people ioyned themselues vnto the Lord.

25 ¶ 6 Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus, to seeke Saul:

26 And when he had found him, he brought him vnto Antiochia: and it came to passe that a whole yeere they were conuersant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia.

⁘ Chap. 8.1.

a He speaketh of Antiochia which was in Syria and bordered vpon Cilicia.

4 The Church of Antioch, the newe Hierusalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.

5 The Apostles doe not rashly condemne an extraordinarie vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effects.

6 There was no contention amongst the Apostles either of superiping or of holding places and degrees.

27 7 In those dayes also came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antiochia.

28 And there stood vp one of them named Agabus, & signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to passe vnder Claudius Cesar.

29 8 Then the disciples euery man according to his habilitie, purposed to send b succour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Iudea.

30 Which thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders by the hand of Barnabas and Saul.

CHAP. XII.

2 Herod killeth Iames with the sworde. 4 And imprisoneth Peter. 8 whom the Angel deliuereth. 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyrus, 21 is pacified: 22 And taking the honour due to God, to himselfe, 23 hee is eaten with wormes, and so dyeth.

NOwe 1 about that time, 2 Herod the King stretched forth his hand to vexe certaine of the Church,

2 And hee b killed Iames the brother of Iohn with the sword.

3 2 And when hee sawe that it pleased the Iewes, hee proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vnleauened bread.)

4 3 And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and deliuered him to foure quaternions of souldiers to be kept, intending after the Passeouer to bring him forth to the people.

5 4 So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod woulde haue brought him out vnto the people, the same night slept Peter between two souldiers, bound with two chaines, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison.

7 ✠ And behold, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and a light shined in the c house, and he smote Peter on the side, and raysed him vp, saying, Arise quickly. And his chaines fell off from his handes.

8 And the Angel sayde vnto him, Girde thy selfe, and binde on thy sandales. And so hee did. Then hee saide vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and folowe me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened vnto them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one streete, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Now I knowe for a trueth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Iewes.

12 5 And as he considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary the mother of Iohn, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 6 And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide d came foorth to hearken, named Rhode,

14 But when she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ranne in, and tolde how Peter stood before the entrie.

15 But they said vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet she affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and sawe him, they were astonished.

17 7 And hee beckened vnto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought them out of the prison. And he sayde, Goe shewe these things vnto Iames and to the brethren: and he departed and went into an other place.

18 ¶ 8 Nowe assoone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, hee examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 9 Then Herod was angrie with them of Tyrus and Sidon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, and perswaded Blastus the Kings Chamberlaine, and they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the kings land.

21 And vpon a day appoynted, Herod arayed himselfe in royall apparell, and sate on the iudgement seate, and made an oration vnto them.

22 10 And the people gaue a shoute, saying, The voyce of God, and not of man.

23 11 But immediatly the Angel of the Lorde smote him, because he e gaue not glory vnto God, so that he was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

24 12 And the f worde of God grew and multiplied.

25 So Barnabas and Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, and took with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

false prophet, being a Iew, named Barieſus,

7 Which was with the Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and deſired to heare the word of God.

8 4 But Elymas, the ſorcerer, (for ſo is his name by interpretation) withſtood them, and ſought to turne away the Deputy from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which alſo is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghoſt, ſet his eyes on him,

10 5 And ſayd, O full of all ſubtiltie and all e miſchiefe, the childe of the deuill, and enemie of all righteouſnes, wilt thou not ceaſe to peruert the ſtreight wayes of the Lord?

11 Now therefore beholde, the f hand of the Lord is vpon thee, and thou ſhalt be blinde, and not ſee the ſunne for a ſeaſon. And immediatly there fell on him a miſt & a darknes, and he went about, ſeeking ſome to leade him by the hand.

12 Then the Deputie when he ſaw what was done, beleeued, and was aſtonied at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 6 Now when Paul and they that were with him were departed by ſhippe from Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hieruſalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a city of g Piſidia, & went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, & ſate downe.

15 7 And after the lecture of the Law & Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue ſent vnto them, ſaying, Ye men & brethren, if ye h haue any word of exhortation for the people, ſay on.

16 8 Then Paul ſtood vp and beckened with the hand, and ſaid, Men of Iſrael, and ye that feare God, hearken.

17 The God of this people of Iſrael choſe our fathers, and i exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of ✣ Egypt, and with an arme ✣ k high brought them out thereof.

18 And about the time ∴ of fortie yeeres, ſuffered he their maners in the wildernes.

19 And he deſtroyed ſeuen nations in the land of Chanaan, & ✲ diuided their land to thē by lot.

20 Thenafterward he gaue vnto them ✣ Iudges about l foure hundreth and fiftie yeeres, vnto the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 So after that, they deſired a * King, and God gaue vnto them ✣ Saul, the ſonne of Cis, a man of the tribe of Beniamin, by the ſpace of m fourtie yeeres.

22 And after he had taken him away, he raiſed vp ✣ Dauid to be their King, of whome he witneſſed, ſaying, I haue found Dauid the ſonne of Ieſſe, a man after mine owne heart, which will do all things that I will.

23 9 Of this mans ſeede hath God ∴ according to his promiſe raiſed vp to Iſrael, ẏ Sauiour Ieſus:

24 ∴ When ✲ Iohn had firſt preached n before his comming the baptiſme of repentance to all the people of Iſrael.

25 And when Iohn had fulfilled his courſe, he ſaid, ✣ Whom ye thinke that I am, I am not he: but behold, there commeth one after me, whoſe ſhooe of his feete I am not worthy to looſe.

26 10 Ye men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, and whoſoeuer among you feareth God, to you is the word of this ſaluation ſent.

27 11 For the inhabitants of Hieruſalem, and their rulers, becauſe they knewe him not, nor yet the wordes of the Prophets, which are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them in condemning him.

28 And though they found no cauſe of death in him, ✣ yet deſired they Pilate to kill him.

29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they tooke him downe from the tree, and put him in a ſepulchre.

30 12 But God ∴ raiſed him vp from the dead.

31 And hee was ſeene many dayes of them, which came vp with him from Galile to Hieruſalem, which are his witneſſes vnto the people.

32 And we declare vnto you, that touching the promiſe made vnto the fathers, 33 God hath fulfilled it vnto vs their children, in that he o raiſed vp Ieſus, ✲ 3 euen as it is written in the ſecond Pſalme, ✲ Thou art my Sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

34 Now as concerning that he raiſed him vp from the dead, no more to returne to corruption, he hath ſayd thus, ✣ I will giue you the holy things of Dauid, p which are faithfull.

35 14 Wherefore hee ſayeth alſo in another place, *Thou wilt not ſuffer thine holy one to ſee corruption.

36 Howbeit, Dauid after hee had ſerued his time by the counſell of God, he ✣ ſlept, and was layed with his fathers, and ſaw corruption.

37 But hee whom God raiſed vp, ſaw no corruption.

38 15 Be it knowen vnto you therefore, men and brethren, that through this man is preached vnto you the forgiueneſſe of ſinnes.

39 And from q all things, from which ye could not be iuſtified by the Law of Moſes, by him euery one that beleeueth, is iuſtified.

40 16 Beware therefore leſt that come vpon you, which is ſpoken of in the Prophets, 41 ✣ Beholde, ye deſpiſers, and woonder, and vaniſh away: for I worke a worke in your dayes, a worke which ye ſhall not beleeue, if a man would declare it you.

42 ¶ 17 And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Iewes, the Gentiles beſought, that they would preach theſe words to them the next Sabbath day.

43 Nowe when the congregation was diſſolued, many of the Iewes and r Proſelytes that feared God, followed Paul & Barnabas, which ſpake vnto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole city together, to heare the word of God.

45 [18] But when the Iewes saw the people, they were full of enuy, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them.

46 [19] Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and sayd, It was necessarie that the word of God should first haue bene spoken vnto you: but seeing ye put it from you, and ‖ iudge your selues vnworthy of euerlasting life, loe, we turne to the Gentiles.

47 For so hath the Lord commanded vs, saying, ✣ I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the saluation vnto the end of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, & glorified the word of the Lord and as many as were [t] ordeined vnto eternal life, beleeued.

49 Thus the word of the Lord was published thorowout the whole countrey.

50 [20] But the Iewes stirred certeine [u] deuout and honourable women, and the chiefe men of the citie, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coasts.

51 [21] But they ✣ shooke off the dust of their feet against them, and came vnto Iconium.

52 And the disciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy Ghost.

18 The fauour of one selfe same Gospel is vnto the reprobate and vnbeleeuers, death, and to the elect and such as beleeue, life.

19 The Gospel is published to the Gentiles by the expresse commandement of God.

‖ By this your doing you doe as it were pronounce sentence against your selues, and iudge your selues.

Therefore either all were not appointed to euerlasting life, or els all should haue beleeued: but because that is not so, it followeth that some certeine were ordeined: & therefore God did not only foreknow, but also foreordaine, that neither faith nor the effects of faith should be the cause of his ordeining or appointment, but his ordeining the cause of faith.

20 Such is the craft and subtiltie of the enemies of the Gospel, that they abuse the simplicitie of some which are not altogether euill men, to execute their crueltie.

u Such as embraced Moses his Law.

21 The wickednesse of the world cannot let God to gather his Church together and to foster and cherish it, when it is gathered together.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Paul and Barnabas 5 are persecuted from Iconium: 6 At Lystra Paul 10 healeth a creeple: 13 They are about to do sacrifice vnto them, 15 but they forbid it: 19 Paul by the perswasion of certeine Iewes, is stoned: 23 From thence passing thorow diuers Churches, 26 they returne to Antiochia.

AND [1] it came to passe in [a] Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and of the Grecians beleeued.

2 And the [b] vnbeleeuing Iewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 [2] So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lorde, which gaue testimonie vnto the word of his grace, and caused signes and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the citie was diuided: and some were with the Iewes, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Iewes with the rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and [c] fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Gospel.

8 ¶ [3] Nowe there sate a certaine man at Lystra, impotent in his feete, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked.

9 He heard Paul speake: who beholding him and perceiuing that he had faith to be healed, 10 Said with a loud voyce, Stand vpright on thy feete. And he leaped vp, and walked.

11 Then when the people saw what Paul had done, they lift vp their voyces, saying in the speach of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: & Paul, Mercurius, because he was the chiefe speaker.

13 Then Iupiters Priest, which was before their city, brought bulles with garlands vnto the gates, and would haue sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 [4] And saying, O men, why doe yee these things? We are euen men subiect to the like passions that ye bee, and preach vnto you, that yee should turne from these [f] vaine things vnto the liuing God, ✣ which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are:

16 [5] Who in times past ✣ [g] suffered all the Gentiles to walke in their owne wayes.

17 Neuertheless, he left not himselfe without witnes, in that he did good and gaue vs raine from heauen, and fruitfull seasons, filling our hearts with food, and gladnesse.

18 And speaking these things, scarse appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed vnto them.

19 [6] Then there came certeine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had persuaded the people, ∴ stoned Paul, and drew him out of the city, supposing he had bene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, he arose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe.

21 [7] And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia, 22 [8] Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that we must through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.

23 [9] And when they had ordeined them Elders by election in euery Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they beleeued.

24 [10] Thus they went thorowout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came downe to to [h] Attalia, 26 And thence sailed to i Antiochia, ✣ from whence they had bene commended vnto the grace of God, to the worke, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, and how he had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the disciples.

THen [1] came downe [2] certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the maner of Moses, ye cannot be saued.

2 [2] And when there was great dissention, and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordeyned that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should go vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus [b] being brought forth by the Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But said they, certain of the sect of the Pharises, which did beleeue, rose vp, saying, that it was needefull to circumcise them, and to commaund them to keepe the law of Moses.

6 [3] Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and said vnto them, ✣ [4] Yee men and brethren, ye know that a [c] good while agoe, among vs God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleeue.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them the holy Ghost euen as he did vnto vs.

9 And he put no [d] difference betweene vs and them, after that ✣ [e] by faith he had purified their hearts.

10 [5] Now therefore, why [f] tempt ye God, to lay a yoke on the disciples necks, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?

11 But wee beleeue, through the grace of the Lord Iesus Christ to be saued, euen as they doe.

12 [6] Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which told what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, [g] Iames answered, saying, Men, and brethren, hearken vnto me.

14 [7] Simeon hath declared, how God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people vnto his Name.

15 And to this agree the wordes of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 ✣ After this I will returne, and will builde againe the Tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof will I build againe, and I will set it vp.

17 That the residue of men might seeke after the Lorde, and all the Gentiles vpon whome my Name is called, sayeth the Lorde which doeth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the worlde, God [h] knoweth all his workes.

19 [8] Wherefore my sentence is, that we trouble not thē of the Gentiles ẏ are turned to God, 20 But that we send vnto them, that they abstaine themselues from [i] filthinesse of idoles, and fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of olde time hath in euery citie them that preach him, seeing he is read in the Synagouges euery Sabbath day.

22 [9] Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church to sende chosen men of their owne companie to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Iudas whose surname was Barsabas and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren, 23 And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, & the brethren, Vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 [10] Forasmuch as wee haue heard, that certaine which [k] went out from vs? haue troubled you with swordes, and [l] combred your mindes, saying, Ye must be circumcised and keepe ỹ Law: to whom we gaue no such commandemet,

25 It seemed therefore good to vs, when wee were come together with one accord, to sende chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue [m] giuen vp their liues for the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ.

27 Wee haue therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shall also tell you ỹ same things by mouth.

28 [11] For it seemed good to the [n] holy Ghost, and [o] to vs, to lay no more burden vpon you, then these [p] necessarie things, 29 [12] That is, that yee abstaine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well.

30 [13] Nowe when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 And when they had read it, they reioyced for the consolation.

32 And Iudas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, & strengthened them.

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in [q] peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other, the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ [14] But after certaine dayes, Paul said vnto Barnabas, Let vs returne, & visite our brethren in euery citie, where we haue preached the word of the Lord, and see how they doe.

1 The Church is at length troubled with dissention within it selfe, and the trouble riseth of the proude and stubburne wittes of certaine euill men: The first strife was concerning the office of Christ, whether we be saued by his only righteousnesse apprehended by faith, or we haue neede also to obserue the Law.

a Epiphanius is of opinion that this was Cerinthus.

2 Meetings of Congregations were instituted to suppresse heresies, whereunto certaine were sent by common consent in the name of all.

b Courteously and louingly brought on their way by the Church, that is, by certaine appointed by the Church.

3 The matter is first handled, both partes being heard, in the assembly of the Apostles and ancients, and after is communicated with the people.

✣ Chap.10.20, and 11.12.

4 God himselfe in calling of the Gentiles which are vncircumcised, did teach that our saluation doth consist in faith without the worship appointed by the Law.

c Word for word, of olde time, that is, euen from the first time that we were commaunded to preach the Gospel, and straight wayes after that the holy Ghost came downe vpon vs.

d He put no difference betweene vs and them, as touching the benefite of his free fauour.

✣ Chap.10.43.

1.cor.1.2.

e Christ pronounceth them Blessed, which are pure of heart: and here we are plainely taught, that men are made such by faith. 5 Peter, passing from the Ceremonies, to the Lawe it selfe in generall, sheweth that none could bee saued, if saluation were to be sought for by the Lawe, and not by grace onely in Iesus Christ: because that no man could euer fulfill the Lawe, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle.

f Why tempt ye God, as though he could not saue by faith? ✣ Matth. 23.4. 6 A true paterne of a lawfull Councill, where Gods trueth onely reigneth.

g The sonne of Alphæus, who is also called the Lords brother. 7 Iames confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles, out of the worde of God, therein agreeing to Peter. ✣ Amos 9.11.

h And therefore nothing commeth to passe by fortune, but by Gods appointment.

8 In matters indifferent, we may so farre beare with the weakenesse of our brethren, as they may haue time to be instructed.

i From sacrifices, or from feastes which were kept in Idoles temples.

9 In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appointed and chosen Iudges, appoynt and determine any thing tyrannously or vpon a Lordlines, neither doth the common multitude set themselues tumultuously against them which sit as Iudges by the worde of God: as the like order also is holden in publishing and ratifying those things which haue bene so determined and agreed vpon.

10 The Councill of Hierusalē concludeth, that they trouble mens consciences, which teach vs to seeke saluation in any other meanes then in Christ onely, apprehended by faith, from whence soeuer they come, and whomsoeuer they pretend to be authour of their vocation.

k From our congregation.

l A borowed kinde of speech taken of them which pull downe that that was built vp: and it is a very vsuall metaphore in the Scriptures, to say the Church is built, for the Church is planted and stablished.

m Haue greatly hazarded their liues.

11 That is a lawfull Councill, which the holy Ghost ruleth.

n First they make mention of the holy Ghost, that it may not seeme to be any mans worke.

o Not that men haue any authoritie of themselues but to shew the faithfulnesse that they vsed in their ministerie and labour. p This was no precise necessitie, but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Iewes might more peaceably liue together with lesse occasion of quarell. 12 Charitie is requisite euen in things indifferent. 13 It is requisite for all people to know certainely what to hold in matters of faith and religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, should depend vpon the pleasure of a fewe.

q This is an Hebrewe kinde of speech, which is as much to say, as the brethren wished them all prosperous successe, and the Church dismissed them with good leaue. 14 Congregations or Churches doe easily degenerate, vnlesse they be diligently seene vnto, and therefore went these Apostles to ouersee such as they had planted, and for this cause also, Synodes were instituted and appoynted.

15 A lamentable example of discord betweene excellent men and very great friends, yet not for prophane or their priuate affaires, neither yet for doctrine.

16 God vseth the faults of his seruants to the profite and building of his Church, yet we haue to take heede, euen in the best matters, that we passe not measure in our heate.

37 [15] And Barnabas counselled to take with them Iohn, called Marke.

38 But Paul thought it not meete to take him vnto their companie, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 [16] Then were they so [r] stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed vnto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Sylas and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And hee went through Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

r They were in great heate: But herein we haue to consider the force of Gods counsell: for by this meanes it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospell was exercised in many places.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul hauing circumcised Timotheus, 12 being at Philippi, 14 instructeth Lydia in the faith. 16 The spirit of diuination 18 vby him cast out: 20 and for that cause 22 they are whipped, 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake 27 the prison doores are opened. 31. 32 The Gaoler receiueth the faith.

THen [1] came he to Derbe and to Lystra: and beholde, a certaine disciple was there named ✣ Timotheus, a womās sonne, which was a [a] Iewesse and beleeued, but his father was a Grecian.

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, [b] reported well.

3 [2] Therefore Paul would that he should goe forth with him, and tooke and circumcised him, because of ỹ Iewes, which were in those quarters: for they knewe all, that his father was a Grecian.

4 [3] And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them to keepe the decrees, ordeined of the Apostles and Elders which were at Hierusalē.

5 And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and increased in number dayly.

6 ¶ [4] Nowe when they had gone throughout Phrigia, and the region of Galatia, they were [d] forbidden of the holy Ghost to preache the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia & sought to goe into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came downe to Troas.

9 [5] Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night, There stoode a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

10 [6] And after he had seene the vision, immediatly we prepared to go into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preach the Gospel vnto them.

11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a streight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis, 12 ¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in ỹ parts of Macedonia, & whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there: and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 [7] And on the Sabbath day, we went out of the citie, besides a riuer, where they were wont to [c] pray: and wee sate downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together.

14 [8] And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatrians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lorde opened, that shee attended vnto the things, which Paul spake.

15 [9] And when shee was baptized, and her household, she besought vs, saying, If ye haue iudged me to be faithfull to ỹ Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained vs.

16 [10] And it came to passe that as we went to prayer, a certaine maid hauing a spirit of [f] diuination, mette vs, which gate her masters much vantage with diuining.

17 Shee followed Paul and vs, and cried, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shew vnto you the way of saluation.

18 And this did shee [g] many dayes: but Paul being grieued, turned about, and said to the spirit, I command thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre.

19 [11] Nowe when her masters sawe that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drewe them into the market place vnto the Magistrates,

20 [12] And brought them to the gouernour, saying, These men which are Iewes trouble our citie, 21 [13] And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

22 [14] The people also rose vp together against them, and the gouernours rent their clothes, and commanded them to be beaten with rods.

23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them in prison, commaunding the Gaoler to keepe them surely.

24 Who hauing receiued such commaundement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feete [h] fast in the stockes.

25 [15] Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddēly there was a great earthquake, so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed.

27 [15] Then ỹ keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when hee saw the prison doores open, he drew out his sword and would haue killed him selfe, supposing the prisoners had bin fled.

28 [17] But Paul cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme: for we are all here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and said, Syrs, what must I doe to be saued?

31 And they sayde, Beleeue in the Lord Iesus Christ, & thou shalt be saued, & thine household.

32 And they preached vnto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.

33 [18] Afterwarde hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged vnto him, straightway.

34 And when hee had brought them into his house, he set meate before them, and reioiced that he with all his household beleeued in God.

35 [19] And when it was day, the gouernours sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

36 Then

1 Paul himselfe doeth not receiue Timothie into the ministerie without sufficient testimonie, and allowance of the brethren.

✣ Rom. 16.21. Philip. 2 19. 1. Thess. 3.2.

a Paul in his latter Epistle to Timothie, commendeth the godlines of Timothies mother and grandmother, b Both for his godlinesse and honestie.

2 Timothie is circumcised, not simply for any necessitie, but in respect of the time onely to winne the Iewes.

3 Charitie is to be obserued in things indifferent, that so regard be had both of the weake, and the quietnesse of the Church.

c Those decrees which he spake of in the former chapter.

4 God appoynteth certaine and determinate times to open and set foorth his trueth, that both the election and the calling may proceede of grace.

d He sheweth not why they were forbidden, but onely that they were forbidden, teaching vs to obey and not to inquire.

5 They are the Ministers of the Gospel by whom he helpeth such as were like to perish. 6 The Saints did not easily beleeue euery vision. 7 God beginneth his kingdome in Macedonia by the conuersion of a woman, and so sheweth that there is no acception of person in the Gospel. 8 The Lord only openeth the heart to heare the worde which is preached.

e Where they were woont to assemble themselues.

9 An example of a godly huswife.

10 Satan transformeth himselfe into an Angel of light, and coueteth to enter by vnderming but Paul openly letteth him and casteth him out.

f This is a proper note of Apollo, which was wont to giue answeres to them that asked him.

g Paul made no haste to this miracle, for he did all things as hee was led by the spirit.

11 Couetousnesse of lucre and gaines is an occasion of persecuting the trueth. In the meane season, God sparing Timothie, calleth Paul and Silas as the stronger, to battaile.

12 Couetousnesse pretendeth a desire of common peace and godlinesse.

13 It is an argument of the deuill, to vrge the authoritie of ancesters without any distinction.

14 An example of euill Magistrates, to obey the furie and rage of the people.

h Because hee would be more sure of them, he set them fast in the stockes.

15 The prayers of the godly do shake both heauen and earth.

16 The mercifull Lord, so oft as he listeth, draweth men to life euen through the midst of death, and whereas iustly they deserued great punishment, he sheweth them great mercie.

17 In meanes, which are especially extraordinarie, we ought not to moue our foote forward, vnlesse that God goe before vs.

18 God with one selfe same hand woundeth and healeth, when it pleaseth him.

19 Shame and confusion is in processe of time, the rewarde of wicked and vniust Magistrates.

20 We must not render iniurie for iniurie, and yet notwithstanding it is lawfull for vs to vse such helpes as God giueth vs, to bridle the outrageousnesse of the wicked, that they hurt not other in like sort.
21 The wicked are not mooued with the feare of God, but with the feare of men: and by that meanes also God prouideth for his, when it is needefull.
22 We may eschew dangers, so that we neuer neglect our dutie.

36 Then the keeper of the prison tolde these wordes vnto Paul, saying, The gouernours haue sent to loose you: now therefore get you hence, and goe in peace.

37 [20] Then said Paul vnto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and now would they put vs out priuily? nay verely: but let them come and bring vs out.

38 [21] And the sergeants tolde these wordes vnto the gouernours, who feared when they heard that they were Romanes.

39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie.

40 [22] And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lydia: and when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul at Thessalonica 3 preacheth Christ, 6. 7 is intreated of Iason: 10 He is sent to Berea: 15 from thence comming to Athens, 19 in Mars streete 23 he preacheth the liuing God to them vnknown, 34 and so many are conuerted vnto Christ.

1 The casting out of Silas and Paul, was the saluing of many other.
2 Christ is therefore the Mediator, because he was crucified and rose againe: much lesse is he to be reiected, because the crosse is ignominious.
3 Although the zeale of the vnfaithfull seeme neuer so goodly, yet at length it is found to haue neither trueth nor equitie: But yet the wicked cannot do what they list, for euen among themselues God stirreth vp some, whose helpe he vseth to the deliuerance of his.
a Certaine companions which do nothing but walke the streets, wicked men, to be hired for euery mans money, to doe any mischiefe, such as we commonly call the rascals and very sinkes and dunghil knaues of all townes and cities.
b Into what country and place soeuer they come, they cause sedition and tumult.
c When Iason had put them in good assurance that they should appeare.
4 That is in deede the wisedome of the Spirite, which alwayes setteth the glory of God before it selfe as a marke whereunto it directeth it selfe and neuer swarueth from it. 5 The Lord setteth out in one moment, and in one people diuers examples of his vnsearcheable wisdome, to cause them to feare him. d He compareth the Iewes with the Iewes.

NOwe [1] as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Iewes.

2 And Paul, as his manner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabbath dayes disputed with them by the Scriptures,

3 [2] Opening and alledging that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead. and this is Iesus Christ, whom, said he, I preach to you.

4 And some of them beleeued, and ioyned in companie with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a few.

5 [3] But the Iewes which beleeued not, mooued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine [a] vagabondes and wicked fellowes, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made assault against the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 But when they found them not, they drewe Iason and certain brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, These are they which haue subuerted the state of the [b] world, and here they are,

7 Whom Iason hath receiued, and these all doe against the decrees of Cesar, saying, that there is another King one Iesus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the citie, when they heard these things.

9 Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient [c] assurance of Iason and of the other, they let them goe.

10 [4] And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into the Synagogue of the Iewes.

11 [5] These were also more [d] noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which receiued the word with all readinesse, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so.

12 Therefore many of them beleeued, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a fewe.

13 ¶ [6] But when the Iewes of Thessalonica knew, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and mooued the people.

14 [7] But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to goe as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still.

15 [8] And they that did conduct Paul, [e] brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commandement vnto Silas and Timotheus that they should come to him at once, they departed.

16 ¶ [9] Nowe while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was [f] stirred in him, when hee sawe the citie subiect to [g] idolatrie.

17 Therefore hee disputed in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market daily with [h] whomsoeuer he met.

18 [10] Then certaine Philosophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoickes, disputed with him, and some said, What will this [i] babler say? Others said, He seemeth to be a setter foorth of strange gods (because he preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.)

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into [k] Mars streete, saying, May we not know, what this newe doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?

20 For thou bringest certaine strange things vnto our eares: we would knowe therefore, what these things meane.

21 [11] For all the Athenians, and strangers which dwelt there, gaue themselues to nothing else, but either to tell, or to heare some newes.

22 [12] Then Paul stoode in the mids of Mars streete, and sayde, Ye men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things ye are too [l] superstitious.

23 For as I passed by, and beheld your [m] deuotions, I founde an altar wherein was written, VNTO THE [n] VNKNOWEN GOD Whom ye then ignorantly worship, him shewe I vnto you.

24 [13] God that made the worlde, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lorde of heauen and earth, ✣ dwelleth not in temples made with hands,

25 ✣ Neither is worshipped with mens hands, as though he need any thing, seeing he giueth to all life and breath and all things,

26 [14] And hath made of [o] one blood al mankind, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were ordeined before, and the bounds of their habitation,

6 Satan hath his, who are zealous for him, and that euen such, as least of all ought.
7 There is neithe counsell nor furie nor madnesse against the Lord.
8 The keepe of Christ doe also watch for their pastors health and safetie, but yet in the Lord.
e It is not for nought that the Iewes of Berea were so commended, for they brought Paul safe from Macedonia to Athens, and there is distance betwixt those two, all Thessalia, and Beotia, and Attica.
9 In comparing the wisedome of God with mans wisedome, men scoffe and mocke at that which they vnderstand not: And God vseth the curiositie of fooles, to gather together his elect.
f He could not forbeare.
g Slaunderously giuen to Idolatry: Pausanias writeth that there were more Idoles in Athens, then in all Grecia, yee they had altars dedicated to Shame, and Fame, & Lust, whom they made goddesses h Whomsoeuer Paul met with, that would suffer him to talke with him, he reasoned with him, so throughly did he burne with the zeale of Gods glory.
12 Two sectes especially of the Philosophers doe set themselues against Christ: the Epicures, which make a mocke and scoffe at all religiō:

and the Stoickes, which determine vpon matters of religion according to their owne braines. i Word for word, seede gatherer: a borowed kind of speach taken of birds which spoile corne, and is applied to them which without all arte bluster out such knowledge as they haue gotten by hearing this man & that man. k This was a place called as if one would say, Mars hil, where the iudges sate which were called Areopagitæ, vpon weighty affaires, which in olde time arraigned Socrates, and afterward condemned him of impietie. 11 The wisedome of man is vanitie. 12 The Idolaters themselues minister most strong and forcible arguments against their owne superstition. l To stand in too perilous and seruile a feare of our gods. m What soeuer men worship for religions sake, that we call deuotion. n Pausanias in his Atticis, maketh mention of the altar which the Athenians had dedicated to vnknowen gods: and Laertius in his Epimenides maketh mention of an altar that had no name inscribed. 13 It is a most foolish and vaine thing to compare the Creator, with the creature, to limitate him within a place which can be comprehended in no place, and to thinke to allure him with gifts, of whom all men haue receiued all things whatsoeuer they haue: And these are the fountaines of all idolatrie. ✣ Chap. 7. 48. ✣ Psal. 50. 8. 14 God is wonderfull in all his workes, but especially in the worke of man: not that we should stand amazed at his works, but that we should lift vp our eyes to the workeman. o Of one stocke and one beginning.

27 That they should seeke the Lord, if so bee they might haue p groped after him, and founde him, though doubtlesse he be not farre from euery one of vs.

28 For in him wee liue, and mooue, and haue our being, as also certaine of your owne Poets haue said: For we are also his generation.

29 ✣ Forasmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is like vnto gold, or siluer, or stone q grauen by arte and the inuention of man.

30 [15] And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but nowe hee admonisheth all men euery where to repent, 31 Because hee hath appointed a day in the which he will iudge the world in righteousnesse, by that man whom he hath appointed, whereof he hath giuen an [r] assurance to all men, in that hee hath raised him from the dead.

32 [16] Now when they had heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and other said, We will heare thee againe of this thing.

33 And so Paul departed from among them.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lorde confirmeth him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vaine: 18 From thence he saileth to Syria, 10 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he strengtheneth the disciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacie.

1 The true ministers are to farre from seeking their owne profite, that they doe willingly depart from their right, rather then the course of the Gospell should be hindreed in the least wise that might be.

2 The truth ought alwayes to be freely vttered, yet notwithstanding the doctrine may be so moderated, as occasion of the profite that the people take thereby, shall require.
b Exhorted so that he perswaded, & so the word signifieth.
c Was very much grieued in minde: whereby is signified the great earnestnesse of his minde, which was greatly moued: for Paul was so zealous, that hee cleane forgate himselfe, and with a wonderfull courage gaue himselfe to preach Christ. 3 Although we haue assayed all meanes possible, and yet in vaine, wee must not leaue off from our worke, but forsake the rebellious, and goe to them that bee more obedient. ∵ Chap.13.51.
matth.10.4. d This is a kinde of speech taken from the Hebrewes, whereby he meaneth, that the Iewes are cause of their owne destruction: and as for him, that he is without fault in forsaking them and going to other nations. ✣ 1.Corinth.1.14.

1 After [1] these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus,

2 And found a certaine Iewe named ✣ Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla (because that [a] Claudius had commanded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and he came vnto them.

3 And because hee was of the same craft, hee abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tentes.)

4 [2] And hee disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and [b] exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul [c] forced in Spirite, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ.

6 [3] And when they resisted and blaspheмed, he ∵ shooke his raiment, and said vnto them, Your [d] blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane: from henceforth will I goe vnto the Gentiles.

7 So hee departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And ✣ Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue beleeued in the Lord with all his household: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleeued and were baptized.

9 [4] Then said the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake, and holde not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie.

11 So he [e] continued there a yeere & sixe moneths, and taught the word of God among them.

12 ¶ [5] Now when Gallio was deputie of [f] Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, 13 Saying, This fellowe perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Law appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deede, O ye Iewes, I would according to g reason maintaine you.

15 But if it bee a question of [h] wordes and [i] names, and of your Lawe, looke yee to it your selues: for I will be no iudge of those things.

16 And hee draue them from the iudgement seate.

17 Then tooke al the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beate him before the iudgement seate: but Gallio caried nothing for those things.

18 [6] But when Paul had tarried there yet a good while, he tooke leaue of the brethren, and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that [k] hee had shorne his head in [l] Cenchrea: for he had a ✣ vowe.

19 Then he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue and disputed with the Iewes.

20 ? Who desired him to tarry a longer time with them: but he would not consent, 21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needes keepe this feast that commeth, in Hierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, ✣ [m] if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22 ¶ And when he came downe to Cesarea, he went vp to Hierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went down vnto Antiochia.

23 Now whē he had tariedthere a while, he departed, and went thorow the countrey of Galatia & Phrygia by order, strengthening all § disciples.

24 [8] And a certaine Iewe named ∵ Apollos borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and [n] mightie in the Scriptures.

25 This same was instructed in the way of the Lord, and hee spake feruently in the Spirite, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, & knew but the baptisme of Iohn onely.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Certaine disciples at Ephesus, 3 hauing onely receiued Iohns baptisme, 2 and knew not the visible gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith God had beautified his Sonnes kingdome, 5 are baptized in the Name of Iesus. 13 The Iewish exorcists 16 are beaten of the deuill. 19 Conjuring bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius 29 raiseth sedition against Paul.

AND it came to passe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when he passed thorow the vpper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples,

2 And sayd vnto them, Haue ye receiued the [a] holy Ghost since ye beleeued? And they sayd vnto him, Wee haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.

3 [2] And he said vnto them, Vnto [b] what were ye then baptized? And they sayd, Vnto [c] Iohns baptisme.

4 Then sayd Paul, ✣ Iohn verely baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying vnto the people, that they should beleeue in him, which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Iesus.

6 So Paul layde his hands vpon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues, and prophesied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 ¶ Moreouer he went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdome of God.

9 [3] But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking euill of the [d] way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed dayly in the schole of one [e] Tyrannus.

10 And this was done by the space of two yeere, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of ✣ Lord Iesus, both Iewes & Grecians.

11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his body were brought vnto the sicke, kercheefs, or handkercheefs, and the diseases departed from them, and the euill spirits went out of them.

13 [4] Then certaine of ✣ vagabond Iewes, [f] exorcists, tooke in hand to name ouer them which had euil spirits, the Name of the Lord Iesus, saying, We adiure you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth.

14 (And there were certaine sonnes of Sceua a Iewe, the Prieſt, about seuen which did this)

15 And the euil spirit answered, and sayd, Iesus I acknowledge, & Paul I know: but who are ye?

16 And the man in whom the euill spirit was, ranne on them, and ouercame them, and [g] preuailed against them, so that they fledde out of that house, naked, and wounded.

17 And this was knowen to all the Iewes and Grecians also, which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Iesus was magnified, 18 [5] And many that beleeued, came and [h] confessed, and shewed their workes.

19 Many also of them which vsed curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it [i] fiftie thousand pieces of siluer.

20 So the word of God grewe mightily, and preuailed.

21 ¶ [6] Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the [k] Spirite to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue bene there, I must also see Rome.

22 So sent he into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto him, Timotheus, and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.

23 [7] And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.

24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a siluersmith, which made siluer [l] temples of Diana, brought great gaines vnto the craftesmen,

25 Whom he called together, with the workmen of like things, and sayd, Syrs, ye knowe that by this craft we haue our goods:

26 Moreouer ye see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not gods which are made with handes.

27 So that not only this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our [m] portion shalbe reproued, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia & the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.

28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cryed out, saying, Great [n] Diana of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught ✣ Gaius, and ✣ Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his iourney.

30 And when Paul would haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 [8] Certaine also of chiefe of Asia, which were his friendes, sent vnto him, desiring him that he would not present himselfe in the Common place.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assemblie was out of order, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together.

33 And some of the company drew foorth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with the hand, and would haue excused the matter to the people.

34 [9] But when they knew that hee was a Iew, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men crying, Great [o] Diana of the Ephesians.

35 [10] Then the towne clarke when hee had stayed the people, sayd, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not howe that the citie of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddesse Diana, & of the image, which [p] came downe from Iupiter?

36 Seeing then that no man can speake against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly.

37 For yee haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacrilege, neither doe blaspheme your goddesse.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftes men which are with him, haue a [q] matter against any man, the [r] lawe is open, and there are [s] Deputies: let them accuse one another.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paul appointeth to go to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching vntill mid-night, 9 Eutychus fell downe dead out of a window, 10 he raiseth him to life: 15 As Miletum, 17 hauing called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 hee declareth what things shall come vpon himselfe, 28 and others.

NOwe u after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to goe into Macedonia.

2 And when hee had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with a many words, he came into Grecia.

3 2 And hauing taried there three moneths, because the Iewes layd waite for him, as hee was about to saile into Syria, he purposed to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 These went before, and taried vs at Troas.

6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleauened bread, & came vnto them to Troas in fiue dayes, where we abode seuen dayes.

7 3 And the b first day of the weeke, the disciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the morow, and continued the preaching vnto midnight.

8 4 And there were many lightes in an vpper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sate in a window a certaine yong man, named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, hee ouercome with sleepe, fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.

10 But Paul went downe, and layde himselfe vpon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your selues: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, hauing spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, hee so departed.

12 And they brought the boy aliue, and they were not a little comforted.

13 ¶ Then we went before to shippe, and sailed vnto the citie Assos, that wee might receiue Paul there: for so had hee appointed, and would himselfe goe a foote.

14 Now when he was come vnto vs to Assos, and we had receiued him, we came to Mitylenes.

15 And wee sailed thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we arriued at Samos, and tarried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 5 For Paul had determined to saile by Ephesus, because hee would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if he could possible at Hierusalem, at the day of Pentecost.

17 ¶ Wherefore from c Miletum, hee sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 6 Who when they were come vnto him, he sayd vnto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manet I haue bene with you at all seasons,

19 Seruing the Lorde with all modestie, and with many teares, and tentations, which came vnto me by the layings awaite of the Iewes,

20 And how I kept d backe nothing that was profitable, but haue shewed you, and taught you openly and throughout euery house, 21 Witnessing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, and fayth toward our Lord Iesus Christ.

22 7 And nowe beholde, I goe e bound in the Spirit vnto Hierusalem, and knowe not what things shall come vnto me there, 23 Saue that f holy Ghost witnesseth in euery citie, saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.

24 But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course with ioy, and the ministration which I haue receiued of the Lord Iesus, to testifie the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold, I know that henceforth ye all, through whome I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am g pure from the blood of all men.

27 8 For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and to all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Ouerseers, to g feede the Church of God, which h he hath purchased with i that his owne blood.

29 9 For I know this, that after my departing shall grieuous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.

30 Moreouer of your owne selues shall men arise speaking peruerse things, to k draw disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember that by the space of three yeeres I ceased not to warne euery one, both night and day with teares.

32 10 And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an l inheritance, among all them, which are sanctified.

33 11 I haue coueted no mans siluer, nor gold, nor apparell.

34 Yea, ye knowe, that these handes haue ministred vnto my ✣ necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I haue shewed you all things, how that so labouring, ye ought to m support the weake, and to remember the wordes of the Lord Iesus, how that hee sayd, It is a blessed thing to giue, rather then to receiue.

36 And when he had thus spoken, hee kneeled downe, and prayed with them all.

37 12 Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him, 38 Being chiefly sory for the wordes which he spake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him vnto the shippe.

r He speaketh of a lawfull assembly, not only to except against the disordered burly burly of the people: but also against all meeting and conuening together which was not by order: or there were certaine dayes

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul goeth toward Hierusalem: 8 at Cesarea he taketh with Philip the Euangelist: 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bands. 17 After hee came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 the Iewes laid handes on him: 32 Lysias the captaine taketh him from them.

1 Not only men simply, but euen our friendes, and such as are endued with the Spirit of God, do some-times go about to hinder the course of our vocation: but it is our part to goe forward without all stopping or staggering, after that we are sure of our calling from God.

a They foretolde through the Spirit what dangers hanged ouer Pauls head, and thus they did as Prophets: but of a fleshly affection they fraied him from going to Hierusalem.

✣ Chap.6.5.

b He speaketh of the seuen Deacons which he mentioned before, chap.6.

c They had a peculiar gift of foretelling things to come.

2 The wil of God brideleth all affections in them which earnestly seeke the glory of God.

3 God is to be praysed, who is the Author of all good sayings and deedes.

4 In things indifferent (of which sort were not the the traditions of the Pharises, but the ceremonies of the Law, vntill such time as Christian libertie was more fully reuealed to the Iewes) charitie willeth vs to conforme or applie our selues willingly so farre as we may, to our brethren which doe not stubbornly and maliciously resist the truth, but are not throughly instructed, especially if the question be of a whole multitude.

AND [1] as we lanched forth, and were departed from them, wee came with a straight course vnto Coos, & the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And we found a shippe that went ouer vnto Phenice, and went aboard, and set foorth.

3 And when we had discouered Cyprus, wee left it on the left hand, and sailed toward Syria, and arriued at Tyrus: for there the ship vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we taried there seuen dayes. And they told Paul through the [a] Spirit, that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, we departed and went our way, & they all accompanied vs with their wiues and children, euen out of the citie: and we kneeling downe on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and they returned home.

7 And when wee had ended the course from Tyrus, we arriued at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the nex day, Paul and wee that were with him, departed, and came vnto Cesarea: and we entred into the house of ✣ Philip the Euangelist, which was one of the [b] seuen Deacons, and abode with him.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did [c] prophecie.

10 And as wee taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come vnto vs, he tooke Pauls girdle, & bound his owne hands & feet, and said, Thus saith ✠ holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into ✠ hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when we had heard these things, both wee and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and said, What doe ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am readie not to be bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lord Iesus.

14 [2] So when he would not be perswaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.

15 And after those dayes wee trussed vp our fardels, and went vp to Hierusalem.

16 There went with vs also certaine of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whome we should lodge.

17 And when wee were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and al the Elders were there assembled.

19 [3] And when hee had embraced them, hee told e by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.

20 [4] So when they heard it, they glorified God, and said vnto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleeue, and they are all zealous of the Lawe:

21 Nowe they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to liue after the customes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needes come together: for they shall heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee, We haue foure men, which haue a vowe, 24 Them take, and d purifie thy selfe with them, and e contribute with them, that they may ✣ shaue their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they haue bene informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Lawe.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleeue, we haue written, and determined that they obserue no such thing, but that they keepe themselues from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entred into the Temple, [f] declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should be offered for euery one of them.

27 [5] And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia (when they sawe him in the Temple) mooued all the people, and layd hands on him, 28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people, & the Law, and this place: moreouer, hee hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 For they had seene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the citie, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was moued, and the people ranne together: and they tooke Paul & drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doores were shut.

31 [6] But as they went about to kil him, tidings came vnto the chiefe captaine of the band, that all Hierusalem was on an vproare.

32 Who immediatly tooke souldiers and Centurions, and ran downe vnto them: and when they saw the chiefe Captaine and the souldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe Captaine came neere and tooke him, & commanded him to be bound with two chaines, and demaunded who hee was, and what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commaunded him to be led into the castell.

35 And when he came vnto the grieces, it was so, that he was borne of the souldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul should haue bene led into the castell, hee sayde vnto the chiefe Captaine, May I speake vnto thee? Who sayde, Canst thou speake Greeke?

38 Art not thou [g] Egyptian who before these dayes raised a sedition, & led out into the wildernesse foure thousand men that were murtherers?

f The Priestes were to be aduertised of the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, because there were sacrifices to be offered the same day, that their vowe was ended.

5 A preposterous zeale is the cause of great confusion, and great mischiefes.

6 God findeth some euen amongst the wicked and prophane themselues, to hinder the endeuours of the rest.

citie of Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer mee to speake vnto the people.

40 And when hee had giuen him licence, Paul stood on the grieces, and beckened with the hand vnto the people: and when there was made great silence, hee spake vnto them in the Hebrewe tongue, saying.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Paul yeeldeth a reason of his faith. 22 and the Iewes heare him a while: 23 But so soone as they cryed out, 24 he is commanded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so vnderstandeth that he is a citizen of Rome.

YE men, brethren, and Fathers, heare my defence now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrewe tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he sayd)

3 [1] I am verely a man, which am a Iew, borne in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this citie at the [a] feete of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect maner of the Lawe of the Fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye al are this day.

4 And I persecuted this way vnto the death, binding and deliuering into prison both men and women.

5 As also the chiefe Priest doth beare me witnes, & all the company of the Elders: of whom also I receiued letters vnto the brethren, & went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound vnto Hierusalem, that they might be punished.

6 ¶ And so it was, as I iourneyed and was come neere vnto Damascus about noone, that suddenly there shone from heauen a great light round about me.

7 So I fel vnto the earth, & heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said to me, I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

9 Moreouer they that were with mee, sawe in deede a light and were afraid: but they heard not the voyce of him that spake vnto me.

10 Then I sayd, What shall I doe, Lord? And the Lord sayd vnto me, Arise, and go into Damascus: and there it shalbe tolde thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as perteining to the Lawe, hauing good report of all the Iewes which dwelt there, 13 Came vnto me, and stood, & said vnto me, Brother Saul, receiue thy sight: and that same houre I looked vpon him.

14 And he sayd, The God of our fathers hath appointed thee, that thou shouldest know his wil, and shouldest see that Iust one, & shouldest heare the voyce of his mouth.

15 For thou shalt be his witnesse vnto all men, of the things which thou hast seene and heard.

16 Now therefore why tariest thou? Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to passe, that when I was come againe to Hierusalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a trance, 18 And sawe him, saying vnto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Hierusalem: for they will not receiue thy witnesse concerning me.

19 Then I said, Lord, they knowe that I prisoned, and beat in euery Synagogue them that beleeued in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was shed, I also stoode by, and consented vnto his death, & kept the clothes of them that [b] slew him.

21 Then he said vnto mee, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.

22 ¶ [2] And they heard him vnto this word but then they lift vp their voices, and said, Away with such a fellowe from the earth: for it is not meete that he should liue.

23 And as they [c] cried & cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the ayre, 24 [3] The chiefe captaine commanded him to be led into the castle, and bade that he should be scourged, and examined, that hee might knowe wherefore they cried so on him.

25 [4] And as they bound him with thongs, Paul said vnto the Centurion that stoode by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned?

26 Now when the Centurion heard it, he went, and tolde the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou doest: for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chiefe captaine came, and said to him, Tel me, art thou a Romane? And he said, Yea.

28 And the chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obtained I this freedome. Then Paul said, But I was so borne.

29 Then straightway they departed from him, which should haue examined him: and the chiefe captaine also was afraid, after he knewe that hee was a [d] Romane, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, because hee would haue knowen the certainetie wherefore he was accused of the Iewes, hee looosed him from his bonds, and commaunded the hie Priestes and all their Councill to come together: and he brought Paul, and set him before them.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 As Paul pleadeth for his cause, 2 Ananias commandeth them to smite him: 7 Dissention among his accusers. 11 God encourageth him. 14 The Iewes laying waite for Paul 20 is declared vnto the chiefe captaine: 27 He sendeth him to Felix the Gouernour.

AND [1] Paul behelde earnestly the Councel, and said, Men & brethren, I haue in al good conscience serued God vntill this day.

2 [2] Then the hie Priest Ananias commanded them that stoode by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 [3] Then saide Paul to him, God [a] will smite thee, thou [b] whited wall: for thou sittest to iudge me according to the Law, and [c] transgressing the Lawe, commandest thou me to be smitten?

4 And they that stoode by, said, Reuilest thou Gods hie Priest?

5 [4] Then said Paul, I knew not, brethren, that hee was the hie Priest: for it is written, ✣ Thou shalt not speake euill of the ruler of thy people.

6 [5] But when Paul perceiued that the one part were of the Sadduces, and the other of the b This is properly spoken: for Steuen was murthered of a sort of cut-throtes, not by order of iustice, but by open force: for as that time the Iewes could not put any man to death by Lawe.

Pharises, he cried in the Councell, Men and brethren, ✣ I am a Pharise, the sonne of a Pharise: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

7 [6] And when he had sayd this, there was a dissension betweene the Pharises and the Sadducees, so that the multitude was dituided.

6 The concord of the wicked is weake, although they conspire together to oppresse the trueth.

8 ✣For the Sadducees say that there is no resurrection, neither [d] Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both.

7 It is an olde heresie of the Sadducees, to denie the substance of Angels & soules and therewithall the resurrection of the dead.

✣ Matth.22.23.

9 [8] Then there was a great crie: and the [e] Scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and strone, saying, Wee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.

d Natures that want bodies.

8 The Lord when it pleaseth him, findeth defenders of his cause, euen amongst his enemies.

10 [9] And when there was a great dissension, the chiefe captaine, fearing lest Paul should haue bene pulled in pieces of them, commanded the souldiers to go downe, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castell.

e The Scribes office was a publike office, and the name of the Pharises was the name of a sect.

9 God will not forsake his to the end.

11 Now the night following, the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good courage Paul: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalem, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.

12 [10] And when the day was come, certeine of the Iewes made an assembly, and bound themselues [f] with a curse, saying, that they would neither eat nor drinke, till they had killed Paul.

10 Such as are caried away with a foolish zeale, thinke that they may lie and murther, and do whatsoeuer mischiefe they lust.

13 And they were moe then fortie, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priestes and Elders, and said, We haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that we will eat nothing, vntill we haue slaine Paul.

f They cursing and banning themselues, promised.

15 Now therefore, ye and the [g] Councell, signifie to the chiefe captaine, that hee bring him forth vnto you to morow: as though you would know something more perfectly of him, and we, or euer he come nere, will be ready to kill him.

g The and the Senate requiring the same to be done, lest that the Tribune should thinke that it was demanded of him at some priuate mans sute.

16 But when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying await, he went, and entred into the castell, and tolde Paul.

17 [11] And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and said, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for hee hath a certeine thing to shew him.

11 The wisedome of the Spirit must be ioyned with simplicity.

18 So he tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and sayd, Paul the prisoner called me vnto him, and prayed me to bring this yoong man vnto thee, which hath something to say vnto thee.

19 Then the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shew me?

20 And he sayd, The Iewes haue conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring foorth Paul to morow into the councell, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not perswade thee: for there lie in wait for him of them, more then forty men, which haue bound themselues with a curse, that they will neither eat nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and now are they ready, and wait for thy promise.

22 [12] The chiefe captaine then let the yoong man depart, after hee had charged him to vtter it to no man, that he had ‖ shewed him these things.

12 There is no counsell against the Lord and his seruants ‖ Greeke, that thou hast shewed these things to me.

23 And he called vnto him two certeine Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred souldiers, that they may go to Cæsarea, and horsemen threescore and ten, and two hundred with darts, at the third houre of the night:

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may be brought safe vnto Felix the Gouernour.

25 And he wrote an epistle in this maner:

26 [13] Claudius Lysias vnto the most noble Gouernour Fœlix sendeth greeting.

13 Lysias is sodenly made by the Lord, Pauls patrone.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that he was a Romane.

28 And when I would haue knowen the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Councell.

29 There I perceiued that he was accused of questions of their Law, but had no crime woorthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was shewed me, how that the Iewes layd wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers as it was commanded them, tooke Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned vnto the Castell.

33 Now when they came to Cæsarea, they deliuered the epistle to the Gouernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the Gouernour had read it, he asked of what prouince he was: and when he vnderstood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will heare thee, said he, when thine accusers are also come, and commanded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

CHAP. XXIIII.

2 Tertullus accuseth Paul: 10 He answereth for himselfe: 22 He preacheth Christ to the gouernour and his wife, 27 Felix hopeth, but in vaine, to receiue a bribe, 28 who going from his office, leaueth Paul in prison.

NOw [1] after fiue dayes, Ananias the hie Priest came downe with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certeine oratour, which appeared before the Gouernour against Paul.

1 Hypocrites, when they can not doe what they would doe by force and deceit, at length they go about to compasse it by a shew of Law.

2 And when he was called foorth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we haue obteined great quietnesse [a] through thee, and that many [b] woorthy things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence, a Felix ruled that prouince with great crueltie and contumelie, and yet Iosephus recordeth that he did many woorthy things, as that he tooke Eleazar the captaine of certein cutthroates, and put that slenderwitted wretch the Egyptian to flight, which caused great troubles in Iurie.

b He vseth a word which the Stoikes defined to be a verie discreete and behauiour.

3 We acknowledge it wholly, and in all places, most noble Fœlix, with all thanks.

4 But that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy curtesie a few words.

5 Certeinly we haue found this man [a] [c] pestilent fellow, and a moouer of sedition among all the Iewes thorowout the world, and a [d] chiefe mainteiner of the sect of the [e] Nazarites:

c Word for word, a plague.

d As you would say, a ringleader, or ensigne bearer.

e So they called the Christians scoffingly, whereupon it came

6 And hath gone about to pollute the Temple: therefore we tooke him, and would haue iudged him according to our Law:

7 But the chiefe captaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou mayst (if thou wilt inquire) know all these things whereof we accuse him.

Ir, of the townes name where they thought that Christ was borne, that Iulian the Apostata called him Galilean.

f confirmed Tertullus his sayings.

2 Tertullus by the deuils rhetoritke beginning with flattery, maketh an end with lies: but Paul vsing heauenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning, casteth off from himselfe the crime of sedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a simple denial.

g Paul pleaded his cause two yeres before Felix departed out of the province, Chap. 27. but he had gouerned Trachonitis, and Batanea, and Galanite, before that Claudius made him Gouernour of Iudea: Iosephus in the history of the Iewes warre, bb. 2. cap. 11.

h They cannot lay ought to thee before me, and prooue by good reasons.

3 Paul goeth in the case of religion, from a state conuentall to a state of quality, not onely not denying that religion which was obiected against him, but also prooueing it to be true, to be heauenly & from God, and to be the oldest of all religions.

i Hereticke word, Heresie, or sect is taken in good part.

4 Paul in conclusion telleth the thing which was done, truly, which Tertullus had before diuers wayes corrupted.

k And while I was busie about those things.

l Hereby it appeareth that these of Asia were Paul his enemies, and those that stirred vp the people against him.

m Whither the Tribune brought me.

5 The Iudge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtfull.

n Felix could not iudge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of this religion or no, vntill he had better vnderstanding of that way which Paul professed: and as for other matters touching the sedition, he thinketh good to deferre it till he heare Lysias, and therefore he gaue Paul somewhat more liberty.

6 God is a most faithfull keeper of his seruants, and the force of the trueth is woonderfull, euen amongst men which are otherwise prophane.

o This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaketh afterward, a very harlot and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azizus King of the Emisens, who was circumcised, departed from him, & went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.

7 In a naughty minde, that is guilty to it selfe, although sometime there be some shew of equity, yet by and by it will be extinguished: but in the meane season we haue need of patience, and that continuall.

9 And the Iewes likewise f affirmed, saying that it was so.

10 2 Then Paul, after that the gouernour had beckened vnto him that hee should speake, answered, I do the more gladly answer for my selfe, forasmuch as I know that thou hast bene of g many yeres a iudge vnto this nation, 11 Seeing that thou mayest know, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem.

12 And they neither found mee in the Temple, disputing with any man, neither making vproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the city.

13 Neither can they h prooue the things, whereof they now accuse me.

14 3 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way (which they call i heresie) so worship I the God of my fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets,

15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselues looke for also, shalbe both of iust and vniust.

16 And herein I indeuour my selfe to haue alway a cleare conscience toward God and toward men.

17 4 Now after many yeres, I came & brought almes to my nation and offerings.

18 At k what time, certeine Iewes of l Asia found mee purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.

19 Who ought to haue bene present before thee, and accuse me, if they had ought against me.

20 Or let these themselues say, if they haue found any vniust thing in me, while I stood in the m Councell, 21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

22 5 Now when Felix heard these things, hee deferred them, and said, When I shal more n perfectly know the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lysias the chiefe Captaine, I will decise your matter.

23 6 Then hee commanded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

24 ¶ And after certeine dayes, came Felix with his wife o Drusilla, which was a Ieweesse, and he called foorth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

25 And as he disputed of righteousnes & temperance, & of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee.

26 Hee hoped also that money should haue bene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.

27 7 When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Fœlix roome: and Fœlix willing to p get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

p For whereas he had behaued himselfe very wickedly, he should haue died in the prouince, had it not bene for fauour of his brother Pallas, for vs: so that we may gather hereby why he would haue pleasured the Iewes.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Festus succeeding Felix, & commandeth Paul to be brought foorth. 11 Paul appealeth vnto Cæsar. 14 Festus openeth Pauls matter to King Agrippa, 23 and bringeth him before him. 27. that he may vnderstand his cause.

WHen 1 Festus was then come into the prouince, after three dayes hee went vp from Cæsarea vnto Hierusalem.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him,

3 And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they layd wait to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cæsarea, & that he himselfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, sayd he, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednesse in the man, let them accuse him.

6 ¶ 2 Now when he had taried among them no more then ten dayes, he went downe to Cæsarea, and the next day sate in the iudgement seat, and commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when he was come, the Iewes which were come from Ierusalem, stood about him and layd many and grieuous complaints against Paul, whereof a they could make no plaine proofe,

8 Forasmuch as he answered, that he had neither offended any thing against the lawe of the Iewes, neither against the teple, nor against Cesar.

9 3 Yet Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul and sayd, Wilt thou go vp to Hierusalem, & there be iudged of these things before me?

10 Then said Paul, I stand at Cæsars iudgement seat, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11 For if I haue done wrong, or committed any thing woorthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Cæsar.

12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Councell, he answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Cæsar? vnto Cæsar shalt thou go.

13 ¶ 4 And after certeine dayes: King b Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Cæsarea to salute Festus.

14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus declared Pauls cause vnto the King, saying, There is a certeine man left in prison by Fœlix, 15 Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the hie Priests and Elders of the Iewes informed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

16 To whom I answered, that it is not the maner of the Romans for fauor to c deliuer any man to the death, before that he which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue place to defend himselfe, concerning the crime.

17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sate on the iudgement seat, and commanded the man to be brought foorth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood vp, they

1 Satans Ministers are subtill and diligent to seeke all occasions: but God who watcheth for his, hindereth all their counsels easily.

2 We may repell an iniurie iustly, but not with iniurie.

a They could not prooue them certainly & with vndoubted reasons.

3 God doeth not onely turne away the counsel of the wicked, but also turneth it vpon their owne heads.

4 Festus, thinking no such thing, euen before Kings, bringing to light the wickednesse of the Iewes, and Pauls innocencie, doeth marueilously confirme the Church of God.

b This Agrippa was Agrippa the sonne, whose death Luke spake of before, and Bernice was his sister.

c The Romans vse not to deliuer any man to be punished before, &c.

they brought no crime of such things as I suppосed:

19 5 But had certaine questions against him of their owne d superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And because I doubted of such maner of question, I asked him whether he would goe to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things.

21 But because he appealed to be reserued to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

22 6 Then Agrippa said vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morow, said hee, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morowe when Agrippa was come and Bernice with great e pompe, and were entred into the Common hal with the chiefe captaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commandement Paul was brought foorth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with vs, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue called vpon me, both at Hierusalem, and here, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet haue I found nothing worthy of death, that hee hath committed: neuertheless, seeing that he hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my f Lord: wherefore I haue brought him foorth vnto you, and especially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write.

27 For me thinketh it vnreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes which are laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4 declareth his life from his childhood, 16 & his calling, 22 with such efficacie of words, 28 that almost he perswadeth him to Christianitie: 30 But he and his company depart doing nothing in Pauls matter.

THen Agrippa said vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 1 I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answere this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes:

3 Chiefely, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee to heare mee patiently.

4 2 And as touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, knowe all the Iewes,

5 Which a knewe me heretofore, euen from my b Elders (if they would testifie) that after the c most strait sect of our religion I liued a Pharise.

6 3 And nowe I stand and am accused for the hope of the promes made of God vnto our fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelue tribes instantly seruing God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 4 Why should it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

9 I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 ✣ Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: for many of the Saints I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the hie Priestes, and when they were put to death, I gaue my d sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, & e compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities.

12 At which time, euen as I went to ✣ Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the hie Priestes, 13 At midday, O king, I saw in the way a light from heauen, passing the brightnesse of the sunne, shine round about me, and them which went with me.

14 So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto me, & saying in the Hebrewe tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against prickes.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand vp on thy feete: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whom now I send thee, 18 5 To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkenesse to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiuenes of sinnes, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 6 Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly vision, 20 ∴ But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe workes worthie amendment of life.

21 For this cause the Iewes caught me in the ✣ Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 7 Neuertheless, I obteined helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witnessing both to f small and to great, saying none other things, then those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should g suffer, and that he should be the h first that should rise from the dead, and should shew i light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 8 And as he thus answered for himselfe, Festus said with a loud voyce, Paul, thou art besides thy selfe, much learning doeth make thee madde.

25 But he said, I am not mad, O noble Festus, but I speake the wordes of trueth and soberneſse.

26 For the King knoweth of these things, before whom also I speake boldly: for I am perswaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a k corner.

27 9 O King Agrippa, beleeuest thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleeuest.

28 Then Agrippa said vnto Paul, Almost thou perswadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul said, l I would to God that not onely thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 ✣ And when he had thus spoken, the King

3 The prophane and wicked take an occasion to condemne the true doctrine, by reason of priuate controuersies and contentions of men betwixt themselues: but the trueth nevertheless abideth in the meane season safe and sure.

b That my parents were Pharises.

c The sect of the Pharises was the most exquisite among all the sectes of the Iewes, for it was better then all the rest.

CHAP. XXVII.

t Paul 7. 9 foretelleth the perill of the voyage, 11 but he is not beleeued. 14 They are tossed to and fro with the tempest, 21. 41 and suffer shipwracke: 34 Yet all safe and sound 44 escape to land.

t Paul with many other prisoners, & through the midst of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods owne hand as it were, and set forth and commended vnto the worlde with many singular testimonies. ✣ 2. Cor. 11. 25.

NOw t when it was concluded, that we should saile into Italie, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other prisoners vnto a Centurion named Iulius, of the band of Augustus.

2 And ✣ we entred into a shippe of Adramytium, purposing to saile by the coastes of Asia, and launched foorth, and had Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, with vs.

3 And the next day we arriued at Sidon: and Iulius courteously entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to go vnto his friends, that they might refresh him.

4 And from thence we launched, & sailed hard by Cyprus, because the windes were contrary.

5 Then sailed we ouer the sea by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra, a citie in Lycia.

6 And there the Centurion found a shippe of Alexandria, saylinginto Italie, and put vs therein.

7 And when we had sailed slowly many dayes, and scarce were come against Gnidum, because the winde suffered vs not, we sailed hard by Candie, neere to a Salmone,

8 And with much adoe sayled beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called the Faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the citie Lasea.

9 2 So when much time was spent, and sayling was now ieopardous, because also the b Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them,

10 And said vnto them, Syrs, I see that this voyage will be with hurt & much damage, not of the lading and ship onely, but also of our liues.

11 3 Neuertheless the Centurion beleeued rather the gouernour and the master of the shippe, then those things which were spoken of Paul.

12 And because the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counsell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an hauen of Candie, and lyeth toward the Southwest and by West, and Northwest and by West.

13 And when the Southerne winde blew softly, they supposing to attaine their purpose, loosed neerer, and sailed by Candie.

14 But anon after, there arose by c it a stormie winde called d Euroclydon.

15 And when the ship was caught, and could not resist the winde, we let her goe, and were caried away.

16 And we ran vnder a litle Yle named Clauda, and had much adoe to get the boate.

17 Which they tooke vp and vsed all helpe, vndergirding the ship, fearing least they should haue fallen into Syrtes, and they strake saile, and so were caried.

18 4 The next day when we were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightened the shippe.

19 And the thirde day wee cast out with our owne handes the tackling of the shippe.

20 And when neither sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued, was then taken away.

21 5 But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the mids of them, and said, Syrs, ye should haue hearkened to me, and not haue loosed from Candie: so should ye haue gained this hurt and losse.

5 God spareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and chosens sake.

22 But now I exhort you to be of good courage: for there shall be no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the shippe onely.

23 For there stood by me this night the Angel of God, whose I am, and whome I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Cesar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee freely all that saile with thee.

25 6 Wherefore, sirs, be of good courage: for I beleeue God, that it shall be so as it hath bene told me.

6 The promise is made effectuall through faith.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certaine Iland.

27 7 And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were caryed to and fro in the e Adriaticall sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some countrey f approched vnto them, 28 And sounded, & found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.

29 Then fearing least they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ancres out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come.

7 We attaine and come to the promised and sure saluation through the midst of tempests and death it selfe.

e For Ptolome writeth, that the Adriaticall sea beateth vpon the East shore of Sicilia.

f That they drew neere to some countrey.

30 8 Nowe as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, and had let downe the boate into the sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the foreship,

8 There is none so foule an acte, whereunto distrust and an euill conscience doe not enforce men.

31 9 Paul said vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the shippe, ye can not be safe.

9 Although the performing of Gods promises doeth not simply depend vpon second causes, yet they make themselues vnworthy of Gods bountifulnes, which do not embrace those meanes which God offereth them, either vpon rashnesse or distrust.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let it fall away.

33 10 And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meate, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye haue taryed, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your safegard: for there shall not an g haire fall from the head of any of you.

10 When the world trembleth, the faithfull alone be not only quiet, but confirme others by their example.

g This is a prouerbe which the Hebrues vse, whereby is meant, that they shallbe safe, and not one of them perish.

35 And when he had thus spoken, hee tooke bread, and gaue thankes to God, in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also tooke meate.

37 Now we were in the shippe in all two hundreth, threescore and sixteene soules.

38 And when they had eaten ynough, they lightened the ship, & cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 11 And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they spied a certaine h creeke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the shippe.

11 Then are tempests most of all to be feared and looked for, when the Port or hauen is neere vs.

h A creeke is a sea within land, as the Adriatic all sea, and the Persian sea.

40 So when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed the ship vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoysed vp the maine saile to the winde, and drew to the shore.

41 And when they fel into a place, where i two seas mette, they thrust in the ship: and the forepart stucke fast, & could not be mooued, but the hinderpart was broken with the violence of the waues.

i So is Isthmus called, because the sea toucheth it on both sides.

42 12 Then a Which was an high hill of Candie.

b This is meant of the Iewes fast, which they keepe in the feast of expiation, as we reade, Leuit. 23. 27. which fell in the seuenth moneth which we call October, and is not good for nauigation, or sailing.

3 Men cast themselues willingly into an infinite sort of dangers, when they chuse to followe their owne wisedome, rather then God speaking by the mouth of his seruants.

c By Candie, from whose shore our ship was driuen by these meanes.

d Northeast winde.

4 The ende prooueth that none prouide worse for themselues, then they which commit themselues to be gouerned onely by their owne wisedome.

12 There is no where more vnfaithfulnes & vnthankfulnes then in vnbeleeuers.
13 God findeth euen amongst his enemies them whose helpe he vseth to preserue his.
14 The goodnes of God ouercommeth mans malice.

42 12 Then the souldiers counsell was to kill the prisoners, least any of them, when hee had swomme out, should flee away.

43 13 But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, stayed them from this counsell, and commanded that they that could swimme, should cast them selues first into the sea, and goe out to land.

44 And the other, some on boardes, and some on certaine pieces of the ship: and so it came to passe that they came all safe to land.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The Barbarians curteous towardes Paul and his companie. 3 A viper on Pauls hand: 6 Hee shaketh it off without harme: 8 Publius 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita, 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Iewes 20 The cause of his comming: 22 He preacheth Iesus 30 two yeeres.

ANd when they were come safe, then they knew that the Isle was called a Melita.

a That is it which at this day we call Malta.

2 And the Barbarians shewed vs no litle kindnesse, for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, because of the present showre, and because of the colde.

1 The godly are sure to haue danger vpon danger, but they haue alwayes a glorious issue.
2 Although aduersitie be the punishment of sinne, yet seeing that God in punishing of men doeth not alwayes respect sinne, they iudge rashly, which either do not waite for the end, or do iudge and esteeme of men according to prosperitie or aduersitie.

3 1 And when Paul had gathered a number of stickes, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heate, and leapt on his hand.

4 2 Now when the Barbarians saw the worme hang on his hande, they sayde among themselues, This man surely is a murtherer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet b Vengeance hath not suffered to liue.

b Right and reason.

5 But he shook off the worme into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when hee should haue c swolne, or fallen downe dead suddenly: but after they had looked a great while, and saw no inconuenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and said, That he was a God.

c The Greeke word signifieth to be inflamed or to swell, moreouer Dioscorides in his 6 booke chap. 38. witnesseth that the biting of a viper, causeth a swelling of the body, and so saith Nicander, in his remedies against poysons.

7 4 In the same quarters, the chiefe man of the Isle (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of the feuer, and of a bloodie flixe: to whom Paul entred in, and when he prayed, he layde his hands on him, and healed him.

3 There is nothing more vnconstant euery way, then they which are ignorant of true religion.
4 It neuer yet repented any man, that receiued the seruant of God, were he neuer so miserable and poore.

9 5 When this then was done, other also in the Isle, which had diseases came to him, and were healed,

10 6 Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laded vs with things necessarie.

11 ¶ 7 Now after three moneths we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintred in the Isle, whose d badge was Castor, and Pollux.

d So they vsed to decke the forepart of their ships, whereupon the ships were called by such names.

12 And when we arriued at Syracuse, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence wee fet a compasse, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South winde blewe, and wee came the second day to Puteoli:

14 8 Where we found brethren, and were desired to tary with them seuen dayes, and so wee went toward Rome.

5 Although Paul were a captiue, yet the vertue of God was not captiue 6 God doeth well to strangers for his childrens sake. 7 Idoles doe not defile the Saintes, which doe in no wise consent vnto them. 8 God boweth and bendeth the hearts euen of prophane men, as it pleaseth him, to fauour his.

15 ¶ 9 And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meete vs at the e Market of Appius, and at the three tauernes, whome when Paul sawe, hee thanked God, and waxed bolde.

9 God neuer forsaketh his to be afflicted aboue their strength.
e Appius way, was a pauement made by Appius the blind with the helpe of his souldiers, long and broade, and runneth out toward the sea, and there were three tauernes in it.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Captaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by f himselfe with a souldier that kept him.

f Not in a common prison, but in a house which he hired for himselfe.

17 10 And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together: and when they were come, hee sayde vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the handes of the Romanes.

10 Paul in euery place remembreth himselfe to be an Apostle.

18 Who when they had examined me, would haue let me goe, because there was no cause of death in me.

11 Wee may vse the meanes which God giueth vs, but so that we seeke the glory of God, & not our selues.

19 11 But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you, to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake, I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they sayde vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee.

12 The Lawe and the Gospel agree well together.
g By good reasons, and prooued that the kingdome of God foretolde them by the Prophets, was come.

22 But we will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we knowe that euery where it is spoken against.

23 12 And when they had appoynted him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whome hee expounded g testifying the kingdome of God, and perswading them those things that concerne Iesus, both out of the Lawe of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

13 The Gospell is a sauour of life to them that beleeue, & a sauour of death to them that be disobedient.

24 13 And some were perswaded with ✠ things which were spoken, and some beleeued not.

14 The vnbeleeuers doe willingly resist the trueth, and yet not by chance.
✠ Esa. 6.9. matth. 13.14. marke 4.12. luke 8.10. iohn 12.40. rom. 11 8.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselues, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Esaias the Prophet vnto our fathers, 26 14 Saying, ✠ Go vnto this people, and say, By hearing ye shall heare, & shal not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceiue.

h They made as though they saw not that which they sawe against their willes: yea they did see, but they would not see.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fatte, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes haue they h winked, least they should see with their eies, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and shoulde returne that I might heale them.

15 The vnbeliefe of the reprobate and castawayes cannot cause the trueth of God to be of none effect.

28 15 Bee it knowen therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall heare it.

16 Not the Gospel, but the contempt of the Gospel is the cause of strife and debate.

29 16 And when he had saide these things, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselues.

17 The worde of God cannot be bound.

30 17 And Paul remayned two yeeres full in an house hired for himselfe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, 31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching those things which concerne the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnesse of speach, without let.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE ROMANES.

CHAP. I.

1 He first sheweth on what authoritie his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then he commendeth the Gospel, 16 by which God setteth out his power to those that are saued 17 by faith, 21 but were guiltie of wicked vnthankfulnesse to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powred on them, 30 so that they runne headlong to all kindes of sinne.

1 The first part of the Epistle containing a most profitable preface vnto verse 16.

PAVL [1] a [2] seruaunt of Iesus Christ callled to bee an [b] Apostle, ✣ [c] put apart to preach the Gospel of God,

2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)

3 [3] Concerning his [d] Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord (which was [e] made of the seed of Dauid [f] according to the flesh,

4 And [g] declared [h] mightily to be the sonne of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)

5 [i] By whome wee haue receiued [k] grace and Apostleship (that [l] obedience might be giuen vnto the faith) for his name [m] among al the Gētiles,

6 Among whom ye be also the [n] called of Iesus Christ.

7 To all you that bee at Rome beloued of God, called to be Saints: o Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.

8 [4] First I thanke my God through Iesus Christ for you all, because your faith is [p] published throughout the [q] whole world.

9 For God is my witnesse (whome I serue in my [r] spirit in the [s] Gospel of his Sonne) that without ceasing I make mention of you

10 Alwayes in my prayers, beseeching that by some meanes, one time or other I might haue a prosperous iourney by the will of God, to come vnto you.

11 For I long to see you, that I might bestow among you some spirituall gift, that you might be strengthened:

12 That is, that [t] I might be comforted together with you, through our mutuall faith, both yours and mine.

13 Now my brethren, I would that ye should not be ignorant, how that I haue oftentimes purposed to come vnto you (but haue bin let hitherto) that I might haue some fruite also among you, as I haue among the other Gentiles.

14 I am detter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and to the vnwise.

15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you also ỹ are at [u] Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: 5 for it is the [x] power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleeueth, to the Iew first, and also to the [y] Grecian.

17 [6] For by it the righteousnesse of God is reueiled from [z] faith to faith: 7as it is written, ✣ The iust shall liue by faith.

18 [8] For the wrath of God is reueiled from heauen against [a] all vngodlinesse, and vnrighteousnesse of men, which withholde the [b] trueth in vnrighteousnesse.

19 [9] Forasmuch as that, which may be known of God, is manifest in [c] them: for God hath shewed it vnto them.

20 For the inuisible things of him, that is, his eternal power & Godhead, are seene by ỹ [d] creation of the world, being [d] cōsidered in his works, to the intent that they should be without excuse:

21 Because that when they knewe God, they [e] glorified him not as God, neither were thankefull, but became [f] vaine in their thoughtes, and their foolish heart was full of darknesse.

22 When they [g] professed themselues to bee wise, they became fooles.

23 For they turned the glory of the [h] incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birdes, and foure footed beastes, and of creeping things.

24 [10] Wherefore [i] also God [k] gaue them vp to their hearts lustes, vnto vncleannes, to defile their owne bodies betweene themselues:

25 Which turned the trueth of God vnto a lie, and worshipped and serued the creature, forsaking the Creator, which is blessed for euer, Amē.

26 For this cause God gaue them vp vnto vile affections: for euen their women did change the naturall vse into that which is against nature.

27 And likewise also the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthinesse, and receiued in themselues such recompence of their errour, as was meete.

28 [11] For

2 He moueth the Romanes to giue diligent eare vnto him, in that he sheweth that he commeth not in his owne name, but as Gods messenger vnto the Gentiles, entreateth with them of the waighiest matter, that is, promised long since of God, by many fit witnesses, and now at the length performed in deede.

a A minister, for this word, Seruant, is not taken in this place, as set against the word, Freeman, but declareth his ministerie and office.

b Whereas he sayde before in a generall terme, that he was a minister, now he commeth to a more speciall name, and saith he is an Apostle, and that he tooke not vpon him this office of his owne head but being called of God, and therefore in this his writing to the Romanes, doeth nothing but his duetie. ✣ Actes 13. 1.

c Appointed of God to preache the Gospel.

3 By declaring the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, he stirreth vp the Romanes to good consideration of the matter whereof hee entreateth: So then hee sheweth that Christ (who is the very substance and summe of the Gospel) is the onely Sonne of God the Father, who as touching his humanitie, is made of the seede of Dauid, but touching his diuine and spirituall nature, whereby hee sanctified himself, is begotten of the Father from euerlasting, as by his mighty resurrection manifestly appeareth.

d This is a plaine testimonie of the person of Christ, that he is but one, and of his two natures, and their properties.

e Which tooke flesh of the Virgin, Dauids daughter.

f As he is man: for this worde, Flesh, by the figure Synecdoche is taken for man.

g Shewed and made manifest.

h The diuine and mightie power is set against the weaknesse of the flesh, for that ouercame death i Of whome.

k This marueilous liberall and gracious gift, which is giuen vnto the chiefe of all the Saintes, to preach, &c. Ephes. 3. 8.

n Which through Gods goodnesse, are Christes.

o Gods free good will: by peace, the Hebrewes meane a prosperous successe in all things. 4 He proceedeth their fauourable patience, in that he reckoneth vp their true commendation, and his true Apostolique good will toward them, confirmed by taking God himselfe to witnesse.

p Because your faith is such, that it is commended in all Churches.

q In all Churches.

r Very willingly and with all my heart.

t Though Paul were not so excellent, yet by reaching the Gospel he might be refreshed by it.

u He meaneth all them that dwelt in Rome, though some of them were not Romanes, Looke the end of the epistle

5 The second part of the Epistle vnto the beginning of the 9. chap. Nowe the whole end and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say, to shewe that there is but one way to attaine vnto saluation (which is set foorth vnto vs of God in the Gospel, without any difference of nations) and that is Iesus Christ apprehended by faith.

x God his mightie and effectuall instrument to saue men by.

y When this word, Grecian, is set against this word Iewe, then doeth it signifie a Gentile.

6 The confirmation of the former proposition: we are taught in the Gospel that we are iustified before God by faith which encreaseth daily: and therefore also saued.

z From faith which increaseth daily.

7 The proofe as well of the first as the second proposition, out of Abakuk, who attributeth and giueth vnto faith both iustice and life before God. ✣ Abak 2. 4.

8 Another confirmation of that principall question. All men being considered in themselues, or without Christ, are guiltie both of vngodlinesse and also vnrighteousnesse, and therefore iustice to condemnation: Therefore must they needes seeke righteousnes in some other.

a Against all kinds of vngodlinesse.

b By trueth Paul meaneth all the light that is left in man since his fall, not as though they being led thereby were able to come into fauour with God, but that their owne reason might condemne them of wickednesse both against God and man.

9 Their vngodlines he proueth hereby, that although all men haue a most cleere and euident glasse wherein to beholde the euerlasting and almightie nature of God, euen in his creatures, yet haue they fallen away from those principles to most foolish and fond deuises of their owne braines in constituting and appointing the seruice of God.

f As if he selfe, became so mad of themselues.

g Or, thought them selues.

h For the true God they tooke another.

10 The vnrighteousnesse of men he setteth forth first in this, that euen against nature following their lusts they defiled themselues one with another, by the iust iudgement of God.

28 [m] For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, euen so God deliuered them vp vnto a [m] reprobate minde, to do those things which are not conuenient,

29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, wickednes, couetousnes, maliciousnes, full of enuy, of murther, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the euill part, whisperers,

30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proud, boasters, inuenters of euill things, disobedient to parents, without vnderstanding, [n] couenant breakers, without naturall affection, such as can neuer be appeased, mercilesse.

31 Which men, though they knew the [o] Law of God, how that they which commit such things are worthy of death, yet not onely doe the same, but also [p] fauour them that do them.

m Vnmindfull of their couenants and bargaines. o By the Law of God he meaneth that which the Philosophers called the Lawe of nature, and the Lawyers themselues termed the Law of Nations. p Are fellowes and partakers with them in their wickednesse, and beholden vnto them which do amisse.

CHAP. II.

1 He bringeth all before the iudgement seat of God. 12 The excuse that the Gentiles might pretend. 14 of ignorance, he taketh quite away. 17 He vrgeth the Iewes with the written Law, 23 in which they boasted: 27 And so maketh both Iew and Gentile alike.

1 [q] THerefore [r] thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoeuer thou art that condemnest: for in that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thy selfe: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things.

2 But we [a] know that the iudgement of God is according to [b] truth, against them which commit such things.

3 And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God?

4 [c] Or despisest thou the riches of his bountifulnesse, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance?

5 But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that can not repent, ✣ [d] heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath, and of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God,

6 [e] ✣ Who will reward euery man according to his workes:

7 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seeke [d] glorie, and honour, and immortalitie, euerlasting life:

8 But vnto them that are contentious and disobey the [e] truth, and obey vnrighteousnesse, shalbe [f] indignation and wrath.

9 Tribulation and anguish shalbe vpon the soule of euery man that doeth euill: of the Iewe first, and also of the Grecian, 10 But to euery man that doeth good, shalbe glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iewe first, and also to the Grecian.

11 For there is [g] no respect of persons [h] with God.

12 [i] For as many as haue sinned without the Lawe, shall perish also without the Lawe: and as many as haue sinned in the Lawe, shall be iudged by the Law, 13 [k] (For the hearers of the Law are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Law shal be [l] iustified.

14 [6] For when the Gentiles which haue [i] not the Law, doe by [k] nature, the things contained in the Lawe, they hauing not the Lawe, are a Lawe vnto themselues, 15 Which shew [y] effect of the law [l] written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witnes, & their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing)

16 [7] At the day when God shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to [m] my Gospel.

17 ¶ [8] Beholde, thou art called a Iewe, and restest in the Law, and gloriest in God,

18 And knowest his will, and [n] ‖ triest the things that differ from it, in that thou art instructed by the Law:

19 And perswadest thy selfe that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darknesse, 20 An instructer of the which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast the [o] forme of knowledge, and of the trueth in the [p] law.

21 Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? thou that preachest, A man should not steale, doest thou steale?

22 Thou that sayest, A man should not commit adulterie, doest thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idoles, committest thou sacrilege?

23 Thou that gloriest in the Lawe, through breaking the Law, dishonourest thou God?

24 For [y] Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, ✣ as it is written.

25 [9] For circumcision verely is profitable, if thou do the Law: but if thou be a transgressour of the Law, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.

26 Therefore if the [q] vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the Law, shall not his [r] vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shall not [s] vncircumcision which is by nature (if it keepe the Law) condemne thee which by the [t] letter and circumcision art a transgressour of the Law?

28 For he is not a Iew, which is one [u] outward:

1 He proueth the vnrighteousnesse of man by a large rehearsall of many kindes of wickednesse, from which (if not from all, yet at the least from many of the) no man is altogether free.
m Into a mad and froward minde, whereby it commeth to passe, that the conscience being once put out, and hauing almost no more remorse of sinne, then a beast headlong into all kinde of mischefe.
n Vnmindfull of their couenants and bargaines.

2 He conuinceth them which would seeme to be exempt out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other mens faults, and saith that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were wel and narrowly searched (as God surely doth) they themselues would be found guiltie in those things which they reprehend, and punish in other: so that in condemning other, they pronounce sentence against themselues.
a Paul allegeth no places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reasons as euery man is perswaded of in his mind, so that the deuill himselfe is not able to plucke them cleane out.
b Considering and iudging things aright, and not by any outward shew.

3 A vehement and grieuous crying out against them that please themselues, because they see more then other do, and yet are no whit better then others are. ✣ Iam. 5. 3.
c Whilest thou guest thy selfe to pleasures, thinking to increase thy goods, thou shalt finde God his wrath. 5 The ground of the former disputation. That both the Iewes & Gentiles haue altogether need of righteousnes. ✣ Psal. 62. 12. mat. 16. 27. rom. 2. 12.
d Glory which followeth good works, which he layeth not out before vs, as though there were any that could atteine to saluation by his owne strength, but by laying the condition of saluation before vs, which no man can performe, to bring men to Christ, who alone iustifieth the beleeuers, as he himselfe concludeth, chap. 2. 21, 22. following.
e By truth, he meaneth that knowledge which we haue of nature.
f Gods indignation against sinners, which shall quickely be kindled.
g God doeth not measure men either by their blood, or by their couetousnesse either to receiue them, or to cast them away.

4 He applieth that generall accusation of mankinde particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Iewes.

5 He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Iewes, whom the Lawe doeth not excuse, but condemne, because that not the hearing of the Law, but the keeping of the Lawe doeth iustifie.
h Shalbe pronounced iust before Gods iudgement seate: which is true indeede if any such could be found that had fulfilled the law: but seeing Abrahem was not iustified by the Lawe, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be iustified by workes.

6 He preuenteth an obiectiō which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they haue not the Lawe of Moses, yet they haue no reason wherby they may excuse their wickednesse, in that they haue somewhat written in their hearts in stead of a Law, as men, that forbid & punish some things as wicked, and command & commend other some as good.
i Not simply, but in comparison of the Iewes.
k Command heerof things, and forbid disorder.
l This knowledge is a naturall knowledge.

7 God deferreth not his iudgements, which notwithstanding he will execute at their conuenient time by Iesus Christ, with a most strait examination, not onely of words and deeds, but of thoughts also, be they neuer so hidden or secret. m As this my doctrine witnesseth, which I am appointed to preach. 8 He prooueth by the testimonie of Danid, & the other Prophets, that God bestowed greatest benefits vpon the Iewes, in giuing them also the Law, but that they are the most vnthankfull and vnkindest of all men. n Canst trie and discerne what things swarue from Gods will. ‖ Or allowest the things that are excellent.
o The way to teach and frame other in the knowledge of the trueth.
p As though he sayd, that the Iewes vnder a colour of an outward seruing of God, challenged all to themselues, when as in deed, they did nothing lesse then obserue the Law. ✣ Esai. 52. 5. ezek. 36. 20. 9 He precisely preuenteth their obiection, which set an holinesse in circumcision, and the outward obseruation of the Law: So that he sheweth that the outward circumcision, if it be separated from the inward, doth not only not iustifie, but also condemne them that are indeed circumcised, of whom it requireth that, which it signifieth, that is to say, cleannesse of the heart and the whole life, according to the commandement of the Law. So that if there be a man vncircumcised according to the flesh, which is circumcised in heart, he is farre better and more to be accounted of, then any Iew that is circumcised according to the flesh onely.
q This is the figure Metonymie, for, if the vncircumcised. r The state and condition of the vncircumcised.
s Paul vseth often times to set the letter against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskinne, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spirituall end of the ceremonie, is true holynesse and righteousnesse, wherby the people of God is knowen from prophane and heathenish men.
t By the outward ceremonie only.

ward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:

CHAP. III.

1 He giueth the Iewes some 2 preferment, for the couenants sake, 4 but yet such, as wholly dependeth on Gods mercy. 6 That both Iewes and Gentiles are sinners, 11 he proueth by Scriptures: 19 and shewing the vse of the Law, 28 he concludeth that we are iustified by faith.

WHat [1] is then the preferment of the Iew? or what is the profit of circumcision?

2 Much euery maner of way: for [a] chiefly, because vnto them were of credit committed the [b] oracles of God.

3 For what, though some did not [c] beleeue? shall their vnbeliefe make the [d] faith of GOD without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true, and euery man a lyar, as it is written, That thou mightest be [e] iustified in thy words, and ouercome, [f] when thou art iudged.

5 [2] Now if our [g] vnrighteousnes cõmend the righteousnes of God, what shal we say? Is God vnrighteous which punisheth? (I speake as [h] a man.)

6 God forbid: (els how shall God iudge the world?)

7 [3] For if the [i] veritie of God hath more abounded through my lie vnto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as wee are blamed, and as some affirme, that we say) why do we not euill, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 [4] What then? are we more excellent? No, in no wise: for we haue already prooued, that all, both Iewes and Gentiles are [k] vnder sinne, 10 As it is written, ✣ There is none righteous, no not one.

11 There is none that vnderstandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They haue all gone out of the way: they haue bene made altogether vnprofitable: there is none that doth good, no not one.

13 ✣ Their throat is an open sepulchre: they haue vsed their tongues to deceit: the poyson of aspes is vnder their lips.

14 ✣ Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitternesse.

15 ✣ Their feete are swift to shead blood.

16 Destruction & calamitie are in their waies,

17 And the [l] way of peace they haue not knowen.

18 ✣ The feare of God is not before their eies.

19 [5] Nowe wee knowe that whatsoeuer the [m] lawe saith, it saith it to them which are vnder the lawe, that [n] euery mouth may bee stopped,

1 The first meeting with, or preuenting an obiection of the Iewes: what then, haue the Iewes no more preferment then the Gentiles? yes, that haue they, sayth the Apostle, on Gods behalfe: for he committed the tables of the couenant to them, so that the vnbeliefe of a few, can not cause the whole nation without exception to be cast away of God, who is true, & who also vseth their vnworthinesse to commend and set forth his goodnesse.

a The Iewes state and condition was chiefest.

b Words.

c Brake the couenant.

d The faith that God giue.

e That thy iustice might be plainly seene.

f For so much as thou shewest forth an euident token of thy righteousnesse, constancy & faith, by preserving him who had broken his couenant.

2 Another preuention, issuing out of the former answer: that the iustice of God is in such sort commended and set forth by our vnrighteousnesse, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the iudge of the world and therefore a most seuere reuenger of vnrighteousnesse.

g Treacherie, auil all the staines thereof.

h Therefore I speake not these words in mine owne person, as though I thought so, but this is the talke of mans wisedome, which is not subiect to the will of God. 3 A third obiection, which ad leth somewhat to the former, if sinnes do turne to the glorie of God, they are not only not to be punished, but we ought rather to giue our selues to them: which blasphemie Paul contending himselfe to confute and detect pronounceth iust punishment against such blasphemers. i The truth and confidence. 4 Another answere to the first obiection: that the Iewes, if they be considered in themselues, are no better then other men are: as it hath bene long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets. k Are guiltie of sinne. ✣ Psal. 14. 3 and 53. 1, 3. ✣ Psal. 5. 10. ✣ Psal. 140. 3. ✣ Psal. 10. 7. ✣ Esai 59. 7. l An innocent and peaceable life. ✣ Psal 36. 1. 5 He prooueth that this grieuous accusation which is vttered by Dauid and Esaias, doth properly concerne the Iewes. m The Law of Moses. 6 A conclusion of all the former disputation from the 18. verse of the first Chapter. Therefore saith the Apostle, No man can hope to be iustified by any Lawe, whether it be that generall Lawe, or the particular Law of Moses, and therefore to be saued: seeing it appeareth (as wee haue alreadie prooued) by comparing the Law and mans life together, that all men are sinners, and therefore worthie of condemnation in the sight of God, and all the world be [n] subiect to the iudgement of God.

n Be found guilty before God.

20 Therefore by the [o] workes of the Law shal no [p] flesh be q iustified in his [r] sight: for by the Law commeth the knowledge of sinne.

o By that, that the Law can by vs be performed.

p Flesh is here taken for man, as in many other places, and furthermore hath here a greater force: for it is put to shew the contrarietie betwixt God and man: as if you would say, Man who is nothing else but a peece of flesh defiled with sinne, and God who is most pure & most perfite in himselfe.

q Absolued before the iudgement seate of God.

r A secret setting of the righteousnesse which is before men, be they neuer so iust, against the iustice which can stand before God: now there is no righteousnesse can stand before God, but the righteousnesse of Christ onely.

21 [7] But nowe is the righteousnesse of God made manifest without the Lawe, hauing witnesse of the Lawe, and of the Prophets, 22 [8] To wit, the righteousnesse of God by the faith of [s] Iesus Christ, vnto all, and vpon all that beleeue.

23 For there is no difference: for all haue sinned, and are depriued of the [t] glorie of God,

24 [9] And are iustified [u] freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesus,

25 [10] Whome God hath set foorth to be a reconciliation through faith in his [x] blood to declare his righteousnesse, by the forgiuenesse of the sinnes that [y] are passed, 26 Through the [z] patience of God, to shewe at [a] this time his righteousnesse, that he might be [b] iust, and a [c] iustifier of him which is of the [d] faith of Iesus.

27 [11] Where is then the reioycing? It is excluded. By what [e] Law? of workes? Nay: but by the Law of faith.

28 Therefore wee conclude, that a man is iustified by faith, without the workes of the Law.

29 [12] God, is he the God of the [f] Iewes onely, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, euen of the Gentiles also.

30 For it is one God, who shall iustifie [g] circumcision of faith, and vncircumcision through faith.

31 [13] Doe we then make the Law of [h] none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, we [i] establish the Law.

s Through his patience, and suffring nature. a To wit, when Paul wrote this. b That he might be found exceeding true and faithfull. c Making him iust and without blame, by imputing Christs righteousnesse vnto him. d Of the number of them which by faith lay holde vpon Christ: contrary to whom, are they which looke to be saued by circumcision, that is, by the Law. 11 An argument to proone this conclusion, that we are iustified by faith without works, taken from the end of iustification. The end of iustification is the glory of God alone: therefore wee are iustified by faith without workes: for if wee were iustified either by our owne works onely, or partly by faith, and partly by works, the glory of this iustification should nor be wholly giuen to God. e By what doctrine? now the doctrine of workes hath this condition ioyned with it, if thou doest: and the doctrine of faith hath this condition, if thou beleeuest. 12 Another argument of an absurditie: if iustification depended vpon the Lawe of Moses, then should God be a Sauiour to the Iewes onely. Againe: if hee should saue the Iewes after one sort, and the Gentiles after another, he should not be one and like himselfe. Therefore he will iustifie both of them after one selfe same maner, that is to say, by faith. Moreouer, this argument must be ioyned to that which followeth next, that this conclusion may be firme and euident. f God is sayd to be their God, after the maner of the Scripture, whom he loueth and tenderly. g The circumcised. 13 The taking away of an obiection: yet is not the Law taken away therefore, but is rather established, as it shall be declared in his proper place. h Vaine, void, to no purpose, and of no force. i We make it stedfast and strong.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He prooueth that which he saide before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3. 6 and the testimonie of the Scripture: and seuen times in the Chapter he beateth vpon this word, imputation.

1 A new argument of great weight, taken from the example of Abraham the father of all beleeuers: And this is the proposition: If Abraham be considered in himselfe by his workes, he hath deserued nothing wherein to reioyce with God.
a By workes as appeareth in the next verse.
2 A preuenting of an obiection: Abraham may well reioyce, and extoll himselfe amongst men, but not with God.
3 A confirmation of the proposition: Abraham was iustified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his workes.
4 The first proofe of the confirmation, taken of contraries: to him that deserueth any thing by his labour, the wages is not counted by fauour, but by dette: but to him that hath done nothing but beleeueth in him which promiseth freely, faith is imputed.
b To him that hath deserued any thing by his worke.
c Is not reckoned nor giuen him.
d That maketh him which is wicked in himselfe, iust in Christ. 5 Another proofe of the same confirmation: Dauid putteth blessednes in free pardon of sinnes, therefore iustification also. 6 A new proposition: that this maner of iustification belongeth both to the vncircumcised, and also to the circumcised: as is declared in the person of Abraham. e This saying of Dauid, wherein he pronounceth them blessed. 7 Hee proueth that it belongeth to the vncircumcised (for there was no doubt of the circumcised in this sort:) Abraham was iustified in vncircumcision, therefore this iustification belongeth also to the vncircumcised. Nay it doth not apperteine to the circumcised in respect of the circumcision, much lesse are the vncircumcised shut out for their vncircumcision. 8 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then was Abraham circumcised if he were already iustified? That the gift of righteousnesse (saith he) might bee confirmed in him. f Circumcision, which is a signe: as we say the Sacrament of Baptisme, for Baptisme which is a Sacrament. g Circumcision was called before a signe, in respect of the outward ceremonie: now Paul sheweth the force and substance of that signe, that is, to what end it is vsed, to wit, not only to signifie, but also to seale vp the righteousnes of faith, whereby we come to possesse (christ himselfe: for the holy Ghost worketh that inwardly in deede, which the Sacraments being ioyned with the worde, doe represent. 9 An applying of the example of Abraham to the vncircumcised beleeuers, whose father also he maketh Abrahã. 10 An applying of the same example, to the circumcised beleeuers, whose father Abraham is, but yet by faith. 11 A reason why the seede of Abraham is to be esteemed by faith: because y Abraham himself through faith was made partaker of that promes, whereby he was made the father of al nations. h That all the nations of the worlde should be his children: or by the worlde may be vnderstood the land of Canaan. i For works that he had done, or vpon this condition, that he should fulfill the Lawe. 12 A double confirmation of that reason: the one is, that the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law, and therfore it should be frustrate: the other, that the condition of faith should bee ioyned in vaine to that promise which should bee apprehended by workes. k If they bee heires which haue fulfilled the Lawe.

1 WHat shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the a flesh?
2 2 For if Abraham were iustified by workes, he hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God.
3 3 For what saith the Scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted to him for righteousnesse.
4 4 Now to him that b worketh, the wages is not c counted by fauour, but by dette:
5 But to him that worketh not, but beleeueth in him that d iustifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteousnesse.
6 5 Euen as Dauid declareth the blessednesse of the man, vnto whom God imputeth righteousnesse without workes, saying,
7 Blessed are they, whose iniquities are forgiuen, and whose sinnes are couered.
8 Blessed is the man, to whom the Lord imputeth not sinne.
9 6 Came this e blessednesse then vpon the circumcision onely, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteousnes.
10 7 How was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or vncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when he was vncircumcised.
11 8 After, he receiued the f signe of circumcision, as the g seale of the righteousnes of the faith which he had, when he was vncircumcised, 9 that he should be the father of all them that beleeue, not being circumcised, that righteousnesse might be imputed to them also,
12 10 And the father of circumcision, not vnto them onely which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steppes of the faith of our father Abraham which he had when he was vncircumcised.
13 11 For the promise that hee should be the h heire of the worlde, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seede, through the i Law, but through the righteousnesse of faith.
14 12 For if they which are of the k Lawe, bee heires, faith is made void, and the promise is made of none effect.
15 13 For the Lawe causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression.
16 14 Therfore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the seede, 15 not to that onely which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of vs all,
17 (As it is written, I haue made thee a 16 father of many nations) euen before m God whom he beleeued, who n quickneth the dead, and o calleth those things which bee not, as though they were.
18 17 Which Abraham aboue hope, beleeued vnder hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seede be.
19 And he p not weake in the faith, considered not his owne body, which was now q dead, being almost an hundreth yeere olde, neither the deadnesse of Saraes wombe.
20 Neither did hee doubt of the promise of God through vnbeliefe, but was strengthened in the faith, and gaue r glorie to God, 21 Being s fully assured that he which had promised, was also able to doe it.
22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousnes.
23 18 Now it is not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousnes,
24 But also for vs, to whom it shalbe imputed for righteousnesse, which beleeue in him that raysed vp Iesus our Lord from the dead,
25 Who was deliuered to death for our t sins, and is risen againe for our iustification.

13 A reason of the first confirmation, why the promise cannot be apprehended by the Lawe: because that the Law doth not reconcile God and vs, but rather denounceth his anger against vs, for so much as no man can obserue it 14 The conclusion of this argument: The saluation and iustification of all the posterite of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith which layeth hold on the promise made vnto Abraham, and which promise Abraham himselfe first of all laid holde on.
l To all the beleeuers.
15 That is to say, not onely of them which beleeue and are also circumcised according to the Law, but of them also which without circumcision, and in respect of faith onely, are counted amongst the children of Abraham. 16 This fatherhood is spirituall, depending onely vpon the vertue of God, who made the promise. m Before God, that is by a spirituall kinred, which hath place before God, and maketh vs acceptable to God. n Who restoreth to life. o With whom those things are alreadie, which as yet are not in deede, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing. 17 A description of true faith wholly resting in the power of God, and his good will, set foorth in the example of Abraham. p Very strong and constant. q Voide of strength, and vnmeete to get children. r Acknowledged and praised God, as most gracious and true. s A description of true faith. 18 The rule of iustification is alwaies one, both in Abraham, and in all the faithfull: that is to say, faith in God, who after that there was made a full satisfaction for our sinnes in Christ our mediatour, raised him frõ the dead, that we also being iustified, might be saued in him. t To pay the ransome for our sinnes.

CHAP. V.

1 He amplifieth 2 Christes righteousnesse, which is laide holde on by faith, 5 who was giuen for the weake, 8 and sinfull. 14 He compareth Christ with Adam, 17 Death with life, 20 and the Law with Grace.

1 An other argument taken of the effects: we are iustified with that, which truely appeaseth our conscience before God: but faith in Christ doeth appease our conscience and not the Law, as it was before saide, therfore by faith we are iustified and not by the Law. ✣ Ephe.2.18. 2 Whereas quietnes of conscience is attributed to faith, it is to be referred to Christ, who is the giuer of faith it self, & in whom faith it selfe is effectuall. a We must here knowe, that we haue yet still this same effect of faith. b By which grace, that is, by which gracious loue and good will, or that state wherevnto we are graciously taken. c We stand stedfast. 3 A preuenting of an obiection against them, which beholding the daily miseries & calamities of the Church, thinke that the Christians dreame, when they brag of their felicitie: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicity is laid vp vnder hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they do no lesse reioyce for that happines, then if they did presently enioy it. d Our minds are not only quiet & setled, but also wee are marueilously glad, and conceiue great ioy for that heauenly inheritance which waiteth for vs. 4 Tribulation it selfe giueth vs diuers and sundry wayes occasion to reioyce, much lesse doth it make vs miserable. ✣ Iam.1.2. 5 Afflictions accustome vs to patience, and patience assureth vs of the goodnes of God, & this experience confirmeth and fostereth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs.

geth forth patience,

4 And patience experience, and experience hope,

5 [6] And hope maketh not ashamed, becanse the [c] loue of God is shed abroade in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is giuen vnto vs.

6 7 For Christ, when wee were yet of no strength, at his [i] time died for the ✣ vngodly.

7 [8] Doubtlesse one wil scarce die [g] for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God [h] setteth out his loue towards vs, seeing that while we were yet [i] sinners, Christ died for vs.

9 Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, we shalbe saued frō [k] wrath through him.

10 For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shalbe saued by his life, 11 [9] And not onely so, but we also reioyce in God through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we haue now receiued the atonement.

12 [10] Wherefore, as by [l] one man [m] sinne entred into the world, and death by sinne, and so death went ouer all men: [n] in whom all men haue sinned.

13 [11] For vnto the [o] time of the Law was sinne in the worlde, but sinne is not [p] imputed, while there is no lawe.

14 [12] But death reigned from Adam to Moses, euen ouer [q] them also that sinned not after the like [r] maner of the transgression of Adā, [13] which was the figure of him that was to come.

15 [14] But yet the gift is not so, as is [s] offence: for if through the offence of [t] that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many.

16 [15] Neither is the gift so, as that which entred

6 The ground of hope is an assured testimonie of the conscience, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloued of God, and this is nothing els but that which wee call faith, whereof it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted.

e Wherewith he loueth vs.

7 A sure comfort in aduersitie, & our peace and quietnes of conscience be not troubled: for he that so loued them that were of no strength and while they were yet sinners, that he died for them, how can he neglect the nbeing now sanctified & liuing in him?

f In time set and conuenient which the Father had appointed.

✣ Heb. 9 15. 1.pet.3.18

8 An amplifying of the loue of God toward vs, so that we cannot doubt of it, who deliuered Christ to death for the vniust, and for them of whom he could receiue no commoditie, and (that more is) for his very enemies. How can it bee then that Christ being then aline, should not saue them from destruction, whom by his death he iustifieth and reconcileth?

g In the stead of some iust man.

h He setteth out his loue vnto vs, that in the middest of our afflictions, we may knowe assuredly, hee will be present with vs.

i While sinne reigned in vs.

k From affliction, and destruction.

9 Hee now passeth ouer to the other part of Iustification, which consisteth in the free imputation of the obedience of Christ. So that to the remission of sinnes, there is added moreouer and besides, the gift of Christes righteousnesse imputed or put vpon vs by faith, which swalloweth vp that vnrighteousnesse which flowed from Adam into vs, and all the fruites thereof: so that in Christ wee doe not onely cease to be vniust but we begin also to be iust.

10 From Adam in whom all haue sinned, both guiltinesse and death (which is the punishment of the guiltinesse) came vpon all.

l By Adam, who is compared with Christ, like to him in this, that both of them make those which are theirs, partakers of that they haue: but they are vnlike in this, that Adam deriueth sinne into them that are his, euen of nature, and that to death: but Christ maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteousnesse by grace, and that vnto life.

m By sinne, is meant that disease which is ours by inheritance, and men commonly call it original sinne: for so he vseth to call that sinne in the singular number, whereas of he speake of the fruits of it, he vseth the plurall number, calling them sinnes.

n That is, in Adam.

11 That this is so, that both guiltinesse and death begonne not after the giuing and transgressing of Moses Lawe, it appeareth manifestly by that, that men died before that Law was giuen: for in that they died sinne, which is the cause of death, was then and in such sort, that it was also imputed: whereupon it followeth that there was then some Lawe, the breach whereof was the cause of death.

o Euen from Adam to Moses.

p Where there is no Lawe made, no man is punished as faultie and guiltie.

12 But that this Lawe was not that vniuersall Law, and that death did not proceede from any actuall sinne of euery one particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could euer know nor transgresse that naturall Lawe, are notwithstanding dead as well as Adam.

q Ouer infants.

r Not after that sort as they sinne that are of mae yeeres following their lustes: but yet the whole posteritie was corrupted in Adam, when as he wittingly and willingly sinned.

13 Now that first Adam answereth the later, who is Christ, as it is afterward declared.

14 Adam and Christ are compared together in this respect, that both of them doe giue and yeeld to theirs, that which is their owne: but herein first they differ, that Adam by nature hath spred his fault to the destruction of many, but Christs obedience hath by grace ouerflowed many.

s That is, Adam.

15 Another inequalitie consisteth in this, that by Adams one offence men are made guiltie, but the righteousnes of Christ imputed vnto vs freely, doth not onely absolue vs from that one fault, but from all other, in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to [t] iustification.

17 [16] For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receiue that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousnesse, [u] reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christ.

18 [17] Likewise then as by the offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the iustifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the [x] iustification of life.

19 [18] For as by one mans [y] disobedience [z] many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one shall many also be made righteous.

20 [19] Moreouer the Lawe [a] entred thereupon that the offence should abound: neuertheless, where sinne abounded, there grace [b] abounded much more:

21 That as sinne had reigned vnto death, so might grace also reigne by righteousnesse vnto eternall life through Iesus Christ our Lord.

s To the sentence of absolution, whereby we are quit and pronounced righteous.

16 The third difference is, that the righteousnesse of Christ, being imputed vnto vs by grace, is of greater power to bring life, then the offence of Adam is to addict his posteritie to death.

u Be partakers of true and euerlasting life.

17 Therefore to be short, as by one mans offence the guiltines came on all men to make them subiect to death: so on the contrary side, the righteousnesse of Christ, which by Gods mercie is imputed to all beleeuers, iustifieth them, that they may become partakers of euerlasting life.

x Not onely because our sinnes are forgiuen vs, but also because the righteousnes of Christ is imputed to vs.

18 The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two stockes or rootes, so that out of the one, sinne by nature, out of the other, righteousnes by grace doeth spring foith vpon others.

y So then, sinne entred not into vs onely by following the steppes of our forefather, but wee take corruption of him by inheritance.

z This word, Many, is set against this worde, a fewe.

19 A preuenting of an obiection: why then did the Lawe of Moses enter thereupon? that men might be so much the more guiltie, & the benefite of God in Christ Iesus be so much the more glorious.

a Beside that disease which all men were infected withall by being defiled with one mans sinne, the Law entred.

b Grace was powred so plentifully from heauen, that it did not onely counteruaile sinne, but aboue measure passed it.

CHAP. VI.

1 He commeth to sanctification, without which, that no man putteth on Christs righteousnesse, he proueth 4 by an argument taken of Baptisme, 12 and therupon exhorteth to holinesse of life, 16 briefely making mention of the Law transgressed.

WHat [1] shall we say then? Shall we continue still in [a] sinne, that grace may abound?

1 He passeth now to another benefit of Christ, which is called Sanctification or regeneratiō.

a In that corruption: for though the guiltinesse of sinne be not imputed to vs yet the corruption remaineth still in vs: the which, Sanctification that followeth Iustification, killeth by little and little.

2 [2] God forbid. How shall wee, that are [b] dead to sinne, liue yet therein?

3 [3] Knowe ye not, that ✣ all wee which haue bene baptized into [c] Iesus Christ, haue bene baptized into his death?

4 ✣ We are buried then with him by baptisme into his death, that like as Christ was raised vp from the dead [d] to the glory of the Father, so [e] we also should ∴ walke in newnesse of life.

5 [4] ✣ For if wee be planted with him to the

2 The benefite of Iustification and Sanctification, are alwayes ioyned together inseparably, and both of them proceede from Christ by the grace of God: Now, Sanctification is the abolishing of sinne, that is, of our natural corruption, into whole place succeedeth the cleannesse and puretnesse of nature reformed.

b They are said of Paul to be dead to sinne, which are in such sort made partakers of the vertue of Christ, that that naturall corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not forth his bitter fruites: And on the other side, they are said to liue to sinne, which are in the flesh, that is, whome the sp'rite of God hath not deliuered from the seruitie of the corruption of nature.

3 There are three partes of this Sanctification, to wit, the death of the old man or sinne, his buriall, and the resurrection of the new man, descending into vs from the vertue of the death, buriall, & resurrection of Christ, of which benefite our baptisme is the signe and pledge.

✣ Gala.3.27.

c To the ende that growing vp in one with him, wee should receiue his strength, to quench sinne in vs, and to make vs new men.

✣ Col.2.12.

d That Christ himselfe being discharged of his infirmitie and weaknesse, might liue in glory with God for euer.

e And we which are his members rise for this ende, that being made partakers of the selfe same vertue, we should beginne to leade a new life, as though we were already in heauen.

∴ Eph.4.23. colos.3.8. Leb.12.1. 1.pet.2.1.

4 The death of sinne and the life of righteousnes, or our ingrafting into Christ and growing vp into one with him, cannot be separated by any meanes, neither in death nor life: whereby it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which liueth still to sinne, and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not and turneth not from his wickednesse: for as he said before, the Lawe is not subuerted but established by faith.

f In so much as by meanes of the strength which commeth from him to vs, wee so die to sinne as he is dead.
g For we become euery day more perfit then other: for we shall neuer be perfectly sanctified, as long as we liue here.
h All our whole nature, as wee are conceiued & borne into this world with sinne, which is called old, partly by comparing that old Adam with Christ, and partly also in respect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which we change with a new.
i Our corrupt nature, is attributed to Christ, not in deede, but by imputation.
k That naughtines which sticketh fast in vs.
l The end of sanctification which we shoote at, and shall at length come to, to wit, when God shalbe all in all.
5 He proueth it by the effects of death, vsing a comparison of Christ the head with his members.
m Once for all.
n With God.
6 An exhortation to contend and striue with corruption, & all the effects thereof.
o By reigning, S. Paul meaneth that chiefetie and high rule, which no man striueth against, and if any doe, yet it is in vaine.
p To sinne, as to a Lord or tyrant.
q Your minde and all the powers of it.
r As instruments to commit wickednesse withall. 7 He granteth that sinne is not yet so dead in vs that it is vtterly extinct: but hee promiseth victory to them that contend manfully, because we haue the grace of God giuen vs which worketh so, that the lawe is not nowe in vs the power and instrument of sinne. 8 To be vnder the lawe and vnder sinne, signifie all one, in respect of them which are not sanctified, as on the contrary side, to be vnder grace and righteousnesse, agree to them that are regenerate. Now these are contraries, so that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let righteousnesse expell sinne. ✣ Iob 8.34. 2.pet.2.19. 9 By nature we are slaues to sinne, free from righteousnesse, but by the grace of God we are made seruants to righteousnesse, and therefore free from sinne.
s This kinde of speech hath a force: for he meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospell is like vnto a certaine [illegible] which we are cast into to be framed and fashioned like vnto it.
t Righteousnesse had no rule ouer you. 10 An exhortation to the studie of righteousnesse contrary to sinne, the contrary endes of both, being set downe before vs. reward or payment. 11 Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are called freely, vnto life euerlasting.

f similitude of his death, euen so shall we g be to the similitude of his resurrection,

6 Knowing this, that our h old man is crucified with i him, that the body k of sinne might be destroyed, ỹ henceforth we should not l serue sinne.

7 5 For he that is dead, is freed from sinne.

8 Wherefore, if we be dead with Christ, wee beleeue that we shall liue also with him, 9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion ouer him.

10 For in that he died, he died m once to sinne: but in that he liueth, he liueth to n God.

11 Likewise think ye also, that ye are dead to sin, but are aliue to God in Iesus Christ our Lord.

12 6 Let not sinne o reigne therefore in your mortal body, ỹ ye should obey it in ỹ lusts thereof:

13 Neither p giue ye your q members, as r weapons of vnrighteousnes vnto sinne: but giue your selues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of righteousnesse vnto God.

14 7 For sinne shall not haue dominion ouer you: for ye are not vnder ỹ Law, but vnder grace.

15 8 What then? shall we sinne, because we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid.

16 ✣ Know yee not, that to whom soeuer yee giue your selues as seruants to obey, his seruants ye are to whom yee obey, whether it be of sinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteousnesse?

17 9 But God be thanked, that yee haue bene the seruants of sinne, but ye haue obeyed from the heart vnto the s forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were deliuered.

18 Being then made free from sinne, yee are made the seruants of righteousnesse.

19 I speake after the maner of man, because of the infirmitie of your flesh: for as yee haue giuen your members seruants to vncleannes and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so now giue your members seruants vnto righteousnesse in holinesse.

20 For when ye were the seruants of sinne, yee were t freed from righteousnesse.

21 10 What fruit had yee then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the u ende of those things is death.

22 But now being freed from sinne, and made seruants vnto God, ye haue your fruit in holinesse, and the end, euerlasting life.

23 11 For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

K Now 1 ye not, brethren, (for I speake to them that know the Law) that the Law hath dominion ouer a man as long as he liueth?

2 ✣ For the woman which is in subiection to a man, is bound by the Lawe to the man, while he liueth: but if the man be dead, she is deliuered from the law of the man.

3 So then, if while the man liueth, she taketh another man, she shalbe a called an ✣ adulteresse: but if the man be dead, she is free from the Law, so that she is not an adulteresse, though shee take another man.

4 2 So yee, my brethren, are dead also to the law by the b body of Christ, that yee should bee vnto an other, euen vnto him that is raised vp from the dead, that we should bring forth c fruit vnto d God.

5 3 For when we e were in ỹ flesh, the f affections of sinnes, which were by the g law, had h force in our members, to bring foorth fruit vnto death.

6 But nowe we are deliuered from the Lawe, he i being dead k in whom we were l holden, that we should serue in m newnesse of Spirit, and not in the oldenesse of the n letter.

7 4 What shall wee say then? Is the Lawe sinne? God forbid. Nay I knew not sinne, but by the Law: for I had not knowen o lust, except the Law had said, ∴ Thou shalt not lust.

8 But sinne tooke an occasion by the commandement, & wrought in me all maner of concupiscence: for without the Lawe sinne is p dead.

9 5 For I once was aliue, without ỹ q Law: but when the commandement r came, sinne reuiued, 10 But I s died: and the same commandement which was ordeined vnto life, was founde to bee vnto me vnto death.

11 For sinne tooke occasion by the commandement, and deceiued me, and thereby slewe mee.

12 6 Wherefore the Lawe is ✣ holy, and that t commandement is holy, and iust, and good.

1 By propounding the similitude of mariage, he compareth the state of man both before and after regeneration together. The lawe of matrimonie, saith he, is this, that so long as the husband liueth, the mariage abideth in force, but if he be dead, the woman may marry againe.
✣ 1.Cor.7.39.
a That is, she shall be an adulteresse, by the consent & iudgement of all men.
✣ Matth.5.32.
2 An application of the similitude thus. So, saith he, doeth it fare with vs: for now we are ioyned to the spirit, as it were to the second husband, by whom we must bring forth new children: we are dead in respect of ỹ first husband, but in respect of the later, we are as it were raised from ỹ dead.
b That is, in the body of Christ, to giue vs to vnderstand, how straite and neere that fellowship betwixt Christ and his members.
c Hee calleth the children, which the wife hath by her husband, fruite.
d Which are acceptable to God.
3 A declaration of the former saying: for the concupiscences (saith he) which the law stirred vp in vs, were in vs as it were a husband, of whō we brought forth very deadly & cursed children. But now since that husband is dead, & so consequently being deliuered from the force of that killing Law, we haue passed into the gouernance of the spirit, so that we bring forth now, not those rotten & dead but liuely children. e When we were in the state of the first [illegible] next verse following, the odines of the [illegible] shew their force euen in [illegible] they spring [illegible]

7 The proposition: That the Lawe is not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature, being therewith not only discouered, but also stirred vp, and tooke occasion thereby to rebell, as which, the more that things are forbidden it, the more it desireth them, & from hence commeth guiltinesse, and occasion of death.

u Beareth it the blame of my death?
x The sinne might shew it selfe to be sinne, and bewray its selfe to be that, which it is in deede.
y As euill as it could, shewing all the venime it could.

8 The cause of this matter, is this: Because that the Law requireth a heauenly pureness, but men, such as they be borne, are bondslaues of corruptiō, which they willingly serue.

9 He setteth himselfe, being regenerate, before vs, for an example, in whom may easily

13 7 Was that then which is good, u made death vnto me? God forbid: but sinne, that it might x appeare sinne, wrought death in mee by that which is good, that sinne might be y out of measure sinfull by the commandement.

14 8 For we know that the Lawe is spirituall, but I am carnall, solde vnto sinne.

15 9 For I 10 alow not that which I do: for what I 11 would, that doe I not: but what I hate, ỹ doe I.

16 If I doe then that which I would not, I consent to the Law, that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I, that doe it, but z sinne that dwelleth in me.

18 12 For I know, that in mee, that is, in my flesh, dwelleth no good thing: for to wil is present with me: but I find a no meanes to performe that which is good.

19 For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the euil, which I would not, that do I.

20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.

21 13 I find then that when I would do good, I am thus yoked, that euill is present with me.

22 For I delite in the law of God, concerning the b inner man:

23 But I see another law in my members, rebelling against the lawe of my c minde, and leading me captiue vnto the law of sinne, which is in my members.

24 14 O d wretched man that I am, who shall deliuer me from the body of this death!

25 I e thanke God through Iesus Christ our Lord. Then I f my selfe in my minde serue the Law of God, but in my flesh the law of sinne.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Hee concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his Spirit, 3 howsoeuer they be as yet burdened with sinnes: 9 for they liue through that Spirit, 14 whose testimonie 15 driueth away all feare, 28 and relieueth our present miseries.

NOW 1 then there is no commendation to them that are in Christ Iesus, which a walke not after the a flesh, but after the Spirit.

2 3 For the b Law of the Spirit of c life which is in d Christ Iesus, hath e freed me from the lawe of sinne and of death.

3 4 For (that that was f impossible to the law, in as much as it was weake, because of the g flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in ỹ similitude of h sinfull flesh, & for i sinne, k condemned sinne in ỹ flesh,

4 That that l righteousnesse of the Law might be fulfilled 5 in vs, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

5 6 For they that are after the m flesh, sauour the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 7 For the wisedome of the flesh is death: but the wisedome of the Spirit is life and peace,

7 8 Because the wisedome of the flesh is enimitie against God: 9 for it is not subiect to the Law of God, neither in deede can be.

8 10 So then they that are in the flesh, cannot please God.

9 11 Now ye are not in the flesh, but in ỹ spirit, because ỹ spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not ỹ spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

1 A conclusion of all the former disputation from vers 16. of chap. 7. euen to this place. Seeing that we, being iustified by faith in Christ, do obtaine remission of sinnes and imputation of righteousnesse, and are also sanctified, it followeth hereof, that they that are grafted into Christ by faith, are out of all feare of condemnation.

2 The fruits of the Spirit, or effects of sanctificatiō, which is begun in vs, doe not ingraft vs into Christ, but doe declare that we are grafted into him.

n Follow not the flesh for their guide: for he is not safe to liue after the flesh, that hath the holy Ghost for his guide, though sometimes he slep away.

3 A preuenting of an obiection: Seeing that the vertue of the Spirit which is in vs, is so weake, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that haue that vertue? Because saith he, that vertue of the quickning Spirit which is so weake in vs, is most perfect & most mighty in Christ, and being imputed vnto vs which beleeue, causeth vs to be so accōpted of, as though there were no relikes of corruption, and death in vs. Therefore hitherto, Paul disputed of remission of sins, and imputation of fulfilling the Law, and also of sanctification which is begun in vs: but how he speaketh of the perfit imputation of Christs manhood, which part was necessarily required to the full appeasing of our consciences: For our sins are defaced by the blood of Christ, and the guiltines of our corruption is couered with the imputation of Christs obedience: and the corruption it selfe (which the Apostle calleth sinfull sinne) is healed in vs by litle and litle, by the gift of sanctification, but yet lacketh besides that, another remedy, to wit, the perfect sanctification of Christes owne flesh, which also is to vs imputed.

a The power and authoritie of the spirit, against which is set the tyrannie of sinne.
b Which mortifieth the old man, and quickeneth the new man.
c To wit, absolutely, and perfitly.
d For Christs sanctification being imputed to vs, perfiteth our sanctification which is begun in vs.

4 He vseth no argument here, but expoundeth the mysterie of sanctification, which is imputed vnto vs: for because, saith hee, that the vertue of the law was not such (and that by reason of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure & perfit, and for that it rather kindled the disease of sinne, then did put it out & extinguish it, therefore God clothed his sonne with flesh like vnto our sinfull flesh, wherein he vtterly abolished our corruption, that being accounted throughly pure & without fault in him apprehended & laid hold on by faith, we might be found to haue fully that singular perfection which the law requireth, & therfore that there might be no condemnation in vs.

e Which is not proper to the Law, but commeth by our fault.
f In man not borne anew, whose disease the law could point out, but it could not heale it.
g Of mans nature which was corrupt through sinne, vntill he sanctified it.
h To abolish sin in our flesh.
i Shewed that sin hath no right in vs.
k The very substance of the law of God might be fulfilled, or that same which the law requireth, that we may be found iust before God: for if without iustification there be ioyned that sanctification which is imputed to vs, we are iust, according to that perfit forme which the Lord requireth.

5 He returneth to ỹ which he said, ỹ the sanctification which is begun in vs, is a sure testimony of our ingrafting into Christ: which is a most plenti[ful] fruit of a godly & honest life. 6 A reason, why to walke after ỹ flesh, agreeth to thē which are grafted in Christ, but to walke after the Spirit, agreeth and is for them: Because saith he, that they which are after ỹ flesh, sauour the things of the flesh, but they that are after the spirit, the things of the spirit.

m They that the flesh leadeth them.

7 He proueth the consequent: because that whatsoeuer the flesh sauoureth, that engendreth death: and whatsoeuer the spirit sauoureth, that tendeth to ioy & life euerlasting. 8 A reason & proofe, why ỹ wisdom of the flesh is death: because, saith he, it is ỹ enemy of God. 9 A reason why ỹ wisdom of the flesh is enemie to God: because it neither will, neither can be subiect. And by flesh he meaneth a man not regenerate. 10 The conclusion: Therefore they that walke after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not grafted into Christ. 11 He commeth to the others, to wit, to them that walk after the spirit, of whom we haue to vnderstand cōtrary things to the former: & first of all, he defineth what it is to be in the Spirit, or to be sanctified: to wit, to haue ỹ spirit of God dwelling in them. Then he declareth, that sanctification is ioyned & knit to our ingrafting, and that it can by no meanes be separated, 12 He confirmeth the faithful against the reliques of flesh and sinne granting that they are yet (as appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to say, a lumpe) which is not yet purged from his earthly filthines, in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy successe of this combate, because that euen the litle sparke of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteousnesse, in the seed of life.

n The flesh, or all that which as yet sticketh fast in the clefts of sinne, and death.

13 A confirmation of the former sentence: You haue the selfe same Spirit, which Christ hath; Therefore at length it shall doe the same in you, that it did in Christ, to wit, whe al infirmities being vtterly laid aside, and death ouercome, it shal clothe you with heauenly glory.

10 [12] And if Christ be in you, the [n] body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirit [a] is life for righteousnesse sake.

11 [13] But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised vp Christ from the dead, shal also quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that [o] dwelleth in you.

12 [14] Therefore brethren, wee are detters not to the flesh to liue after the flesh:

13 [15] For if ye liue after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye mortifie the deedes of the body by the Spirit, ye shall liue.

14 [16] For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 [17] For yee haue not receiued the [d] Spirit of bondage, to [q] feare againe: but ye haue receiued [ÿ] Spirit of [r] adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

16 The same Spirit beareth witnesse with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

17 [18] If we be children, we are also [r] heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: [19] if so be that wee suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him.

18 [20] For I [t] count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory [s] which shalbe shewed vnto vs.

19 [21] For the feruent desire of the [u] creature waiteth when the sonnes of God shalbe reueiled.

20 Because the creature is subiect [x] to vanitie, not of it [y] owne wil, but by reason [z] of him, which hath subdued it vnder [a] hope, 21 Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the [b] bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.

22 For wee know that euery creature groneth with vs also, and [c] trauaileth in paine together vnto this present.

23 [22] And not onely the creature, but we also o By the vertue and power of it, which hath wrought the same might first in our head, and daily worketh in our members.

14 An exhortation to oppresse the flesh dayly more & more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (say th he) you are detters vnto God, for so much as you haue receiued so many benefits of him. 15 An other reason of the profit that ensueth: for such as striue & fight valiantly, shal haue euerlasting life. 16 A confirmation of this reason: for they be the children of God, which are gouerned by his Spirit, therefore shal they haue life euerlasting. 17 He declareth & expoundeth by the way, in these two verses, by what right this name to be called the children of God, is giuen to the beleeuers: because faith hee, they haue receiued the grace of the Gospel, wherein God sheweth himselfe, not (as before in the publishing of the Law) terrible & fearefull, but a most benigne & louing father in Christ, so that with great boldnes we cal him Father, the holy Ghost sealing this adoption in our hearts by faith.

p By the Spirit is ment the holy Ghost, whom we are sayd to receiue, when he worketh in our minds.

q Which feare is stirred vp in our minds, by the preaching of the Law.

r Which sealeth our adoption in our minds, and therefore openeth our mouthes.

18 A proofe of the consequent of the confirmation: because that he which is the Sonne of God, doth enioy God with Christ.

s Partakers of our fathers goods, & that freely, because we are children by adoption.

19 Now Paul teacheth by what way the sonnes of God doe come to that felicitie, to wit, by the crosse, as Christ himselfe did: and therewithall openeth vnto them fountaines of comfort: as first, that we haue Christ a companion & felow of our afflictions: secondly, that we shalbe also his felowes in that euerlasting glory. 20 Thirdly, that this glory which we looke for, doth a thousand parts surmount the miserie of our afflictions.

t All being well considered, I gather.

21 Fourthly, he plainly teacheth vs that wee shall certainely be reuiued from that confusion and horrible deformation of the whole world, which cannot be continuall, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the sinne of man, for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shal it at length be restored with the elect.

u All this world.

x Is subiect to a vanishing and fitting state.

y Not by their naturall inclination.

z That they should obey the Creators commandement, whom it pleased to subiect by their sinne, how greatly he was displeased with man.

a God would not make the world subiect to euerlasting curse, for the sinne of man, but gaue it hope that it should be restored.

b From the corruption which they are now subiect to, they shalbe deliuered & changed into the blessed state of incorruption, which shalbe reuealed when the sonnes of God shalbe aduanced to glory.

c By this word trauaileth, not only exceeding sorow, but also the fruite that followeth of it.

22 Fifthly, if the rest of the world, looke for a restoring, groning as it were for it and that not in vaine, let it not grieue vs also to sigh, yea, let vs be more certainely perswaded of our redemption to come, for as much as we haue the first fruites of the Spirit, which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen we doe sigh in our [d] selues, waiting for the adoption, euen [✣] [e] the redemption of our body.

24 [23] For wee are saued by hope: but [f] hope that is seene, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, we doe with patience abide it.

26 [24] Likewise the Spirit also [g] helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it selfe maketh [h] requests for vs with sighs, which cannot be expressed.

27 But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the [i] meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for [ÿ] Saints, [k] according to the wil of God.

28 [25] Also wee know that [l] all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of [h] [m] purpose.

29 For those which he knew before, he also predestinate to be made like to [ÿ] image of his Sonne, [ÿ] he might be [ÿ] first borne among many brethren.

30 Moreouer whom he [n] predestinate, them also he called, & whom he called, them also he iustified, & whom he iustified, them he also glorified.

31 [25] What shall we then say to these things? If God be on our side, who can be against vs?

32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how shall he not with him [o] giue vs all things also?

33 [27] Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is [p] God that iustifieth, 34 Who shall condemne? it is Christ which is dead, yea, or rather, which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, & maketh request also for vs.

35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of [q] Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sword?

36 As it is written, ✣ For thy sake are we killed al day long: we are counted as sheep for [ÿ] slaughter.

37 [r] Nevertheless, in all these things wee are more then conquerours through him [ÿ] loued vs.

38 For I am perswaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shalbe able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

d Euen from the bottome of our hearts.

✣ Luke 21.28.

e That last restoring, which shalbe the accomplishment of our adoption.

23 Sixtly, hope is necessarily ioyned with faith: seeing then that we beleeue those things, which we are not yet in possession of, and hope respecteth not the thing that is present, we must therefore hope and patiently waite for that which we beleeue shall come to passe.

f This is spoken by the figure Metonymie: Hope, for that which is hoped for.

24 Seuenthly, There is no cause why we should faint vnder the burden of afflictions, seeing that prayers minister vnto vs a most sure helpe, which can not be frustrate, seeing they proceed from the spirit of God which dwelleth in vs.

g Beareth our burden, as it were, that we faint not vnder it.

h Moueth vs to prayers, and telleth vs as it were what, in what we shall say, and how we shall grone.

i What iobs and ends proceed from the instinct of his Spirit.

k Because he teacheth vs the goods to pray according to Gods will.

25 Eightly we are

CHAP. IX.

1 He answereth an obiection, that might be brought on the Iewes behalfe, 7 And telleth of two sorts of Abrahams children, 15 and that God worketh all things in this matter according to not afflicted, either by chance or to our harme, but by Gods prouidence for our great profit: who as he chose vs from the beginning, so hath he predestinate vs to be made like to the image of his Sonne: and therefore we will bring vs in his time, being called & iustified, to glory, by the crosse.

l Not only afflictions, but whatsoeuer els.

m He calleth that, Purpose, which God hath from euerlasting appointed with himselfe according to his good will and pleasure.

n He vseth the time past, for the time present, as the Hebrewes vse, who sometime set downe the thing that is to come, by the time that is past, to signifie the certaintie of it: and he hath also a regard to Gods continuall working.

26 Ninthly, we haue no cause to feare that the Lord will not giue vs what soeuer is profitable for vs, seeing that hee hath not spared his owne Sonne to saue vs.

o Giue vs freely.

27 A most glorious & comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is, of the treatise of iustification. There are no accusers that we haue needs to be afraid of before God, seeing that God himselfe absoluseth vs as iust: and therefore much lesse needs wee to feare damnation, seeing that we rest vpon the death & resurrection, the almightie power and defence of Iesus Christ. Therefore what can there be so waighty in this life, or of so great force & power, that might feare vs, as though wee might fall from the loue of God, wherewith he loueth vs in Christ? Surely nothing, seeing y it is in it selfe most constant & sure, & also in vs being confirmed by stedfast faith.

p Who pronounceth vs, not only guiltlesse, but also perfitly iust in his Sonne.

q Whereas with Christ loueth vs.

✣ Psal 44.22.

r We are not only not ouercome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more then conquerours in all of them.

hu will, 26 euen as the potter doth. 24.30 He prooueth aswel the calling of the Gentiles, 31 as also the reiecting of the Iewes, 25. 27 by the testimonies of the Prophets.

1 The third part of this Epistle, euē to the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul ascendeth to the higher causes of faith: and first of all, because he purposed to speake much of ỹ casting off of the Iewes, he vseth an insinuation, declaring by a double or triple othe, and by witnessing of his great desire towardes their saluation, his singular loue to wards them, and therewithall granting vnto them all their prerogatiues.

a The Apostle loued his brethren so entirely, that if it had bene possible, he would haue bene ready to haue redeemed the casting away of the Israelites, with the losse of his owne soule for euer: for this word, separate, betokeneth as much in this place.

b Being brethren by flesh, as of one nation and countrey.

c The arke of the couenāt, which was a token of Gods presence. ✣ Chap.2.17.ephe.2.12. d The tables of the couenant: and this is spoken by the figure Metonymie. e Of the iudiciall Lawe. f The ceremoniall Lawe. g Which were made to Abraham and to his posteritie.

I Say 1 the trueth in Christ, I lye not, my conscience bearing me witnesse in the holy Ghost,

2 That I haue great heauinesse, and continuall sorow in mine heart.

3 For I would wish my selfe to be a separate from Christ, for my brethren that are my kinsmen according to the b flesh,

4 Which are the Israelites, to whom perteineth the adoption, and the c glory, & the ✣ d Couenants, and the giuing of the e Lawe, and the f seruice of God, and the g promises.

5 Of whome are the fathers, and of whome concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is a God ouer all, blessed for euer, Amen.

6 ✣ 2 Notwithstanding it cannot be that the word of God should take none effect: for all they are not h Israel, which are of Israel:

7 Neither are they all children, because they are the seede of Abraham: ✣ but, In i Isaac shall thy seede be called:

8 5 That is, they which are the children of the k flesh, are not the children of God: but the ✻ children of the l promise, are counted for the seede.

9 4 For this is a word of promise, ✣ In this same time wil I come, and Sara shal haue a sonne.

10 7 Neither he onely felt this, but also * Rebecca when shee had conceiued by one, euen by our father Isaac.

11 For yer the children were borne, and when they had neither done good, nor euill (that the m purpose of God might 8 remaine according to election, not by workes, but by him that calleth) 12 9 It was said vnto her, ✣ The elder shall serue the yonger.

h Israel in the first place, is taken for Iacob: and in the second, for the Israelites. ✣ Gen.21.12.heb.11.18. 4 The first proofe is taken from the example of Abrahams owne house, wherein Isaac onely was accounted the seede, and that by Gods ordinance: although that Ismael also was borne of Abraham, & circumcised before Isaac. i Isaac shalbe thy true and naturall seede, and therefore heire of thy blessing. 5 A generall application of the former proofe or example. k Which are borne of Abraham by the course of nature. ✻ Gala.4.28. l Which are borne by vertue of the promise. 6 A reason of that application: Because that Isaac was borne by vertue of the promise, and therefore hee was not chosen, nay hee was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promise is the fountaine of predestination, & not the flesh, from which promise the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect be borne elect: and not that they be first borne, and then afterward elected, in respect of God who doeth predestinate. ✣ Gene.18.10. 7 Another forcible proofe taken from the example of Esau and Iacob, which were both borne of the same Isaac, which was the seede of the promise of one mother, and at one birth, and not at diuerse: Ismael & Isaac were: and yet notwithstanding, Esau being cast off, onely Iacob was chosen: and that before their birth: that neither any goodnesse of Iacobs might be thought to be the cause of his election, neither any wickednes of Esaus, of his casting away. ✻ Gene.25.11. m Gods decree, which proceedeth of his meere good will, whereby it pleaseth him to chuse one, and refuse the other. 8 Paul saith not, might be made, but being made, might remaine. Therefore they are deceiued which make foresene faith, the cause of election, and foreknowen infidelitie the cause of reprobation. 9 He prooueth the casting away of Esau by that, that hee was made seruant to his brother: and prooueth the chusing of Iacob, by that, that he was made Lord of his brother, although his brother were the first begotten. And least that any man might take this saying of God, & referre it to external things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the seruitude of Esau was ioyned with the hatred of God, & the lordship of Iacob with the loue of God. ✣ Gen.25.23.

13 As it is written, ✣ I haue loued Iacob, and haue hated Esau.

14 10 What shall wee say then? Is there n vnrighteousnesse with God? God forbid.

15 11 For he saith to Moses, ✣ I wil o haue mercy on him, on whom I wil haue mercy: and will haue p compassiō on him, on whō I wil haue cōpassion.

16 12 So then it is not in him that q willeth nor in him that runneth, but in God ỹ sheweth mercy.

17 13 For the r Scripture saith vnto Pharao, For this same purpose haue I ſ stirred thee vp, that I might 14 shewe my power in thee, and that my Name might be declared throughout al the earth.

18 15 Therefore he hath mercy on whom hee t will, and whom he wil he hardeneth.

19 16 Thou wilt say then vnto me, Why doeth he yet complaine? for who hath resisted his will?

20 17 But, O man, who art thou which pleadest against God? 18 shall the ✻ thing u formed say to Malach.1.2.

10 The first obiection: If God doth loue or hate vpon no cōsideration of worthines or vnworthines, then is he vniust, because he may loue them which are vnworthie, and hate them ỹ are worthy. The Apostle detesteth this blasphemie, & afterward answereth it seuerally, point by point.

n Mans will, knoweth no other causes of loue or hatred, but those that are in the persons, and thereupon thu obiection riseth.

11 He answereth first touching them which are chosen to saluation: in chusing of whom, he denieth that God may seeme vniust, although he chuse & predestinate to saluation, them that are not yet borne, without any respect of worthines: because he bringeth not the chosen to the appointed end, but by the meanes of his mercy, which is a cause next vnder predestination. Now mercy presupposeth miserie, and against miserie presupposeth sinne or voluntarie corruption of mankinde, and corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreouer mercy is shewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iustification & sanctification, so that at length we come to glorification, as the Apostle will shewe afterward. Nowe all these things orderly following the purpose of God, do clearely prooue that he can by no meanes seeme vniust in louing and saluing his. ✣ Exod.33.19. o I will be mercifull and fauourable to whom I list to be fauourable. p I will haue compassion on whome soeuer I list to haue compassion. 12 The conclusion of the answere. Therefore God is not vniust in chusing & saluing of his free goodnes: such as it pleaseth him: as he also answered Moses, when he prayed for all the people. q By will, he meaneth the thought and endeauour of heart, & by running, good works, to neither of which he giueth the praise, but only to the mercy of God. 13 Nowe hee answereth concerning the reprobate, or them whom God hateth being not yet borne, & hath appointed to destruction, without any respect of vnworthines. And first of all he prooueth this to be true, by alleaging the testimonie of God himselfe touching Pharao, whom he stirred vp to this purpose, that he might be glorified in his hardning & iust punishing r God so speaketh vnto Pharao in the Scripture, or, the Scripture bringeth in God, so speaking to Pharao. ✣ Exo.9.16. ſ Brought thee into this world. 14 Secondly, he bringeth the end of Gods counsel, to shew that there is no vnrighteousnes in him. Now this chiefest end, is not properly & simply the destruction of the wicked, but Gods glory which appeareth in their rightful punishment. 15 A conclusion of the full answere to the first obiection: therefore seeing God doth not saue them whom he freely chose according to his good will & pleasure, but by iustifying & sanctifying them by his grace, his counsell in sauing them cannot seeme vniust: And againe, there is no vniustice in the euerlasting counsell of God, touching the destruction of them whom he listeth to destroy, for that he hardeneth before he destroyeth: Therefore the third answere for the maintenance of Gods iustice in the euerlasting counsel of reprobation, consisteth in this word Hardening: which notwithstanding he concealed in the former verse, because the history of Pharao was well knowen. But the force of the word is great: for Hardning, which is set against Mercy presupposeth the same things that mercy did, to wit a voluntarie corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: & against corruption presupposeth a perfit state of creation. Moreouer, this hardning also is voluntarie, for God so hardneth being offended with corruption, that he vseth their owne will whom he hardneth, to the executing of that iudgement. Then follow the fruits of Hardning, to wit, vnbeliefe & sinne, whichare the true & proper causes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doeth he then appoint to destruction? because he will: why doth he harden? because they are corrupt: why doeth he condemne? because they are sinners. Where is then vnrighteousnes: Nay, if he should destroy all after this same sort, to whom should he doe iniurie? t Whom it pleased him to appoint, to shew his fauour vpon him. 16 Another obiection, but onely for the reprobate, rising vpon the former answere. If God doe appoint to everlasting destruction, such as he listeth, and if that cannot be hindred nor withstanded that he hath once decreed, how doeth he iustly condemne them, which perish by his will? 17 The Apostle doeth not answere that it is not Gods will, or that God doeth not either reiect or elect according to his pleasure, which thing the wicked call blasphemie, but he rather granteth his aduersarie both the antecedents, to wit, that it is Gods will, and that it most of necessitie so fall out, yet he denieth that God is therefore to be thought an vniust reuenger of the wicked: for seeing it appeareth by manifest proofe that this is the will of God, and his doing, what impudencie is it for man, which is but dust and ashes to dispute with God, and as it were to call him into iudgement? Now if any man say that the doubt is not so dissoluded and answered, I answere, that there is no surer demonstration in any matter, because it is grounded vpon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteousnesse. 18 An amplification of the former answere, taken from a comparison, whereby also it appeareth that Gods determinate counsel is set of Paul the hiest of all causes, so that it dependeth not vpon any respect of second causes, but doth rather frame and direct them. ✣ Esai.45.5. u This similitude agreeth very fitly in the first creation of mankinde.

23 And that hee might declare the [z] riches of his glory vpon the vessels of mercy, which hee hath prepared vnto glory?

24 [24] Euen vs whom hee hath called, not of the [a] Iewes onely, but also of the Gentiles, 25 [25] As he saith also in Osee, ✣ I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloued, which was not beloued.

26 And it shalbe in the place where it was sayde vnto them, ∵ Ye are not my people, that there they shalbe called, The children of the liuing God.

27 [25] Also Esaias cryeth concerning Israel, ✣ Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant be saued.

28 For he will make his account, and gather it into a [b] short sum me with righteousnesse: for the Lord will make a short count in the earth.

29 ✣ And as Esaias said before, Except the Lord of [c] hostes had left vs a [d] seede, we had bene made as Sodome, and had bene like to Gomorrha.

30 [27] What shal we say then? That the Gentiles which folowed [e] not righteousnesse, haue atteined vnto righteousnesse, euen the righteousnesse which is of faith.

31 [28] But Israel which followed the Lawe of righteousnesse, could not atteine vnto the Law of righteousnesse.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the [f] workes of the Lawe: for they haue stumbled at the stumbling stone, 33 As it is written, ✣ Beholde, I lay in Sion a stumbling stone, and a rocke to make men fall: and euery one that beleeueth in him, shall not be ashamed.

CHAP. X.

1 Hee handleth the effects of election, 3 that some refuse, and some embrace 4 Christ, who is the ende of the Lawe. 15 He sheweth that Moses foretolde the calling of the Gentiles, 20 and Esai of the hardening of the Iewes.

1 BRethren, [1] mine hearts desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saued.

2 For I beare them record, that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 [2] For they, [a] being ignorant of the righteousnes of God, and going about to [b] stablish their owne righteousnesse, haue not submitted themselues to the righteousnesse of God.

4 ✣ [3] For Christ is the [c] ende of the Lawe for righteousnesse vnto [d] euery one that beleeueth.

5 [4] For Moses thus describeth the righteousnesse which is of the Lawe, ∵ That the man which doeth these things, shal liue thereby.

6 But the righteousnesse which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, ✣ [e] Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heauen? (that is to bring Christ from aboue)

7 Or, Who shall descend into the deepe? (that is to bring Christ againe from the dead)

8 [5] But what saith it? ✣ The [f] word is neere thee, euen in thy mouth, and in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 [6] For if thou shalt [g] confesse with thy mouth the Lord Iesus, and shalt beleeue in thine heart, that [h] God raised him vp from the dead, thou shalt be saued:

10 For with the heart man [i] beleeueth vnto righteousnesse, & with the mouth man confesseth to saluation.

11 [7] For the Scripture saith, ✣ Whosoeuer [k] beleeueth in him, shall not be ashamed.

12 For there is no difference betweene the Iewe and the Grecian: for hee that is Lord ouer all, is rich vnto all that call on him.

13 ✣ [8] For whosoeuer shall call vpon the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued.

✣ Ieve. 18 6.
19 Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankinde not yet made (but in the Creators minde) to a lumpe of clay: whereof afterward God made and doeth daily make, according as he purposed from euerlasting, both such as should be elect, and such as should be reprobate, as also this word, making, declareth.
20 Whereas in the obiection propounded, mention was one'y made of vessels to dishonour: yet he speaketh of the other also in this answere, for that he ptouceth the Creator to be iust in either of them, as the rule of contraries doth require.
x To honest vses.
21 Shewing then, that in the name of dishonour, the ignominie of euerlasting death is signified, they speake with Paul, which say, that some are made of God to most iust destruction: and they that are offended with this kind of speech be way their owne folly.
22 The second answere is this, that God, moreouer and besides that he doeth iustly decree whatsoeuer he doth decree, vseth that moderation in executing of his decrees, as declareth his singuler lenitie euen in the reprobate, in that, that he suffereth them a long time, and permitteth them to enioy many and singular benefites, vntill at length he iustly condemne them: and that to good end and purpose, to wit, to shewe himselfe to be an enemie and reuenger of wickednesse, that it may appeare what power hee is of by these seuere iudgements, and finally by comparison of contraries to set foorth in deede, howe great his mercy is towards the elect.
y By vessels, the Hebrewes vnderstand all kindes of instruments.
23 Therefore againe, wee may say with Paul, that some men are made of God the Creator to destruction.
z The vnmeasurable and marueilous greatnesse.
24 Hauing established the doctrine of the eternall predestination of God on both partes: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect, he commeth nowe to shewe the vse of it, teaching vs that we ought not to seeke the testimonie of it in the secret counsell of God, but by the vocation which is made manifest and set foorth in the Church, propounding vnto vs the example of the Iewes and Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceiued.
a He sayth not that all and euery one of the Iewes are called, but some of the Iewes, and some of the Gentiles.
25 Our vocation or calling is free and of grace, euen as our predestination is: and therefore there is no cause why either our owne vnworthinesse, or the vnworthinesse of our ancestors should cause vs to thinke that we are not the elect and chosen of God, if we be called of him, and so embrace through faith the saluation that is offered vs. ✣ Hose. 2.23. 1 peter 2.10. ∵ Hose. 1.10
26 Contrariwise, Neither any outward generall calling, nor any worthinesse of our ancestors, is a sufficient witnesse of election, vnlesse by faith and beliefe we answere Gods calling: which thing came to passe in the Iewes, as the Lord had forewarned.
✣ Isa 28.22. b God purposeth to bring the vnkinde and vnthankfull people to an extreme sewrnesse. ✣ Isai 1.9. c Armies, by which word the chiefest power that is, is giuen to God. d Euen a very few.
27 The declaration and manifestation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to passe in the Gentiles.
e So then, the Gentiles had no workes to prepare and procure Gods mercie before hand: and as for that, that the Gentiles attained to that which they sought not for, the mercy of God is to be thanked for it: and in that the Iewes attained not to that which they sought after, they can thanke none for it but themselues, because they sought it not aright.
28 The pride of men is the cause that they contemne vocation, so that the cause of their damnation neede not to be sought for any other where but in themselues.
f Seeking to come by righteousnesse, they followed the Lawe of righteousnesse.

✣ Psal. 118.22. Isai. 8.14. and 28.16. 1 pet. 2.6.

1 Purposing to set foorth in the Iewes example of marueilous obstinacie, he vseth an insinuation.
2 The first entrance into the vocation vnto saluation, is to renounce our owne righteousnesse: the next is, to embrace that righteousnesse by faith, which God freely offereth vs in the Gospel.
a The ignorance of the Lawe which we ought to know, excuseth none before God, especially it excuseth not them that are of his housshold.
b Ignorance hath alwaies pride ioyned with it.
✣ Galat 3.22.
3 The proofe: The Law it selfe hath respect vnto Christ that such as beleeue in him should be saued. Therefore the calling to saluation by the workes of the Lawe, is vaine and foolish, but Christ is offered for saluation to euery beleeuer.
c The ende of the Lawe is to iustifie them that keepe the Lawe: but seeing wee doe not obserue the Lawe through the fault of our flesh, wee attaine not vnto this ende: but Christ saueth vs of his free mercie.
d Not onely to the Iewes, but also to the Gentiles.
4 That the Lawe regardeth and tendeth to Christ, that is a manifest proofe, for that it propoundeth such a condition, as can be and is fulfilled of none but of Christ onely: which being imputed vnto vs by faith, our conscience is quieted, so that nowe no man can aske, Who can ascend vp into heauen, or bring vs from hell, seeing the Gospel teacheth that both of these is done by Christ, and that for their sakes, which with true faith embrace him which calleth them. ∵ Leuit. 18.5. ezek 20.11. galat. 3.12.
✣ Deut 30.12. e Thinke not with thy selfe, as men that are staggering wse to doe.
5 Vocation commeth by the word preached. ✣ Deuteronom. 30.14. f By the word, Moses vnderstoode the Lawe which the Lorde published with his owne voyce: and Paul applied it to the preaching of the Gospell which was the perfection of the Lawe.
6 That is in deede true faith which is setled not onely in the head, but also in the heart of man, where of also wee gine testimonie, by our outward life, and which tendeth to Christ as to our alone and onely Sauiour, euen as hee setteth foorth himselfe in his word.
g If thou professe plainely, sincerely, and openly, that thou takest Iesus onely to bee thy Lord and Sauiour.
h The Father, who is said to haue raised the Sonne from the dead: euen this is not spoken to shut out the diuinitie of the Sonne, but to set foorth the Fathers consent touching our redemption in the resurrection of the Sonne.
i Faith is said to iustifie, and furthermore seeing the confession of the mouth is an effect of faith, and confession is the way to come to saluation, it followeth that faith is also sayd to saue.
7 Nowe hee prouoketh the other part which hee propounded afore in the fourth verse, to wit, that Christ calleth whomsoeuer hee listeth without any difference, and this hee confirmeth by a double testimonie. ✣ Isai 28.16.
k To beleeue in God is to yeelde and consent to God his promise of our saluation by Christ, and that not onely in the generall, but when we know that the promises perteine to vs, whereupon riseth a sure trust. ✣ Ioel 2.32.
8 True calling vpon the Name of God is the testimonie of true faith, and true faith, of true vocation or calling, and true calling, of true election.

14 But howe shall they call on him, in whom they haue not beleeued? and how shall they beleeue in him, of whom they haue not heard? and how shall they heare without a preacher?

15 And howe shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, ✣ Howe beautifull are the feete of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

16 [10] But they haue not [l] all obeyed the Gospel: for Esaias sayth, ✣ Lord, who hath beleeued our report?

17 [11] Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the [m] word of God.

18 [12] But I demaund, Haue they not heard? ∵ No doubt their sound went out through all the earth, and their wordes into the endes of the world.

19 [13] But I demaund, Did not Israel know God. First Moses saith, ✣ I wil prouoke you to enuie by a [n] nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.

20 ✣ And Esaias is [o] bolde, and saith, I was found of them that sought mee not, and haue bene made manifest to them that asked not after mee.

21 And vnto Israel he saith, *All the day long haue I stretched foorth mine hand vnto a disobedient, and gainesaying people.

9 That is, true faith, which seeketh God in his word, and that preached, according as God hath appoynted in the Church.
✣ *Isa.*52.7. nahum 1.15.
10 Wheresoeuer faith is, there is also the word, but not contrariwise, wheresoeuer the word is, there is faith also: for many refuse and reiect the word.
l He speaketh this because of the Iewes.
✣ *Isa.*53.1. Iohn 12.38.
11 A conclusion of the former gradation: we must ascend from faith, to our vocation, as by our vocation we came to the testimonie of our election.

12 An obiection: If calling be a testimonie of election, were not the Iewes called? why should I not graunt that, saith the Apostle, seeing that there is no nation which hath not bene called? much lesse can I say, that the Iewes were not called. ∵ *Psal.*19.3. 13 The defender and mainteiner of the Iewes cause, goeth on still to aske, whether the Iewes also knew not God which called them. Esay (saith the Apostle) denieth it, and witnesseth that the Gospel was translated from them to the Gentiles, because the Iewes neglected it. And therewithall the Apostle teacheth, that that outward and vniuersall calling, which is set foorth by the creation of the world, sufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, and that the particular also which is by the word of God, is of it selfe of small or no efficacie, vnlesse it be apprehended or layd holde on by faith, by the gift of God: otherwise by vnbeleefe it is made vnprofitable, and that by the onely fault of man, who can pretend no ignorance. ✣ Deut 32.21. n He calleth all prophane people, a nation that is no nation, as they are not said to liue but to die, which are appointed for euerlasting condemnation. ✣ *Isa.*65.1. o Speaketh without feare. * *Isa.*65.2.

CHAP. XI.

1 Left the casting off of the Iewes should be limitted according to the outward appearance, 4 hee sheweth that Elias was in times past deceiued: 16 and that, seeing they haue an holy roote, 23 many of them likewise shalbe holy. 18.24 He exhorteth the Gentiles to be humble, 22 and crieth out, that Gods iudgements are vnsearcheable.

I Demaund then, [1] Hath God cast away his people? God forbid: for [2] I also am an Israelite, of the seede of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.

2 [3] God hath not cast away his people which he [a] knew before. [4] Know ye not what the Scripture saith of Elias, how he communeth with God against Israel, saying,

3 ✣ Lord, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine altars: and I am left alone, and they seeke my life?

4 But what saith the answere of God to him? ✣ I haue [b] reserued vnto my selfe seuen thousand men, which haue not bowed the knee to [c] Baal.

5 Euen so then, at this present time is there a remnant according to the [d] election of grace.

6 [5] And if it be of grace, it is [e] no more of works: or els were grace no more grace: but if it be of works, it is no more grace: or els were worke no more worke.

7 What then? Israel hath not obteined that he sought: but the election hath obteined it, and the rest haue bene [f] hardened,

8 [6] According as it is written, ✣ God hath giuen them the spirit of [g] slumber: eyes that they [h] should not see, and eares that they should not heare vnto this day.

9 And Dauid saith, ∵ [i] Let their table be made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling blocke, euen for a recompense vnto them.

10 Let their eies be darkned that they see not, and bowe downe their backe alwayes.

11 7 I demaund then, Haue they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, saluation commeth vnto the Gentiles, to prouoke them to follow them.

12 Wherefore if the fall of them be the [k] riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, how much more shall their [l] abundance be?

13 [8] For in that I speake to you Gentiles, in as much as I am ✣ Apostle of the Gentiles, I [m] magnifie mine office, 14 To trie if by any meanes I might prouoke them of my flesh to follow them, and might saue some of them.

15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiuing be, [n] but life from the dead?

16 [9] For if the [o] first fruits be holy, so is the whole lumpe: and if the [p] root be holy, so are the branches.

✣ 1.King 19.18.
b He speaketh of remnants and reserued people which were chosen from euerlasting, and not of remnants that should be chosen afterward: for they are not chosen, because they were not idolaters, but therefore they were not idolaters, because they were chosen and elect.
c Baal signifieth as much as Master or patron, or one in whose power an other is, which name the idolaters at this day giue their idoles, naming them patrons and patronesses or Ladies.
d The election of grace, is not whereby men chose grace, but whereby God chose vs of his grace and goodnesse.
5 Although that all be not elect and chosen, yet let them that are elected remember that they are freely chosen: and let them that stubburnly refuse the grace and free mercy of God, impute it vnto themselues.
e This saying beateth downe flat to the ground all the doctrine of all kindes and maner of works, whereby our iustifiers of themselues doe teach, that workes are either wholly or partly the cause of our iustification. f Looke *Mar.*3.5. 6 And yet this hardnesse of heart commeth not but by Gods iust decree and iudgement, and yet without fault, when as he so punisheth the vnthankefull by taking from them all sense and preeiuerance, and by doubling their darkenesse, that the benefits of God which are offered vnto them, doe redound to their iust destruction. ✣ *Isa.*6.9, and 29.10. matth. 13.14. Iohn 12.40. Actes 28.26. g A very dead sleepe which taketh away all sense. h That is, eyes vnfit to see. ∵ *Psal.*69.23. i As vnhappy birdes are inticed to death by that which is their sustenance, so did that onely thing turne to the Iewes destruction, out of which they sought life, to wit, the Law of God, for the peruerterous zeale where of they refused the Gospel. 7 God appointed this casting off of ✣ Iewes, that it might be an occasion to call the Gentiles: and againe might turne this calling of the Gentiles, to be an occasion to restore the Iewes, to wit, that they being inflamed and prouoked by emulation of the Gentiles, might themselues at length embrace the Gospel. And hereby we may learne, that the seuerity of God seemeth alwell to the setting foorth of his glory as his mercy doeth, and also that God prepareth himselfe a way to mercy, by his seuerity: so that we ought not rashly to despaire of any man, nor proudly triumph ouer other men, but rather prouoke them to an holy emulation, that God may be glorified in them also. k By riches he meaneth the knowledge of the Gospel to euerlasting life: and by the world, all nations dispersed thorowout the whole world. l Of the Iewes, when the whole nation without exception shall come to Christ. 8 He witnesseth by his owne example that he goeth before all other in this behalfe. m ✣ make noble and famous. n It shall come to passe that when the Iewes come to the Gospel, the world shall as it were quicken againe, and rise vp from death to life. 9 The nation of the Iewes being confidered in their stocke and root, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the branches be cut off. Therefore in iudging of our brethren, we must not sticke in their vnwoorthinesse, to thinke that they are at once all cast off, but we ought to consider the root of the couenant, and rather go backe to their ancestors which were faithfull, that we may know that the blessing of the couenant resteth in some of their posteritie, as we also finde proofe hereof in our selues. o He alludeth to the first fruits of those loaues, by the offering whereof all the whole croppe of corne was sanctified, and they might vse the rest of the yere following with good conscience. p Abraham.

9 That is, true faith, which seeketh God in his word, and that preached, according as God hath appoynted in the Church.
✣ *Isa.*52.7. nahum 1.15.
10 Wheresoeuer faith is, there is also the word, but not contriwise, whereseoeuer the word is, there is faith also: for many refuse and reiect the word.
l He speaketh this because of the Iewes.
✣ *Isa.*53.1. Iohn 12.38.
11 A conclusion of the former gradation: we must ascend from faith, to our vocation, as by our vocation we came to the testimonie of our election.
m By Gods commaundement.
12 An obiection: If calling be a testimonie of election, were not the Iewes called? why should I not graunt that, saith the Apostle, seeing that there is no nation which hath not bene called? much lesse can I say, that the Iewes were not called. ∵ *Psal.*19.3. 13 The defender and mainteiner of the Iewes cause, goeth on still to aske, whether the Iewes also knew not God which called them. Esay (saith the Apostle) denieth it, and witnesseth that the Gospel was translated from them to the Gentiles, because the Iewes neglected it. And therewithall the Apostle teacheth, that that outward and vniuersall calling, which is set foorth by the creation of the world, sufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, and that the particular also which is by the word of God, is of it selfe of small or no efficacie, vnlesse it be apprehended or layd holde on by faith, by the gift of God: otherwise by vnbeleefe it is made vnprofitable, and that by the onely fault of man, who can pretend no ignorance. ✣ Deut 32.21. n He calleth all prophane people, a nation that is no nation, as they are not said to liue but to die, which are appointed for euerlasting condemnation. ✣ *Isa.*65.1. o Speaketh without feare. * *Isa.*65.2.

✣ Now the Apostle sheweth howe this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding still in his propounded cause. Therefore hee teacheth vs that the Iewes in particular are not cast away, and therfore we ought not to pronounce rashly of priuate persons, whether they be of the number of the elect or not. 2 The first proofe: I am a Iewe, and yet elected, therefore we may and ought fully resolue vpon our election, as hath bene before sayd: but of another mans we cannot be so certainely resolued, and yet ours may cause vs to hope well of others. 3 The second proofe: Because that God is faithfull in his league or couenant, although men be vnfaithfull: So then seeing that God hath sayd, that he will be the God of his vnto a thousand generations, wee must take heede, that we thinke not that the whole race and offspring is cast off, by reason of the vnbeleefe of a fewe, but rather that we hope well of euery member of the Church, because of Gods league and couenant. a Which he loued and chose from euerlasting. 4 The third proofe taken from the answere that was made to Elias: euen then also, when there appeared openly to the face of the world no elect, yet God knewe his elect and chosen, and of them also good store and number. Whereupon this also is concluded, that we ought not rashly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, seeing that the Church is oftentimes brought to that state, that euen the most watchfull and sharpe sighted pastours thinke it to bee cleane extinct and put out. ✣ 1.*King.*19.10.

✣ *Jerem.*11.6.

10 There is no cause why the Gentiles which haue obteined mercy, should triumph ouer the Iewes which contemne the grace of God, seeing they are grafted into the Iewes ancestors. But let them rather take heed, that that also be not found in them which is woorthily condemned in the Iewes. And hereof also this generall doctrine may be gathered and taken that wee ought to be studious of Gods glory, euen in respect of our neighbors: so far ought we to be from bragging and glorying, for that, that we are preferred before other by a singular grace.

17 ✣ 10 And though some of the branches be broken off, and thou being a wilde Olive tree, wast graft in q for them, and made r partaker of the root, and fatnesse of the Oliue tree:

18 [Boast not thy selfe against the branches: and if thou boast thy selfe, thou beareſt not the root, but the root thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.

20 Well: through vnbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: be not high minded, but t feare.

21 For if God spared not the u naturall branches, take heed, lest he also spare not thee.

22 11 Beholde therefore the x bountifulnesse, and seuerities of God: toward them which haue fallen, seuerity: but toward thee, bountifulnesse, if thou continue in his y bountifulnesse: or els thou shalt also be cut off.

23 12 And they also, if they abide not still in vnbeliefe, shall be graffed in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the Oliue tree, which was wilde by z nature, and wast graffed contrary to nature in a a right Oliue tree, howe much more shall they that are by nature, be grafted in their owne Oliue tree?

25 13 For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this secret (lest yee should be arrogant in your b selues) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, vntill the fulnesse of the Gentiles be c come in.

26 And so all Israel shall be saued, as it is written, ✣ The deliuerer shall come out of Sion, and shall turne away the vngodlinesse from Iacob.

27 And this is my couenant to them, ∵ When I shall take away their sinnes.

28 14 As concerning the d Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the e election, they are beloued for the fathers sakes.

29 15 For the gifts & calling of God are without repentance.

30 16 For euen as yee in times past haue not beleeued God, yet haue now obteined mercy through their vnbeliefe.

31 Euen so now haue they not beleeued by the mercy shewed vnto you, that they also may obteine mercy.

32 For God hath shut vp f all in vnbeliefe that he might haue mercy on all.

33 17 O the deepenesse of the riches, both of the wisdome, and knowledge of God! how vnsearchable are his g iudgements, and his h wayes past finding out!

34 ✣ 18 For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord? or who was his counseller?

35 Or who hath giuen vnto him i first, and he shalbe recompensed?

36 For of him, and through him, and for k him are all things: to him be glory for euer. Amen.

16 Another reason why because that although that they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubbornesse of the Iewes so come to passe properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entire night as it were be opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Iewes being inflamed with emulation of that mercie which is shewed to the Gentiles, might themselues also be partakers q In place of those boughes which are broken off.

r It is against the common course of husbandrie, that the barren iuyce of the ympe is changed with the iuyce of the good tree.

s We may reioyce in the Lord, but so that we despise not the Iewes, whom we ought rather to prouoke to that good striuing with vs.

t See that thou stand in awe of God modestly and carefully.

u He calleth them naturall, not because they had any holinesse of nature, but because they were borne of them whom the Lord set apart for himselfe, from other nations, by his league and couenant which he freely made with them.

x The tender and louing heart.

y In that state which God his bountifulnesse hath aduanced thee vnto: and wee must marke here, that he speaketh not of the election of euery priuate man which remaineth stedfast for euer, but of the election of the whole nation.

z Vnderstand nature, not as it was first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so deriued from him to his posteritie.

a Into the people of the Iewes, which God had sanctified of his meere grace: and he speaketh of the whole nation, not of euery one part.

b In that state of godlinesse wherein thou standest.

c Your selues: in times past, other bodies then our owne, wowe our owne must be offered.

d In time past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now we must offer such as haue the spirit of life in them.

of the same benefit, and so it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are saued, onely by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not haue been so manifest, if at the beginning God had brought all together into the Church, or if he had saued the nation of the Iewes without this interruption.

f Both Iewes and Gentiles.

18 He brideleth three maner of wayes, the wicked boldnesse of man: First, because that God is aboue all, most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainely godlesse, to measure him by our folly. Moreouer, because he is debter to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniury done vnto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must referre all things to his glory, much lesse may we contend and debate the matter with him.

i This saying ouerthroweth the doctrine of foreseene works and merits.

k To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but especially his new works which he worketh in his elect.

CHAP. XII.

1 He exhorteth 2 to that worship which is acceptable to God: 9 to loue vnfained, 14. 20 euen towards our enemies.

I Beseech 1 you therefore brethren, a by the mercies of God, that ye b giue vp your c bodies a d liuing sacrifice, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your e reasonable seruing of God.

2 2 And fashion not your selues like vnto this world, but be ye changed by the renewing of your f minde, that ye may ✣ prooue what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.

3 3 For I g say through the grace that is giuen vnto me, to euery one that is among you, that no man h presume to vnderstand aboue that which is meet to vnderstand, but that he vnderstand according to i sobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the ∵ measure of k faith.

1 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chiefe poynts of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life. And first of all, he giueth generall precepts and grounds: the chiefest whereof is this, that euery man consecrate himselfe wholly to the spirituall seruice of God, and do as it were sacrifice himselfe, trusting to the grace of God.

a By this preface he shewed by that Gods glory is the vtmost end of all our doings.

b In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but now the altar is euery where.

c Your selues: in times past, other bodies then our owne, wowe our owne must be offered.

d In time past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now we must offer such as haue the spirit of life in them.

e Spirituall.

2 The second precept is this, That we take not other mens opinions or maners for a rule of life, that we wholly renouncing this world, set before vs as our marke, the will of God, as is manifested and opened vnto vs in his word.

f Why then there is no place left for reasons which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queene in a Castell, not for mans free will, which the Popish schoolemen dreame on, if the minde must be renued. Looke Ephesians 1.18. and 2.3. and 4.17 and Colossians 1.21.

✣ Ephesians 5.17. 1 *Thess.*5.22.

3 Thirdly, he admonisheth vs very earnestly, that euery man keepe himselfe within the boundes of his vocation, and that euery man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath giuen him.

g I charge.

h That he pleaseth not himselfe too much, as they doe, which perswade themselues they know more then in deed they doe.

i We shall be sober, if we take not that vpon vs, which we haue not, and if we brag not of that we haue.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He willeth that we submit our selues to Magistrates: 8 To loue our neighbours: 13 To liue vprightly, 14 and to put on Christ.

LEt ✣ [a] euery [a] soule be subiect vnto the higher [2] powers: [3] for there is no power but of God: and the powers that be, are [b] ordeined of God.

2 Whosoeuer therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist, shall receiue to themselues condemnation.

3 4 For Magistrates are not to be feared for good works, but for euill. 5 Wilt thou then be without feare of the power? doe well: so shalt thou haue praise of the same:

4 For he is the minister of God for thy wealth, [6] but if thou do euil, feare: for he beareth not the sword for nought: for he is the minister of God to [c] take vengeance on him that doth euill.

5 7 Wherefore we must be subiect, not because of wrath onely, but [d] also for the conscience sake.

6 8 For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are Gods ministers, applying themselues for the same thing.

7 ✣ Giue to all men therefore their duety, tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custome, to whom custome: feare, to whom [e] feare: honor, to whom ye owe [f] honor.

8 9 Owe nothing to any man, but to loue one another: [10] for he that loueth another, hath fulfilled the [g] Law.

9 For this, ✣ Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kil, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shalt not beare false witnes, Thou shalt not couet: and if there be any other commandement, it is [h] briefly comprehended in this saying, euen in this, ✣ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

10 Loue doth not euill to his neighbour: therfore is loue the ✣ fulfilling of the Law.

11 [11] And that, considering the season, that it is now time that we should arise from sleepe: for now is our saluation neerer, then when we beleeued it.

12 The night is past, and the day is [i] at hand, let vs therefore cast away the workes [k] of darkenesse, and let vs put on the armour of light,

13 So that we walke honestly, as in the day: not in * gluttonie, and drunkennesse, neither in ✣ Titus 3.1. 1.pet.2.13.

1 Now he sheweth seuerally what subiects owe to their magistrates, to wit, obedience: From which, hee sheweth that no man is free: and in such sort, that it is not only due to the highest Magistrate himselfe, but also euen to the basest, which hathany office vnder him.

a Yea, though an Apostle, though an Euangelist, though a Prophet: Chrysostome. Therefore the tyrannie of the Pope ouer all kingdomes must downe to the ground.

2 A reason taken of the nature of the thing it selfe: For to what purpose are they placed in higher degree, but that the inferiour should be subiect vnto them?

3 Another argument of great force: Because God is authour of this order: so that such as are rebels, ought to know, that they make warre with God himselfe: wherefore they can not but purchase to themselues great miserie and calamitie.

b Be distributed: for some are greater, some smaller.

4 The third argument taken from the end wherefore they were made, which is most profitable: for that God by this meanes preserueth the good, and brideleth the wicked: by which words, the Magistrates themselues, are put in minde of that dutie which they owe to their subiects. 5 An excellent way to beare this yoke, not onely without griefe, but also with great profit. 6 God hath armed the Magistrate euen with a reuenging sword. c By who God reuengeth the wicked. 7 The conclusion: We must obey the Magistrate, not onely for feare of punishment, but much more because that (although the Magistrate hath no power ouer the conscience of man, yet seeing hee is Gods minister) he cannot be resisted by any good conscience. d So farre as lawfully we may: for if vnlawfull things be commanded vs, we must answere as Peter teacheth vs, It is better to obey God then men. 8 He reckoneth vp the chiefest things wherein consisteth the obedience of subiects. e Mat.22.21. e Obedience, and that from the heart. f Reuerence, (which as reason is) we must giue to the Magistrate. 9 He sheweth how very few iudgements need to be executed, to wit, if we so order our life, as no man may iustly require any thing of vs, besides that onely, that we owe one to another, by the perpetuall law of charitie. 10 He commendeth Charitie, as an abridgement of the whole Law. g He hath not onely done one commandement, but performed generally that which the Law commandeth. ✣ Exod.20.14. deu 5.18. h For the whole Law commaundeth nothing els, but that we loue God, and our neighbour. But seeing Paul speaketh here of the duties we owe one to another, we must restraine the word, Law, to the second Table. ✣Leu.19.1 1.mat.22.39.mar.12.31.gala.5.14 iam.2.8. ✣1.Tim.1.5. 11 An application taken of the circumstance of the time: which also it selfe putteth vs in minde of our duetie, seeing that this remaineth, after that the darkenesse of ignorance and wicked affections by the knowledge of Gods trueth be driuen out of vs, that we order our life according to that certeine and sure rule of all righteousnesse and honestie, being fully grounded vpon the vertue of the Spirit of Christ. i In other places we are said to be in the light, but yet so, that it appeareth not as yet what we are, for as yet we see but as it were in the twilight. k That kinde of life, which they leade, that flee the light. * Luke 21.34.

chambering

4 There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is, because God hath not committed euery thing to be done of euery man: and therefore, hee doeth back wardly, and not onely vnprofitably, but also to the great disprofit of others, weareth himselfe and others, which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diuersitie and inequalitie of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commodity: seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appoynted, that we should be bound one to another. Whereupon it followeth, that no man ought to be grieued thereat, seeing that the vse of euery priuate gift is common.

✣ 1.Pet.4.10.

5 That which he spake before in generall, he applieth particularly to the holy functions, wherein men offend with greater danger. And he diuideth them into two sorts, to wit, into Prophets, and Deacons: and againe he diuideth the Prophets into Doctours, and Pastours. And of Deacons hee maketh three sorts: to wit, the one to be such as are (as it were) treasurers of the Church cofers, whome he calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the gouernours of discipline, who are called Seniours or Elders: the third, to be such as properly serued in the helpe of the poore, of which sort the company of widowes were. l That euery man obserue the measure of that which is reuealed vnto him. m Whose office onely is to expound the Scriptures. n Who in other places is called the Pastour. o To wit, the almes, that he distribute them faithfully, and without respect of person. ✣ Matth.6.2.2.cor.9.7. p The Elders of the Church. q They that are busied about tending on the poore, must do it with cheerefulnesse, lest they adde sorowe to sorow. 6 Now he commeth to the duetie of the second Table, which he defineth from charitie, which is as it were the fountaine of them all. And hee defineth Christian charitie by sinceritie, hatred of euill, earnest studie of good things, good affection to helpe our neighbour, and whose finall end is the glory of God. ✣ Amos 5.15. * Ephes.4.2. 1.pet.2.17. r This piece is wrapped in, for it maketh difference betweene Christian duelies, and Philosophicall duelies. 7 Hee reckoneth vp diuers other vertues together with their effects, to wit, hope, patience in tribulation, equanimitie, continuance in prayer, liberalitie towards the saints, hospitalitie, moderation of minde, euen in helping our enemies, a selfe same feeling with others as well in aduersitie as prosperitie, modestie, endeuour to maintaine honest concord so nigh as we may with all men, which can not be extinguished by any mans iniuries. ✣ 1 Pet.3.8. * Luke 18.1. 1.cor.16 1. s A true rule of charitie, when we are no lesse touched with other mens wants, then with our owne, and hauing that feeling, helpe them as much as we can. t Not vpon pleasures and needlesse duelies, but vpon necessarie vses. ✣ Heb.13.2. 1 pet.4.13. ✣ Mat.5.44. ✣ *Prou.3.7. 14 ✣ But [1]put yee on the Lorde IESVS CHRIST, and take no thought for the flesh, to fulfill the lustes of it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 He willeth that we so leade with the weake in faith, 15 that through our fault they be not offended. 10 And on the other side he commaundeth them not rashly to iudge of the stronger: 19 That within the bounds of edification 20 and charitie, 22 Christian libertie may consist.

HIm [1]that is weake in the faith, [a] receiue vnto you, but not for [b] controuersies of disputations.

2 [2]One [c] beleeueth that hee may eate of all things: and another, which is weake, eateth herbs.

3 [3] Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemne him that eateth: for ✣ God hath receiued him.

4 ✣ [5] Who art thou that condemnest another mans seruant? he standeth or falleth to his owne master: yea, he shall bee established: for God is able to make him stand.

5 [6] This man esteemeth one day aboue another day, and another man counteth euery day alike: 7 let [d] euery man be fully perswaded in his minde.

6 [8] He that [e] obserueth the day, obserueth it to the Lorde: and he that obserueth not the day, obserueth it not to the [f] Lorde. He that [g] eateth, eateth to the Lord: [9] for he giueth God thankes.

7 [10] For none of vs liueth to [i] himselfe, neither doeth any die to himselfe.

8 For whether wee liue, wee liue vnto the Lorde: or whether wee die, wee die vnto the Lord: whether we liue therefore, or die, we are the Lords.

9 For Christ therefore dyed and rose againe, and reuiued, that he might be Lord both of the dead and the quicke.

10 [11] But why doest thou condemne thy brother? or why doest thou despise thy brother? ✣ for we shall all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ.

11 For it is written, ✣ [k] I liue, saith the Lord, and euery knee shall bowe to me, and all tongues shall [l] confesse vnto God.

12 So then euery one of vs shal giue accounts of himselfe to God.

13 [12] Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but vse your iudgement rather in [m] this, that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling blocke before his brother.

14 [13] I know, and am perswaded through the [n] Lord Iesus, that there is nothing vncleane of it [o] selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth any thing to be vncleane, to him it is vncleane.

15 But if thy brother be grieued for the meat, nowe walkest thou not charitably: [14] destroy not him with thy meate, for whome [15] Christ dyed.

16 [16] Cause not your commoditie to be euill spoken of.

17 [17] For the kingdome of God, is not meate nor drinke, but righteousnesse, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghost.

18 For whosoeuer in [p] these things serueth Christ, is acceptable vnto God, and is approoued of men.

19 [18] Let vs then followe those things which concerne peace, and wherewith one may edifie another.

a Gal.5.16. 1.pet.2.11. To put on Christ, is to possesse Christ, to haue him in vs, and vs in him.

1 Now he sheweth how we ought to behaue our selues toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the vse of them, not of malice, or damnable superstition, but for lacke of knowledge of the benefite of Christ. And thus he teacheth that they are to be instructed gently and patiently, & so that we apply our selues to their ignorance in such matters according to the rule of charitie.

a Doe not for a matter or thing that is indifferent, an i such as you may do or not do, shun his company, but take him to you. b To make him by your doubtful and vncertaine disputations go away more in doubt then he came, or start backe with a troubled conscience. 2 He propoundeth for an example, the difference of meates, which some thought was necessarily to be obserued as a thing prescribed by the Law, (not knowing that it was taken away) whereas on the contrary side, such as had profited in the knowledge of the Gospel, knew well that this schoolemaistership of the Law was abolished. c Knoweth by faith. 3 In such a matter, saith the Apostle, let neither them which know their libertie, proudly despise their weake brother, neither let the vnlearned crabbedly or frowardly condemne that, that they vnderstand not. 4 The first reason: Because that seeing both he that eateth, & he that eateth not, is notwithstanding the meber of Christ, neither he which eateth not, can iustly be contemned, neither he which eateth, bee iustly condemned: Nowe the first proposition is declared in the sixth verse following. ✣ Iam.4.12. 5 Another reason which hangeth vpon the former: why the ruder and more vnlearned ought not to be condemned of the more skilfull, as men without hope of saluation: Because saith the Apostle, he that is ignorant to day, may be indued to morow with further knowledge, so that he also may stand sure: Therfore it belongeth to God, & not vnto man, to pronounce the sentence of condemnation.

d Another example of the difference of dayes according to the law. 7 He setteth against this contempt, and hastie or rath iudgements, a continuall desire to profite, that the strong may be certainly perswaded of their libertie, of what maner & sort it is, & how they ought to vse it: and against the weake may daily profit, lest either they abuse the gift of God, or these pleasse themselues in their infirmitie. d That he may say in his conscience, that he knoweth & is perswaded by Iesus Christ, that nothing is vncleane of it selfe, & this perswasion must be grounded vpon the word of God. 8 A reason taken of the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conscience do, and omit: for seeing that the difference of dayes and meats was appointed by God, how could they, which as yet vnderstood not the abrogating of the Law, and yet otherwise acknowledged Christ as their Sauiour, with good conscience neglect that which they knew was commaded of God? And on the contrary side, they that knew the benefit of Christ in this behalfe, did with good conscience neither obserue dayes nor meates. Therefore saith the Apostle vers. 10. Let not the strong condemne the weake for these things, seeing that the weake brethren are brethren notwithstanding. Now if any man would draw this doctrine to these our times and ages, let him know that the Apostle speaketh of such things indifferent, as they which thought them not to be indifferent, had a ground in the Law, & were deceiued by simple ignorance, and not of malice, (for touch the Apostle yeelded not, no not for a moment) nor superstition, but of a religious feate of God. e Obserueth precisely. f God shall iudge whether he doe well or no: And therefore you should rather striue about this, howe euery one of you may be allowed of God, then to thinke vpon other mens doings. g He that maketh no difference of meates. 9 So the Apostle sheweth that he speaketh of the faithfull, both strong and weake. But what if we haue to do with infidels? Then must we here take heed of two things, as also is declared in the Epistle to the Corinthians. The one is, that we count not their superstition among things indifferent, as they did which sate downe to meate in Idols Temples: the other is, that then also when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offered to idols, in the butchers shambles, and to eate it at home in a priuate banquet) we wound not the conscience of our weake brother.

h He that toucheth not meates which he taketh to be vncleane by the Law.

10 We must not sticke, saith he, at the meate it selfe, but in the vse of the meate, so that he is iustly to be reprehended that liueth so that he casteth not his eies vpon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him. and for this cause Christ hath properly dyed, and not simplie, that we might eate this meate or that.

i Hath respect to himselfe onely, which the Hebrues vtter after this sort, Doth well to his owne soule.

11 The conclusion: wee must leaue to God his right, and therefore in matters, which according as the conscience is affected, are either good or euill, the strong must not despise their weake brethren, much lesse condemne them. But this consequent can not be taken of equall force in the contrary, to wit, that the weake should not iudge the strong, because the weake doe not knowe, that they which doe not obserue a day, and eate, obserue it not to the Lord, and eate to the Lord, as the strong men know, that the weake which obserue a day and eate not, obserue the day to the Lord, and eate not to the Lorde. ✣ 2.Cor.1.10. ✣ Isa.45.23. phlp.2.10. k This is a forme of an othe, proper to God onely, for he and none but he liueth, and hath his being of himselfe. l Shall acknowledge me for God. 12 After that hee hath concluded what is not to bee done, he sheweth what is to be done: to wit, we must take heede that wee doe not vtterly cast downe with abusing our libertie, our brother which is not yet strong. m He rebuketh by the way, these malitious iudgers of others, which occupie their heads about nothing, but to finde fault with their brethrens life, whereas they should rather beestowe their wits vpon this, that they doe not with their disdainfulnesse either cast their brethren cleane downe, or giue them some offence. 13 The preuenting of an obiection: It is true that the schoolemaistership of the Lawe is taken away by the benefite of Christ, to such as knowe it, but yet notwithstanding wee haue to consider in the vse of this libertie, what is expedient, that wee may haue regard of our weake brother, seeing that our libertie is not lost thereby. n By the Spirite of the Lord Iesus, or by the Lord Iesus, who, I am sure, bi ake downe the wall at his comming. o By nature. p I. Corinth. 8 11. 14 It is the part of a cruell minde to make more account of meate, then of our brothers saluation. Which thing they doe, that presume to eate with the offence of any brother, and so giue him occasion to goe backe from the Gospell. 15 An other argument: We must followe Christes example: who was so farre from destroying the weake with meate, that he gaue his life for them. 16 Another argument: for that by this meanes the libertie of the Gospel is euill spoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatsoeuer, and holdeneth vs to all things. 17 A generall reason, and the ground of all the other arguments: The kingdome of heauen consisteth not in these outwarde thinges, but in the fruite of righteousnesse and peace, and comfort of the holy Ghost. p Hee that liueth peaceably, and doth righteously through the holy Ghost. 18 A generall conclusion: The vse of this libertie yea and our whole life, ought to be referred to the edifying of one another, in so much that we esteeme that thing vnlaw full by reason of the offence of our brother, which is of it selfe pure and lawfull.

✣ 1 Tim.1.15.
✣ 2 Cor.8.13.
19 He giueth a double warning in these matters, one, which perteineth to the strong that he which hath obteined a sure knowledge of this libertie, keepe that treasure to the end he may vse it wisely and profitably, as hath bene sayde: the other which respecteth the weake, that they doe nothing rashly by other mens example with a wauering conscience, for that can not be done without sinne, whereof we are not perswaded by the worde of God, that he liketh and approoueth it.

r Embraceth. s Reasoneth with himselfe.

20 Destroy not the worke of God for meates sake: ✣ all things in deed are pure: but it is euill for the man which eateth with offence.

21 ✣ It is good neither to eate flesh, nor to drinke wine, nor any thing whereby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weake.

22 19 Hast thou q faith? haue it with thy selfe before God: blessed is he that condemneth not himselfe in that thing which he r alloweth.

CHAP. XV.

1 The stronger must imploy their strength to strengthen the weake, 3 By Christes example, 7 who receiued 8 not only the Iewes, 10 but also the Gentiles. 15 The cause why hee wrote this Epistle.

1 Now the Apostle reasoneth generally of tolerating or bearing with the weake by all meanes, so farre forth as may be for their profite.
a And edifie others.
b For his profite and edification.

WE 1 which are strong, ought to beare the infirmities of the weake, & not to a please our selues.

2 Therefore let euery man please his neighbour in that that is b good to edification.

2 A confirmation taken of the example of Christ, who suffered all things, to bring not onely the weake, but also his most cruell enemies, ouercomming them with patience, to his Father.

3 3 For Christ also would not please himselfe, but as it is written, ✣ The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, fell on me.

✣ Psal.69.10.

3 The preuenting of an obiection: Such things as are cited out of the examples of the auncients, are pronounded vnto vs to this end and purpose, that according to the example of our Fathers, we should in patience and hope beare one with another.
c By Moses and the Prophets.
d The Scriptures are said to teach and comfort, because God vseth them to teach and comfort his people withall.

4 4 Now the God of patience and consolation giue you that ye be ✣ like minded one towarde another, according to Christ Iesus,

5 That yee with one minde, and with one mouth may praise God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ,

6 Wherefore receiue ye one another, as Christ also c receiued vs to the glory God.

7 5 Nowe I say, that Iesus Christ was a minister of the f circumcision, for the g trueth of God, to confirme the promises made vnto the fathers.

8 9 6 And let the Gentiles praise God, for his mercie, as it is written, ✣ For this cause I will h confesse thee among the Gentiles, and sing vnto thy Name.

9 10 And againe he saith, * Reioyce, yee Gentiles with his people.

10 11 And againe, ✣ Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laude ye him, all people together.

11 12 And againe Esaias saith, ✣ There shall bee a roote of Iesse, and he that shall rise to reigne ouer the Gentiles, in him shall the Gentiles trust.

12 13 7 Now the God of i hope fill you with k all ioye, and peace in beleeuing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

13 14 8 And I my selfe also am perswaded of you, my brethren, that l ye also are full of goodnesse, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

14 15 Neuertheless, brethren, I haue somewhat boldly after a sort written vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen me of God,

15 16 That I should be the minister of Iesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministring the Gospel of God, that the m offering vp of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

16 17 9 I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce in Christ Iesus in those things which pertaine to God.

17 18 For I dare not speake of any thing, which n Christ hath not wrought by mee, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deede, 18 19 With the o power of signes and wonders, by the power of the spirit of God: so that from Hierusalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

19 20 Yea, so I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should haue built on another mans foundation.

20 21 But as it is written, ✣ To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall vnderstand him.

21 22 ✣ 10 Therefore also I haue bene oft let to come vnto you:

22 23 But nowe seeing I haue no more place in these quarters, and also haue ✣ bene desirous many yeeres agone to come vnto you,

23 24 When I shall take my iourney into Spaine, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my iourney, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I haue bene somewhat filled with your company.

24 25 But now goe I to Hierusalem, to p minister vnto the Saints.

25 26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine distribution vnto the poore Saints which are at Hierusalem.

26 27 11 For it hath pleased them, and their detters are they: ✣ for if the Gentiles be made partakers of their spirituall things, their duetie is also to q minister vnto them in carnall things.

27 28 When I haue therefore perfourmed this, and haue r sealed them this f fruite, I will passe by you into Spaine.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation, 12 Hee reprehendeth the Corinthians iarres and diuisions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humilitie: 20 For ouerthrowing all worldly wisedome, 23.25 he aduanceth onely the preaching of the crosse.

1 The inscription of the Epistle, wherein he chiefly goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towardes him, yet notwithstanding so, that alwayes he letteth them to wit, that he is the seruant of God and not of men.
2 If he be an Apostle, then he must be heard, although he sometimes reprehend them sharpely, seeing he hath not his owne cause in hand, but is a messenger that bringeth the commandements of Christ.
3 He ioyneth Sosthenes with himselfe, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witnesses.
4 It is a Church of God, although it hath great faults in it, so that it obey them which admonish it. ✣ Actes 15.9. 1.thessa.4.7. 5 A true definition of the Catholique Church, which is one. a The father sanctifieth vs that is to say, separateth vs from the wicked, ye giuing vs to his Sonne, that hee may be in vs, and we in him. ✣ Rom.1.7. ephes.1.1. colos.1.22. 1.tim.2.9 titus 2.3. b Whom God of his gracious goodnes and mere loue hath separated for himselfe: or whome God hath called to holinesse: the first of these two expositions sheweth from whence our sanctification commeth, and the second, sheweth to what ende it tendeth. ∵ 2.Tim.1.21. c He is sayde properly to call on God, who cryeth vnto the Lorde when he is in danger, and craueth helpe at his handes: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for all the seruice of God: and therefore to call vpon Christes Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God. 6 The foundation and the life of the Church, is Christ Iesus giuen of the Father. 7 Going about to condemne many vices, hee beginneth with a true commendation of their vertues, lest hee might seeme after to descend to chiding, being moued with malice or enuie: yet so, that hee referreth all to God as the author of them, and that in Christ, that the Corinthians might be more ashamed to prophane and abuse the holy gifts of God. 8 He toucheth that by name, which they most abused. d Seeing that whiles we liue here, wee knowe but in part and prophecie in part, this word (All) must be restrained to the present state of the faithfull: but by preache he meaneth not a vaine kind of babling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused. 9 Hee sheweth that the true vse of these giftes consisteth herein, that the mightie power of Christ might thereby be set foorth in them, that hereafter it might euidently appeare how wickedly they abused them to glory and ambition. e By those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost ✣ Titus 2.11. philip.3.20. 10 Hee sayeth by the way, that there is no cause why they should so please themselues so much in those gifts which they had receiued, seeing that those were nothing in comparison of them which are to bee looked for. f He speaketh of the last comming of Christ. ✣ 1 Thessa.3.13. and 5.23. 11 He testifieth that he hopeth wel of them hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehension afterwarde. And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our saluation is onely the worke of God. g Hee calleth them blamelesse, not whom man neuer founde fault with, but with whome no man can iustly finde fault, that is to say, them which are in Christ Iesus, in whome there is no condemnation. See Luke 1.6. ✣ 1.Thessa.5.24. h True and constant, who doeth not onely call vs, but giueth vs the gift of the perseuerance also. 12 Hauing made an ende of the preface, he commeth to the matter it selfe beginning with a most graue obtestation, as though they shoulde heare Christ himselfe speaking and not Paul

PAul 1 called to be an 2 Apostle of Iesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother 3 Sosthenes,

2 4 Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them that are ✣ 5 sanctified in a Christ Iesus, ✣ Saintes by b calling, ∵ with all that c call on the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ in euery place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 6 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 7 I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is giuen you in Iesus Christ,

5 That in all things ye are made rich in him, 8 in d all kind of speach, and in all knowledge:

6 9 As the testimonie of Iesus Christ hath bene e confirmed in you:

7 So that yee are not destitute of any gift: ✣ 10 wayting for the appearing of our Lorde Iesus Christ.

8 ✣ 11 Who shall also confirme you vnto the ende, that ye may be g blameleſſe, in the day of our Lord Iesus Christ.

9 * God is h faithfull, by whome ye are called vnto the felowship of his sonne Iesus Christ our Lord.

10 12 Nowe I beseech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lorde Iesus Chrsſt, that 13 yee all speake one thing, and that there be no dissentions among you: but bee yee i knit together in one minde, and in one iudgement.

11 14 For it hath bene declared vnto mee, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Cloe, that there are contentions among you.

12 Nowe k this I say, that euery one of you saith, I am Pauls, and I am ✣ Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Christs.

13 15 Is Christ diuided? was 16 Paul crucified for you? either were yee 17 baptized in the name of Paul?

14 18 I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but ✣ Crispus, and Gaius.

15 Lest any should say, that I had baptized into mine owne name.

16 I baptized also the houshold of Stephanas: furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 19 For CHRIST sent mee not to baptize, but to preache the Gospel, 20 not with ∵ l wisedome of words, lest the 21 crosse of Christ should be made of none effect.

13 The first part of this Epistle, wherein his purpose is, to cal back the Corinthians to brotherly concord, and to take away all occasion of discord. So then this first part concerneth the taking away of schisme. Nowe a schisme is when men which otherwise agree and consent together in doctrine, doe yet separate themselues one from another.
i Knit together, as a bodie that consisteth of all his partes fitly knit together.
14 He beginneth his reprehension and chiding by taking away of an obiection: for that he vnderstood by good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cause of dissentions, because that some did hang on one doctour, some on another, and some were so addicted to themselues, that they neglected all doctours & teachers, calling themselues the disciples of Christ onely, shutting foorth their teachers. k The matter I would say to you, is this. ✣ Actes 18.24. 15 The first reason why schismes ought to bee eschewed: because Christ seemeth by that meanes, to be diuided and torne in pieces, who cannot be the head of two diuers and disagreeing bodies, being himselfe one. 16 Another reason: Because they cannot without great iniurie to God so hang of men as of Christ: which thing no doubt they doe, which allowe whatsoeuer some man speaketh, euen for his persons sake: as these men allowed one selfe same Gospel being vttered of one man, and did lothe it being vttered of another man. So that these factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul setteth downe his owne name not onely to grieue no man, but also to shewe that he pleadeth not his owne cause. 17 The third reason taken of the forme and end of Baptisme, wherein we make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man doe not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if he hang vpon some certaine teachers, and despise others, hee forsaketh Christ: for if he hold Christ his onely master, he woulde heare him, teaching by whomsoeuer. 18 He protesteth that he speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that through Gods prouidence he is voide of all suspicion of chalenging disciples vnto himself, and taking them from others. Whereby we may vnderstand that not the schollers onely, but the teachers also are here reprehended, which gathered them selues flockes apart. Actes 18.8. 19 The taking away of an obiection: that hee gaue not him selfe to baptize many among them: not for the contempt of Baptisme, but because he was chiefely occupyed in deliuering the doctrine, and committed them that receiued his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had store. And so he declared sufficiently how farre he was from all ambition: whereas on the other side, they whom he reprehendeth, as though they gathered disciples vnto themselues & not vnto Christ, bragged most ambitiously of numbers, which they had baptized. 20 Nowe he turneth himselfe to the doctours themselues, which pleased themselues in braue and ambitious eloquence, to the ende that they might drawe more disciples after them. He confesseth plainely that he was vnlike vnto them, opposing grauely as it became an Apostle, his example against their peruerse iudgements: So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the obseruing of a godly simplicitie both in wordes and sentences in teaching of the Gospel. ∵ Chap.2.15.2 Pet.1.16. l With eloquence: which Paul casteth off from him not only as not necessarie, but also as flat contrary to the office of his Apostleship: and yet had Paul his kind of eloquence, but it was heauenly not of man, and voide of painted speach: 21 The reason why he vsed not the pompe of words, and painted speach: because it was Gods will to bring the worlde to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idiots amongst men might vnderstand, that this worke was done of God himselfe without the aide of man. Therefore as saluation is set foorth vnto vs in the Gospel by the crosse of Christ, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more farre from life, so God would haue the maner of the preaching of the crosse most different from those meanes, with which men doe vse to draw and entise other, eyther to heare or beleeue: therefore it pleased him by a certaine kind of most wise folly to triumph ouer the most foolish wisedome of the world, as he had said before by Esay, that he would. And hereby wee may gather, that both those doctours which were puffed vp with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers, strayed farre away from the ende and marke of their vocation.

18 For that m preaching of the crosse is to them that perish, foolishnesse: but vnto vs, which are saued, it is the ✣ n power of God.

19 22 For it is written, ✣ I will destroy the wisedome of the wise, and will cast away the vnderstanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wise? where is the o Scribe? where is the p disputer of this world? hath not God made the wisedome of this world foolishnesse?

21 23 For seeing the q world by wisedome knew not God in the r wisedome of GOD, 24 it pleased God by the f foolishnesse of preaching to saue them that beleeue:

22 ∴ 25 Seeing also that the Iewes require a signe, and the Grecians seeke after wisedome.

23 But we preach Christ crucified: vnto the Iewes, euen a stumbling blocke, and vnto the Grecians, foolishnesse:

24 But vnto them which are called, both of the Iewes and Grecians, we preach Christ, the power of God, and the wisedome of God.

25 For the foolishnesse of God is wiser then men, and the weakenesse of God is stronger then men.

26 26 For brethren, you see your t calling, how that not many wise men u after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called.

27 But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weake things of the world, to confound the mighty things,

28 And vile things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which x are not, to bring to y nought things that are,

29 That no z flesh should reioyce in his presence.

30 But ye are a of him in Christ Iesus, 27 who of God is made vnto vs wisedome and righteousnesse, and sanctification, and redemption, 31 That, according as it is written, ✣ b Hee that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

m The preaching of Christ crucified, or the kinde of speech which we vse.

✣ Rom.1.16.

n It is that wherein he declareth his marueilous power in sauing his elect, which would not so euidently appeare, if it hanged vpon any helpe of man: for so man might attribute that to himselfe, which is proper onely to the crosse of Christ.

✣ Esai.29.14.

o Where art thou, O thou learned fellow, and thou that spendest thy dayes in turning thy bookes? p Thou that spendest all thy time in seeking out the secret things of this world, and in expounding all hard questions: and thus triumphest he against all the men of this world, for there was not one of them that could so much as dreame vpon this secret and hidden mysterie. 23 He sheweth that the pride of men was woorthily punished of God, because they would not beholde God, as meet was they should, in the most cleare glasse of the wisedome of the world, which is the workemanship of the world. q By the world hee meaneth all men which are not borne anew, but remaine as they were, when they were first borne. r In the workemanship of this world, which hath the marueilous wisedome of God ingrauen in it, so that euery man may beholde it. 24 The goodnesse of God is wonderfull, for while hee goeth about to punish the pride of the worlde, hee is very prouident and carefull for the saluation of it, and teacheth men to become fooles, that they may be wise to God. f So hee calleth the preaching of the Gospell as the enemies supposed it: but in the meant season hee taunteth them very sharpely, who had rather charge God with follie, then acknowledge their owne, and craue pardon for it. ∴ Matth.12.38. 25 A declaration of that which he saide, that the preaching of the Gospel, is foolish. It is foolish, saith he, to them whome God hath not indued with newe light, that is to say, to all men, being considered in themselues: for the Iewes require miracles, and the Grecians arguments, which they may comprehend by their witte and wisedome: and therefore they doe not onely not beleeue the Gospell, but also they mocke at it. Notwithstanding in this foolish preaching, there is the great vertue and wisedome of God, but such as those onely which are called, doe perceiue. God shewing most plainely, that euen then when madde men thinke him most foolish, hee is farre wiser then they are: and that hee surmounteth all their might and power, when hee vseth most vile and abiect things, as it hath appeared in the fruite of the preaching of the Gospell. 26 A confirmation taken of those thinges which came to passe at Corinth, where the Church especially consisted of the basest and common people, in so much that the philosophers of Greece were driuen to shame, when they sawe that they could doe nothing with their wisedome and eloquence, in comparison of the Apostles, whom notwithstanding they called Idiots and vnlearned. And herewithall doeth hee beate downe their pride: for God did not preferre them before those noble and wise men because they should be proude, but that they might bee constrained euen whether they would or not, to reioyce in the Lorde, by whose mercie, although they were the most abiectes of all, they had obteined in Christ, both this wisedome, and all things necessarie to saluation. t What way the Lord hath taken in calling you. u After that kinde of wisedome which men make accompt of, as though there were none else: who because they are carnall, knowe not spirituall wisedome. x Which in mans iudgement are almost nothing. y To shewe that they are vaine and vnprofitable, and nothing worth. See Romaines 3.3.

z Flesh, is oft as we, put for the whole man: and he vseth this word Flesh, very fitly, to set the weake and miserable condition of man, & the malice of God, one against the other. a Whome he cald downe before, none he leaueth vp, yea, higher then all men: yet so, that he sheweth them that all their worthinesse is without themselues, that is, founded in Christ, and that of God. 27 He teacheth that especially and aboue all things, the Gospel ought not to be contemned, seeing it contemneth the chiefest things that are to be desired, to wit, true wisedome, the true way to obteine righteousnesse, the true way to liue honestly and godly, the true deliuerance from all miseries and calamities. ✣ Ioe.9.24. 2.Cor.10.17. b Let him yeeld all to God and giue him thankes: and so by this place is mans free will beaten downe, which the Papistes so dreame of.

CHAP. II.

1 He setteth downe a platforme of his preaching, 4 which was base in respect of mans wisedome, 7. 13 but noble in respect of the spirituall power and efficacie, 14 And so contemneth that flesh and blood cannot rightly iudge thereof.

AND I I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with ✣ excellencie of wordes, or of wisedome, shewing vnto you the a testimonie of God.

2 For I b esteemed not to knowe any thing among you, saue Iesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 ∴ And I was among you in c weakenesse, and in feare, and in much trembling.

4 Neither stood my word, and my preaching in the c entising speech of mans wisedome, d but in plaine d euidence of the Spirit and of power,

5 3 That your faith should not be in the wisdome of men, but in the power of God.

6 4 And wee speake wisedome among them that are e perfect: not the wisdome of this world, neither of the f princes of this world, which come to nought.

7 5 But we speake the wisedome of God in a g mysterie, euen the hid wisedome, 6 which God had determined before the world, vnto our glorie.

8 7 Which none of the princes of this world hath knowen: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the h Lord of glory.

1 He returneth to the 17. verse of the former chapter, that is to say, to his owne example: confessing that he vsed not amongst them either excellency of words, or entising speech of mans wisdome, but with great simplicitie of speech, both knew and preached Iesus Christ crucified, humble and abiect, as touching the flesh.

✣ Chap.1.17.

a The Gospel.

b I purposed not to professe any other knowledge but the knowledge of Christ and him crucified.

c He setteth weakenesse against excellencie of wordes, and therefore ioyneth with it feare and trembling, which are the companions of true modestie, not such feare and trembling as terrifie the conscience, but such as are contrary to vanitie and pride. ✣ Chap.1.17. 2 pet 1.16.

2 He turneth that now to the commendation of his ministery, which he had granted to his aduersaries: for his vertue and power which they knew well enough, was so much the more excellent, because it had no worldly helpe ioyned with it.

d By plaine euidence he meaneth such a proofe, as is made by certeine and necessarie reasons. 3 And hee telleth the Corinthians, that he did it for their great profit, because they might thereby know manifestly, that the Gospel was from heauen. Therefore hee priuily rebuketh them, because that in seeking vaine ostentation, they willingly depriued themselues of the greatest helpe of their faith.

4 Another argument taken of the nature of the thing, that is, of the Gospel, which is true wisedome, but knowen to them onely which are desirous of perfection: and is vnsauerie to them which otherwise excell in the world, but yet vainely and frailly.

e Those are called perfect here, not which had gotten perfection alreadie, but such as tend to it, as Philippians 3.15. so that perfect, is set against weake.

f They that are wiser, richer, or mightier, then other men are. 5 He sheweth the cause why this wisedome cannot be perceiued of those excellent worldly wittes: to wit, because in deed it is so deepe, that they cannot atteine vnto it.

g Which men could not so much as dreame of. 6 He taketh away an obiection: If it be so hard, when and how is it knowen? God, saith he, determined with himselfe from the beginning, that which his purpose was to bring foorth at this time out of his secrets, for the saluation of men. 7 Hee taketh away another obiection: why then, how commeth it to passe, that this wisedome was to reiected of men of highest authoritie, that they crucified Christ himselfe? Paul answereth: because they knew not Christ such as he was.

h That mighty God full of true maiestie and glory: Now this place hath in it a most euident proofe of the diuinitie of Christ, and of his ioyning of the two natures in one, which hath this in it, that that which is proper to the manhood alone, is vouched of the Godhead ioyned with the manhood: which kinde of speech, is called of the olde fathers, a making common of things belonging to some one, with other to whom they do not belong.

8 Another obiection: But how could it be that those wittie men could not perceiue this wisdome? Paul answereth: Because we preach those things which passe all mans vnderstanding.
✣ Isa. 64.4.
i Man can not so much as thinke of them, much lesse conceiue them with his senses.
9 A question: If it surmount the capacitie of men, how can it be vnderstood of any man, or how ca you declare & preach it? by a peculiar lightning, by Gods spirit, wherwith whosoeuer is inspired, he can enter euen to the very secrets of God.
k There is nothing so secret and hidden in God, but the Spirit of God perceiueth into it.

9 [8] But as it is written, ✣ The things which eye hath not seene, neither eare hath heard, neither came into [i] mans heart, are, which God hath prepared for them that loue him.
10 [9] But God hath reueiled them vnto vs by his Spirit: for the spirit [k] searcheth al things, yea, the deepe things of God.
11 [10] For what man knoweth the things of a man, saue the [l] spirit of a man, which is in him? euen so the things of God knoweth no man, but the spirit of God.
12 Now we haue receiued not the [m] spirit of the world, but the spirit, which is of God, [11] that we might [n] know the things that are giuen to vs of God.
13 [12] Which things also we speake, not in the ✣ words which mans wisedome teacheth, but which the holy Ghost teacheth, [o] comparing spirituall things with spirituall things.
14 [13] But the [p] naturall man perceiueth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishnesse vnto him: neither can he know them, because they are [q] spiritually discerned.
15 [14] But he that is spirituall, [r] discerneth all things: yet [15] he himselfe is iudged of no man.
16 ∴ [16] For who hath knowen the minde of the Lord, that he might [t] instruct him? But wee haue the [u] minde of Christ.

9 Another obiection: But how could it be that those wittie men could not perceiue this wisdome? Paul answereth: Because we preach those things which passe all mans vnderstanding.
✣ Isa. 64.4.
i Man can not so much as thinke of them, much lesse conceiue them with his senses.
9 A question: If it surmount the capacitie of men, how can it be vnderstood of any man, or how ca you declare & preach it? by a peculiar lightning, by Gods spirit, wherwith whosoeuer is inspired, he can enter euen to the very secrets of God.
k There is nothing so secret and hidden in God, but the Spirit of God perceiueth into it.
10 He setteth that foorth by a similitude, which he spake of the inspiration of the Spirit. As the force of mans wit searcheth out things perteining to man, so doth our minde by that power of the holy Ghost, vnderstand heauenly things. l The minde of man, which is indued with ablenesse to vnderstand and iudge. m The Spirit which we haue receiued, doth not teach vs things of the world, but liseth vs vp to God: and tha place teacheth vs against the Papists, what saith vs, from whence it commeth, and what force it is of. 11 That which he spake generally, he restreineth now to those things which God hath opened vnto vs of our saluation in Christ: lest that any man should separate the Spirit from the preaching of the word and Christ: or should thinke that those fantasticall men are gouerned by the Spirit of God, which wandring besides the word, thrust vpon vs their vaine imaginations for the secrets of God. n This word (know) is taken here in his proper sense, for true knowledge, which the Spirit of God worketh in vs. 12 Now he returneth to his purpose, and concludeth the argument which he began vers. 6. and it is thus: the words must be applied to the matter, and the matter must be set forth with words which are meet and conuenient for it: now this wisedome is spirituall and not of man, and therefore it must be deliuered by a spirituall kinde of teaching, and not by entising words of mans eloquence, that the simple, and yet woonderfull maiestie of the holy Ghost may therein appeare. ✣ Chap 1.17. 2.pet. 1.16. o Applying the words vnto the matter, to wit, that as we teach spirituall things, so must our kinde of teaching be spirituall. 13 Againe he preuenteth an offence or stumbling blocke: how commeth it to passe that so few allow these things? This is not to be marueiled at, sayth the Apostle, seeing that men in their naturall powers (as they termed them) are not indued with that faculti whereby spirituall things are discerned (which faculti commeth another way) and therefore they accompt spirituall wisdome as follie: and it is as if she should say, It is no maruell that blinde men cannot iudge of colours, seeing that they lacke the light of their eyes, and therefore light is to them as darknesse. p The man that hath no further light of vnderstanding, then that which he brought with him, euen from his mothers wombe, as Iude defineth it, Iude 19. q By the vertue of the holy Ghost. 14 He amplifieth the matter by contraries. r Vnderstandeth and discerneth. 15 The wisedom of the flesh, saith Paul, determineth nothing certainly, no not in it owne affaires much lesse can it discerne strange, that is, spirituall things. But the Spirit of God, wherewith spirituall men are indued, can be deceiued by no meanes, and therefore be reproued of no man. s Of no man: for when the Prophets are iudged of the Prophets, it is the Spirit that iudgeth, and not the man. ∴ Esa. 40 13. rom. 11.34.
16 A reason of the former saying: for he is called spirituall, which hath learned that by the vertue of the spirit, which Christ hath taught vs. Nowe if that which we haue learned of that Master, could be reproued of any man, he must needes be wiser then God: whereupon it followeth, that they are not onely foolish, but also wicked, which thinke that they can deuise some thing that is either more perfect, or that they can teach the wisdome of God a better way then they knewe or taught, which vndoubtedly were indued with Gods Spirit. t Lay his head to his, and teach him what he should doe. u We are indued with the Spirit of Christ, who openeth vnto vs those secrets, which by all other meanes are vnsearchable, and also all is meth whatsoeuer.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee yeeldeth a reason why he preached small matters vnto them: 4 He sheweth howe they ought to esteeme of ministers: 6 The ministers office. 10 A true forme of edifying. 16 He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawen away to prophane things, 18 through the proud wisedome of the flesh.

AND [1] I could not speake vnto you, brethren, as vnto spirituall men, but as vnto [a] carnall, euen as vnto babes in Christ.
2 I gaue you milke to drinke, and not [b] meate: for ye were not yet [c] able to beare it, neither yet now are ye able.
3 For ye are yet carnall: for whereas there is among you enuying, and strife, and diuisions, are ye not carnall, and walke as [d] men?
4 For when one saith, I am Pauls, and another, I am Apollos, are ye not carnall?
5 [2] Who is Paul then? and who is Apollos, but the ministers by whome ye beleeued, and as the Lord gaue to euery man?
6 [3] I haue planted, Apollos watred, but God gaue the increase.
7 So then, neither is hee that planteth, any thing, neither he that watreth, but God that giueth the increase.
8 And he that planteth, and he that watreth, are one, ✣ and euery man shall receiue his wages, according to his labour.
9 For we together are Gods [e] labourers: yee are Gods husbandrie, and Gods building.
10 According to the grace of God giuen to me, as a skilfull master builder, I haue layd the foundation, and another buildeth thereon: [4] but let euery man take heed how hee buildeth vpon it.
11 [5] For other foundation can no man lay, then that which is layed, which is Iesus Christ.
12 [6] And if any man build on this founda-

1 Hauing declared the worthinesse of heauenly wisdom, and of the Gospel, & hauing generally condemned the blindnes of mans mind, now at length he applieth it particularly to the Corinthians, calling the carnall, that is, such in whom as yet the flesh preuaileth against the spirit. And he bringeth a double testimony of it: first, for that he had proued them to be such, in so much that he dealt with them no otherwise then with ignorant men, & such as are almost babes in the doctrine of godlines, and secondly, because they shewed indeed by these dissensions, which sprang vp by reason of the ignorance of the verrue of the Spirit, and heauenly wisdome, that they had profited very little or nothing.
a He calleth them carnall, which are as yet ignorant, and therefore to expresse it the better, he termeth them babes. b Substantiall meate, or strong meate. c To be fed by me with substantiall meate: therefore as the Corinthians grew vp in age, so the Apostle nourished them by teaching, first with milke, then with strong meate, which difference was onely but in the maner of teaching. d By the square and compasse of mans wit and iudgement. 2 After that he hath sufficiently reprehended ambitious teachers, and their foolish esteemers, now he sheweth how the true ministers are to be esteemed, that wee attribute not vnto them, more or lesse then we ought to doe. Therefore he teacheth vs, that they are they by whom wee are brought to faith and saluation, but yet as the ministers of God, and such as doe nothing of themselues, but God so working by them as it pleaseth him to furnish them with his gifts. Therefore we haue not to marke or consider what minister it is that speaketh, but what is spoken: and we must depend onely vpon him which speaketh by his seruants. 3 He beautifieth the former sentence, with two similitudes: first comparing the company of the faithfull, to a field which God maketh fruitfull, when it is sowed and watred through the labour of his seruants: next, by comparing it to an house, which indeed the Lord buildeth, but by the handes of his workemen, some of whom, he vseth in laying the foundation, others in building of it vp. Nowe, both these similitudes tend to this purpose, to shew that all things are wholly accomplished by Gods onely authoritie and might, so that wee must onely haue an eye to him. Moreouer, although that God vseth some in the better part of the worke, we must not therefore contemne other, in respect of them, and much lesse may we diuide or set them apart, (as these factious men did) seeing that all of them labour in Gods businesse, and in such sort, that they serue to finish one selfe same worke, although by a diuers maner of working, inasmuch that they need one another helpe. ✣ Psal. 62. 12. galat. 6 3.
e Serving vnder him: Nowe they which serue vnder another, doe nothing of their owne strength, but as it is giuen them by grace, which grace maketh them fit to that seruice. Looke chap. 15.10. and 2.cor 3.6. and all the increase that commeth by their labour, doeth so proceed from God, that no part of the praise of it may be giuen to the vnder seruants. 4 Now he speaketh to the teachers themselues, which succeeded him in the Church of Corinth, and in their person, to all that were after or shall be Pastours of Congregations, seeing that they succeed into the labour of the Apostles, which were planters and chiefe builders. Therefore he warneth them first, that they perswade not themselues that they may build after their owne fantasie, that is, that they may propound and set forth any thing in the Church, either in matter, or in kinde of teaching, different from the Apostles which were the chiefe builders. 5 Moreouer, he sheweth what this foundation is, to wit, Christ Iesus, from which they may not turne away one iote in the building vp of this building. 6 Thirdly, he sheweth that they must take heed that the vpper part of the building be answerable to the foundation, that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatsoeuer pertaineth to the edifying of the flocke, be answerable to the doctrine of Christ, as well in matter as in forme: which doctrine is compared to gold, siluer, and precious stones: of which matter, Esaias also and Iohn in the Reuelation build the heauenly city. And to these are opposite, wood, hay, stubble, that is to say, curious and vaine questions or decrees: and besides to be short, all that kinde of teaching which seeketh to ostentation. For false doctrines, whereof he speaketh not here, are not sayd properly to be built vpon this foundation, vnlesse peraduenture in shew onely.

7 He testifieth,as in deede the trueth is,that all are not good builders,no not some of them which stand vpon this one and onely foundatiō: but how soeuer this worke of euill builders, saith he, stand for a season,yet shall it not alwayes deceiue,because that the light of the trueth appearing at length,as day shall dissolue this darknes, and shew what it is. And as that stuffe is tried by the fire,whether it be good or not,so will God in his time by the touch of his Spirit and worde try all buildings,and so shall it come to passe,that such as be found pure and sound, shall still continue to,to the prayse of the workeman: but they that are otherwise,shall be consumed and vanish away,and so shal the workeman be frustrate of the hope of his labour,which pleased himselfe in a thing of nought. 8 Hee taketh not away hope of saluation from the vnskilfull and foolish builders, which holde fast the foundation, of which sort were those Rhetoricians rather then pastours of Corinth: but hee addeth an exception, that they must notwithstanding suffer this triall of their worke, and also abide the losse of their vaine labours. ✣ Chap.6.19. 2.cor.6.16. 9 Continuing still in the metaphore of a building,he teacheth vs that this ambition is not only vaine,but also sacrilegious: For he saith that the Church is as it were the Temple of God,which God hath as it were consecrated vnto himselfe by his Spirite. Then turning himselfe to these ambitious men, hee sheweth that they prophane the Temple of God, because those vaine artes wherein they please themselues so much, are as he teacheth,so many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God,and the puritie of the Church. Which wickednesse shal not be suffered vnpunished. f Destileth it,and maketh it vncleane, being holy: and surely they doe defile it,by Paul his iudgement,which by fleshly eloquence defile the puritie of the Gospel. 10 He concludeth by the contrary,that they professe pure wisdome in the Church of God, which refuse and cast away all those vanities of men: and if they be mocked of the worlde, it is sufficient for them that they be wise according to the wisedome of God, and as hee will haue them to be wise. ✣ Iob 5.13. g Be they neuer so crafti,yet the Lord will take them when he shall discouer their trecherie. ∵ Psal.44.11. 11 He returneth to the proposition of the 2.verse, first warning the heaters, that henceforward they esteeme not as Lordes, those whom God hath appoynted to bee ministers and not Lords of their salnation: which thing they doe, that depend vpon men, and not vpon God that speaketh by them. h Please himselfe. i Helper,appointed for your benefit. 12 He passeth from the persons,to the things themselues,that his argument may be more forcible: yea hee ascendeth from Christ to the Father,to shewe that wee rest our selues no not in Christ himselfe, in that that hee is man, but because he carieth vs vp euen to the Father, as Christ witnesseth of himselfe euery where, that hee was sent of his Father,that by this band we may be all knit with God himselfe.

tion,golde,siluer,precious stones, timber, hay, or stubble,

13 7 Euery mans worke shall bee made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shalbe reuciled by the fire: and the fire shall trie euery mans worke of what sort it is.

14 If any mans worke, that he hath built vpon,abide,he shall receiue wages.

15 If any mans worke burne, he shall lose,but 8 he shalbe saued himselfe: neuertheless yet as it were by the fire.

16 ✣ 9 Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirite of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man f destroy the Temple of God, him shal God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy,which ye are.

18 10 Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man among you seeme to be wise in this world,let him be a foole,that he may be wise.

19 For the wisedome of this world is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, ✣ He ᵍ catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse.

20 ∵ And againe, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wise be vaine.

21 11 Therefore let no man h reioyce in men: for all things are i yours.

22 Whether it be Paul,or Apollos,or Cephas, or the 12 world,or life,or death: whether they be things present, or things to come, euen all are yours, 23 And ye Christs,and Christ Gods.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, 7 hee sheweth that humilitie ought rather to be an honour then a shame vnto him. 9 He bringeth in proofe,whereby it may euidently appeare, 10 that he neither had care of glory, 11 nor of his belie. 17 He commendeth Timothie.

1 He concludeth the duetie of the hearers towards their ministers: that they esteeme

LEt 1 a² man so thinke of vs,as of the ministers of Christ,and disposers of the secrets of God:

2 2 And as for the rest, it is required of the them not as Lordes: and yet notwithstanding, that they giue eare vnto them,as to them that are sent from Christ, sent I say to this end and purpose,that they may receiue as it were at their hands, the treasure of saluation which is drawen out of the secrets of God. a Euery man. 2 Last of all he warneth the ministers,that they also behaue themselues not as Lordes, but as faithfull seruants, because they must reuder an accompt of their stewardship vnto God.

dispōsers,that euery man be found faithfull.

3 3 As touching mee, I passe very litle to be iudged of you, 4 or of mans b iudgement: no, 5 I iudge not mine owne selfe.

4 For I knowe nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but hee that iudgeth me, is the c Lord.

5 6 Therefore ✣ iudge nothing before the time, vntill the Lorde come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkenesse, and make the counsels of the hearts manifest: and then shall euery man haue d praise of God.

6 7 Now these things, brethren, I haue figuratiuely applied vnto mine owne selfe and Apollos,for your sakes, that yee might learne e by vs, that no man presume aboue that which is written, that one swell not against another for any mans cause.

7 8 For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not receiued? if thou hast receiued it, why reioycest thou, as though f thou hadst not receiued it?

8 9 Now ye are full: now yee are made rich: ye reigne as kings without vs, and would to God ye did reigne, that we also might reigne with you.

9 For I thinke that God hath set forth vs the last Apostles, as men appointed to death, for wee are made a ᵍ gasing stocke vnto the world,and to the Angels,and to men.

10 We are fooles for Christes sake,and ye are wise in Christ: we are weake, and ye are strong: ye are honourable,and we are despised.

11 Vnto this houre we both hunger & thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place, 12 ✣ And labour, working with our owne handes: we are reuiled, and yet we blesse: we are persecuted, and suffer it.

13 ∵ We are euill spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the h filth of the world, the offskowring of all things, vnto this time.

14 10 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloued children I admonish you.

15 For though ye haue tenne thousand instru-

3 Because in reprehēding others, he set himselfe for an example,he vseth a preoccupation or preuenting of an obiection, and vsing the grauitie of an Apostle, he sheweth that he careth not for the contrary iudgements that they haue of him, in that they esteemed him as a vile person,because he did not set forth himselfe as they did. And he bringeth good reasons why hee was nothing moued with the iudgements which they had of him.

4 First, because that that, which men iudge in these cases of their own braines,is no more to be accompted of,then when the vnlearned doe iudge of wisedome.

b Word for word, Day,after the maner of speech of the Cilicians.

5 Secondly,saith he,how can you iudge how much or how litle I am to be accompted of,seeing that I my selfe which knowe my selfe better then you doe,and which dare professe that I haue walked in my vocation with a good conscience, dare not yet notwithstanding challenge any thing to my selfe? for I knowe that I am not vnblameable,all this notwithstanding: much lesse therefore should I please my selfe as you doe. c I permitte my selfe to the Lordes iudgement. 6 A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were, out of the former reasons. It is Gods office to esteeme euery man according to his value, because hee knoweth the secretes of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement perteineth not to you. ✣ Matt. 7.1. d One could not bee praised aboue the rest, but the other should be blamed: and he mentioneth praise rather then dispraise, for that the beginning of this sore was this, that they gaue more to some men then meete was. 7 Hauing reiected their iudgement,he setteth forth himselfe againe as a singular example of modestie,as one which concealing in this Epistle those factious teachers names, doubted not to put downe his owne name and Apollos in their place, and tooke vpon him, as it were their shame: so farre was he from preferring himselfe to any. e By our example,which chose rather to take other mens faultes vpon vs, then to carpe any by name. 8 Hee sheweth a good meanes to bridle pride: first if thou consider how rightly thou exemptest thy selfe out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thy selfe: againe, if thou consider that although thou haue some thing more then other men haue, yet thou hast it not but by Gods bountifulnesse. And what wise man is he that will bragge of an others goodnesse, and that against God? f There is nothing then in vs of nature, that is worthie of commendation: but all that we haue, we haue it of grace, which the Pelagians and halfe Pelagians will not confesse. 9 Hee descendeth to a most grane mocke, to cause those ambitious men to blush euen against their willes. g Hee that will take a right viewe how like Paul and the Pope are, who lyngly boasteth that hee is his successour, let him compare the delicates of the Popish court, with Saint Pauls state as we see it here. ✣ Actes 20.34. 1.thess.2.9. 2.thess.3.8. ∵ Matth.5.44. luke 23.34. actes 7.60. h Such as by sweeping is gathered together. 10 Moderating the sharpenesse of his mocke. hee putteth them in minde to remember of whom they were begotten in Christ, and that they should not doubt to followe him for an example, although hee seeme vile according to the outward shew in respect of others,yet mightie by the efficacie of Gods Spirit,as they had had triall of in themselues.

1 That they haue winked at him who committed incest with his mother in Law, 2, 6 hee sheweth should cause them rather to be ashamed, then to reioyce: 10 Such kinde of wickednesse is to bee punished with excommunication, 12 lest other bee infected with it.

1 They are greatly to be reprehended which by suffering of wickednesse set foorth the Church of God to be mocked and scorned of the infidels.
2 There are none more proude, then they that least know themselues.
3 Excommunication ought not to be committed to one mans power, but must be done by the authoritie of the whole Congregation, after that the matter is diligently examined.
a In minde, thoughts and will. b Calling vpon Christ his Name.
4 There is no doubt but that iudgement is ratified in heauen, wherein Christ himselfe sitteth as Iudge. 5 The excommunicate is deliuered to the power of Satan, in that, that hee is cast out of the house of God. c What it is to be deliuered to Satan, the Lord himselfe declareth when hee saith, Let them bee vnto thee as an Heathen and Publicane, Matth. 18. 17. that is to say, to be disfranchised and put out of the right and liberte of the citie of Christ, which is the Church, without which Satan is lord and master. 6 The end of excommunication is not to cast away the excommunicate, that he should vtterly perish, but that he may be saued, to wit, that by this meanes his flesh may be tamed, that hee may learne to liue to the spirit. 7 An other ende of excommunication is, that other be not infected, and therfore it must of necessitie be retained in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other. d Is naught, and not grounded vpon good reason, as though you were excellent, and yet there is such wickednesse found amongst you. 8 By alluding to the ceremonie of the Passeouer, hee exhorteth them to cast out that vncleane person from amongst them. In times past, saith he, it was not lawfull for them which did celebrate the Passeouer, to eate leauened bread: insomuch that he was holden as vncleane and vnworthy to eate the Passeouer, whosoeuer had but tasted of leauen. Now all our whole life must be as it were the feast of vnleauened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lambe which is slaine, must cast out both of themselues, and also out of their houses and Congregations all impuritie. e By lumpe he meaneth the whole body of the Church, euery member whereof must bee vnleauened bread, that is, be renewed in Spirit, by plucking away the old corruption. f The Lambe of our Passeouer. g Let vs leade our whole life, with woe a continuall feast, honestly, and vprightly.

1 IT [1] is heard certainely that there is fornication among you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should haue his fathers wife.

2 [2] And ye are puffed vp and haue not rather sorowed, that he which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.

3 [3] For I verely as absent in body, but present in [a] spirit, haue determined already as though I were present, that hee that hath thus done this thing,

4 When yee are gathered together, and my spirit, in the [b] Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that such one, I say, [4] by the power of our Lord Iesus Christ,

5 [5] Be [c] deliuered vnto Satan, for the [6] destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saued in the day of the Lord Iesus.

6 [7] Your reioycing [d] is not good: know yee not, that a litle leauen leaueneth [e] whole lumpe?

7 [8] Purge out therefore the olde leauen, that ye may be a newe [e] lumpe, as yee are vnleauened: for Christ our [f] Passeouer is sacrificed for vs.

8 Therefore let vs keepe the [g] feast, not with olde leauen, neither in the leauen of maliciousnes and wickednesse: but with the vnleauened breard of synceritie and trueth.

9 [9] I write vnto you in an Epistle, that yee should not companie together with fornicators,

10 And not [h] altogether with the fornicators of this worlde, or with the couetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must goe out of the world.

11 But now I haue written vnto you, that ye company not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicatour, or couetous, or an idolater, or a rayler, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eate not.

12 [10] For what haue I to doe, to iudge them also which are without? doe yee not iudge them that are within?

13 But God iudgeth them that are without. Put away therefore from among your selues that wicked man.

9 Now he speaketh more generally: and that which he spake before of the incestuous person, he sheweth that it perteineth to others, which are knowen to bee wicked and such as through their naughtie life are a slaunder to the Church, which ought also by lawfull order be cast out of the communitie of the Church. And making mention of eating of meate, either he meaneth those feastes of loue whereat the Supper of the Lorde was receiued, or els their common vsage and maner of life which is rightly to be taken, lest any man should thinke, that either matrimonie were broken by excommunication, or such dueties hindered & cut off thereby, as we owe one to another: children to their parents, subiects to their rulers, seruants to their masters, and neighbour to neighbour to winne one another vnto God. b If you should vtterly abstaine from such mens companie, you should goe out of the world: therefore I speake to them which are in the very bosome of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whom you must labour by all meanes possible, to bring them to Christ. 10 Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation: as for them which are without, they must be left to the iudgement of God.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee inueigheth against their contentions in lawe matters, 6 wherewith they vexed one another vnder iudges that were infidels, to the reproch of the Gospel, 9 and then sharpely threateneth fornicators.

1 The third question is of ciuill iudgements. Where that it be lawfull for one faithfull to draw another faithful before the iudgement seate of an infidell? He answereth that it is not lawfull, for offence sake, for it is not euill of it selfe. a As if he saide, Are you become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospel a laughing stocke to prophane men? b Before the vnfaithfull. 2 He addeth that hee doeth not forbid that one neighbour may goe to law with another if neede so require, but yet vnder holy iudges. 3 He gathereth by a comparison that the faithfull can not seeke to infidels to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints. Seeing that God himselfe will make the Saints iudges of the world and of the deuils with his sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge these light and small causes which may be by equitie, and good conscience determined. 4 The conclusion, wherein he prescribeth a remedie for this mischiefe: to wit, if they end their priuate affaires betwixt themselues by chosen arbiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpose, the least of you, saith he, is sufficient. Therefore he condemneth not iudgement seates, but sheweth what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, & that without any diminishing of the right of the Magistrate: for he speaketh not of iudgements, which are practised betweene the faithfull and the infidels, neither of publike iudgements, but of controuersies which may be ended by priuate arbiters. c Courts and places of iudgement. d Earn the most abiect among you. 5 He applieth the general proposition to a particular, alwaies calling them backe to this, to take away from them that false opinion of their own excellencie, from whence all these mischiefes sprang. 6 Now hee goeth further also, and although by granting them priuate arbiters out of the congregation of the faithfull, hee doe not simply condemne, but rather establish priuate iudgements, so that they be exercised without offence, yet he sheweth that if they were such as they ought to be, and as it were to bee wished, they should not neede to vse that remedie neither.

e infirmitie in you, in that ye go to law one with another: 7 ✣ why rather suffer yee not wrong? why rather sustaine ye not harme?

8 ✣ Nay, ye your selues doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the vnrighteous shall not i herite the kingdome of God? 8 Be not deceiued: neither fornicatours, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggerers, 10 Nor theeues, nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shal inherit the kingdome of God.

11 And such were ✣ some of you: but yee are washed, but ye are sanctified, but yee are iustified in the f Name of the Lord Iesus, and by the Spirit of our God.

12 ¶ ✣ g All things are lawfull vnto me, but all things are not profitable. I may doe all things, but I will not bee brought vnder the h power of any thing.

13 [10] Meates are ordeined for the belly, and the belly for the meates: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Now the body is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised vp the Lorde, and ✣ shall raise vs vp by his power.

15 [11] Know yee not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 [12] Do yee not know, that hee which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? * for [13] two, saith he, shalbe one flesh.

17 But hee that ioyned vnto the Lord, is one spirite.

e A weakenesse of mind which is said to be in them, that suffer themselues to bee ouercome of their lusts, and it is a fault that squareth greatly from temperance and moderation: so that he reproueth them which could not put vp an iniurie done vnto them.

7 This pertaineth chiefly to ✣ other part of the reprehension, to wit, that they went to law euen vnder infidels, whereas they should rather haue suffered any losse, then to haue giuen that offence. But yet this is generally true, that we ought rather depart from our right, then trie the vttermost of the Law hastily. and vpon an affection to reuenge an iniurie. But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therefore he saith that they must repent, vnlesse they will be shut out of the inheritance of God.

✣ Matth.5.30. luke 6.29. rom. 12.19.

✣ 1.Thes.4.6.

8 Now he prepareth himselfe to passe ouer to the fourth treatise of this Epistle, which concerneth matters indifferent; debating this matter first, how we men may well vse women or not: which question hath three branches, fornication, matrimonie, & a single life. As for fornication, he vtterly condemneth it. And marriage he commandeth to some, as a good and necessarie remedy for them. to other hee leaueth it free: And other some he disswadeth from it, not as vnlawfull, but as discommodious, and that not without exception. As for singlenesse of life (vnder which also I comprehend virginitie) he inioyneth it to no man: yet he perswadeth men vnto it, but not for it selfe, but for another respect, neither all men, nor without exception. And being about to speake against fornication, he beginneth with a generall reprehension of those vices, wherewith that rich and riotous citie most abounded: warning and teaching them earnestly, that repentance is vnseparably ioyned with forgiuenesse of sinnes, and sanctification with iustification. ∴ Iu 33.

f In Iesus. ✣ Chap.10.23. 9 Secondly, hee sheweth that the Corinthians doe simply offend in matters indifferent. First, because they abused them: next, because they vsed indifferent things, without any discretion, seeing the vse of them ought to be brought to the rule of charitie: and that he doth not vse them aright, which immoderately abuseth them, and so becommeth a slaue vnto them. g Whatsoeuer: but this is generall word must be restrained to things that are indifferent. h Hee is in subiection to things that are indifferent, whatsoeuer he be that thinketh he may not be without them, which is a flattering kinde of slauerie vnder a colour of libertie, which seeketh vpon such men. 10 Secondarily, because they counted many things for indifferent, which were of themselues vnlawfull, as fornication, which they numbred amongst meere naturall and lawfull desires, as well as meate and drinke: Therefore the Apostle sheweth, that they are vtterly vnlike: for meates, saith he, were made for the necessary vse of mans life which is not perpetuall. For both meates and all the manner of nourishing, are quickely abolished. But wee must not so thinke of the vnclearnes of fornication, for which the body is not made, but on the contrary side is ordeined to pureneſſe, as appeareth by this, that it is consecrated to Christ, euen as Christ also is giuē vs of his father, to quicken our bodies with that vertue wherewith he also rose againe. ✣ Rom.6.5. 11 A declaration of the former argument by contraries, and the applying of it. 12 A proofe of the same argument: A harlot and Christ are cleane contrary, so are the flesh and the Spirit: therefore he that is one with an harlot, (which is done by carnall copulation of their bodies) cannot be one with Christ, which vnitie is pure and spirituall. * Gene. 2.24. matt.19.5. mar.10.8. ephes.5.31. 1 Moses doth not speake these words of fornication, but of mariage: but seeing that fornication is the corrupting of mariage, and both of them is a carnall & filthy copulation, we cannot say that the Apostle abuseth his testimonie. Againe, Moses hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expressed both here and in Matthew 19.5 because he speaketh only but of man and wife: whereupon the opinion of them that vouch it to be lawfull to haue many wiues, is beaten downe: for he that compareth with many, is sundred as it were into many parties.

18 [13] Hee fornication: euery sinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but he that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne body.

19 [14] Knowe yee not, that ✣ your body is the temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and [15] ye are not your owne.

20 ✣ For ye are bought for a price: therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirite: for they are gods.

13 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defileth the body with a peculiar kinde of filthines. 14 The third argument: Because a fornicatour is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God. ✣ Chap.3.17. 2.cor.6.14. 15 The fourth argument: Because we are not our owne men, to giue our selues to any other, much lesse to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himselfe hath bought vs, and that with a great price, to the ende that both in body and soule, wee should serue to his glory. ✣ Chap.7.23. 1.pet.1.18.

CHAP. VII.

1 Intreating here of mariage, 4 which is a remedie against fornication, 10 and may not be broken, 18. 20 he willeth euery man to liue contented with his lotte. 25 Hee sheweth what the ende of virginitie should be, 35 and who ought to marry.

NOW [2] concerning the things a whereof yee wrote vnto me, It were [b] good for a man not to touch a woman.

1 Hee teacheth concerning mariage, that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards, yet that mariage is necessarie for the auoiding of fornication: but so that neither one man may haue many wiues, nor any wife many husbands.

a Touching those matters, whereof you wrote vnto me. b Commodious, and (as we say) expedient. For mariage bringeth many griefes with it, and that by reason of the corruption of our first estate. ∴ 1.Pet.3.7.

2 Neuertheleſſe, to auoide fornication, let euery man haue his wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

2 Secondly, hee sheweth that the parties married, must with singular affection entirely loue one the other.

3 ∴ [2] Let the husband giue vnto the wife [c] due beneuolence, and likewise also the wife vnto the husband.

c This word (due) conteineth all kind of beneuolence, though he speake more of one ioint then of the other, in that that followeth.

4 [3] The wife hath not the power of her owne body but the husband: & likewise also ỹ husband hath not ỹ power of his own body, but the wife.

3 Thirdly, he warneth them, that they are each in others power, as touching the body, so that they may not defraude one another.

5 Defraud not one another, [4] except it be with consent for a time, that ye may [d] giue your selues to fasting and prayer, and againe come together that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

4 He addeth an exception, vnlesse the one abstaine from the other by mutuall consent, that they may the better giue themselues to prayer, wherein notwithstanding, hee warneth them to consider what is expedient, lest by this long breaking off as it were from mariage they be sturred vp to incontinencie. d Doe not lingelie.

6 [5] But I speake this by permission, not by commandement.

5 Fifthly, he teacheth that mariage is not simply necessary for all men, but for them which haue not the gift of continencie, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God. e I wish.

7 For I [e] would that all men were euen as I my selfe am: but euery mā hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, and another after that.

6 Sixtly, he giueth the selfe same admonition touching the second mariage, to wit, that a single life is to be allowed, but for such as haue the gift of continencie otherwise they ought to marrie againe, that their conscience may bee at peace.

8 [6] Therefore I say vnto the [f] vnmaried, and vnto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.

f Tho whole place is flat against them which condemne second mariages. g So to burne with lust, that either they will yeelde to the temptation, or else not cease to call vpon God with a quiet conscience. ✣ Mat.5.32 and 19.9. mar.10.11,12. luk.16.18.

9 But if they cannot abstaine, let them marrie: for it is better to marrie then to [g] burne.

7 Seuentibly he forbiddeth contentions and publishing of diuorces (for he speaketh not here of the fault of whoredome, which was then death euen by the law of the Romanes also) whereby he assimeth that the band of mariage is not dissolued, and that from Christ his mouth. 8 Eightly, hee affirmeth, that these mariages which are already contracted betweene a faithfull, and an vnfaithfull or infidell, are firme, so that the faithfull may not forsake the vnfaithfull.

10 ✣ [7] And to ỹ married I cōmand, not I, but ỹ Lord, Let not ỹ wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if she depart, let her remain vnmaried, or be reconciled vnto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 [8] But to ỹ remnant I speake, & not ỹ Lord, If any brother haue a wife, ỹ beleeueth not, if shee be cōtent to dwell w̄ him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husbande that beleeueth not, if he be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

14 9 For the vnbeleeuing husband is h sanctified to the i wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is sanctified to the k husband, else were your children vncleane: but now are they l holy.

15 10 But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subiection in such things; 11 but God hath called vs in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt saue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt saue thy wife?

17 12 But as God hath distributed to euery man, as the Lord hath n called euery one, so let him walke, and so ordaine I, in all Churches.

18 13 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not n gather hu vncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised? let him not be circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

20 ✣ Let euery man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a seruant? p care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, vse it rather.

22 For he that is called in the q Lord, being a seruant, is the Lordes freeman: likewise also hee that is called being free, is Christes seruant.

23 ✣ 4 Yee are bought with a price: be not the seruants of men.

24 15 Brethren, let euery man, wherein he was called, therein abide with r God.

25 16 Nowe concerning virgins, I haue no commandement of the Lorde: but I giue mine s aduise, as t one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I suppose then u this to be good for the x present necessitie: I meane that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgine marrie, shee sinneth not: neuertheless, such shall haue trouble in the y flesh: but I 12 spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is a short, hereafter that both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none.

30 And they that b weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that bye, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that vse this c world, as though they vsed it not: for the d fashion of this world goeth away.

32 And I woulde haue you without care. The vnmarried careth for the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.

33 But hee that is married, e careth for the things of the worlde, howe hee may please his wife.

34 There is difference also betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in f spirit: but she that is married, careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speake for your owne g commoditie, not to tangle you in a snare, but that ye follow that, which is honest, and that ye may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation.

36 17 But if any man thinke that it is vncomely for his virgin, if she passe the flowre of her age, and neede so require, let him doe what he will, he h sinneth not: let them be married.

37 Neuertheless, hee that standeth firme in his i heart, that he hath no k neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keepe his virgine, hee doeth well.

38 So then hee that giueth her to marriage, doeth well, but he that giueth her not to mariage, doeth l better.

39 18 The wife is bound by the Law, as long as her husband ✣ liueth: but if her husband bee dead, she is at libertie to marrie with whome shee will, onely in the n Lord.

40 But shee is more blessed, if shee so abide in my iudgement: ✣ and I thinke that I haue also the Spirite of God.

9 He answereth an obiection: But the faithfull is denied by the iniquitie of the vnfaithful. The Apostle denieth that, and prooueth that the faithfull man with good conscience may vse the vessel of his vnfaithfull wife, by this, that their children which are borne of them, are accompted holy (that is, conteined within the promise) for it is sayd to all the faithfull, I will be thy God, and the God of thy seed.

h The godlinesse of the wife is of more force, to cause their coupling together to be accompted holy, then the infidelitie of the husband is, to prophane the marriage.

i The infidell is not sanctified or made holy in his owne person, but in respect of his wife, he is sanctified to her.

k To the faithfull husband.

l This place destroyeth the opinion of them, that would not haue children to be baptized, and their opinion also, that make baptisme the very cause of saluation. For the children of the faithfull are holy, by vertue of the couenant, euen before Baptisme, and baptisme is added to the seale of that holinesse.

10 He answereth to a question: what if the vnfaithfull forsake the faithfull? then is the faithfull free, saieth he, because he is forsaken of the vnfaithfull. m When any such thing falleth out.

11 Lest any man vpon pretence of this libertie should giue occasion to the vnfaithfull to depart, he giueth to vnderstand, that marriage contracted with an infidel, ought peaceably to be kept, that if it be possible the infidel may be wonne to the faith.

12 Taking occasion by that which hee sayd of the bondage and libertie of matrimonie, he digresseth to a generall doctrine concerning the outward state and condition of mans life, as Circumcision and vncircumcision, seruitude and libertie: warning euery man generally to liue with a contented minde in the Lord, what state or condition soeuer he be in, because, that those outward things, as to be circumcised or vncircumcised, to be bond or free, are not of the substance (as they terme it) of the kingdome of heauen. n Hath bound him to a certaine kinde of life.

13 Notwithstanding he giueth vs to vnderstand, that in these examples all are not of like sort: because that circumcision is not simply of it selfe to be desired, but such as are bound may desire to be free. Therefore herein only they are equall, that the kingdome of God consisteth not in them, and therefore these are no hinderance to obey God. o Hee is said to gather his vncircumcision, who by the helpe of a Chirurgian, recouereth an vpper skinne: which is done by the drawing the skinne with an instrument, to make it to couer the nut. Celsus in his 7. booke and 25. chap. ✣ 1. Tim. 6 1. p As though this calling were too vnworthie a calling for Christ. 14 He that is in state of a seruant, and is called to be a Christian. ✣ Chap. 6 20. 1. pet. 18, 19.

14 He sheweth the reason of the vnlikenesse, because that he that desireth to be circumcised, maketh himselfe subiect to mans tradition, and not to God. And this may be much more vnderstoode of superstitious, which some do foolishly accompt for things indifferent.

15 A repetition of the generall doctrine. r So purely and from his heart, that your doings may be approued before God.

16 He enioyneth virginitie to no man, yet he perswadeth and praiseth it for another respect, to wit, both for the necessitie of the present time, because the faithfull could scarce abide in any place, and vse the commodities of this present life, and therefore such as were not troubled with families, might be the readier: and also for the cares of this life, which marriage draweth with it, of necessitie, so that they cannot but haue their mindes distracted: and this hath place in women especially. s The circumstances considered, this I counsell you. t It is I that speake this which I am minded to speake: and the truth is, I am a man, but yet worthie credite, for I haue obtained of the Lord to be such a one. u To remaine a virgine. x For the necessitie which the Saints are daily subiect vnto, who are continually tossed vp and downe, so that their estate may seeme most vnfit for marriage, were it not that the weakenesse of the flesh enforced them to it.

y By the (flesh) he vnderstandeth what things soeuer belong to this present life, for marriage brageth with it many discommodities: so that he bendeth more to a sole life, not because it is a iewice more agreeable to God then marriage is, but for those discommodities, which (if it were possible) he would wish all men to be void of, that they might giue themselues to God onely.

z I would your weaknesse were prouided for.

a For we are now in the latter ende of the worlde.

b By weeping, the Hebrewes vnderstand all aduersitie, and by ioy, all prosperitie.

c These things which God giueth vs heere.

d The guise, the shape, and fashion whereby he sheweth vs, that there is nothing in this world that continueth.

e They that are married, haue their wits drawen hither and thither, and therefore a man hane the gift of continencie, it is more commodious for him to liue alone: but they that are married may care for the things of the Lord also, Clem. Strom. 3.

g He meaneth that he will inforce no man either to marrie or not to marrie, but to shewe them barely what kinde of life is most commodious.

17 Now hee turneth himselfe to the Parents, in whose power and authoritie their children are, warning them that according to the former doctrine they consider what is meete and conuenient for their children, that they neither deprive them of the necessary remedie against incontinencie, nor constraine them to marriage, whereas neither their will doth leade them, nor any necessitie vrgeth them. And againe he praiseth virginitie, but of it selfe, and not in all. h He doeth well: for so he expoundeth it verse 38. i Resolued with himselfe. k That the weaknesse of his daughter inforceth him not, or any other matter, but that he may safely keepe her a virgine still. l Prouideth more commodiously for his children, and that not simply, but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned. 18 That which he spake of a widower, he speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that she may marrie againe, so that she doe it in the feare of God: and yet he dissembleth not, but saith, that if she remaine still a widow, she shalbe voide of many cares. m By the Law of marriage. ✣ Rom. 7. 1. n Religiously, and in the feare of God. ✣ 1. Thes. 4. 8.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He entreth to entreate of an other kinde of things and fferent, to wit, of things offered to idols, or the vse of flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all hee remooueth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in vsing things offered to idoles without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meates was for vnskilfull men, but as for them, they knewe well ynough the benefite of Christ, which causeth all these things to be cleane to them that are cleane. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ. I say notwithstanding that we must not simply rest in this knowledge. The reason is, that vnlesse our knowledge be tempered with charitie, it doeth not onely not auaile, but also doeth much hurt, because it is the mistresse of pride: nay it doth not so much as deserue the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the loue of God, and therefore from the loue of our neighbour. a This generall worde is to bee abridged, as appeareth, verse 7. for there is a kinde of iaunt in it, as wee may perceiue by the next verse. b Minister occasion of vanitie and pride: because it is voyde of charitie. c Instructeth our neighbour. 2 The application of that answere to things offered to idoles: I graunt saith hee, that an idole is in deede a vaine imagination, and that there is but one God and Lorde, and therefore that meate can not be made either holy or prophane by the idole: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect vse those meates as any other. d This word (idole) in this place is taken for an image which is made to represent some godhead, that worship might be giuen vnto it: whereupon came the word (Idolatrie) that is to say, Image seruice. e It a vaine dreame. f When the Father is distinguished from the Sonne, hee is named the beginning of all things. g Wee haue our being in him. ✣ Iohn 13. 13. chapter 12. 3. h But as the father is called Lord, so is the Sonne, God: therefore this word (One) doth not respect the persons, but the natures. i This word (By) doth not signifie the instrumentall cause, but the efficient: For the Father and the Sonne worke together, which is not so to be taken, that wee make two causes, seeing they haue both but one nature, though they be distinct persons. 3 The reason why that followeth not, is this: because there are many men which doe not knowe that which you knowe. Nowe the iudgements of outward things depend not onely vpon your conscience, but vpon the conscience of them that behold you, and therefore your actions must be applied not onely to your knowledge, but also to the ignorance of your brethren. 4 An applying of the reason: There are many which cannot eate of things offered to idoles, but with a wauering conscience, because they thinke them to be vncleane: therefore if by thy example they enterprise to doe that which inwardly they thinke displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, and thus hast bene the occasion of this mischiefe. k By conscience of the idole, hee meaneth the secret iudgement that they had within themselues, whereby they thought all things vncleane, that were offered to idoles, and therefore they could not vse them with good conscience. For this force hath conscience, that if it bee good, it maketh things indifferent good, and if it be euill, it maketh them euill. 5 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then shall we therefore be depriued of our libertie? Nay saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christianitie although you abstaine for your brethrens sake, as also if you receiue the meate, it maketh you no whit the more holy, for our commendation before God consisteth not in meates: but to vse our libertie with offence of our brethren, is an abuse of libertie, the true vse whereof is cleane contrary, to wit, so to vse it, as in vsing of it wee haue consideration of our weake brethren. 6 An other plainer explication of the same reason, propounding the example of the sitting downe at the table in the idoles temple, which thing the Corinthians did euill accompt of among things indifferent because it is simply forbidden for the circumstance of the place, although offence doe ceale, as it shalbe declared in his place.

AND as touching things sacrificed vnto idols, wee knowe that wee [a] all haue knowledge: knowledge [b] puffeth vp, but loue [c] edifieth.

2 Now, if any man thinke that hee knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing, yet as hee ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowen of him.

4 [2] Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed vnto [d] idoles, we know that an idole [e] is nothing in the world, and that there [a] is none other God but one.

5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heauen, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many lords)

6 Yet vnto vs there is but one God, which is that Father, [f] of whom are all things, and we [g] in him, and ✣ [h] one Lord Iesus Christ, [i] by whome are all things, and we by him.

7 [3] But euery man hath not that knowledge for [4] many hauing [k] conscience of the idole, vntill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idole, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 [5] But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God: for neither if we eate, haue we the more, neither if we eate not, haue we lesse.

9 But take heede least by any meanes this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weake.

10 [6] For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idoles temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weake, be boldened to eate those things which are sacrified to idoles?

11 [7] And through thy knowledge shall the ✣ weake brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 [8] Nowe when yee sinne so against the brethren, and wound their weake conscience, yee sinne against Christ.

13 ✣ [9] Wherefore if meate offend my brother, I will eate no flesh while the world standeth, that I may offend my brother.

7 An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries: Thou wretched mã saith he, pleasing thy selfe with thy knowledge which in deede is none (for if thou haddest true knowledge, thou wouldest not sit downe to meate in an idoles temple) wilt thou destroy thy brother, hardening his weake conscience by this example to doe euill, for whose saluation Christ himselfe hath died? ✣ Rom. 14. 15. 8 An other amplification: Such offending of our weake brethren redoundeth vnto Christ, and therefore let not these men thinke that they haue to doe onely with their brethren. ✣ Rom. 14. 21. 9 The conclusion, which Paul concludeth in his owne person, that he might not seeme to exact that of other, which hee will not be first subiect vnto himselfe. I had rather (saith hee) abstaine for euer from all kinde of flesh, then giue occasion of sinne to any of my brethren, much lesse would I refuse in any certaine place or time for my brothers sake not to eate flesh offered to idoles.

CHAP. IX.

1 Hee declareth, that from the libertie which the Lord gaue him 15 hee willingly abstained. 18. 22 lest in things indifferent he should offend any. 24 He sheweth that our life is like vnto a race.

AM I not an Apostle? am I not free? [2] haue I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not my worke [a] in the Lord?

2 If I be not an Apostle vnto other, yet doubtlesse I am vnto you: for ye are the [b] seale of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

3 [3] My defence to them that [c] examine mee, is this,

4 [4] Haue we not power to [d] eate & to drinke?

5 Or haue we not power to leade about a wife being a [e] sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Or I only and Barnabas, haue not we power [f] not to worke?

7 [5] Who [g] goeth a warfare any time at his owne cost? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruit thereof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 [6] Say I these things [h] according to man? saith not the Law the same also?

9 For it is written in the Lawe of Moses, ∴ Thou shalt not muzzell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for [i] oxen?

10 Either sayth hee it not altogether for our sakes? for our sakes no doubt it is written, that hee which eareth, should eare in hope, and that he that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

1 Before he proceedeth any further in his proposed matter of things offered to idoles, he would shewe the cause of all this mischiefe, and also take it away: to wit, that the Corinthians thought themselues not bound to depart from a iote of their libertie for any mans pleasure: therefore he propoundeth himselfe for an example, and that in a matter almost necessarie. And yet hee speaketh seuerally of both, but first of his owne person. If (sayth he) you acleadge for your selues that you are free, and therefore will vse your libertie, am I not also free, seeing I am an Apostle?

2 He proueth his Apostleship by the effects, in that that he was appointed of Christ himselfe, and the authoritie of his function was sufficiently confirmed to him amongst them by their conuersion. And all these things he setteth before their eyes, to make them ashamed for that they would not in the least wise that might be, debase themselues for the weakes sake, whereas the Apostle himselfe did all that he could to winne them to God when they were vtterly reprobate and without God. a By the Lord. b As a seale whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the author of my Apostleship. 3 Hee addeth this by the way, as if he would say, So farre it is off, that you may doubt of my Apostleship, that I vse to refute them which call it into controuersie, by opposing those things which the Lord hath done by me amongst you. c Which I do iustly examine me and my doings. 4 Now touching the matter it selfe, he sayth, Seeing that I am free, and truely an Apostle, why may not I (I say not, eate of all things offered to idoles, but) be maintained by my labours, yea & keepe my wife also, as the residue of the Apostles lawfully doe, as by name, Iohn and Iames, the Lords cousins, and Peter himselfe? d Vpon the expense of the Church. e One that is a Christian and a true beleeuer? f Not to liue by the worke of our hands? 5 That hee may not seeme to burden the Apostles, he sheweth that it is iust that they doe by an argument of comparison, seeing that souldiers liue by their wages, and husbandmen by the fruites of their labours, and shepheards by that that commeth of their flockes. g Vseth to goe a warfare? 6 Secondly hee bringeth foorth the authoritie of Gods institution by an argument of comparison. h Haue I no better ground then the common custome of men? ∴ Deu. 25. 4. 1. Tim. 5. 18. i Was it God's proper drift to prouide for oxen, when hee made this Lawe? for otherwise there is not the smallest thing in the world, but God hath a care of it.

✣ Rom.15.27.
7 An assumption of the arguments with an amplification, for neither in so doing do we require a reward answerable vnto our deserts.
8 An other argument of great force: other are nourished amongst you, therefore it was lawfull for me, yea rather for me then any other: and yet I refused it, and had rather still suffer any discommoditie, then the Gospel of Christ should be hindered.
k The word signifieth a right and interest, whereby he giueth vs to vnderstand that the ministers of the word must of right and dutie be found of the Church.
9 Last of all hee bringeth forth the expresse Law concerning the nourishing of the Leuites: which priuiledge notwithstanding he will not vse.
✣ Deut.18.1.
l Thus is spoken by the figure Metonymie, for, of those things that are offred in the temple.
m Are partakers with the altar in dividing the sacrifice.
n Because they preach the Gospel. It followeth by this place, that Paul gate no liuing, neither would haue any other man get, by any common title of maisee, or any other such superstitious trumperies.

11 ✣ 7 If wee haue sowen vnto you spirituall things, is it a great thing if we reape your carnall thing?
12 8 If others with you k be partakers of this k power, are not we rather? neuertheless, wee haue not vsed this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.
13 9 Doe ye not knowe, that they which minister about the ✣ holy things, eate of the l things of the Temple? and they which waite at the altar, are m partakers with the altar?
14 So also hath the Lord ordeined, that they which preach ỹ Gospel, should liue n of ỹ Gospel.
15 But I haue vsed none of these things: 10 neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done vnto mee: for it were better for mee to die, then ỹ any man should make my reioycing vaine.
16 For though I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for necessitie is laid vpon me, and woe is vnto me, if I preach not the Gospel.
17 For if I doe it willingly, I haue a reward, but if I doe it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed vnto me.
18 What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ free, that I abuse not mine authority in ỹ Gospel.
19 For though I be free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I may winne the moe.
20 ∵ And vnto the Iewes, I become as a Iewe, that I may winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the P Law, as though I were vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Law:
21 To them that are without Law, as though I were without Law, (when I am not without Law as pertaining to God, but am in the Law through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Law:
22 To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to q all men, that I might by all meanes saue some.
23 And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof with r you.
24 11 Know yee not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiueth the price? so runne that ye may obtaine.
25 And euery man that prooueth masteries, s abstaineth from all things: and they doe it to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but wee for an vncorruptible.
26 I therefore so runne, not as vncertainely: so fight I, not as one that beateth the ayre.
27 But I beate downe my t body, and bring it into subiection, least by any meanes after that I haue preached to other, I my selfe should be u reprooued.

o Paul speaketh thus in respect of the couenant, and not in respect of the persons, sauing in generall. ✣ Exod.13.21. numb.9.18. ✣ 2.cor.11.22. 2 In effect the Sacraments of the old fathers were all one with ours, for they respected Christ onely who offered himselfe vnto them in diuers shadowes. b All of them were baptized with the outward signe, but not in deede, wherewith God cannot be charged, but they themselues. c Moses being their guide. ∵ Exodus 16.15. d The same that wee doe. e Manna, which was a spirituall meate to the beleeuers, which in faith lay holde vpon Christ who is the true meate. ✣ Exod.17.6. numb.20.10, and 21.16. f Of the riuer and running Rocke, which followed the people. g Did sacramentally signifie Christ, so that together with the signe, there was the thing signified, and the meeth it selfe: for God doeth not offer a bare signe, but the thing signified by the signe, together with it, which is to be receiued with faith. ✣ Numb.26.65. 3 An amplifying of the example against them which are caried away with their lustes beyond the bounds which God hath measured out. For this is the beginning of all euil, as of idolatry (which hath gluttonie a companion vnto it) fornication, rebelling against Christ, murmuring, and such like, which God punished most sharpely in that olde people, to the end that we which succeed them, & haue a more full declaration of the will of God, might by that meanes take better heed. h Some reade, figures: which signified our sacramentes: for circumcision was to the Iewes a seale of righteousnesse, and to vs a liuely paterne of Baptisme, and so in the other Sacraments. * Num.11.4. and 26.65. psal. 106.14. ✣ Exod.32.6. ✣ Numb.25.9. 1 To tempt Christ, is to prouoke him to a combate as it were, which those men doe, who abuse the knowledge that hee hath giuen them, and make it to serue for a cloke for their lustes and wickednesse. ∵ Numb 21.6. psal 106.14. ✣ Num.21.37 iudg.8.23. k This our age is called the ende, for it is the shutting vp of all ages. 4 In conclusion, he descendeth to the Corinthians themselues, warning them that they please not themselues, but rather that they preuent the subtilities of Satã. Yet he vseth an insinuation, & comforteth them, that he may not seeme to make them altogether like to those wicked idolatres: & contemners of Christ which perished in the wilderneſſe. l Which commeth of weaknesse.

10 Hee taketh away occasion of suspicion by the way, that it might not be thought that he wrote this as though hee chalenged his wages that was not payed him. Nay saith he, I had rather die, then not continue in this purpose to preach the Gospel freely. For I am bound to preach the Gospel, seeing that the Lorde hath inioyned mee this office: but vnlesse I doe it willingly, and for the loue of God, nothing is to be allowed that I doe. If I had rather that the Gospel should be euill spoken of, then that I should not require my wages, then would it appeare that I tooke these paines not so much for the Gospels sake, as for my gaines and aduantages. But I say, this were not to vse, but abuse my tight and libertie. Therefore not onely in this thing, but also in all other (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might winne them to Christ, and might together with them be wonne to Christ. o By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it. ∵ Act 18.3. galat.2. p The word (Law) in this place, must be restrained to the ceremoniall Law. q In matters that are indifferent, which may be done or not done with a good conscience: as if he said, I changed my selfe into all fashions, that by all meanes I might saue some. r That both I and they to whom I preach the Gospell may receiue fruite by the Gospel. 11 He bringeth in another cause of this mischief, to wit, that they were giuen to gluttonie, for there were solemne bankets of sacrifices, and the riot of the Priestes was alwayes too much celebrated and kept. Therefore it was hard for them which were accustomed to riotousnesse, especially when they pretended the libertie of the Gospel, to be restrained from these bankets: but contrariwise, the Apostle calleth them by a pleasant similitude, & also by his owne example, to sobrietie and mortification of the flesh, shewing that they can not be fit to runne or wrestle (as then the games of Isthmies were) which pamper vp their bodies, and therefore affirming that they can haue no reward, vnlesse they take another course and trade of life. s With a most exquisite diet.

CHAP. X.

1 If God spared not the Iewes, neither will he spare those who are of like condition, 3. 4 touching the outward signes of his grace. 14 That it is absurd, that such should be partakers of the thetable of deuils, who are partakers of the Lords Supper. 24 to haue consideration of our neighbour in things indifferens.

MOreouer, 1 brethren, I would not that yee should be ignorant, that all our a fathers were vnder ✣ that cloude, and all passed through that ✣ sea,
2 2 And were all b baptized vnto c Moses, in that cloude, and in that sea,
3 ∵ And did all eat the d same spirituall e meat,
4 ✣ And did all drinke the same spirituall drinke (for they dranke of the spirituall Rocke that f followed them: and the Rocke was g Christ)
5 But with many of them God was not pleased: for they were ✣ ouerthrowen in ỹ wildernesse.
6 3 Now these things are our h ensamples, to the intent that we should not lust after euil things * as they also lusted.
7 Neither be yee idolaters as were some of them, as it is written, ✣ The people sate downe to eate and drinke, and rose vp to play.
8 Neither let vs commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and fell in one ✣ day three and twentie thousand.
9 Neither let vs tempt i Christ, as some of them also tempted him, and ∵ were destroyed of serpents.
10 Neither murmure ye as some of them: also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer.
11 Now all these things came vnto them for ensamples, and were written to admonish vs vpon whom the k endes of the world are come.
12 4 Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth, take heede lest he fall.
13 There hath no tentation taken you, but such as appertaineth to l man and God is faithful,

1 The olde man which striueth against the Spirit.
m This word (Reproued) is not set as contrary to the word (Approoued) whom we see one by experience not to be such an one as he ought to be.

1 He setteth out that which he said, laying before them an example of the horrible iudgement of God against the which had in effect the selfe same pledges, of the same adoption and saluation that we haue: and yet notwithstanding when they gaue themselues to idoles feastes, perished in the wildernesse, being horribly and miserably punished. Nowe moreouer and besides that these things are fitly spoken against them which frequented idoles feastes, the same also seeme to be alleadged to this ende and purpose, because many men are thus minded, that those things are not of such great weight, that God will be angrie with them, if they vse them, so that they frequent Christian assemblies and be baptized, and receiue the Communion, and confesse Christ.

which will not suffer you to bee tempted aboue that you be able, but wil euen [m] giue the issue with the tentation, that ye may be able to beare it.

14 Wherfore my beloued, flee from idolatry.

15 I speake as vnto them which haue vnderstanding: iudge ye what I say.

16 The cup of [n] blessing which we blesse, is it not the [o] communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we breake, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

17 For we that are many, are one bread and one body, because wee all are partakers of one bread.

18 Behold Israel, which is after the [p] flesh: are not they which eate of the sacrifices [q] partakers of the altar?

19 What say I then? that the idole is any thing? or that that which is sacrificed to idoles, is any thing?

20 Nay, but that these things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to deuils, and not vnto God: and I would not that yee should haue [r] fellowship with the deuils.

21 Ye cannot drinke the cup of the Lord, and the [s] cup of the deuils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lords table, and of the table of the deuils.

22 Doe we prouoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger then he?

23 ✣ [6 t] All things are lawfull for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawfull for me, but all things edifie not.

24 Let no man seeke his owne, but euery man anothers wealth.

25 [7] Whatsoeuer is sold in the [u] shambels, eate ye, and aske no question for conscience sake.

26 ✣ For the earth is the Lords, and [x] all that therein is.

27 If any of them which beleeue not, call you to a feast, and if ye will goe, whatsoeuer is set before you, eate, asking no question for conscience sake.

28 But if any man say vnto you, This is sacrificed vnto idoles, eate it not, because of him that shewed it, and for the conscience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is)

29 And the conscience, I say, not thine, but of that other: [8] for why should my libertie be condemned of another mans conscience?

30 For if I through Gods [y] benefite be partaker, why am I euill spoken of, for that wherefore I giue thankes?

31 ✣ [9] Whether therefore ye eate, or drinke, or whatsoeuer ye doe, doe al to the glory of God.

32 Giue none offence, neither to the Iewes, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God:

33 Euen as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine owne profite, but the profite of many, that they [z] might be saued.

[m] He that would haue you tempted for your profites sake, will giue you an issue to escape out of the tentation.

[n] Now returning to those idoles feastes, that hee may not seeme to dally at all, first he promiseth that he will vse no other reason, then such as they knew very well themselues. And he vseth an induction borowed of the agreement that is in the things themselues. The holy baskets of the Christians are pledges, first of all, of the communitie that they haue with Christ, and next, with another. The Israelites also doe ratifie in their sacrifices, their mutuall coniunction in one selfe same religion: therefore so doe the idolaters also ioyne themselues with their idoles or deuils rather (for idoles are nothing) in those solemne baskets: whereupon it followeth, that that table is a table of deuils, and therefore you must eschewe it: For you cannot be partakers of the Lord and of idoles together, much lesse may such baskets be accompted for things indifferent. Will ye then striue with God? and if you doe, thinke you that you shall get the vpper hand? [o] Of thankesgiuing: whereupon, that holy banket was called Eucharist, that is, a thankesgiuing. [p] A most effectuall pledge and note of our knitting together with Christ, and ingrafting to him. [q] That is, as yee obserue their ceremonies. [r] Are consenting and guiltie, both of that worship and sacrifice. [s] Haue any thing to doe with the deuils, or enter into that societie which is begunne on the deuils name. [t] The heathen and prophane people were wont to shut vp and make an ende of their feastes, which they kept to the honour of their gods, in offering meate offrings and drinke offrings to them, with baskets and feastings. ✣ Chap. 6. 12. [u] Comming to any her kinde of things offered to idoles, he repeateth that generall rule, that in the vse of things indifferent wee ought to haue consideration not of our selues onely, but of our neighbours, and therefore there are many things which of themselues are lawfull, which may be euill done of vs, because of offence to our neighbour. [x] Looke afore, Chap. 6. 13. [7] An applying of the rule to the present matter: Whatsoeuer is solde in the shambles, you may indifferently buy it as it were at the Lordes hand, and eate it either at home with the faithfull, or being called home to the vnfaithfull, to wit, in a priuate banket: but yet with this exception, vnlesse any man be present which is weake, whose conscience may be offended by setting meates offered to idoles before them: for then you ought to haue consideration to their weakenesse. [y] The flesh that was sacrificed, was vsed to be solde in the shambles, and the price returned to the Priestes. ✣ Psal 24. 1. [z] All those things whereof it is full. [8] A reason: for wee must take heede that our libertie be not euill spoken of, and that the benefite of God which we ought to vse with thanksgiuing be not changed into impietie, and that through our fault, if we chuse rather to offend the conscience of the weake, then to yeelde a litle of our libertie in a matter of no importance, and so giue occasion to the weake to iudge in such sort of vs, and of Christian libertie. And the Apostle taketh these things vpon his owne person, that the Corinthians may haue so much the lesse occasion to oppose any thing against him.

[y] If I may through Gods benefite eate the meate, or that meate, why should I through my fault, cause that benefite of God to turne to my blame? ✣ Colos 3. 17.

[9] The conclusion. We must order our liues in such sort, that we seeke not our selues, but Gods glory, and so the saluation of as many as we may: wherein the Apostle sticketh not to propound himselfe to the Corinthians (euen his owne flocke) as an example, but so that hee calleth them backe to Christ, vnto whom he himselfe hath regard.

CHAP. XI.

1 He blameth the Corinthians for theis in their holy assemblies, 4 men doe pray hauing their heads couered, 6 and women bare headed, and because their meetings tended to euill, 21 who mingled prophane baskets with the holy Supper of the Lord, 23 which hee requireth to be celebrated according to Christes institution.

BE ✣ yee followers of mee, euen as I am of Christ.

✣ 2. Thess. 3. 9.

2 [1] Nowe brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.

[1] The fifte treasise of this epistle concerning the right ordering of publike assemblies, conteining three poynts, to wit, of the comely apparel of men and women, of the order of the Lords Supper, and of the right vse of spirituall gifts. But going about to reprehend certaine things, he beginneth notwithstanding with a generall praise of them, calling those particular lawes of comelinesse and honestie, which belong to the Ecclesiasticall pollicie, traditions: which afterward they called Canons.

3 [2] But I will that ye knowe, that Christ is the [a] head of euery man: and the man is the womans head: and God is [a] Christs head.

[2] Hee setteth downe God, in Christ our mediatour, for the ende

4 [3] Euery [b] man praying or propheeying hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.

[3] Euery man praying or propheeying hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.

5 [4] But euery woman that prayeth or propheeieth bare headed, dishonoureth her head: for it is euen one very thing, as though she were shauen.

[4] But euery woman that prayeth or propheeieth bare headed, dishonoureth her head: for it is euen one very thing, as though she were shauen.

6 Therefore if the woman be not couered, let her also be shorne: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her be couered.

7 [6] For a man ought not to couer his head: for as much as hee is the ✣ image and glory of God: but the woman is the glory of the man.

8 [7] For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 ✣ [8] For the man was not created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mans sake.

10 [9] Therefore ought the woman to haue [c] power on her head, because of the [10] Angels, and marke not onely of doctrine, but also of Ecclesiasticall comelinesse. Then applying to the question proposed touching the comely apparell both of men and women in publike assemblies, hee declareth that the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is so subiect to Christ, that the glory of God ought to appeare in him for the preeminence of the sexe. ✣ Ephes. 5. 23. [a] In that, that Christ is our mediatour. 3 Hereof he gathereth that if men doe either pray or preach in publike assemblies hauing their heads couered (which was then a signe of subiection) they did as it were spoyle themselues of their dignitie against Gods ordinance. [b] It appeareth that this was a politike Lawe seruing onely for the circumstances of the time that Paul liued in, by this reason, because in these our dayes for a man to speake bareheaded in an assemblie, is a signe of subiection. 4 And in like sort hee concludeth that women which shew themselues in publike and ecclesiasticall assemblies without the signe and token of their subiection, that is to say, vncouered, shame themselues. 5 The first argument taken from the common sense of man, for so much as nature teacheth women, that it is dishonest for them to come abroad bare headed, seeing that shee hath giuen them thicke and long haire, which they doe so diligently trimme and decke, that they can in no wise abide to haue it shauen. 6 The taking away of an obiection: Haue not men also haire giuen them? I graunt saith the Apostle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this end & purpose, that the glory of God should appeare in his role and authoritie: but the woman was made, that by profession of her obedience, she might more honour her husband. ✣ Gen. 1. 26. and 5. 1. and 9. 6. colos. 3. 10. 7 He proueth the inequalitie of the woman, by that, that the man is the matter whereof woman was first made. ✣ Gen. 2. 22. 8 Secondly, by that that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the womans sake. 9 The conclusion: Women must be couered, to shew by this externall signe, their subiection. [c] A couering which is a token of subiection. 10 What this meaneth, I doe not yet vnderstand.

11 A digression which the Apostle vseth, least that which hee spake of the superioritie of men, and lower degree of women in consideration of the pollicie of the Church, should be so taken as though there were no measure of this inequalitie. Therefore hee teacheth that men haue in such sort the preeminence, that God made them not alone, but women also: and woman was so made of man, that men also are borne by the meanes of women. and this ought to put them in minde to obserue the degree of euery sexe in such sort, that mutuall coniunction may bee cherished.

11 11 Neuertheleſſe, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man a in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, ſo is the man alſo by the woman: but all things are of God.

13 12 Iudge in your ſelues, Is it comely that a woman pray vnto God vncouered?

14 Doeth not nature it ſelfe teach you, that if a man haue long haire, it is a ſhame vnto him?

15 But if a woman haue long haire, it is a prayſe vnto her: for her haire is giuen her for a e couering.

16 13 But if any man luſt to be contentious, we haue no ſuch cuſtome, neither the Churches of God.

17 ¶ 14 Now in this that I declare, I praiſe you not, that yee come together, not with profite, but with hurt.

18 15 For firſt of all, when yee come together in the Church, I heare that there are diſſentions among you: and I beleeue it to be true in ſome part.

19 16 For there muſt be hereſies euen among you, that they which are f approoued among you, might be knowen.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is g not to eate the Lords Supper.

21 For euery man when they ſhould eate, taketh his owne ſupper h afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 17 Haue ye not houſes to eate and to drinke in? deſpiſe ye the Church of God, and ſhame them that haue not? what ſhall I ſay to you? ſhall I prayſe you in this? I prayſe you not.

23 18 For I haue receiued of the Lord that which I alſo haue deliuered vnto you, to wit, That the Lord Ieſus in the night when he was betraied, tooke bread:

24 ✣ And when hee had giuen thankes, hee brake it, and ſayd, Take, eate: this is my body, which is i broken for you: this doe ye in remembrance of me.

25 After the ſame maner alſo he tooke the cup, when he had ſupped, ſaying, This cup is the Newe Teſtament in my blood: this doe as oft as yee drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as yee ſhall eate this bread, and drinke this cuppe, yee ſhewe the Lords death till he come.

27 19 Wherefore, Whoſoeuer ſhall eate this bread, and drinke the cuppe of the Lord k vnworthily, ſhalbe guiltie of the body and blood of the Lord.

28 ✣ 20 Let l euery man therefore examine himſelfe, and ſo let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh vnworthily, eateth and drinketh his owne damnation, because he m diſcerneth not the Lords body.

30 21 For this cauſe many are weake, and ſicke among you, and many ſleepe.

31 For if wee would n iudge our ſelues, we ſhould not be iudged.

32 But when we are iudged, we are chaſtened of the Lord, becauſe we ſhould not be condemned with the world.

33 22 Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eate, tary one for another.

34 23 And if any man bee hungry, let him eate at home, that yee come not together vnto condemnation. 24 Other things will I ſet in order when I come.

19 Whoſoeuer contemne the holy Sacraments, that is, vſe them not aright, are guiltie not of the bread and wine, but of the thing it ſelfe that is, of Chriſt, and ſhalbe grieuouſly punished for it.

k Otherwiſe then mette vſ ſuch myſteries ſhould be handled.

✣ 2.Cor.13.5.

20 The examination of a mans ſelfe, is of neceſſitie required in the Supper, and therefore they ought not to be admitted vnto it, which can not examine themſelues: as children, furious and madde men, alſo ſuch as either haue a By the Lord.

12 He vrgeth the argument taken from the common ſenſe of nature.

e To be a couering for her, and ſuch a couering, as ſhould procure another.

13 Againſt ſuch as are ſtubburnly contentious, we haue to oppoſe this, that the Churches of God are not contentious.

14 Hee paſſeth nowe to the next treatiſe concerning the right adminiſtration of the Lords Supper. And the Apoſtle vſeth this ſharper preface, that the Corinthians might vnderſtand, that whereas they obſerued generally the Apoſtles commandements, yet they ſonly neglected them in a matter of greateſt importance.

15 To celebrate the Lordes Supper aright, it is requiſite that there be not onely conſent of doctrine, but alſo of affections, that it be not prophaned. 16 Although that ſchiſmes and hereſies proceede from the deuill, and are euill, yet they come not by chance, nor without cauſe, and they turne to the profite of the elect. f Whome experience hath taught to bee of ſound religion and godlineſſe. g This is an vſuall kinde of ſpeech, whereby the Apoſtle denieth that ſtatly, which many did not well. h Eateth his meate and tarieth not till other come. 17 The Apoſtle thinketh it good to take away the loue feaſts for their abuſe, although they had bene a long time, and with commandation vſed in Churches, and were appointed and inſtituted by the Apoſtles. 18 We muſt take a true forme of keeping the Lords Supper, out of the inſtitution of it, the partes whereof are theſe, touching the Paſtours, to ſhew forth the Lords death, by preaching his word: to bleſſe the bread and the wine by calling vpon the Name of God, and together with prayers to declare the inſtitution thereof, and finally to deliuer the bread broken to be eaten, and the cup receiued to be dronke with thankeſgiuing. And touching the flocke, that euery man examine himſelfe, that is to ſay, to prooue both his knowledge, and alſo faith, and repentance: to ſhewe foorth the Lordes death, that is, in true faith to yeelde vnto his word and inſtitution: and laſt of all, to take the bread at the Miniſters hand, and to eate it and to drinke the wine, and giue God thanks: This was Pauls and the Apoſtles maner of miniſtring. ✣ Mat. 26.16. Mar.14.22. Luke 22.19. i This word (Broken) notethnot vnto vs Chriſt his maner of death: for although his legges were not broken, as thoſe beaſts legges were, yet was his body very ſore tormented, and torne, and bruiſed.

no knowledge of Chriſt, or not ſufficient, although they religion: and others ſuch like. l Thus place beateth downe the faith of credite, or vnwrapped faith which the Papiſts maintaine. m Hee ſayde to diſcerne the Lordes body, that hath conſideration of the worthineſſe of it, and therefore commeth to eate of this meate with great reuerence. 21 The prophaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his myſteries, is ſharpely punished of him, and therefore ſuch a miſchiefe ought diligently to be preuented by iudging and correcting of a mans ſelfe. n Trie and examine our ſelues, by faith and repentance, ſeparating our ſelues from the wicked. 22 The Supper of the Lord is a common action of the Church, and therefore there is no place for priuate ſuppers. 23 The Supper of the Lord was inſtituted not to feede the belly, but to feede the ſoule with the communion of Chriſt, and therefore it ought to be ſeparate from common bankets. 24 Such things as pertaine to order, as place, time, forme of prayers, and other ſuch like, the Apoſtle tooke order for in Congregations, according to the conſideration of times, places, and perſons.

CHAP. XII.

1 To draw away the Corinthians from contention and pride, he ſheweth that ſpirituall gifts are therefore diuerſly beſtowed, 7 that the ſame being ioynly to eche other imployed, 12 we may growe vp together into one body of Chriſt in ſuch equall proportion of meaſure, 20 as the members of mans body doe.

1 NOwe a concerning ſpirituall giftes, brethren, I would not haue you a ignorant.

2 2 Yee knowe that ye were b Gentiles, and were caried away vnto the dumme Idoles, as yee were led.

3 3 Wherefore, I declare vnto you, that no man ✣ ſpeaking by the Spirit of God, calleth Ieſus c execrable: alſo no man can ſay that Ieſus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghoſt.

4 4 Now there are diuerſities of gifts, but the d ſame Spirit.

5 And there are diuerſities of adminiſtrations, but the ſame Lord.

6 And there are diuerſities of e operations, but

1 Now he entreth into the third part of this treatiſe, touching the right vſe of ſpirituall giftes, wherein he giueth the Corinthians plainely to vnderſtand, that they abuſed them: for they that excelled, bragged ambitiouſly of them, and ſo robbed God of the praiſe of his giftes: and hauing no conſideration of their brethren abuſed them for a vaine oſtentation, and ſo robbed the Church of the vſe of thoſe giftes. On the other ſide, the inferiour ſort enuied the better, and went about to make a departure, ſo that all that body was as it were ſcattered and rent in peeces. So then he going about to remedie theſe abuſes, willeth them firſt to conſider diligently, that they haue not theſe giftes of themſelues, but from the free grace and liberalitie of God, to whoſe glory they ought to beſtowe them all. a Ignorant to what purpoſe the giftes are giuen you. 2 Hee prooueth the ſame by comparing their former ſtate with that wherein they were at this time indued with thoſe excellent gifies. b As touching Gods ſeruice and the couenant, were ſtrangers. 3 The concluſion: Knowe you therefore, that you cannot ſo much as mooue your lippes to honour Chriſt withall, but by the grace of the holy Ghoſt. ✣ Mar.9.31. ∴ Iohn 13.13. chap.8.6. philip.2.11. c Doth curſe him, or by any meanes whatſoeuer diminiſh his glory. 4 In the ſecond place, he layeth another foundation, to wit, that theſe giftes are diuers, as the functions alſo are diuers, and their offices diuers, but that one ſelfe ſame Spirit, Lord and God is the giuer of all theſe giftes, and that to one ende, to wit, for the profite of all. d The Spirit is plainely diſtinguiſhed from the giftes. e So Paul calleth that inward force which commeth from the holy Ghoſt, and maketh men fit to wonderfull things.

God is the same which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is f giuen to euery man, to g profit withall.

8 5 For to one is giuen by the Spirit the word of h wisdome: and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:

9 And to another is giuen faith by the same Spirit:

10 And to another the i operations of great works: and to another, k prophesie: and to another, the l discerning of spirits: and to another, diuersities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 ✣ And all these things worketh one and the selfe same Spirit, distributing to euery man seuerally m as he will.

12 7 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they be many, yet are but one body: n euen so is o Christ.

13 For by one Spirit are wee all baptized into p one body, whether we be Iewes, or Grecians, whether we be bond, or free, and haue bene all made to o drinke into one Spirit.

14 9 For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 10 If the foot would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 11 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But nowe hath God disposed the members euery one of them in the body at his owne pleasure.

19 For if they were all one member, where were the body?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 12 And the eye can not say vnto the hand, I haue no need of thee: nor the head againe to the feet, I haue no need of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seeme to be more feeble, are necessarie.

23 And vpon those members of the body, which we thinke most vnhoneſt, put we more q honestie on: and our vncomely partes haue more comelinesse on.

24 For our comely partes neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together, and hath giuen the more honour to that part which lacked,

25 Lest there should be any diuision in the body: but that the members should haue the same r care one for another.

26 13 Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Now ye are the body of Christ, and members for your part.

28 ✣ And God hath ordeined some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, s helpers, t gouernours, diuersitie of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing? doe all speake with tongues? doe all interpret?

31 14 But desire you the best giftes, and I will yet shew you a more excellent way.

---

f The holy Ghost openeth and sheweth himselfe freely in giuing of these gifts.

g To the vse and benefit of the Church.

5 Hee declareth this s manifolde diuersitie, and reckoning vp the chiefest gifts, beating that into their heads, which he sayd before, to wit, that all these things proceeded from one selfe same Spirit.

h Wisedome is a most excellent gift, very requisit, not onely for them which teach, but also for them that exhort and comfort, which thing is proper to the Pastors offices: as the word of knowledge agreeth to the Doctours.

i By operation he meaneth those great workings of Gods mighty power, which passe and excell amongest his miracles, as the deliuerie of the people Israel by the hand of Moses: that which hee did by Elias against the Priestes of Baal, in sending downe fire from heauen to consume his sacrifice: and that which he did by Peter in the matter of Ananias and Saphyra.

k Foretelling of things to come. l Whereby false prophets are knowen from true, wherein Peter passed Philip in discouering Simon Magus, Actes 8. 20.

✣ Rom. 12. 3. ephes. 4. 7.

6 Hee addeth moreouer something else, to wit, that although that these giftes are vnequall, yet they are most wisely diuided, because the will of the Spirit of God is the rule of this distribution.

7 Hee setteth foorth his former saying by a similitude taken from the bodies This sayeth hee, is manifestly seene in the body, whose members are diuers, but yet so knit together, that they make but one body. 8 The applying of the similitude. So must wee also thinke, sayeth hee, of the mysticall body of Christ: for all wee that beleeue, whether wee be Iewes or Gentiles, are by one selfe same Baptisme ioyned together with our head, that by that meanes, there may be framed one body compact of many members: and wee haue drunke one selfe same spirit, that is to say, a spirituall feeling, perseuerance and motion common to vs all, ont of one cuppe.

m Christ ioyned together with his Church.

n To become one body with Christ.

o By our quickening drinke of the Lords blood, wee are made partakers of his onely Spirit.

9 He amplifieth that which followed of the similitude: as if hee should say, The vnitie of the body is not onely not let by this diuersitie of members, but also it could not be a body, if it did not consist of many, and those were diuers members. 10 Nowe hee buildeth his doctrine vpon the foundations which hee had laied: and first of all hee continueth in his purposed similitude, and afterward hee goeth to the matter barely and simply. And first of all hee speaketh vnto them which would haue separated themselues from those whome they enuied, because they had not such excellent giftes as they: now this is, sayeth hee, as if the foot should say it were not of the body, because it is not the hand; or the eare, because it is not the eye. Therefore, all parres ought rather to defend the vnitie of the body, being coupled together to serue one the other. 11 Againe, speaking to them, hee sheweth them that if that shoulde come to passe which they desire, to wit, that all should be equall one to another, there would follow a destruction of the whole body, ye, and of themselues: for it could not be a body, vnlesse it were made of many members knitte together, and diuers one from the other. And that no man might finde fault with this diuision as vnequall, hee addeth that God himselfe hath coupled all these together. Therefore all must remaine coupled together, that the body may remaine in safetie.

12 Nowe on the other side, he speaketh vnto them, which were indued with more excellent giftes, willing them not to despise the inferiours as vnprofitable, and as though they serued to no vse for God, sayeth hee, hath in such sort tempered this inequalitie, that the more excellent and beautifull members can in no wise lacke the more abiect and such as wee are ashamed of, and that they should haue more care to see vnto them and to couer them: that by this meanes the necessitie which is on both parts, might keepe the whole body in peace and concord: that al though if each part be considered apart, they are of diuers degrees and conditions, yet because they are ioyned together, they haue a communitie both in commodities and discommodities.

p Of the smallest and vilest offices, and therefore smally accounted of, of the rest.

q Wee more carefully couer them.

r Should bestow their operations and offices to the profit and preseruation of the whole body.

13 Nowe hee applieth this same doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegorie, warning them that seeing there are diuers functions and diuers giftes, it is their duetie, not to offend one against another, either by enuie or ambition, but rather that they being ioyned together in loue and charitie one with another, euery one of them bestow to the profit of all, that which he hath receiued, according as his ministerie doeth require.

s For all Churches wheresoeuer they are dispersed thorow the whole world, are diuers members of one body. ✣ Ephesians 4. 11.

t The offices of Deacons.

u He setteth foorth the order of Elders, which were the maintenners of the Churches discipline.

14 Hee teacheth them that are ambitious and enuious, a certeine holy ambition and enuie, to wit, if they giue themselues to the best giftes, and such as are most profitable to the Church, and so if they contend to excell one another in loue, which farre passeth all other gifts.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He sheweth that there are no gifts so excellent, which in Gods sight are not corrupt, if Charitie be away: 4 and therefore he digresseth vnto the commendation of it.

1 THough I speake with the tongues of men and a Angels, and haue not loue, I am as sounding brasse, or a b tinkling cymbal.

2 And though I had the gift of prophesie, & knew all secrets and all knowledge, yea, if I had all c faith, so that I could remoue ✣ mountaines, and had not loue, I were nothing.

3 And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I be burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth me nothing.

1 He reasoneth first of Charitie, the excellencie whereof he first sheweth by this, that without it, all other giftes are as nothing before God: which thing he proueth partly by an induction, and partly also by an argument taken of the end, wherefore those giftes are giuen. For, to what purpose are those giftes, but to Gods glorie, and the profit of the Church, as is before prooued? so that those giftes without Charitie, haue no right vse.

a A verie earnest kinde of ambitying a matter, as if he sayd, If there were any tongues of Angels, and I had them, and did not vse them to the benefit of my neighbour, it were nothing else but a vaine and prating kinde of babbling.

b That giueth a rude and no certeine sound.

c By faith, hee meaneth the gift of doing miracles, and not that faith which iustifieth, which can not be void of Charitie as the other is.

a He describeth the force and nature of charitie, partly by a comparition of contraries, and partly by the effects of it selfe: whereby the Corinthians may vnderstand, both how profitable it is in the Church, and how necessary: and also how farre they are from it: and therefore how vainly and without cause they are proud.

4 a Loue d suffereth long: it is bountifull: loue enuieth not: loue doth not boast it selfe: it is not puffed vp:

5 It doth e no vncomely thing: it seeketh not her owne things: it is not prouoked to anger: it thinketh no euill:

6 It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but f reioyceth in the trueth:

7 It suffreth all things: it beleeueth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.

8 a Loue doth neuer fall away, though that prophesyings be abolished, or the tongues cease, or g knowledge vanish away.

9 4 For we know in h part, and we prophesie in part.

10 But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part, shalbe abolished.

11 5 When I was a childe, I spake as a childe, I vnderstood as a childe, I thought as a childe: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12 6 For i now we see thorow a glasse darkely: but then shall we see face to face. Now I know in part: but then shall I know euen as I am knowen.

13 7 And now abideth faith, hope and loue, euen these three: but the chiefest of these is loue.

d Word for word, destroyeth wrath.
e It is not contumelious.
f Reioyceth as righteousnes in the righteous. For the Hebrewes meane by truth righteousnes.
3 Againe he commendeth the excellencie of charitie, in that that it shall neuer be abolished in the Saints, whereas the other gifts which are necessarie for the building vp of the Church, so long as we liue here, shall haue no place in the world to come. g The way to get knowledge by prophesying. 4 The reason: Because we are now in that state, that wee haue need to learne dayly, and therefore we haue need of those helps, to wit, of the gift of tongues, and knowledge, and also of them that teach them. But to what purpose serue they then, when we haue obteined and gotten the full knowledge of God, which serue now but for them which are imperfit, and goe by degrees to perfection? h We learne imperfectly. 5 He setteth foorth that, that he sayd, by an excellent similitude, comparing this life to our infancie or childhood, wherein we stagger and stammer rather then speake, and thinke and vnderstand but childish things, and therefore haue need of such things as may forme and frame our tongue and minde: but when we become men, to what purpose should we desire that stammering, those childish toyes, and such like things, whereby our childehood is framed by little and little? 6 The applying of the similitude of our childehood to this present life, wherein we darkely beholde heauenly things, according to the small measure of light which is giuen vs, through the vnderstanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and ministers of the Church: of our mans age and strength, to that heauenly and eternall life, wherein when we beholde God himselfe present, and are lightened with his full and perfect light, to what purpose should we desire the voyce of man, and those worldly things which are most imperfect? But yet then, shall all the Saints be knit both with God, and betweene themselues with most feruent loue, and therefore charitie shall not be abolished but perfected, although it shall not be shewed foorth and entertained by such maner of dueties as peculiarly and onely belong to the infirmitie of this life. i All this must be vnderstood by comparison. 7 The conclusion: As if the Apostle should say, Such therefore shall be our condition then: but now wee haue three things, and they remaine sure if we be Christes; as without which, true religion cannot consist, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie. And among these, charitie is the chiefest, because it ceaseth not in the life to come as the rest doe, but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promised, and are to come, when we haue presently gotten them, to what purpose should we haue faith and hope? but yet there at length shall we truely and perfectly loue both God, and one another.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Hee commendeth the gift of prophesying: 7 and by a similitude taken of musicall instruments, 12 he teacheth the true vse of interpreting the Scriptures: 17 hee taketh away the abuse: 34 and forbiddeth women to speake in the Congregation.

2 Hee inferreth now of that, that hee spake before: Therefore seeing charitie is the chiefest of all, before all things set it before you as chiefe and principall: and so esteeme those things as most excellent, which profit the greater part of men (as prophesie, that is to say, the gift of teaching and applying the doctrine, which was contemned in respect of other gifts, although it be the chiefest and most necessarie for the Church) and not those which for a shew seeme to be marueilous, as the gifts of tongues, when a man was suddenly indued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed, and yet of it selfe was not greatly to any vse, vnlesse there were an interpreter. 4 What prophesie is, be sheweth in the third verse.

1 Follow a after loue, and couet spirituall gifts, and rather that ye may a prophesie.

2 For he that speaketh a strange b tongue, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the c spirit he speaketh secret things.

3 But he that prophesieth, speaketh vnto men to d edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

4 He that speaketh strange language, edifieth himselfe: but he that prophesieth, edifieth the e Church.

5 I would that ye all spake strange languages, but rather that ye prophesied: for greater is hee that prophesieth, then hee that speaketh diuers tongues, except he expound it, that the Church may receiue edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come vnto you speaking diuers tongues, what shall I profit you, except I speake to you, either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 3 Moreouer things without life which giue a sound, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a distinction in the soundes, how shall it be knowen what is piped or harped?

8 And also if the trumpet giue an vncerteine sound, who shall prepare himselfe to battell?

9 So likewise you, by the tongue, except yee vtter words that haue f signification, how shall it be vnderstood what is spoken? for ye shall speake in the ayre.

10 4 There are so many kindes of voyces (as it commeth to passe) in the world, and none of them is dumbe.

11 Except I know then the power of the voice, I shall be vnto him that speaketh a Barbarian, and he that g speaketh, shall be a Barbarian vnto me.

12 5 Euen so, forasmuch as ye couet spirituall gifts, seeke that ye may excell vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore, let him that speaketh a strange tongue, h pray that he may interpret.

14 6 For i if I pray in a strange toung, my k spirit prayeth: but mine vnderstanding is l without fruit.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray with the m vnderstanding also: I will sing with the spirit, but I will sing with the vnderstanding also.

16 7 Else, when thou blessest with the n spirit, how shall he that o occupieth the roome of the vnlearned, say p Amen, at thy giuing of thanks,

2 Hee reprehendeth their peruerse iudgement touching the gift of tongues. For why was it giuen? to wit, to the intent that the mysteries of God might be the better knowen to a greater sort. Thereby it is euident that prophesie, whereunto the gift of tongues ought to serue, is better then this; and therefore the Corinthians did iudge amisse, in that they made more account of the gift of tongues, then of prophesying: because forsooth the gift of tongues was a thing more to be bragged of. And hereupon followed another abuse of the gift of tongues, in that the Corinthians vsed toungs in the congregation, without an interpreter. Which thing although it might be done to some profit of him that spake them, yet the corrupted & right vse of that gift, because there came thereby no profit to the hearers: and common assemblies were instituted and appointed not for any priuate mans commoditie, but for the profit of the whole companie.

b A strange language which no man can vnderstand without an interpreter.
c By that inspiration which hee hath receiued of the Spirit, which notwithstanding he abuseth, when he speaketh mysteries which none of the company can vnderstand.
d Which may further men in the studie of godlinesse.
e The companie. 3 He setteth foorth that which he sayd by a similitude which he borroweth and taketh from instruments of musicke: which although they speake not perfitly, yet they are distinguished by their sounds, that they may be the better vsed. f That doe fully vtter the matter it selfe. g Hee prooueth that interpretation is necessarily to be ioyned with the gift of tongues, by the manifolde varietie of languages, insomuch that if one speake to another without an interpreter, it is as if he spake not. g As the Papists in all their sermons, and they that ambitiously powre out some Hebrew or Greeke words in the Pulpit before the vnlearned people, thereby to get them a name of vaine learning. 5 The conclusion: if they will excell in those spirituall gifts, as it is meet, they must seeke the profit of the Church, and therefore they must not vse the gift of tongues, vnlesse there be an interpreter to expound the strange and vnknowen tongue, whether it be himselfe that speaketh, or another interpreter. h Pray for the gift of interpretation. 6 A reason: Because it is not sufficient for vs to speake so in the Congregation, that we our selues do worship God in spirit, that is, according to the gift which we haue receiued, but we must also be vnderstood of the companie, lest that be vnprofitable to other, which we haue spoken. i If I pray, when the Church is assembled together, in a strange tongue. k The gift and inspiration which the spirit giueth me, doth his part, but onely to my selfe. l No fruit commeth to the Church by my prayers. m So that I may be vnderstood of other, and may instruct other. 7 Another reason: Seeing that the whole Congregation must agree to him that speaketh, and also witnesse this agreement how shall they giue their assent or agreement, which know not what is spoken? n Onely, without all consideration of the hearers. o He that sitteth as a priuate man. p So then one vttered the prayers, and all the company answered, Amen.

seeing he knoweth not what thou sayest?

17 For thou verely giuest thankes wel, but the other is not edified.

18 [8] I thanke my God, I speake languages more then ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speake fiue wordes with mine vnderstanding, that I might also instruct others, then ten thousand wordes in a strange tongue.

20 [9] Brethren, be not ✣children in vnderstanding, but as concerning malicious nesse be children, but in vnderstanding be of a ripe age.

21 In the [r] Lawe it is written, ✣ By men of other tongues, & by other languages wil I speake vnto this people: yet so shall they not heare me, saith the Lord.

22 [10] Wherfore strange tongues are for a signe, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: but prophecying serueth not for them that beleeue not, but for them which beleeue.

23 [11] If therefore, when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speake strange tongues, there come in they that are [s] vnlearned, or they which beleeue not, will they not say, that ye are out of your wits?

24 But if all prophecie, and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnlearned, he is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of all,

25 And so are ỹ secrets of his heart made manifest, & so he will fal downe on his face & worship God, and say plainly that God is in you in deede.

26 [12] What is to be done then, brethren? when ye come together, according as euery one of you hath a Psalme, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath reuelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done vnto edifying.

27 [13] If any man speake a strange tongue, let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interprete.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God.

29 [14] Let the Prophets speake two, or three, and let the other iudge.

30 And if any thing be reueiled to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.

31 For ye may all prophecie one by one, that all may learne, and all may haue comfort.

32 And the spirits of the Prophets are subiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all the Churches of the Saintes.

34 [15] ∴ Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake: but they ought to be subiect, as also ✲ the Law saith.

35 And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: for it is a shame for women to speake in the Church.

36 [16] Came the word of God out from you? either came it vnto you onely?

37 If any man thinke himselfe to bee a Prophet, or [u] spirituall, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write vnto you, are the commandements of the Lord.

38 [17] And if any man be ignorant, let him bee ignorant.

39 [18] Wherefore, brethren, couet to prophecie, and forbid not to speake languages.

40 Let all things be done honestly, and by order.

8 He propoundeth himselfe for an example, both that they may be ashamed of their foolish ambition, and also that he may eschew all suspicion of enuie.

9 A very fewe wordes.

9 Now he reproueth them freely for their childish folly, which see not how this gift of tongues which was giuen to the profite of the Church, is turned by their ambition into an instrument of curfing, seeing that this same also is conteined amongst the punishments wherewith God punished the stubburnes of his people, that he dispersed them amongst strangers whose language they vnderstood not.

✣ Matth.28.3.

10 By the Law he vnderstandeth all the whole Scripture.

✣ Isa.28.11.

10 The conclusion: Therefore the gift of tongues serueth to punish the vnfaithfull and vnbeleeuers, vnlesse it be referred to prophecie (that is to say, to the interpretation of Scripture) and that that which is spoken, be by that meanes vnderstood of the hearers.

11 Another argument: The gift of tongues without prophecie is not onely vnprofitable to the faithfull but also doeth very much hurt as well to them as to the vnfaithfull which should be wonne in the publike assemblies. For by this meanes it commeth to passe, that the faithfull seeme to other to bee madde, much lesse can the vnfaithfull be instructed thereby. f Looke Acts 4.13.

12 The conclusion: The edifying of the Congregation is a rule and square of the right vse of all spiritual gifts. 13 The maner howe to vse the gift of tongues. It may be lawfull for one or two, or at the most for three, to vse the gift of tongues, one after another in an assemblie, so that there be some to expound the same: but if there be none to expound, let him that hath that gift, speake to him selfe alone. 14 The maner of prophecying: Let two or three propound, and let the other iudge of that that is propounded, whether it be agreeable to the word of God or no: If in this examination the Lord giue any man ought to speake, let them giue him leaue to speake. Let euery man be admitted to prophecie, seuerally and in his order, so farre foorth as it is requisite for the edifying of the Church: Let them be content to be subiect eche to others iudgement. s The doctrine which the Prophets bring, which are inspired with Gods Spirit. 15 Women are commanded to be silent in publique assemblies, and they are commanded to aske of their husbandes at home. ✣ 1.Tim.2.12. ✲ Gen.3.16.

16 A generall conclusion of the treatise of the right vse of spirituall giftes in assemblies: with a sharpe reprehension, least the Corinthians might alone seeme to themselues to be wise.

u Skilfull in knowing and iudging spirituall things.

17 The Church ought not to care for such as be stubburnely ignorant, and will not abide to be taught, but to goe forwarde notwithstanding, in those things which are right.

18 Prophecie ought simplie to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to be forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Gospel that Paul preached. 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul saw Christ. 9 Hee had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward he was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose againe, and we all shall rise by him. 26 The last enemie death. 29 To be baptized for dead. 32 At Ephesus Paul fought with beastes. 35 How the dead are raised. 45 *The first Adam. MOreouer [1] ✣ brethren, I declare vnto you the Gospel, which I preached vnto you, which ye haue also receiued, and wherein yee [a] continue,

2 And whereby yee are saued, if yee keepe in memorie, after what maner I preached it vnto you, [b] except ye haue beleeued in vaine.

3 For first of all, I deliuered vnto you that which I receiued, howe that Christ dyed for our sinnes, according to the ✣ Scriptures,

4 And that he was buried, and that hee arose the third day, according to the ∴ Scriptures,

5 ✲ And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the [c] twelue.

6 After that, he was seene of moe then fiue hundreth brethren at [d] once: whereof many remaine vnto this present, and some also are asleepe.

7 After that, he was seene of Iames: then of all the Apostles.

8 ✣ [2] And last of all he was seene also of me, as of one borne out of due time.

9 * For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meete to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

10 ✣ But by the grace of God I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vaine: but I laboured more aboundantly then they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so haue ye beleeued.

12 ¶ [3] Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen

1 The first treatise of this Epistle, concerning the resurrection, and he vseth a transition, or passing ouer from one matter to another, shewing first that he bringeth no newe thing, to the ende that the Corinthians might vnderstand that they had begunne to swarue from the right course: and next that he goeth not about to entreate of a trifling matter, but of another chiefe point of the Gospel, which if it be taken away, their faith must needes come to nought. And so at the length he beginneth this treatise at Christes resurrection, which is the ground and foundation of ours, and confirmeth it first by the testimonie of the Scriptures, and by the witnes of the Apostles, and of more then fiue hundreth brethren, and last of all by his owne. ✣ Galat.1.11. a In the profession whereof you continue yet. b Which is very absurd, and can not be, but that they that beleeue, must reape the fruite of faith. ✣ Isa.53.5. 1.pet.2.24. ∴ Iohn 2.1. ✲ Iohn 20.19. c Of those twelue picked and chosen Apostles, which were commonly called twelue, though Iudas was put out of the number. d Not at seuerall times, but together and at one instant. ✲ Actes 9.5. 2 He maintaineth by the way, the authoritie of his Apostleship, which was requisite to be in good credite among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might be of force and weight amongst them. In the meane season he compareth himselfe in such sort after a certaine diuine arte with certaine other, that he maketh himselfe inferiour to them all. * Ephes.3.8. ✣ Ephes.3.7. 3 The first argument to proue that there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen againe, therefore the dead shall rise againe.

from the dead, howe say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 4 For if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:

14 5 And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is also vaine.

15 And wee are found also false witnesses of God: for we haue testified of God, that hee hath raised vp Christ: whom he hath not raised vp, if so be the dead be not raised.

16 6 For if the dead be not raised, then is Christ not raised.

17 And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vaine: 7 ye are e yet in your sinnes.

18 8 And so they which are asleepe in Christ, are perished.

19 9 If in this life only we haue hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.

20 10 But now is Christ risen from the dead, 11 and was made the ✣ f first fruites of them that slept.

21 12 For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam all die, euen so in Christ shall all be g made aliue.

23 13 But euery man in his ✣ owne order: the first fruites is Christ, afterward, they that are of Christ, at his comming shall rise againe.

24 14 Then shalbe the h ende, when hee hath deliuered vp the kingdome to God, euen the Father, when he hath put downe i all rule, and all authoritie and power.

25 For hee must reigne k till hee hath put all his enemies k vnder his feete.

26 The l last enemie that shalbe destroyed, is death.

27 ✣ For he hath put downe all things vnder his feete. (And when he sayth that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put downe all things vnder him.)

28 And when all things shalbe subdued vnto him, m then shall the Sonne also himselfe be subiect vnto him, that did subdue all things vnder him, that n God may be all in all.

29 15 Els what shall they doe which are baptized o for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 16 Why are wee also in ieopardie euery houre?

31 By our p reioycing which I haue in Christ Iesus our Lord, I die dayly.

32 17 If I haue fought with beasts at Ephesus q after the maner of men, what aduantageth it me, if the dead be not raised vp? ✣ 18 let vs r eate and drinke: for to morow we shall die.

33 19 Be not deceiued: euill speakings corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to liue righteously, and sinne not: for some haue not ȳ knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

35 20 But some man will say, Howe are the dead raised vp? and with what body come they forth?

36 21 O foole, that which thou soweest, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou soweest, thou soweest not that body that shall be, but bare corne, as it falleth, of wheate, or of some other.

38 22 But God giueth it a body at his pleasure,

4 The second by an absurditie. If there be no resurrection of the dead, then is not Christ risen againe.

5 The proofe of that absurditie, by other absurdities: If Christ be not risen againe, the preaching of the Gospel is in vaine, and the credite that you gaue vnto it, is vaine, and we are lyars.

6 He repeateth the same argument taken of an absurditie, purposing to shew howe faith is in vaine if the resurrection of Christ be taken away.

7 First, seeing death is the punishment of sinne, in vaine should we beleeue that our sinnes were forgiuen vs, if they remaine: but they doe remaine, if Christ rose not from death.

e They are yet in their sinnes, which are not sanctified, nor haue obteined remission of their sinnes. 8 Secondly, vnlesse that this be certaine that all they which dyed in Christ, are perished. So then what profice commeth of Christ rose againe, faith? 9 The third argument, which is also taken from an absurditie: for vnlesse there be another life, wherein such as trust and beleeue in Christ shall be blessed, they were the most miserable of all creatures, because in this life they are the most miserable. 10 A conclusion of the former argument: Therefore Christ is risen againe. 11 Hee putteth the last conclusion for the first proposition of the argument that followeth. Christ is risen againe: Therefore shall we the faithfull (for of them he speaketh) rise againe: Then followeth the first reason of this consequent: for Christ is set foorth vnto vs, to bee considered of, not as a priuate man apart and by himselfe, but as the first fruites: And he taketh that which was knowen to all men, to wit, that the whole heape is sanctified in the first fruites. ✣ Colosse. 1. 18. reuelat. 1. 5. f Hee alludeth to the first fruites of corne, the offring whereof sanctified the rest of the fruites. 12 Another confirmation of the same consequent: for Christ is to be considered as opposite to Adam, that as from one man Adam, sinne came ouer all, so from one man Christ, life commeth vnto all: that is to say, that all the faithfull, as they die, because by nature they were borne of Adam, so because in Christ they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and restored to life by him. g Shall rise by the vertue of Christ. 13 He doeth two things together: for hee sheweth that the resurrection is in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstanding he farre passeth them, both in time (for he was the first that rose againe from the dead) and also in honour, because that from him and in him is all our life and glory. Then by this occasion he passeth to the next argument. ✣ 1. Thess. 4. 13. 14 The fourth argument, wherewith also he confirmeth the other, hath a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reigne. And this is the manner of his reigne, that the Father will be shewed to be King in his Sonne who was made man, to whome all things are made subiect (the promiser onely except) to the ende that the Father may afterwardes triumph in his Sonne the conquerour. And he maketh two partes of this reigne and dominion of the Sonne, wherein the Fathers glorie consisteth: to wit, the ouercomming of his enemies (whereof some must be deprined of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, be they neuer so proud and mightie, and other must be vtterly abolished, as death) and a plaine and full deliuerie of the godly from all enemies, that by this meanes God may fully set foorth the body of the Church, cleauing fast vnto their head Christ, his kingdome and glorie, as a King in his subiectes. Moreouer, hee putteth the first degree of this kingdome in the resurrection of the Sonne, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full coniunction of the members with the head, which shall be in the latter day. Nowe all these tend to this purpose, to shew that vnlesse the dead doe rise againe, neither the Father can be King aboue all, neither Christ bee Lord of all: for neither should the power of Satan and death be ouercome, nor the glorie of God be full in his Sonne, nor his Sonnes in his members. h The shutting vp and finishing of all things. i All his enemies which shall be spoyled of all the power they haue. k Psalm. 110. 1. actes 2. 34. hebr. 1. 13. and 10. 13.

k Christ is considered here, as hee appeared in the forme of a seruant, in which respect hee ruleth the Church, as head, and that because the power was giuen him of his Father. l The shutting vp of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shall be put vnder his feete, then must it needes be that death also shall be subdued vnder him. ✣ Psalme 8. 6. hebr. 2. 8.

m Not because the Sonne was not subiect to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is here in distresse, and not yet wholy partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodyes of the Saintes which be in the graue, shall not be glorified vntill the resurrection: but Christ as he is God, hath vs subiect to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest, he is subiect to his father together with vs. Augast. booke 1. chap. 8. of the Trinitie. n By this he kinde of speach, is set foorth an incomprehensible glorie which floweth from God, and shall fil all of vs, as wee are ioyned together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall alwayes reserue his preeminence. 15 The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptisme, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead, that is to say, that they may haue a remedie against death, because that Baptisme is a token of regeneration. o They that are baptized, to this end and purpose, that death may be put out in them, or to rise againe from the dead, whereof baptisme is a seale. 16 The sixth argument: Vnlesse there be a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so daily cast themselues into danger of so many deaths? p As though he said, I die daily, as all the miseries I suffer can well witnesse, which ȳ may truely boast off, that I haue suffered amongst you. 17 The taking away of an obiection: But thou Paul didst ambitiously as common-ly men are wont to do, when thou didst fight with beasts at Ephesus: that is very like saith Paul, for what could that aduantage me, were it not for the glory of eternall life which I hope for? q Not vpon any goodly motion, nor casting mine eyes vpon God, but caryed away with vaine glorie, or a certaine headines. ✣ Isa. 22. 13. 18 The seuenth argument, which dependeth vpon the last: If there be no resurrection of the dead, why do we giue our selues to any thing els, saue to eating and drinking? r These are speeches that Epicures vse. 19 The conclusion with a sharpe exhortation, that they take heede of the naughtie companie of certaine: from whence hee sheweth that this mischiefe sprang: warning them to be wise with sobrietie vnto righteousnesse. 20 Nowe that he hath prooued the resurrection, he discouereth their doltishnesse, in that they scoffingly demanded, howe it could be that the dead should rise againe, & if they did rise againe, they asked mockingly, what maner of bodies they should haue. Therefore hee sendeth these felowes which seemed to themselues to be marueilous wise and wittie, to be instructed of poore rude husbandmen. 21 Thou mightest haue learned either of these, saith Paul, by dayly experience: for seedes are sowen, & rot, & yet notwithstanding so farre it is off that they perish, that contrariwise they growe vp farre more beautifull: and whereas they are sowen naked and dry, they spring vp greene from death by the vertue of God: & doeth it seeme incredible to thee that our bodies should rise from corruption, & that indued with a farre more excellent qualitie? 22 Wee see a diuersitie both in one and the selfe same thing which hath now one forme and then another, and yet keepeth it one kinde: as it is euident in a graine which is sowen bare, but springeth vp farre after another sort: and also in diuers kindes of one selfe same sort, as among beasts: & also among things of diuers sortes, as the heauenly bodies and the earthly bodies: which also differ very much one from another. Therefore there is no cause why wee should reiect either the resurrection of the bodyes, or the changing of them into a better state, as a thing impossible, or strange.

euen to euery seede his owne body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beasts, and another of fishes, and another of birdes:

40 There are also heauenly bodies, & earthly bodies: but the glory of the heauenly is one, and the glory of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glory of the sunne, and another glorie of the moone, and another glorie of the starres: for one starre differeth from another starre in glory.

42 [23] So also is the resurrection of the dead, The bodie is [f] sowen in corruption, and is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sowen in [t] dishonour, and is raysed in glory: it is sowen in weakenesse, and is raysed in [u] power.

44 [24] It is sowen a naturall body, and is raysed a spirituall body: there is a naturall bodie, and there is a spirituall body.

45 [25] As it is also written, The [x] first man ✣ Adam was made a liuing soule: and the last Adam was made a [y] quickning spirit.

46 [26] Howbeit that was not first which is spirituall: but that which is naturall, and afterward that which is spirituall.

47 The first man is of the earth, [z] earthly: the second man is the Lord from [a] heauen.

48 [27] As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heauenly, such are they also that are heauenly.

49 And as we haue borne the [b] image of the earthly, so shall wee beare the image of the heauenly.

50 [28] This say I, brethren, that [c] flesh & blood cannot inherite the kingdome of God, neither doeth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 [29] Behold, I shew you a [d] secret thing, We shall not all sleepe, but we shall all be changed, 52 In [e] a moment, in the twinckling of an eye at the last ✣ trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shalbe raysed vp incorruptible, and we shalbe changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption: and this mortall must put on immortalitie.

54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortall hath put on immortalitie, then shall be brought to passe the saying, that is written, ✣ Death is swallowed vp into victorie.

55 O death where is thy sting? O graue where is thy victorie?

56 The sting of death is sinne: & the strength of sinne is the Law.

57 ✣ But thanks be vnto God, which hath giuen vs victorie through our Lord Iesus Christ.

58 [30] Therefore my beloued brethren, be yee stedfast, vnmoueable, abounding alwayes in the worke of the Lorde, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vaine in the [f] Lord.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Hee exhorteth them to helpe the poore brethren of Hierusalem: 10 Then he commendeth Timotheus, 13 and so with a friendly exhortation, 20 and commendations, endeth the Epistle.

1 Collections in olde time were made by the Apostles appointment the first day of the weeke, on which day the maner was then to assemble themselues.

COncerning [1] the gathering for the Saintes, as I haue ordeined in the Churches of Galatia, so doe ye also.

2 Euery [a] first day of the weeke, let euery one of you put aside by him selfe, and lay vp as God hath [b] prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomsoeuer ye shall allow by [c] letters, them will I send to bring your liberalitie vnto Hierusalem.

4 [2] And if it be meete that I goe also, they shall goe with me.

5 Now I will come vnto you, after I haue gone through Macedonia (for I wil passe through Macedonia.)

6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that yee may bring me on my way, whithersoeuer I goe.

7 For I will not see you nowe in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lorde permit.

8 And I will tary at Ephesus vntill Pentecost.

6 For a great doore and [d] effectuall is opened vnto me: and there are many aduersaries.

10 ¶ Nowe if Timotheus come, see that he be [e] without feare with you: for he worketh the work of the Lord, euen as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore despise him: but conuey him forth [f] in peace, that he may come vnto me: for I looked for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him to come vnto you with the brethren: but his minde was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall haue conuenient time.

13 Watch ye: stand fast in the faith: quite you like men, and be strong.

14 Let all your things be done in loue.

15 Now brethren, I beseech you (yee knowe the house of [g] Stephanas, that it is the first fruites of Achaia, and that they haue [h] giuen themselues to ministerie vnto the Saints)

16 That ye be [i] obedient euen vnto such, and to all that helpe with vs and labour.

17 I am glad of the comming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they haue supplied the want of you.

18 For they haue comforted my [k] spirite and yours: I acknowledg therefore such men.

19 The Churches of Asia salute you: Aquila and 23 He maketh three mauer of qualities of the bodies being rayfed, incorruption, to wit, because they shalbe sound, and altogether of a nature that can not be corrupt: Glory, because they shalbe adorned with beautie and honour: Power, because they shall continue euerlasting without meate, drinke, and all other helpes, without which this fraile life cannot keepe it selfe from corruption.

f Is buried, and man is hid as seed in the ground.

t Void of honour, voide of glorie and beautie.

u Freed from the former weaknesse, whereas it is subiect to such alteration and change, that is cannot mainteine it selfe without meate and drinke and such other like helpes.

24 He sheweth perfitely in one word, this change of the qualitie of the bodie by the resurrection, when he sayeth, that of a naturall body, it shall become a spirituall body: which two qualities being cleane different the one from the other, hee straightway expoundeth and setteth foorth diligently.

25 That is called a naturall body, which is quickened and maintained by a liuing soule onely: such as Adam was, of whome all we are borne naturally: and that is sayde to be a spirituall, which together with the soule is quickened with a farre more excellent vertue: to wit, with the Spirit of God, which descendeth from Christ the second Adam into vs. x Adam is called the first man, because he is the roote as it were from whence we spring, and Christ is the latter man, because he is the beginning of all them that are spirituall, and in him we are all comprehended. ✣ Gen. 2. 7. y Christ is called a Spirit, by reason of that most excellent nature, that is to say, God who dwelleth in him bodily, as Adam is called a liuing soule, by reason of the soule which is the best part in him. 26 Secondly he willeth the order of this double state or qualitie to be obserued, that the naturall was first, Adam being created of the clay of the earth: and the spirituall followed and came vpon it, to wit, when as the Lorde being sent from heauen, indued our flesh which was prepared & made fit for him, with the fulnes of the Godhead. z Walowing in dust, and wholly giuen to an earthly nature. a The Lord is sayd to come downe from heauen by that kind of speech, whereby that which is proper to one is vouched of another. 27 He applieth both the earthly naturalnesse of Adam (if I may so say) to our bodies, so long as they are naturally conuersant on earth, to wit, in this life, and in the graue: and also the spirituality of Christ to the same our bodies, after that they are risen againe: and he saith, that that goeth before, and this shall follow, b Not a vaine and false image, but such an one as had the trueth with it in deede. 28 The conclusion. We cannot be partakers of the glory of God, vnlesse we put off all that grosse and filthy nature of our bodies subiect to corruption, that the same body may be adorned with incorruptible glory. c Flesh and blood are taken here for a liuing body, which cannot attaine to incorruption, vnles it put off corruption. 29 Hee goeth further, declaring that it shall come to passe that they which shalbe found aliue in the latter day, shall not descend into that corruption of the graue, but shalbe renued with a sudden change, which change is very requisite: and that the certaine enioying of the benefite and victorie of Christ, is deferred vnto that latter time. d A thing that hath bin hid, and neuer knowen hitherto, and therefore worthy that you giue good eare vnto it. e He sheweth vs that the time shalbe very short. ✣ Mat. 24. 31. *1. The first Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, and sent by Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, and Timotheus.

✣ Rom.16.16. 2.cor.13.12. 1.pet.5.14.

m By these words, is betokened the seuerest kinde of curse and excommunication that was among the Iewes: and the wordes are as much to say, as our Lord commeth: So that his meaning may be this, Let him be accursed euen to the comming of the Lord, that is to say, to his deathes day, euen for euer.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 He beginneth with the praise of afflictions, 8 declaring what hee hath suffered in Asia, 10 and how happily God assisted him. 17 Hee saith it was not vpon any lightnesse, that hee came not, according to his promise.

PAVL [1] an Apostle of IESVS Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of God, which is at Corinthus with all the Saintes, which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 ✣ [2] Blessed be God, euen the Father of our Lorde Iesus Christ, the Father of [b] mercies, and the God of all comfort, 4 Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, that we may bee able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherwith we our selues are comforted of God.

5 For as the [c] suffrings of Christ abound in vs, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ.

6 ✣ And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and saluation, which is [d] wrought in the enduring of the same suffrings, which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and saluation.

7 And our hope is stedfast concerning you, in as much as we know that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.

8 [3] For brethren, we would not haue you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Asia, how we were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that we altogether [e] doubted euen of life.

9 Yea, wee receiued the sentence of death in ‖ our selues, because we should not trust in our selues, but in God, which raiseth the dead.

10 Who deliuered vs from so [g] great a death, and doeth deliuer vs: in whome wee trust, that yet hereafter he will deliuer vs, 11 ✣ [6] So that yee labour together in prayer for vs, 7 that for the gift bestowed vpon vs for many, thankes may bee giuen by many persons for vs.

12 [8] For our reioycing is this, the testimonie of our conscience, that in simplicitie and godly [h] pureness, and not in fleshly wisedome, but by the [i] grace of God we haue had our conuersation in the world, and most of all to you wardes.

13 For wee write [k] none other things vnto you, then that ye read or els that ye acknowledge, and I trust ye shall acknowledge vnto the [l] end.

14 Euen as yee haue acknowledged vs partly, that we are your [m] reioycing, euen as ye are ours, in the [n] day of our Lord Iesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come vnto you, that yee might haue had a [o] double grace, 16 And to passe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia, vnto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.

17 [9] When I therefore was thus minded, did I vse lightnesse? or minde I those things which I minde, according to the [p] flesh, that with mee should be, [q] Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 [10] Yea, God is [r] faithfull, that our worde toward you was not Yea, and Nay.

19 [11] For the Sonne of God Iesus Christ, who was preached among you by vs, that is, by me, & Siluanus and Timotheus, [s] was not Yea, and Nay: but in [t] him it was Yea.

20 [12] For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in [u] him Amen, vnto the glorie of God through [x] vs.

21 [13] And

1 See the declaration of such salutations in the former Epistles.

2 He beginneth after his maner with thanksgiuing, which notwithstanding (otherwise then he was wont) he applieth to himselfe: beginning his Epistle with the setting forth of the dignitie of his Apostleship constrained (as it should seeme) by their importunity, which tooke an occasion to despise him by reason of his miseries. But he answereth, that he is not so afflicted, but that his comforts doe exceede his afflictions, shewing the ground of them, euen the mercy of God the Father in Iesus Christ.

a To him be praise and glory giuen. b Most mercifull. 3 The Lorde doeth comfort vs to this ende and purpose, that wee may so much the more surely comfort others. c The miseries which we suffer for Christ, or which Christ sufferesh in vs. 4 Hee denieth that either his afflictions wherewith he was often afflicted, or the consolations which he receiued of God, may iustly bee despised, seeing that the Corinthians both might and ought to take great occasion to be confirmed by eyther of them. d Although saluation be giuen vs freely, yet because there is a way appointed vs whereby we must come to it, which is the race of an innocent and vpright life, which we must runne, therefore we are sayde to worke our saluation, Philippians 2.12. And because it is God onely that of his free good will worketh all things in vs, therefore in he sayde to worke the saluation in vs by those selfe same things by which we must passe to our lasting life after that we haue once ouercome all incombrances. 5 He witnesseth that he is not onely not ashamed of his afflictions, but that he desireth also to haue all men knowe the greatnes of them and also his deliuerie from them, although it be not yet perfite. e I knowe not at all what to doe, neither did I see by mans helpe which way to saue my life. f I was resolued within my selfe to die.

g From these great dangers.

✣ Rom.15.30.

6 That he may not seeme to boast himselfe he attributeth all to God, and therewith also confesseth that he attributeth much to the prayers of the faithfull.

7 The ende of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glory of God, and therefore they ought to be precious vnto vs.

8 Secondly he putteth away an other slaunder to wit, that he was a light man, and such a one as was not lightly to be credited, seeing that hee promised to come vnto them, and came not. And first he speaketh of the simplicitie of his minde, and synceritie, which they knew both by his voyce when he was present, & they ought to acknowledge it also in his letters, being absent: and moreouer he protesteth that he will neuer be otherwise.

h With cleerenes, and holy and true plainnesse of mind, as God himselfe can witnesse. i Trusting to that very wisedome, which God of his free goodnesse hath giuen vs from heauen. k Hee saith he writeth barely and simply: for he that writeth in coloured sort, is rightly sayde to write otherwise then wee reade: and this he saith the Corinthians shall know and like of very wel. l Perfitely. m Paul reioycing in the Lorde was, that he had wonne the Corinthians: and they themselues reioyced that such an Apostle was their instructour, and taught them so purely and synceirely. n When he shal sit as iudge. o Another benefite. 9 Hee putteth away their slander and false report by denying it, and first of all in that that diuers went about to perswade the Corinthians, that in the preaching of the Gospel, Paul agreed not to himselfe: for this was the matter and the case. p As men do, which will rashly promise any thing, and change their purpose at euery turning of an hand. q That I should say and vnsay a thing? 10 He calleth God to witnesse, and for iudge of his constancie in preaching and teaching one selfe same Gospel. r True, and of whose faithfulnes it were horrible wickednes to doubt. 11 He ioyneth also with himselfe, his fellowes as witnesses with whome hee fully consented in teaching one selfe same thing, to wit, one selfe same Christ. s Was not diuers and wauering. t That is, in God. 12 Last of all hee declare h the somme of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promises of saluation are sure and ratified in Christ. u Christ is set foorth to exhibite and fulfill them all most assuredly, and without all doubt. x Through our ministerie.

13 He attributeth the praise of this constancie, onely to the grace of God through the holy Ghost, and therewithall concludeth that they cannot doubt of his faith, and his fellowes, without doing iniurie to the Spirit of God, seeing that they themselues do know all this to be true.

21 13 And it is God which stablisheth vs with you in Christ, and hath anoynted vs.

22 Who hath also sealed vs, and hath giuen the y earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.

23 14 Now, I call God for a record vnto my z soule, that to spare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus.

24 15 Not that wee haue dominion ouer your faith, but we are helpers of your a ioy: for by faith ye stand.

y An earnest, is whatsoeuer is giuen to confirme a promise. 14 Now comming to the matter, he sweareth, that he did not onely, not lightly alter his purpose of comming to them, but rather that he came not vnto them for this cause, that he might not be constrained to deale more sharply with them being present, then he would. z Against my selfe, and to the danger of mine owne life. 15 He remooueth all suspicion of arrogancie, declaring that he speaketh not as a Lord vnto them, but as a seruant, appointed of God to comfort them. a He setteth the ioy and peace of conscience, which God is author of, against tyrannous feare, and therewithall sheweth the end of the Gospel.

CHAP. II.

1 He excuseth his not comming vnto them, 2 and priuilie reprehendeth them: 4 He sheweth that such a his affection towards them, 5 that he neuer reioyceth but when they are merie. 6 Perceiuing the adulterer (whom he commanded to be deliuered vp to Satan) to repent, he requesteth that they forgiue him. 31 He mentioneth his going into Macedonia.

BVt I determined thus in my selfe, that I would not come againe to you in a heauinesse.

2 For if I make you sorie, who is he then that should make me glad, but the same which is made sorie by me?

3 And I wrote this same thing vnto you, lest when I came, I should take heauinesse of them of whom I ought to reioyce: this b confidence haue I in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

4 For in great affliction, and anguish of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that yee should be made sory, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue specially vnto you.

5 1 And if any hath caused sorrow, the same hath not made c me sorie, but d partly (lest I should more e charge him) you all.

6 It is sufficient vnto the same man, that hee was rebuked of many.

7 So that nowe contrariwise yee ought rather to f forgiue him, and comfort him, lest the same should be swallowed vp with ouermuch heauinesse.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would g confirme your loue towards him.

9 For this cause also did I write, that I might know the proofe of you, whether ye would be obedient in all things.

10 To whome ye forgiue any thing, I forgiue also: for verely if I forgaue any thing, to whome I forgaue it, for your sakes forgaue I it in the h sight of Christ, 11 Lest Satan should circumuent vs: for wee are not ignorant of his i enterprises.

12 ¶ 2 Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christs Gospel, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord, 13 I had no rest in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leaue of them, and went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thankes be vnto God, which alwayes maketh vs to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the k sauour of his knowledge by vs in euery place.

15 3 For we are vnto God the sweet sauour of Christ, in them that are saued, and in them which perish.

16 To the one we are the sauour of death, vnto death, and to the other the sauour of life, vnto life: 4 and who is sufficient for these things?

17 ✣ For wee are not as many, which make l marchandise of the word of God: but as of sincerities, but as of God in the sight of God speake we in Christ.

k He alludeth to the anoynting of the Priestes, and the incense of the sacrifices. 3 He denieth that ought should be taken away from the dignitie of his Apostleship, because they sawe euidently that it was not receiued with like successe in euery place, nay rather very many reiected and detested him, seeing that he preacheth Christ, not onely as Sauiour of them that beleeue, but also as a Iudge of them that contemne him. 4 Againe, he putteth away all suspicion of arrogancie, attributing all things that he did, to the vertue of God, whom he serueth sincerely, and without all dishonest affection: whereof he maketh them witnesses euen to the 6 verse of the next chapter. ✣ chap.4.2. l We doe not handle it craftily and counterously, or lesse sincerely then we ought: and he vseth a metaphore which is taken from huckesters, which vse to plye the false harlots with whatsoeuer commeth into their hands.

CHAP. III.

1 He desireth no other commendation, 3 then their continuing in the faith. 6 He is a minister, not of the letter, but of the Spirit. 8 He sheweth the difference of the Law and the Gospel, 13 that the brightnesse of the Law doth rather dimme the sight then lighten it: 18 But the Gospel doth make manifest Gods countenance vnto vs.

DOe we beginne to praise our selues againe: or need we as some other, epistles of recommendation vnto you, or letters of recommendation from you?

2 Yee are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is vnderstood and read of all men,

3 In that ye are a manifest, to be the Epistle of Christ, b ministred by vs, and written, not with incke, but with the Spirit of the c liuing God, 1 not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.

4 And such d trust haue we through Christ to God:

5 Not that we are sufficient of our selues, to thinke any thing, as of our selues: but our e sufficiencie is of God,

6 2 Who also hath made vs able ministers of the New Testament, not of the f letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giueth life.

7 If then the ministration of death written with letters & ingrauen in stones, was h glorious, so that the children of Israel coulde not beholde the face of Moses, for the glory of his a Causing griefe amongst you, which he should haue done if hee had come to them before they had repented them.

b For I trusted that you would take that out of the way forthwith, which you knew I was discontented with, considering how you are perswaded that my ioy is your ioy.

¶ Hee passeth to another part of this Epistle: which notwithstanding is put amongst the first, wherevnto he returneth afterward: & he handleth the releasing and vnloosing of the incestuous person, because he seemed to haue giuen sufficient testimonie of his repentance: shewing the true vse of excommunication, to wit, that it proceede not of hatred, but of loue and to end, lest if we keepe no measure, we serue Satan the deuill.

c As if he said, All that sorow is so cleane wiped away, as though he had neuer felt it.

d As for me, (saith Paul) I haue no more to doe with him.

e Lest I should ouercharge him, who is burdened ynough of himselfe, which I would be glad were taken from him. f That whereas before you punished him sharply, you would now forgiue him. g That at my entreatie, you would declare by the consent of the whole Church, that you take him againe for a brother. h Truely and from the heart. i Of his mischieuous counsell and dueliish will. 2 He returneth to the confirmation of his Apostleship, and bringeth foorth the testimonies, both of his labour, and also of Gods blessing.

a The Apostle Gamaliel his speech wisely, that by title and title, he may come from the commendation of the person, to the matter it selfe.

b Which I tooke paines to write as it were.

c By the way, he setteth the vertue of God, against the meane wherewith Epistles are commonly written, to shew that it was wrought by God.

1 He alludeth by the way, to the comparison of the outward ministerie of the Priesthood of Leui, with the ministerie of the Gospel, and the Apostolicall ministerie, which he handleth afterward more fully. d This boldnesse we shew, and thus gloriously may we boast of the worthinesse and fruit of our ministerie. e In that we are fit and meet to make other men partakers of so great a grace. 2 He amplifieth his ministerie and his fellowes: that is to say, the ministerie of the Gospel, comparing it with the ministerie of the Law, which he confidereth in the person of Moses, by whom the Law was giuen: against whom he setteth Christ the authour of the Gospel. Now this comparison is taken from the very substance of the ministerie. The Law is as it were a writing of it selfe dead, and without efficacie: but the Gospel, or new couenant, is as it were the very vertue of God it selfe, in renewing, iustifying, and sauing of men. The law propoundeth death, accusing all men of vnrighteousnesse: The Gospel offereth and giueth righteousnesse and life. The gouernance of the Law serued for a time to the promise: The Gospel remaineth to the end of the world. Therefore what is the glory of that in comparison of the maiestie of this? f Not of the Law, but of the Gospel. g Imprinted and ingrauen: so that by this place we may plainly perceiue, that the Apostle speaketh not of the ceremonies of the Law, but euen of the Ten commandements. h This word, Glory betokeneth a brightnesse, and a maiestie which was boldly in Moses, but spiritually in Christ.

3 Whereby God offereth, yea and giueth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickening Spirit, working life.
k To wit, of Christ, which being imputed to vs as our owne, we are not onely not condemned, but also wee are crowned as righteous.
l The Law, yea, and the Ten commandements themselues, together with Moses, is abolished, if we consider the ministerie of Moses apart by it selfe.
3 Hee sheweth wherein standeth this glorie of the preaching of the Gospel, to wit, in that that it setteth forth plainly and euidently, that which the Lawe shewed darkely, for it sent them that heard it to be healed of Christ, which was to come, after it had wounde them.
✣ Exod 34.34.
4 He expounded the allegorie of Moses his couering, which was a token of the darknesse and weaknesse that is in men, which were rather dulled by the bright shining of the Lawe, then lightened: which couering was taken away by the comming of Christ, who lightneth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that we may be brought from the slauerie of this blindnesse, and set in the liberty of the light, by the vertue of Christs spirit.
m Into the very bottome of Moses his ministerie.
n Christ is that spirit, which taketh away that couering, by working in our hearts, whereunto also the Law it selfe called vs, though in vaine, because it speaketh to dead men, vntill this Spirit quickeneth vs.
✣ Iob 4.14.
5 Going forwards in the allegorie of the couering, he compareth the Gospel to a glasse, which although it be most bright and sparkeling, yet doth it not onely not dazell their eyes, which looke in it, as the law doth, but also transformeth them with it beames, so that they also be partakers of the glory and shining of it, to lighten others: as Christ sayd vnto his, You are the light of the world, whereas he himselfe was the onely light. We are also commanded in another place, to shine as candles before the world, because wee are partakers of Gods Spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly, of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that commeth after, and that, setting them his owne example and his fellowes.

countenance (which glorie is done away.)

8 Howe shall not the [i] ministration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministery of condemnation was glorious, much more doeth the ministration of [k] righteousnesse exceed in glory.

10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glorie.

11 For if that which should be [l] abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth, be glorious.

12 3 Seeing then that we haue such trust, we vse great boldnesse of speech.

13 ✣ 4 And we are not as Moses, which put a vaile vpon his face, that the children of Israel should not looke vnto the [m] end of that which should be abolished.

14 Therefore their mindes are hardened: for vntill this day remaineth the same couering vntaken away in the reading of the olde Testament, which vaile in Christ is put away.

15 But euen vnto this day, when Moses is read, the vaile is layed ouer their hearts.

16 Neuertheless when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shalbe taken away.

17 Now the [n] Lord is the ✣ Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is libertie.

18 5 But wee all beholde as in a merrour the glorie of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He sheweth that he hath so laboured in preaching the Gospell, 4 that such are euen blinded of Satan, who doe not perceiue the brightnesse thereof, 7 that the same is caried in earthen vessels, 10 who are subiect to many miseries. 16 and therefore he exhorteth them by his owne example to be couragious, 17 and contemne this present life.

THerefore, [1] seeing that wee haue this ministerie, as we haue receiued mercie, we [a] faint not:

2 But haue cast from vs the [b] clokes of shame, and walke not in craftinesse, neither handle wee the worde of God [c] deceitfully: but in declaration of the trueth wee approue our selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God.

3 [2] If our Gospel be then hid, it is hid to them that are lost.

4 In whome the god of this world hath blinded the mindes, that is, of the infidels, that the [d] light of the glorious Gospell of Christ, which is the [e] image of God, should not shine vnto them.

5 3 For we preach not our selues, but Christ Iesus the Lord, and our selues your seruants for [f] Iesus sake.

6 For God ✣ 4 that commanded the light to shine out of darknesse, is he which hath shined in our hearts, to giue the [h] light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Iesus Christ.

7 4 But we haue this treasure in earthen vessels, 5 that the excellencie of that power might be of God, and not of vs.

8 Wee are afflicted on euery side, yet are we not in distresse: we are in doubt, but yet we despaire not.

9 We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not.

10 6 Euery where we beare about in our bodie the [i] dying of the Lord Iesus, that the life of Iesus might also be made manifest in our bodies.

11 For we which [k] liue, are alwayes deliuered vnto death for Iesus sake, that the life also of Iesus might be made manifest in our [l] mortall flesh.

12 7 So then death worketh in vs, and life in you.

13 8 And because we haue the same [m] spirit of faith, according as it is written, ✣ I beleeued, and therefore haue I spoken, wee also beleeue, and therefore speake, 14 Knowing that he which hath raised vp the Lord Iesus, shall raise vs vp also by Iesus, and shall set vs with you.

15 9 For all things are for your sakes, that that most plenteous grace by the thanksgiuing of many, may redound to the praise of God.

16 Therefore we faint not, [10] but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is [o] renewed dayly.

17 For our [p] light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth vnto vs a farre most excellent and an eternall weight of [q] glorie:

18 While we looke not on the things which are seene, but on the things which are not seene: for the things which are seene, are temporall: but the things which are not seene, are eternall.

d The light of plaine and lightsome preaching, which teacheth you to the glorie of Christ.
e In whome the Father setteth forth himselfe to be seene and beholden.
3 He remooueth according to his accustomed maner, all suspicion of ambition, aduowching that he teacheth faithfully, but as a seruant, and witnessing that all this light which he and his fellowes giue to other, proceedeth from the Lord.
f To preach this selfe same Iesus to you.
✣ Genes. 1.3.
g Which made onely with his word.
h That being lightened of God, wee should in like sort giue that light to others.
4 Hee taketh away a stumbling blocke, by which was darkened amongst some the bright shining of the ministerie of the Gospel. to wit, because the Apostles were the most miserable of all men. Paul answereth, that hee and his fellowes, are as it were, earthen vessels, but yet there is in them a most precious treasure.
5 Hee bringeth marueilous reasons, why the Lord doth so afflict his chiefest seruants, to the end saith he, that all men may perceiue that they stand not by any mans vertue, but by the singular vertue of God, in that they die a thousand times, but neuer perish.
6 An amplification of the former sentence, wherein he compareth his afflictions to a dayly death, and the vertue of the Spirit of God in Christ, to life, which oppresseth that death.
i So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithfull, but especially the ministers are in.
k Which liue that life, to wit, by the Spirit of Christ, amongst so many and so great miseries.
l Subiect to that miserable condition.
7 A very cunning conclusion: as if he should say, Therefore to be short, we die, that you may liue by our death, for that they ventured into all those dangers for the building of the Churches sake, & they ceased not to confirme all the faithfull with the examples of their patience.
8 He declareth the former sentence, shewing that he and his fellowes die in a sort, to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselues do first beleeue that, which they propound to other to beleeue, to wit, that they also shalbe saued together with them in Christ.
m The same faith, by the inspiration of the same Spirit.
✣ Psal. 116.10.
9 Hee sheweth how this constancie is preserued in them, to wit, because they respect Gods glory and the saluation of the Churches committed vnto them.
n When it shall please God to deliuer me, and restore me to you, that exceeding benefit which shall be powred vpon me, shall redound to the glory of God, by the thanksgiuing of many.
10 He addeth as it were a triumphant song, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly hee profiteth dayly: and passeth not at all for all the miseries that may be suffeined in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternall glorie.
o Gathereth new strength, that the outward man be not ouercome with the miseries which come freshly one vpon the necke of another, being maintained and vpholden with the strength of the inward man.
p Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themselues, but because the paine away quickly, when as indeed our whole life is of no great long continuance.
q Which remaineth for euer time and stable, and can neuer be shaken.

1 Now he plainely witnesseth that both he and his fellowes (through the mercie of God) do their vocation and duetie vprightly and sincerely, neglecting all dangers.
a Though we are broken in peeces with miseries and calamities, yet we yeelde not.
b Subtilitie, and all kinde of deceite, which men hunt after, as it were diuines and lurking holes, to couer their couetous dealings withall.
c This is it that in the former chapter he called, making marchandise of the word of God.
2 An obiection: Many heare the Gospel, and yet are no more lightened thereby, then by the preaching of the Lawe. He answereth, The fault is in the men themselues, whose eyes Satan plucketh out, who ruleth in this world. And yet notwithstanding doeth he and his fellowes set foorth the most cleare light of the Gospell to be seene and beholden, seeing that Christ whom onely they preach, is he in whom onely God will be known, and as it were seene.

CHAP. V.

1 He continueth in the same argument, 6 teaching the certain hope of salvation 8 through faith, 12 not to praise himselfe, 14 seeing hee hath God and his Church before his eyes, 17 and esteemeth nothing, but newnesse of life in Christ.

1 Taking occasion by the former comparison, hee compareth this miserable body as it is in this life, to a fraile and brittle tabernacle, against which hee setteth the heauenly tabernacle, so terming that sure and euerlasting condition of this same body glorified in heauen, insomuch saith he, that wee are not onely not addicted to this tabernacle, but also doe with sobbes and sighes desire rather that tabernacle. And so this place also concerning the glorie to come, is put within the treatise of the dignitie of the ministerie, as the other was, whereof we spake in the beginning of the second Chapter.

a He calleth the glory of immortalitie, which we shall be as it were clothed with, a garment.

b Heauenly, not that the substance of it is heauenly, but for the glorie of it.

2 An exposition of the former saying: Wee doe not

FOr [1] we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle bee destroyed, wee haue a building giuen of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternall in the heauens.

2 For therefore we sigh, desiring to be [a] clothed with our house, which is from [b] heauen.

3 [2] Because that if we be clothed, wee shall not be found ✣ naked.

4 For in deede we that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened, because we would not be vnclothed, but would be clothed vpon, that mortalitie might be swallowed vp of life.

5 And he that hath [c] created vs for this thing, is God, who also hath giuen vnto vs the earnest of the Spirit.

6 [3] Therefore wee are alway [d] bolde, though we know that whiles we are at home in the bodie, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For we walke by [e] faith, and not by sight.)

8 Neuertheless, wee are [f] bolde, and loue rather to remoue out of the body, and to dwel with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also we [g] couet, that both dwelling at home, and remooving from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 ✣ [4] For wee must all [h] appeare before the iudgemeut seate of Christ, that euery man may receiue the things which are done in his body, according to that hee hath done, whether it be good or euill.

11 [5] Knowing therefore that [i] terrour of the Lord, wee perswade men, and we are made manifest vnto God, and I trust also that wee are made manifest in your consciences.

12 [6] For we praise not our selues againe vnto you, but giue you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that ye may haue to answere against them, which reioyce in the [k] face, and not in the heart.

13 7 For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether we be in our right minde, we are it vnto you.

14 [8] For that loue of Christ [l] constraineth vs, 15 Because wee thus iudge, that if [m] one bee dead for all, then were al dead, and he died for al, that they which liue, should not henceforth [n] liue vnto themselues, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 [9] Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh, [10] yea though wee had knowen Christ after the flesh, yet nowe henceforth know we him no more.

17 [11] Therefore if any man be in Christ, let him be a newe creature. ✣ Olde things are passed away: beholde, all things are become newe.

18 [12] And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath giuen vnto vs the ministerie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their sinnes vnto them, and hath [p] committed to vs the worde of reconciliation.

20 Now then are we ambassadours for Christ: as though God did beseech you through vs, wee pray you in Christes steade, that ye be reconciled to God.

21 For he hath made him to be [q] sinne for vs, which [r] knew no sinne, that wee should bee made the [s] righteousnesse of God in him.

7 The meaning is: Euen when I am mad (as some men thinke of me) whilest I seeme as a foole, to boast my selfe, I doe it for your profite, no lesse then when I preach the Gospel simply vnto you.

8 He goeth forward in putting away all suspicion of desire of estimatiō & boasting for the loue of Christ, saith hee, compelleth vs hereunto, that seeing he died for vs all, which were dead when as we liue, to our selues, (that is, while we were yet giuen to these earthly affections) we in like sort should consecrate our whole life which we haue receiued of him, to him (to wit) being indued with the holy Ghost, to this end and purpose that we should meditate vpon nothing but that which is heauenly. l Possesseth vs wholy. m He speaketh heere of sanctification, whereby it commeth to passe that Christ liueth in vs. n Looke Rom. chap.6 and 7. 9 Hee sheweth what it is, not to liue to our selues, but to Christ, to wit, to knowe no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to bee so conuersant amongst men, as not to care for those worldly and carnall things, as they doe which respect a mans flocke, his courtrey, forme, glorie, riches, and such like, wherein men commonly dote and wearie themselues. 10 An amplification: This is, faith he, so true, that wee doe not now thinke carnally of Christ himselfe, who hath now left the worlde, and therefore must bee considered of vs spiritually. 11 An exhortation for euery man which is renewed with the spirit of Christ to meditate heauenly things, and not earthly. o As a thing made anew of God, for though a man be not newly created when God giueth him the spirit of regeneration, but only his qualities are changed, yet notwithstanding it pleased the holy Ghost to speake so, to teache vs, that wee must attribute all things to the glorie of God: not that wee are stockes and blockes, but because God createth in vs, both the will to will well, and the power to doe well. ✣ Esai.43.19. reuelat.21.5.

12 Hee commendeth the excellencie of the ministerie of the Gospel, both by the authoritie of God himselfe, who is the authour of that ministerie, and also by the excellencie of the doctrine of it: for it announceth atonement with God, by free forgiuenesse of our sinnes, and iustification offered vnto vs in Christ, and that so louingly and liberally, that God himselfe doeth as it were by the mouth of his ministers to haue consideration of themselues, and not to despise so great a benefite. And when hee so sayth, he plainely reprehendeth them which falsely challenged to themselues the name of pastours. p Vsed our labour and trauaile. q A sinner not in himselfe, but by imputation of the guilt of all our sinnes to him. r Who was cleane voyde of sinne. s Righteous before God, and that with righteousnesse which is not essentiall to vs, but being essentiall in Christ, God imputeth it to vs through faith.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee exhorteth them to leade their liues as it becommeth Christians, 5 neyther to bee dismayed in tribulation, 9 nor puffed vp with glorie: 14 to auoyde all vncleanesse, 16 considering that they are the temples of the liuing God.

SO [1] we therefore as workers together beseech you, that yee receiue not the grace of God in vaine.

2 [2] For hee sayeth, ✣ I haue heard thee in a time [a] accepted, and in [y] day of saluation haue I

1 Men doe not onely need the ministerie of the Gospel, before they haue received grace, that they may be partakers of it, but also after they haue received grace, that they may continue in it.

2 In that that grace is offered, it is of the grace of God, who hath appointed times & seasons to all things, that we may take occasion when it is offred. ✣ Esa. 49.8. a Which I of my free mercy and loue towardes thee liked of and appointed at which time God powred out that his marueilous loue vpon vs.

succoured thee: beholde now the accepted time, behold now the day of saluation.

3 3 Wee giue no occasion of offence in any thing, that our ministerie should not be reprehended.

4 But in all things we b approue our selues as ✣ the ministers of God, † in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses,

5 In stripes, in prisons, in c tumults, in labours,

6 5 By watchings, by fastings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindnesse, by the holy Ghost, by loue vnfained,

7 By the d word of trueth, by the e power of God, by the f armour of righteousnesse on the right hand, and on the left,

8 By honour, and dishonour, by euill report, and good report, as deceiuers, and yet true:

9 As vnknowen, and yet knowen: as dying, and beholde, wee liue: as chastened, and yet not killed:

10 As sorowing, and yet alway reioycing: as poore, and yet make many rich: as hauing nothing, and yet possessing all things.

11 6 O Corinthians, our mouth is g open vnto you: our heart is made large.

12 Yee are not h kept straite in vs, but yee are kept straite in your owne i bowels.

13 Nowe for the same recompence, I speeke as to my children, Be you also inlarged.

14 7 Be not vnequally yoked with the infidels: for ✣ what fellowship hath righteousnes with vnrighteousnesse? and what communion hath light with darkenesse?

15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what k part hath the beleeuer with the infidel?

16 And what agrement hath the Temple of God with idoles? for ∴ ye are the Temple of the l liuing God: as God hath said, ∴ I will m dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

17 ✣ Wherefore come out from among them, and seperate your selues, sayeth the Lorde, and touch none vncleane thing, and I wil receiue you.

18 * And I will be a father vnto you, and yee shall be my sonnes and daughters, saith the Lorde almightie.

2 16 Receiue vs: wee haue done wrong to no man: wee haue corrupted no man: wee haue defrauded no man.

3 I speake it not to your c condemnation: for I haue said before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and liue together.

4 I vse great boldnesse of speech toward you: I reioice greatly in you. I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but wee were troubled on euery side, fightings without, and terrours within.

6 But God that comforteth the d abiect, comforted vs at the e comming of Titus.

7 And not by his comming onely, but also by the consolation wherewith he was comforted of you, whe he told vs your great desire, your mourning, your feruent minde to meeward, so that I reioyced much more.

8 2 For though I made you sorie with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceiue that the same Epistle made you sorie, though it were but for a season.

9 I now reioyce, not that yee were sorie, but that ye sorowed to f repentance: for ye sorowed godly, so that in nothing ye were hurt by vs.

10 For godly sorowe causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to be repented of: but the worldly sorow causeth death.

11 For behold, this thing that yee haue bene godly sory, what great care hath it wrought in you: yea, what clearing of your selues: yea, what indignation: yea, what feare: yea, how great desire: yea, what a zeale: yea, what reuenge: in all things yee haue shewed your selues, that yee are pure in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did not it for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the iniurie, but that our care to warde you in the h sight of God might appeare vnto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted, because ye were comforted: but rather wee reioyced much more for the ioy of Titus, because his spirite was refreshed by you all.

14 For if that I haue boasted any thing to him of you, I haue not bene ashamed: but as I haue spoken vnto you all things in trueth, euen so our boasting vnto Titus was true.

15 And his inwarde affection is more aboundant toward you, when he remembreth the obedience of you all, and howe with feare and trembling ye receiued him.

16 I reioyce therefore that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

3 He sheweth the Corinthians a paterne of a true minister, in his owne example and Timothies & Sylvanus, to the ende, that (as he purposed from the beginning) he might procure authoritie to himselfe and his like.
b Declare and shew in deede.
✣ 1.Cor.4.1.
4 Hee first of all reckoneth vp those things, which are neither alwayes in the ministers, nor without exceptio, vnles it be according to the affection of the mind, patience onely except, which also is one of the vertues which ought to be alwayes in a good minister.
c In suffring to and fro, finding no place of rest and quietnesse.
5 Secondly, he reckoneth vp such vertues as are necessarie, and ought alwayes bee in them, and whereby as by good armour, all letets and hinderances may be ouercome.
d Preaching of the Gospell.
e Power to worke miracles, and to bring vnder the wicked.
f Vprightnesse.
6 Going about to rebuke them, he saith first that he dealeth with them sincerely and with an open and plaine heart, and therewithall complaineth that they doe not the like in louing againe their Father. g The opening of the mouth and heart, betokeneth a most earnest affection in him that speaketh, as it falleth commonly with them that are in some great ioy. h You are in my heart, as in an house, and that no narrow or straite house, for I haue opened my whole heart to you, but you are inwardly straite laced to meward. i After the maner of the Hebrewes, he calleth those tender affections which rest in the heart, bowels. 7 Now he rebuketh them boldely, for that they became fellowes with infidels in outward Idolatrie, as though it were a thing indifferent. And this is the fourth part of this Epistle, the conclusion whereof is, that such as the Lord hath vouchsafed the name of his children, must keepe themselues pure, not onely in minde, but also in body, that they may wholy be holy vnto the Lord. ✣ Ecclesi. 23.18. k What can there be betweene them? ∴ 1.Corin.3.16. and 6.19. l Hee setteth the liuing God against Idoles. ✣ *Lenit.*26.11. m God dwelleth with vs, because Christ is become God with vs. ✣ *Isai.*52.11. * *Jerem.*31.1.

CHAP. VII.

1 Lest by ourmuch vrging them he should dismay their tender minder, 2 he prouideth that all that he said, 4 proceeded of the great good will he bare vnto them: 8 and therfore they should not bee offended, that he made them sory, 10 and brought them to repentance not to be repented of.

SEing then we haue these promises, dearely beloued, let vs cleanse our selues from al filthines of the a flesh and spirit, and finish our sanctification in the feare of God.

a Both of body and soule, that by this meanes the sanctification may be perfite consisting in both the parties thereof.

1 He returneth againe from that admonition, to his owne person, opposing the testimonies both of his faithfulnes and also of his continuall good will toward them.
b Let mee haue some place among st you, that I may teach you.
c To condemne you of vnkindnesse or trecherie.
d Whose hearts are cast downe, and are very farre spent.
e With those things which Titus told me of you at his comming, to wit, how fruitfully you reade ouer my letters, moreouer & besides that I am exceedingly refreshed with his presence.
2 An obiection: But thou hast handled vs roughly: The Apostle answereth that he vsed not this roughnes without griefe. And he addeth moreouer, that he is also glad now that hee drawe them to that sorowe although it was against his wil, since it was so profitable vnto them: for there is a sorowe not only praise worthy but also necessary, to wit, whereby repeatance groweth by certaine degrees, for the which repentance he prayseth them highly. And this is the fifth part of this Epistle.
f In somuch that that sorow did you much good toward the amending of your lewdnesse and sinnes.
g Godly sorow is when we are not terrified with the feare of punishment, but because we feele we haue offended God our most mercifull Father: Contrary to this, there is one other sorow, that onely feareth punishments, or when a man is vexed for the losse of some worldly goods: the source of the first, is repentance, the fruit of the second, is desperation, vnlesse the Lord helpe speedily. h It was not coloured nor counterfeit, but such as I dare stand to before God.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He exhorteth the by the example of the Macedonians, 9 and also euen of Christ himself, 14 to bee liberall towardes the Saintes: 16 For which purpose, he sheweth that Titus, 18 and another brother came vnto them.

WE i doe you also to wit, brethren, of the a grace of God bestowed vpon ỹ Churches to stirre vp the Corinthians to liberalitie, wherewith the poueretie of the Church of Hierusalem might be holpen in time conuenient. And first of all he setteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia, which otherwise were brought by great miserie to extreme pouertie, to the ende, that they should follow them. a The benefite that God bestowed vpon the Churches.

ches of Macedonia,

2 Because in [b] great triall of affliction their ioy abounded, and their most extreeme pouertie abounded vnto their rich liberalitie.

3 For to their power, (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power, they were [c] willing,

4 And prayed vs with great instance that wee would receiue the [d] grace, and fellowship of the ministring which is toward the Saints.

5 [2] And this they did, not as we looked for: but gaue their owne selues, first to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God,

6 That we should exhort Titus, that as hee had begun, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in euery thing, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your loue towardes vs, euen so see that ye abound in this grace also.

8 [3] This say I not by commandement, but because of the [e] diligence of others: therefore proue I the naturalnesse of your loue.

9 [4] For ye knowe the grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ, that he being rich, for your sakes became poore, that ye through his pouertie might be made rich.

10 [5] And I shewe my minde herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begun not to doe onely, but also to g will, a yeere agoe.

11 Now therefore performe to doe it also, that as there was a readinesse to will, euen so ye may performe it of that which ye haue.

12 For if there be first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 [7] Neither u is that other men should be eased and you grieued. But vpon [h] like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke:

14 That also their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitie:

15 As it is written, ✣ He that gathered much, had nothing ouer, and he that gathered litle, had not the lesse.

16 [8] And thankes be vnto God, which hath put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.

17 Because he accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so carefull that of his owne accord hee went vnto you.

18 And wee haue sent also with him the brother, whose praise u [i] in the Gospel throughout al the Churches,

CHAP. IX.

1 Why albeit he thinke well of their ready willes, 3 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 hee yeeldeth a reason: 6 He compareth almes to seede sowing, 10 which God doeth repaie with great gaine.

FOr [1] as touching the ministring to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you.

2 For I knowe your readinesse of minde, whereof I boast my selfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yeere agoe, and your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Now haue I sent the brethren, lest our reioycing ouer you should bee in vaine in this behalfe, that ye (as I haue say d) be readie:

4 Lest if they of Macedonia come with mee, and finde you vnprepared, we (that wee may not say, you) should be ashamed in this my [a] constant boasting.

5 Wherefore I thought it necessarie to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finish your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might bee readie, and come as of beneuolence, and not as of [b] niggardlinesse.

6 [2] This yet remember, that he which soweth sparingly, shall reape also sparingly, and hee that soweth liberally, shall reape also liberally.

7 As euery man [c] wisheth in his heart, so let him giue, not ✣ [d] grudgingly, or of [e] necessitie: ✣ for God loueth a cheerefull giuer.

8 And God is able to make [f] all grace to abound toward you, that ye alwayes hauing al sufficiencie in al things, may abound in euery [g] good worke,

5 He taketh good heed that he seeme not to wrest it out of them by constraint, for vnlesse it be voluntarie, God doeth not accept it.

g Not onely to doe, but also to doe willingly: for he noteth out a ready willingnes, without any inforcement by any other men, much lesse came it of ambition and vaine glory.

6 Against such as vse to excuse them selues, because they are not rich, as though it were onely proper to rich men to helpe the poore.

2 Hee sheweth with what constaience, 4 with what weapons, 6 and with what reuenge he is armed against the cauillations of the wicked, 7 and that, when he is present, his deedes haue no lesse power, 11 Then his wordes haue force, when hee is absent.

1 Hee returneth to the defence of his Apostleship, but so that hee vseth his authoritie therein: for hee warneth them earnestly & gravely, vsing also terrible threatnings to shew themselues such as are apt to be instructed. And he refelleth certain prouide men which made no better accompt of him, then of a bragging Thraso, in that he vsed to be sharpe against them when he was absent because they saw no great maiestie in him after the maner of men, & besides, had prooued his lenitie, notwithstanding that in his absence, he had written to them sharpely. Therefore first of all he protesteth that he was gentle and moderate, but after the example of Christ: but if they continue still to despise his gentlenes, hee protesteth vnto them that he will shew indeed how sore they are deceiued, which make that accompt of the office of an Apostle, that they

13 But we wil not reioyce of things, which are not within our [l] measure, ✣ but according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed vnto vs a measure to attaine euen vnto you.

14 For we stretch not our selues beyond our measure, as though wee had not attained vnto you: for euen to you also haue we come in preaching the Gospel of Christ,

15 Not boasting of things which are [m] without our measure: that is, of other mens labours: & we hope, when your faith shal increase, to be magnified by you according to our line abundantly,

5 An amplificatiō: so farre is hee from being ashamed of this act, that he hath also resolued with him selfe to doe no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that it may alwayes be truely sayd, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he disdained the Corinthians, but that these Thrasoes may neuer finde the occasion which they haue already sought for, and hee in the meane season may set some thing before them to follow, that at length they may truely say, that they are like to Paul.

9 He addeth this in conclusion further, that the Corinthians might be ashamed to despise him, vpon whose care, almost all Churches depended, as it was plainely seene by experience.

18 I haue deſired Titus, and with him I haue ſent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the ſelfe ſame ſpirit? walked we not in the ſame ſteps?

19 [7] Againe, thinke yee that wee excuſe our ſelues vnto you? we ſpeake before God in [n] Chriſt. But we doe all things, dearely beloued, for your edifying.

20 [8] For I feare leſt when I come, I ſhall not finde you ſuch as I would: and that I ſhalbe found vnto you ſuch as ye would not, and leſt there be ſtrife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whiſperings, ſwellings, and diſcord.

21 I feare leſt when I come againe, my God abaſe me among you, and I ſhall bewaile many of them which haue ſinned already, and haue not repented of the vncleanneſſe, and fornication, and wantonneſſe which they haue committed.

4 Hee concludeth, that hee will onely ſet his miſeries againſt the vaine bragges of the falſe apoſtles, and therewith alſo excuſeth himſelfe, for that by their importunitie, he was conſtrained to ſpeake ſo much of theſe things as hee did: to wit, becauſe that if his Apoſtleſhip were ſubuerted, his doctrine muſt needes fall.

i That I might feele the vertue of Chriſt more and more: For the weaker that our tabernacles are, the more doth Chriſts vertue appeare in them.

k I doe not onely take them patiently and with a good heart, but alſo I take great pleaſure in them.

5 Againe he maketh the Corinthians witneſſes of thoſe things whereby God had ſealed his Apoſtleſhippe amongſt them, and againe hee declareth by certaine argoments, howe farre hee is from all conteuouſneſſe, and alſo howe hee is affectioned towards them.

l The argoments whereby it may well appeare, that Paul in deede an Apoſtle of Ieſus Chriſt.

✣ Chap. 11. 9.

m I was not ſlouthfull in getting my liuing with mine owne hands, that I might not bee burdenſome to you.

6 Hee putteth away another moſt grieuous ſlaunder, to wit, that he did ſubtilly and by others, make his gaine and profite of them. 7 He concludeth, that hee writeth not theſe things vnto them, as though he needed to defende himſelfe, for he is guiltie of nothing: but becauſe it is behoueable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelitie who inſtructed them. n As is becommeth him to ſpeake truely and ſincerely, that profeſſeth himſelfe to be in Chriſt, that is to ſay, to be a Chriſtian. 8 Hauing confirmed his authoritie vnto them he rebuketh them ſharply, and threatneth them alſo like an Apoſtle, ſhewing that he will not ſpare them hereafter, vnleſſe they repent, ſeeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Comming the third time, 2 hee denounceth the ſharper vengeance towarder them, 5 who haue a perfect triall of the power of Chriſt in his Apoſtleſhip: 10 4: length he prayeth for their repentance, 11 And wiſheth them proſperitie.

LO this a the third time that I come vnto you. ✣ In the mouth of two or three witneſſes ſhal euery word ſtand.

✣ Deut. 19. 15. matth. 18. 16. ioh. 8. 17. hebr. 10. 28.

2 I tolde you before, and tell you before: as though I had bene preſent the ſecond time, ſo write I now being abſent to them which heretofore haue ſinned and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not ſpare, a A moſt ſharpe reprehenſion, for that, while they deſpiſe the Apoſtles admonitions, they tempt Chriſtes owne patience: and alſo while they contemne him as wretched and miſerable, they lay nothing herein againſt him, which is not common to him with Chriſt.

3 [1] Seeing that ye ſeeke experience of Chriſt, that ſpeaketh in mee, which toward you is not weake, but is [a] mightie in you.

a And will be moſt mightie to be reuenged of you, when neede ſhalbe

4 For though hee was crucified concerning b his infirmitie, yet liueth he through the power of God. And we no doubt are weake in him, but we ſhal liue with him, through the power of God toward you.

b As touching the baſe forme of a ſeruant which hee tooke vpon him when he abaſed himſelfe.

5 ✣ [2] Proue your ſelues whether ye are in the faith: examine your ſelues: knowe yee not your owne ſelues, how that Ieſus Chriſt is in you, except ye be reprobates?

✣ 1. Cor. 11. 28.

6 [3] But I truſt that yee ſhall know that wee are not reprobates.

2 He confirmeth that which hee ſpake of the vertue of God appearing in his miniſterie, and he gathereth by the mutuall relation betweene the peoples faith, and the miniſters preaching, that they muſt either reuerence his Apoſtleſhip, vpon whoſe doctrine their faith is grounded, or they muſt condemne themſelues of infidelitie, and muſt confeſſe themſelues not to be of 7 Nowe I pray vnto God that yee doe none euill, not that we ſhould ſeeme approued, but that ye ſhould doe that which is honeſt: though wee be as [c] reprobates.

8 For wee can not doe any thing againſt the trueth, but for the trueth.

9 For we are glad when wee are weake, and that ye are ſtrong: this alſo we wiſh for, euen your [d] perfection.

10 Therefore write I theſe things being abſent, leſt when I am preſent, I ſhould vſe ſharpneſſe, according to the power which the Lorde hath giuen mee, to edification, and not to deſtruction.

11 [4] Finally brethren, fare ye wel: be perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace ſhalbe with you.

12 [5] Greete one another with an [e] holy kiſſe. All the Saints ſalute you.

13 The grace of our Lorde Ieſus Chriſt, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghoſt be with with you all, Amen.

Chriſtes body. 3 Hee mitigateth that ſharpeneſſe, truſting that they will ſhewe themſelues towards their faithfull Apoſtle, apt and willing to be taught: adding this moreouer, that he paſſeth not for his owne fame and eſtimation, ſo that hee may ſerue to their ſaluation, which is the onely marke that he ſhooteth at. c In mens iudgement. d That all things may bee in good order amongſt you, and the members of the Church reſtored into their place, which haue bene ſhaken and out of place. 4 A briefe exhortation, but yet ſuch an one as comprehendeth all the partes of a Chriſtian mans life. 5 He ſalueth them familiarly, and in concluſion wiſheth well vnto them. ✣ 1 Cor. 16. 20.

¶ The ſecond Epiſtle to the Corinthians written from Philippi, a citie in Macedonia, and ſent by Titus and Lucas.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAVL TO THE GALATIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 Straight after the salutation, 6 He reprehendeth the Galatians for revolting 9 from his Gospell, 15 which he received from God, 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

1 A salutation comprehending in few words, the summe of the Apostles doctrine, and also besides straightway from the beginning, shewing the grauitie meete for the authoritie of an Apostle, which he had to maintaine against the false apostles.

a He sheweth who is the author of the ministerie generally: for herein the whole ministerie agreeth, that whether they be Apostles, or Shepheards, or Doctours, they are appointed of God.

b He toucheth the first especiall cause: for this is a peculiar prerogative to the Apostles, to be called immediatly from Christ.

✣ Titus 1.3.

c Christ no doubt is man, but hee is God also, and head of the Church, and in this respect to be exempted out of the number of men.

PAVL [1] an Apostle (not [a] of men, neither by [b] man, ✣ but by [c] Iesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead)

2 And all the brethren which are with me, vnto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Iesus Christ,

4 [2] Which gaue him selfe for our sinnes, that he might deliuer vs ✣ from this present euil [d] world according to the will of God euen our Father,

5 To whom be glory for euer and euer, Amen.

6 [3] I marueile that ye are so soone [e] remooued away vnto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

7 ✣ Which is not another Gospel, saue that there bee some which trouble you, and intend to [f] peruert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that we, or an Angel from heauen preach vnto you otherwise, then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him be accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now againe, If any man preach vnto you otherwise, then that ye haue receiued, let him be accursed.

10 [5] For nowe preach I [h] mans doctrine, or Gods? or go I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the seruant of Christ.

11 ✣ [6] Now I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of me, was not after man.

12 For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the [i] reuelation of Iesus Christ.

13 [7] For ye haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Iewish religion, howe that ✣ I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it, 14 And profited in the Iewish religion aboue many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the [k] traditions of my fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had [l] separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace)

16 To reueile his Sonne [m] in me, that I should preach him ✣ among the Gentiles, immediatly, [8] I communicated not with [n] flesh and blood:

17 Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damascus.

18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hierusalem to visite Peter, and abode with him fifteene dayes.

19 And none other of the Apostles sawe I, saue Iames the Lords brother.

20 Nowe the things which I write vnto you, beholde, I witnesse [o] before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was vnknown by face vnto the Churches of Iudea, which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard onely some say, Hee which persecuted vs in time past, nowe preacheth the [p] faith which before he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

2 A consummation taken both from the nature of the doctrine it selfe, & also from that maner which he vsed in teaching: for neither, saith he, did I teach those things which pleased men as these men doe which put part of saluation in externall things, and workes of the Law, neither went I about to procure any mans fauour. And therefore the matter it selfe sheweth that that doctrine which I deliuered vnto you, is heauenly.

h He toucheth the false apostles, who had nothing but men in their mouthes, and bee, though hee would derogate nothing from the Apostles, preacheth God and not men.

✣ 1.Cor.15.1.

3 A second argument to proue that his doctrine is heauenly, because he had it from heauen, from Iesus Christ himselfe, without any mans helpe, wherein he excelleth them whom Christ taught here on earth after the maner of men.

i This place is to be vnderstoode of an extraordinary reuelation, for otherwise the Scripture alone reuealed his Gospel by his Spirite, although by the ministerie of men, which Paul shutteth out here.

7 Hee prooueth that he was extraordinarily taught of Christ himselfe, by the historie of his former life, which the Galatians themselues knewe well ynough: for saith hee, it is well knowen in what schoole I was brought vp, euen from a childe, to wit, amongst the deadly enemies of the Gospel. And that no man may cauill and say that I was a scholer of the Pharises in name onely and not in deede, no man is ignorant, howe that I excelled in Phatisaisme, and was suddenly made of a Phatise, an Apostle of the Gentiles, so that I had no space to be instructed of men.

✣ Acts 9.1.

k He calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, because hee was not only a Pharise himselfe, but also had a Pharise to his father.

l He speaketh of Gods euerlasting predestination, whereby hee appointed him to be an Apostle, whereof he maketh three degrees, the euerlasting counsaile of God, his appointing from his mothers wombe, and his calling: here is no mention at all, we see, of works foreseene in him, and this is a kinde of speech which the Hebrues vse, whereby this is giuen vs to vnderstand, that this grace commeth from God.

✣ Ephes.3.8.

8 Because it might be obiected, that in deede he was called of Christ in the way, but afterwards was instructed of the Apostles and others, whose names (as I said before) the false apostles abused to destroy his Apostleship, as though he deliuered another Gospel then the true Apostles did, and as though hee were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul answereth, that he began straightway after his calling to preach the Gospel at Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Hierusalem but onely fifteene dates, where he saw onely Peter and Iames, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the Churches of the Iewes, which knew him only by name, so farre off was it, that hee was there instructed of them.

m With any man in the world.

o This is a kinde of othe.

p The doctrine of faith.

CHAP. II.

1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospel, 3 he declareth by the example of Titus being uncircumcised, 11 and also by his admonishing the same against Peters dissimulation: 17 And so he passeth to the handling of our free iustification by Christ, &c.

1 Then [1] fourteene yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.

2 And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, lest by any meanes I should runne, or had runne [a] in vaine:

3 But neither yet Titus which was with me, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised,

4 To wit, for the [b] false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in priuily to spie out our libertie, which wee haue in Christ Iesus, that they

1 Now he sheweth how he agreeth with the Apostles with whom he granteth that he conferred touching his Gospel which hee taught among the Gentiles, fourteene yeeres after his conuersion, and they alowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormented them selues therein, which traiterously laide waite against him, but did they adde the least iote that might be to the doctrine which hee had preached, but contrariwise they gaue to him and Barnabas the right handes of fellowship, and acknowledged them as Apostles appointed of the Lord to the Gentiles.

a Vnfruitfully, for as touching his doctrine, Paul doubted not of it, but because there were certaine reports cast abroad of him, that hee was of another opinion then the rest of the Apostles were, which thing might haue hindered the course of the Gospel, therefore hee laboured to remedie this sore.

b Which by deceit, and commission crept in amongst the faithfull.

might bring vs into bondage.

5 To whome we gaue not place by [c] subiection for an houre, that the [d] trueth of the Gospell might continue with [e] you.

6 But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoeuer they were in time passed, I am nothing the better: ✣ God accepteth no mans person) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me aboue that I had.

7 But contrariwise, when they sawe that the Gospel ouer the [f] vncircumcision was committed vnto me, as the Gospel ouer the circumcision was vnto Peter:

8 (For he that was mightie by Peter in the Apostleship ouer the circumcision, was also mighty by me toward the Gentiles)

9 And when Iames, and Cephas, and Iohn, knew of the grace that was giuen vnto me, which are [g] counted to be pillars, they gaue to me and to Barnabas the right [h] hands of fellowship, that we should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the circumcision,

10 Warning onely that we should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to Antiochia, I withstood him to his [i] face: for hee was to bee condemned.

12 [2] For before that certaine came from Iames, hee ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himselfe, fearing them which were of the circumcision.

13 And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewise with him, in so much that Barnabas was [k] led away with them by that their hypocrisie.

14 But when I saw, that they went not the [l] right way to the [m] trueth of the Gospel, I said vnto Peter before all men, If thou being a Iewe, liuest as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why [n] constrainest thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?

15 [3] We which are Iewes [o] by nature, and not [p] sinners of the Gentiles, 16 Knowe that a man is not iustified by the works of the Law, but by [q] faith of Iesus Christ, euen we, I say, haue believed in Iesus Christ, that we might be iustified by the faith of Christ, & not by the workes of the Lawe, because that by the workes of the Lawe, [r] no flesh shalbe iustified.

17 ✣ [4] If then while [s] we seeke to be made righteous by Christ, we our selues are found sinners, is Christ therfore the minister of sinne? God forbid.

18 For if I build againe the things that I haue destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser.

19 For I through the Lawe am dead to the [t] Lawe, that I might liue vnto God.

20 I am crucified with Christ, but I liue, yet not [u] I any more, but Christ liueth in me: and in that that I nowe liue in the [x] flesh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued mee, and giuen himselfe for me.

21 5 I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousnesse be by the Lawe, then Christ died without a [y] cause.

c By submitting our selues to them, and betraying our owne libertie.
d The true and sincere doctrine of the Gospel, which remained safe from being corrupt with any of these mens false doctrines.
e Vnder the Galathians name, he vnderstandeth all nations.
✣ Deuter. 10.17. 2.chro.19.7.iob 34. 19. act.10.34.rom. 2.11. ephes.6.9.col. 3.25. 1.pet.1.17.
f Among the Gentiles, as Peter had to preach it among the Iewes.
g Whom alone and only these me count for pillars of the Church, and whose name they abuse to deceiue you.
h They gaue vs their hand in token that wee agreed wholly to the doctrine of the Gospel.
i Before all men.
2 Another most vehement proofe of his Apostleship, and also of that doctrine, which he had deliuered concerning free iustification by faith onely, because that for this thing only he reprehended Peter at Antioch, who offended herein, in that for a fewe Iewes sakes which came from Hierusalem, hee played the Iewe, and offended the Gentiles which had believed.
k By example thereof then by iudgement.
l Word for word, with a right foote, which he setteth against halting and dissembling which is backeward.
m He calleth the trueth of the Gospel both the doctrine it selfe, & also the vse of the doctrine, which we call the practise.
n He saith they were constrained, which played the Iewes by Peters example.
3 The second part of this epistle, the state whereof is this: we are iustified by faith in Christ Iesus without ỹ worke of ỹ Law. Which thing he propoundeth in such sort, that first of all he meeteth with an obiection, (for I also saith he am a Iewe, that no man may say against me, that I am an enemie to the Law) and afterward he confirmeth it by the expresse witnesse of Dauid.
o Although we be Iewes, yet we preach iustification by faith, because we know vndoubtedly, that no man can be iustified by the Lawe.
p So the Iewes called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from Gods couenant.
q In Iesus Christ.
r No man, and in this word (flesh) there is a great vehemencie, whereby is meant that the nature of man is vtterly corrupt.
✣ Rom.3.19
4 Before hee goeth any further, hee meeteth with their obiection, which abhorred this doctrine of free iustification by faith, because say they, men are by this meanes withdrawen from the study of good works. And in this sort is the obiection: If sinners should be iustified through Christ by faith without the Lawe, Christ should approue sinners and should as it were exhort them thereunto by his ministerie. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroieth sinne in the beleeuers: For so saith he, do men flee vnto Christ through the terrour and feare of the Lawe, that being quit from the curse of the Lawe and iustified, they may bee saued by him, that together therewithall, hee beginneth in them by little and little, that strength and power of his which destroyeth sinne: to the ende that this olde man being abolished by the vertue of Christ crucified, Christ may liue in them, and they may consecrate themselues to God. Therefore if any man giue himselfe to sinne after hee hath receiued the Gospel, let him not accuse Christ nor the Gospel, but himselfe, for that hee destroyeth the worke of God in himselfe.
s Hee goeth from iustification to sanctification, which is another benefite we receiue by Christ, if we lay holde on him by faith.
t The Lawe that terrifieth the conscience, bringeth vs to Christ, and he only causeth vs to die to the Law in deed, because that by making vs righteous, hee taketh away from vs the terrour of conscience, and by iustifying vs, causeth through the mortifying of lust in vs, that it cannot take such occasion to sinne by the restraint which the Lawe maketh, as it did before, Rom.7.10,11.
u The same that I was before.
x In this mortall body.
5 The second argument taken of an absurditie: If men may bee iustified by the Lawe, then was it not necessary for Christ to die.
y For there was no cause why he should doe so.

CHAP. III.

1 He rebuketh them, for suffering themselues to be drawen from the grace of free iustification in Christ, most liuely set out vnto them. 6 He bringeth in Abrahams example, 10 declaring the effect, 21 and cause of the giuing of the Lawe.

O [1] Foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the trueth, to whom Iesus Christ before was described in your [a] sight, and among you crucified?

2 This onely would I learne of you, Receiued ye the [b] Spirit by the workes of the Lawe, or by the hearing of [c] faith preached?

3 [2] Are ye so foolish, that after ye haue begun in the Spirit, ye would nowe be made perfect by the [d] flesh?

4 [3] Haue ye sustained so many things in vaine? if so be it be euen in vaine.

5 [4] Hee therefore that ministreth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it through the workes of the Lawe, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 [5] Yea rather as [c] Abraham beleeued God, and it was ✣ imputed to him for righteousnesse.

7 [6] Know ye therefore, that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.

8 [7] For the Scripture foreseeing, that God would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel vnto Abraham, saying, ✣ [8] In thee shall all the Gentiles be [f] blessed.

9 [9] So then they which be of faith, are blessed [g] with faithfull Abraham.

1 The third reason or argument taken of those giftes of the holy Ghost, wherewith they were indued from heauen after they had heard and beleeued the Gospel by Pauls ministerie: which seeing they were so euident to all mens eyes, that they were at it were liuely images, wherein they might behold the trueth of the doctrine of the Gospel, no lesse then if they had beheld with their eyes Christ himselfe crucified, in whose onely death they ought to haue their trust, he marueileth howe it could be that they could be so bewitched by the false apostles.
a Christ was layde before you so notably & so plainely, that you had his liuely image as it were represented before your eyes, as if he had bene crucified before you.
b Those spirituall graces and giftes, which were a seale as it were to the Galatians, that the Gospel which was preached to them was true.
c Of the doctrine of faith.
2 The fourth argument mixed with the former, and it is double. If the Lawe be to be ioyned with faith, this were not to go forward, but backward, seeing that those spirituall gifts which were bestowed vpo you, are more excellent then any that could proceed from your selues. And moreouer, it should follow, that ỹ Law is better then Christ because it should perfite and bring to ende that, which Christ began onely.
d By the (flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spirituall working of the Gospel.
3 An exhortation by maner of vpbraiding, that they do not in vaine suffer so many conflicts.
4 He repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effects, because he had interlaced certaine other arguments by the way.
5 The fift argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds. The first, That Abraham was iustified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousnesse according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doth most plainely witnesse.
e Looke Rom.4. ✣ Gen.15.6.rom.4.3.iames 2.23.
6 The second, that the sonnes of Abraham must be esteemed & accounted of by faith.
7 The third, that all people that beleeue are without exception, comprehended in the promise of the blessing.
✣ Gene.12.3. Acts 3.25.
8 A proofe of the first and second grounds, out of the wordes of Moses.
f Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith.
9 The conclusion of the fifth argument: Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say al the Gentiles that beleeue) blessed, that is to say, freely iustified.
g With faithfull Abraham, and not by faithfull Abraham, to giue vs to vnderstand that the blessing commeth not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posteritie is blessed.

10 The first argument, the conclusion whereof is also in the former verse taken of contraries, thus, They are accursed which are of the workes of the Law, that is to say, which value their righteousnesse by the performance of the Law. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith, that is, they which haue righteousnesse by faith.

11 A proofe of the former sentence or proposition, and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is he that fulfilleth not the whole Law. ✣ Deut.27.26.

12 The second proposition with the conclusion: but no man fulfilleth the Law, Therefore no man is iustified by the Law, or els, All are accursed which seeke righteousnes by the works of the Law. And there is annexed also this maner of proofe of the second proposition, to wit, Righteousnesse & life are attributed to faith, Therefore no man fulfilleth the Law. ✣ Hab.2.4 rom.1.17.heb.10.38. 13 Here is a reason shewed of the former consequence: Because the Law promiseth life to all that keepe it, and therefore if it be kept, it iustifieth and giueth life. But the Scripture attributing righteousnesse and life to faith, taketh it from the Law, seeing that faith iustifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the worke. ∴ Lev.18.5.

14 A preuenting of an obiection: How then can they be blessed, whom the Law pronounceth to be accursed? Because Christ susteined the curse which the Law laid vpon vs, that we might be quit from it. 15 A proofe of the answere by the testimonie of Mos. ✣ Deut.21.23. b Christ was accursed for vs, because he bare the curse that was due to vs, to make vs partakers of his righteousnesse. 16 A conclusion of all that was said before in the handling of the fift and sixt reasons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free blessing of Abraham in Christ, and also that the Iewes themselues, of whose number the Apostle counteth himselfe to be, cannot obteine that promised grace of the Gospel, which he calleth the Spirit, but only by faith. And the Apostle doth seuerally apply the conclusion both to the one and the other, preparing himselfe a way to the next argument; whereby he declareth, that that one onely seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples, can no otherwise be ioyned and grow vp together, but by faith in Christ. 17 He putteth forth two generall rules before the next argument, which is the seuenth in order: The one is, that it is not lawfull to breake couenants & contracts which are iustly made & according to Law, amongst men, neither may any thing be added vnto them: The other is, that God did so make a couenant with Abraham, that hee would gather together his children which consist both of Iewes & Gentiles in one body (as appeareth by that which hath bene said before) For he did not say, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his seedes, (which thing notwithstanding should haue bene said, if he had many & diuers seeds, as the Gentiles apart, and the Iewes apart) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his seed, as of one. I will vse an example which is common amongst you, that you may be ashamed you giue not so much to Gods couenants, as you do to mans. ✣ Heb.9.17. k Auctentically, as we call it. 18 He putteth forth the summe of the seuenth argument, to wit, that both the Iewes and Gentiles grow together into one body of the seed of Abraham, in Christ onely. So that all are one Christ, as it is afterward declared, verse.28. I Paul speaketh not of Christ person, but of two peoples, which grew together in one, in Christ. 19 The eight argument taken of comparison, thus: If a mans couenant (being authentically) be firme and strong, much more Gods couenant. Therfore the Law was not giuen to abrogate the promise made to Abraham, which had respect to Christ, that is to say, the end whereof did hang on Christ. m Which tended to Christ. 20 An enlarging of that argument thus: Moreouer & besides that the promise is of it selfe firme and strong, it was also confirmed with the prescription of long time, to wit, of 430 yeres so that it could in no wise be broken. 21 An obiection: We grant that the promise was not abrogated by the couenant of the Law, and therfore we ioyne the Law with the promise. Nay saith the Apostle, these two can not stand together, to wit, that the inheritance should both be giuen by the Law and also by promise, for the promise is free: whereby it followeth, that the Law was not giuen to iustifie, for by that meanes the promise should be broken. n By this word (inheritance) is meant the right of the seed, which is, that God should be our God, that is to say, that by vertue of the conenant that was made with faithfull Abraham, we that be faithfull, might by that meanes be blessed of God as well as he.

10 For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: 11 for it is written, ✣ Cursed is euery man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to do them.

11 12 And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is euident: ✣ for the iust shall liue by faith.

12 13 And the Lawe is not of faith: but ∴ the man that shall do those things, shall liue in them.

13 14 Christ hath redeemed vs from the curse of the Law, made a curse for vs, (15 for it is written, ✣ h Cursed is euery one that hangeth on tree)

14 16 That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that wee might receiue the promise of the Spirite through faith.

15 17 Brethren, I speake as i men do: ✣ though it be but a mans couenant, when it is k confirmed, yet no man doeth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto.

16 Nowe to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, And to the seeds, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seed, as of one, 18 which is l Christ.

17 19 And this I say, that the couenant that was confirmed afore of God m in respect of Christ, the 20 Lawe which was foure hundreth and thirtie yeeres after, can not disanull, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 21 For if the n inheritance be of the Lawe, it is no more by the promise, but God gaue it freely vnto Abraham by promise.

19 22 Wherefore then serueth the Law? It was added because of the o transgressions, p till the seed came, vnto the which the promise was made: 23 and it was q ordeined by r Angels in the hand of a Mediatour.

20 Nowe a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: 24 but God is one.

21 25 Is the Lawe then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had bene a Law giuen which could haue giuen life, surely righteousnesse should haue bene by the Law.

22 But the s Scripture hath ✣ concluded t all vnder sinne, that the u promise by the faith of Iesus Christ should be giuen to them that beleeue.

23 26 But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Law, as vnder a garison, and shut vp vnto x that faith, which should afterward be reueiled.

24 Wherefore the Law was our scholemaster to bring vs to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer vnder a scholemaker.

26 27 For ye are all the sonnes of God by faith, in Christ Iesus.

27 28 For all ye that are y baptized into Christ, haue z put on Christ.

28 There is neither Iew nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all a one in Christ Iesus.

29 And if ye be Christes, then are ye Abrahams seed, and heires by promise.

22 An obiection which riseth of the former answere: If the inheritance be not by the Lawe (at the least in part) then why was the Lawe giuen, after that the promise was made? Therefore, saith the Apostle, to repone men of sinne, and so teach them to looke vnto Christ, in whom at length the promise of saluation all people together, should be fulfilled, and not that the Law was giuen to iustifie men.

o That men might vnderstand, by discouering of their sinnes, that they are saued by thy onely grace of God, which he reuealed to Abraham, and that in Christ.

p Vntill the partition wall was broken downe, and that full seed sprang vp, framed of two peoples, both of Iewes and Gentiles: for by this word seed, wee may not vnderstand, Christ alone by himselfe, but coupled and ioyned together with his bodie.

23 A confirmation of the former answere taken from the maner & forme of giuing the Law: for it was giuen by Angels, striking a great terrour into all, and by Moses a Mediatour comming betweene. Now they that are one, need no Mediatour, but they that are twaine at the least, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Law it selfe and the Mediatour were witnesses of the wrath of God, and not that God would by this meanes reconcile men to himselfe, and abolish the promise, or adde the Law vnto the promise.

q Commanded and giuen, or proclaimed. r By the seruice and ministerie. 24 A taking away of an obiection, least any man might say, that sometimes by consent of the parties which haue made a couenant, something is added to the couenant, or the former couenants are broken. This, saith the Apostle, commeth to passe in God, who is alwayes one, and the selfe same, and like himselfe. 25 The conclusion vttered by a maner of asking a question, and it is the same that was vttered before, verse 17. but proceeding of another rule: so that the argument is new, and is this: God is alwayes like vnto himselfe: Therfore the Law was not giuen to abolish the promises. But it should abolish them if it gaue life, for by that meanes it should iustifie, and therefore it should abolish that iustification which was promised to Abraham and to his seed by faith. Nay it was rather giuen to bring to light the guiltinesse of all men, to the end that all beleeuers fleeing to Christ promised, might be freely iustified in him.

s By this word, Scripture, he meaneth the Law. ✣ Rom.3.9. t All men, and whatsoeuer commeth from man. u In euery one of these words, there lieth an argument against the merites of works: for all these words, promise, faith, Christ, might be giuen to beleeuers, are against merites, and not one of them can stand with descrying workes. 26 Now there followeth another handling of the second part of this Epistle: the state whereof is this: Although the Law (that is, the whole gouernment of Gods house according to the Law) doe not iustifie, is it therefore to be abolished, seeing that Abraham himselfe was circumcised, and his posteritie held still the vse of Moses Law? Paul affirmeth that it ought to be abolished, because it was instituted to that end and purpose, that it should be as it were a schoolemaster and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promise appeared in deed; that is to say, Christ, and the Gospel manifestly published with great efficacie of the Spirit. x The cause why we were kept vnder the Law, is yet downe here. 27 Because age changeth not the condition of seruants, hee addeth that wee are free by condition, and therefore seeing we are out of our childehood, we haue no more needs of a keeper and Scholemaster. 28 Vsing a generall particle, lest the Iewes at the least should not thinke themselues bound with the band of the Law, hee pronounceth that Baptisme is common to all beleeuers, because it is a pledge of our deliuerie in Christ, aswell to the Iewes as to the Gretians, that by this meanes all may be truely one in Christ, that is to say, that promised seed to Abraham, and inheritors of euerlasting life. y He setteth Baptisme secretly against circumcision, which the false apostles so much bragged of. z The Lord must put on Christ, as it were a garment, and be couered with him, that it may be throughly holy, and without blame. a You are all as one: and so is this great vnitie and communion signified.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Being deliuered from the bondage of the Law, 4 by Christes comming, who is the end thereof, 9 it is very vnfaid to turne backe to beggerly ceremonies: 13 Hee calleth them againe therefore to the puritie of the doctrine of the Gospel, 22 confirming his discourse with a fine allegorie.

1 Hee declareth that by another double similitude, which he laid before, concerning the keeper and schoolemaister: For hee saith, that the Law, (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods house, according to the Law) was as it were a tutor or ouerseer appointed for a time, vntill such time as that protection and ouerseeing which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our owne libertie, and should liue as children, & not as seruants. Moreouer, he sheweth by the way, that that gouernance of the Law, was as it were an A, B, C, and as certeine principles, in comparison of the doctrine of the Gospel.

a This is added, because he that is always vnder a tutor and gouernour, may hardly be counted a free man.

b The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Law God instructed his Church as it were by rudiments, and afterward powred out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel.

1 THen I say, that the heire as long as he is a childe, differeth nothing from a seruant, though he be Lord of all,

2 But is vnder tutours and gouernours, a vntill the time appointed of the father.

3 Euen so we, when we were children, were in bondage vnder the b rudiments of the world.

4 2 But when the c fulnes of time was come, God sent foorth his Sonne made of a d woman, and made vnder the Law,

5 That he might redeeme them which were vnder the Law, that we ✣ might receiue the e adoption of the sonnes.

6 3 And because ye are sonnes, God hath f sent forth the g Spirit of his Sonne into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore, thou art no more a h seruant, but a sonne: now if thou be a sonne, thou art also the i heire of God through Christ.

8 4 But euen then, when ye knew not God, ye did seruice vnto them, which by nature are not gods:

9 But now seeing ye know God, yea rather, are knowen of God, how turne ye againe vnto impotent and k beggerly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye will be in bondage againe?

10 Ye obserue dayes, and moneths, and times, and yeres.

11 I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine.

12 5 Be ye as I (for I am euen as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye haue not hurt me at all.

13 And ye know, how through l infirmitie of the flesh, I preached the Gospel vnto you at the first.

14 And the m trial of me which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but ye receiued me as an Angel of God, yea, as o Christ Iesus.

15 P What was then your felicity? for I beare you record, that if it had bene possible, ye would haue plucked out your owne eyes, & haue giuen them vnto me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemie, because I tell you the trueth?

17 They are iealous ouer you q amisse, yea, they would exclude you, r that ye should altogether loue them.

18 But it is a good thing to loue s earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you, 19 My little children, of whom I trauaile in birth againe, vntill Christ be formed in you.

20 And I would I were with you now, that I might t change my voice: for I am in doubt of you.

21 6 Tell me, ye that u will be vnder the Law, do ye not heare the Law?

22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes, ✣ one by a seruant, and ✣ one by a free woman.

23 But he which was of the seruant, was borne after the x flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was borne by y promise.

24 By the which things another thing is ment: for z these mothers are the a two testaments, the one which is Agar of mount b Sina, which gendreth vnto bondage.

25 (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in Arabia, and it c answereth to Hierusalem which now is) and d she is in bondage with her children.

26 But Hierusalem, which is e aboue, is free: which is the mother of vs all.

27 7 For it is written, ✧ Reioyce thou barren that beareſt no children: bring foorth, and crie, thou that trauailest not: for the f desolate hath many moe children, then she which hath an husband.

28 ✻ Therefore, brethren, we are after the g maner of Isaac, children of the h promise.

29 But as then hee that was borne after the i flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the k Spirit, euen so it is now.

30 But

c The time is said to be full, when all parts of it are past and ended, and therefore Christ could not haue come either sooner or later.

d He calleth Marie a woman, in respect of the sexe, and not as the word is vsed in a contrary sense to a virgine, for she remained a virgine still. ✣ Rom.8.15.

e The adoption of the sonnes of God, is from euerlasting, but is reuealed and shewed in the time appointed for it.

f By that that followeth he gathereth that that went before: for if we haue his Spirit, we are his sonnes, and if we are his sonnes, then are we free.

g The holy Ghost, who is both of the Father and of the Sonne: but there is a peculiar reason why he is called the Spirit of the Sonne, to wit, because the holy Ghost sealeth vp our adoption in Christ, and maketh vs a full assurance of it.

h The word, seruant, is not taken here for one that liueth in sinne, which is proper to the infidels, but for one that is yet vnder the ceremonies of the Lawe, which is proper to the Iewes.

i Partaker of this blessing.

4 He applieth the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehension: for in comparison of them, the Iewes might haue pretended some excuse as men that were borne and brought vp in that seruice of the Law. But seeing the Galatians were taken and called out of idolatry to Christian liberty, what pretence might they haue to goe backe to those impotent and beggerly rudiments? k They are called impotent and beggerly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselues without Christ: and againe, for that by that meanes they gaue good testimony that they were beggers in Christ, when as not withstanding, for men to fall backe from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing else, but to cast away riches, and to follow beggerie. l By going backeward. 5 He mitigateth and qualifieth those things wherein he might haue seemed to haue spoken somewhat sharply, very artificiously and diuinely, declaring his good will towards them in such sort, that the Galatians could not but either be vtterly desperate when they reade these things, or acknowledge their owne lightnes with teares, and desire pardon. m Many afflictions. ✻ Those daily troubles where with the Lord tried me amongst you.

o For my ministerie sake.

p What a talke was there abroad in the world among men, how happie you were!

q For they are iealous ouer you for their owne commoditie.

r That they may conuey all your loue from me, to themselues.

s Hee setteth his owne true & good loue with was earnestly bent towards them, against the naughtie vicious loue of the false apostles.

t Vse other word among you.

u Because the false apostles alwayes vrged this, that vnlesse the Gentiles were circumcised, Christ could profit them nothing at all, and this dissension of them which beleeued of the circumcision against them which beleeued of the vncircumcision, was full of offences the Apostles, after diuers arguments whereby he hath refuted their error, bringeth foorth an allegorie, wherein he sheweth the holy Ghost did shadow out vnto vs, all these mysteries: to wit, that it should come to passe, that two sorts of sonnes should haue Abraham a father common to them both, but not with like successe: for as Abraham begate Ismael, by the common course of nature, of Agar his boudmaid, and a stranger, and begate Isaac of Sara a free woman by the vertue of the promise and by grace onely, and the first was not onely not heire, but also persecuted the heire: So there are two couenants, and as it were two sonnes borne to Abraham of those two couenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the land of promise, according to which couenant Abrahams children according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Iewes, which seeke righteousnesse by that couenant, that is, by the Law: but they are not heires, nay, they shall at length be cast out of the house, as they that persecute the true heires. The other was made in that high Ierusalem, or in Sion (to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promise, to wit, beleeuers, by the vertue of the holy Ghost, which children (as Abraham) doe rest themselues in the free promise, and they onely by the right of children shall be partakers of the fathers inheritance, and those seruants shalbe shut out.

x That is, by the common course of nature.

y By vertue of the promise, which Abraham layd holde on for himselfe and his true seed. for otherwise Abraham and Sara were past begetting and bearing children.

z They are called two couenants, one of the olde Testament, and another of the New: which were not two in deed, but in respect of the times, and the diuersitie of the gouernement.

a Hee maketh mention of Sina, because that couenant was made in that mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a shadow.

b Hee maketh mention of Sina, because that couenant was made in that mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a shadow.

c Looke how the case standeth betweene Agar and her children, euen so standeth it betweene Ierusalem and hers.

d That is, Sina.

e Which is excellent, and of great account.

7 He sheweth that in this allegorie, hee hath followed the steppes of Esay, who foretolde that the Church should be made and consist of the children of barren Sara, that is to say, of them which onely spiritually should be made Abrahams children by faith, rather then of fruitfull Agar, euen then forshewing the casting off of the Iewes, and calling of the Gentiles. ✧ Isa.54.1. f She that is destroyed and wasted. ✻ Rom 8 9.

g After the maner of Isaac, who is the first begotten of the heauenly Hierusalem, as Ismael is of the slauish Synagogue.

h That seed, vnto which the promise belongeth.

i By the common course of nature. k By the vertue of Gods promise and after a spirituall maner.

✣ Gene. 21. 10.

30 But what saith the Scripture? ✣ Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not be heire with the sonne of the free woman.

31 [8] Then brethren, we are not children of the seruant, but of the free woman.

8 The conclusion of the former allegorie, that we by no meanes procure and call backe againe the slauerie of the Lawe, seeing that the children of the bondmaid shall not be heires.

CHAP. V.

1 Hauing declared that we came of the free woman, he sheweth the price of that freedome, 13 and howe we should vse the same, 16 that we may obey the Spirite, 19 and resist the flesh.

STand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and be not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

1 Another obtestation wherein he plainely witnesseth that iustification of works, and iustification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be iustified by the Law, but he that doeth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And hee taketh the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the seruice of the Lawe, and was chiefely vrged of the false apostles. ✣ Acts 15. 1. a Circumcision is in other places called the seale of righteousnesse, but here we must haue consideration of the circumstance of the time, for now had Baptisme come in the place of circumcision. And moreouer, Paul reasoneth according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumcision a piece of their saluation.

2 [1] ✣ Beholde, I Paul say vnto you, that if ye be [a] circumcised, Christ shall profite you nothing.

3 For I testifie againe to euery man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keepe the whole Lawe.

4 Ye are ∴ [b] abolished from Christ: whosoeuer are [c] iustified by the Lawe, ye are fallen from grace.

5 [2] For we through the [d] Spirite waite for the hope of righteousnesse through faith.

6 [3] For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision auaileth any thing, neither [4] vncircumcision, [5] but e faith which worketh by loue.

7 [6] Ye did runne well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the trueth?

8 [7] It is not the perswasion of f him that calleth you.

9 ✣ [8] A litle leauen doeth leauen the whole lumpe.

10 [9] I haue trust in you through the Lorde, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but hee that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation, whosoeuer he be.

11 [10] And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why doe I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slaunder of the crosse abolished.

12 [11] Would to God they were euen cut off, which doe g disquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye haue bene called vnto libertie: [12] onely vse not your libertie as an occasion vnto the flesh, but by loue serue one another.

14 [13] For [h] all the Lawe is fulfilled in one word, which is this, ✣ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

15 [14] If ye bite and deuoure one another, take heede least ye be consumed one of another.

16 [15] Then I say, ✣ Walke in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lustes of the flesh.

17 For the [i] flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary one to another, so that ye can not doe the same things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, yee are not vnder the Law.

19 [16] Moreouer the workes of the flesh are manifest, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleanesse, wantonnesse,

20 Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies, 21 Enuie, murthers, drunkennesse, gluttonie, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also haue told you before, that they which doe such things, shall not inherite the kingdome of God.

22 But the [k] fruite of the Spirite is Ioue, ioye, peace, long suffering, gentlenesse, goodnes, faith, 23 Meekenesse, temperancie: [17] against such there is no law.

24 For they that are Christs, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and the lustes.

25 If we [l] liue in the Spirit, let vs also walke in the Spirit.

26 [18] Let vs not be desirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

12 The third part of this Epistle, shewing that the right vse of Christian libertie consisteth in this, that being deliuered and set at libertie from the slauerie of sinne and the flesh, and being obedient to the Spirit, we should serue vnto one an others saluation through loue.

13 He propoundeth the loue of our neighbour, as a marke whereunto all Christians ought to referre all their actions, and thereunto he citeth the testimonie of the Lawe. h This particle (All) must be restrained to the second table.

✣ Leuit. 19. 18. matth. 22. 39. marke 12. 31. rom. 13. 9. iames 2. 8.

14 An exhortation to the duties of charitie, by the profite that ensueth thereof, because that no men prouide worse for themselues, then they that hate one another.

15 He acknowledgeth the great weakenesse of the godly, for that they are but in part regenerate: but he willeth them to remember that they are indued with the Spirite of God, which hath deliuered them from the slauerie of sinne, and so of the Lawe, so farre foorth as it is the vertue of sinne, that they should not giue themselues to lustes. ✣ Rom. 13. 14. 1. peter 2. 11. i For the flesh dwelleth euen in the regenerate man, but the Spirite reigneth, although not without great strife, as is largely set foorth, Romanes 7. 16 He setteth out that particularly, which he spake generally, reckoning vp some chiefe effects of the flesh, and opposing them to the fruits of the Spirite, that no man may pretend ignorance. k Therefore they are not the fruites of free will, but so farre foorth as our will is made free by grace. 17 Least that any man should obiect, that Paul played the Sophister, as one who vrging the Spirite, vrgeth nothing but that which the Lawe commandeth, he sheweth that hee requireth not that literall and outward obedience, but spirituall, which proceedeth not from the Lawe, but from the Spirite of Christ, which doeth beget vs againe, and must and ought to be the ruler and guider of our life. l If we be enuued with the quickening Spirite, which causeth vs to dye to sinne, and liue to God, let vs shewe it in our deedes, that is, by holinesse of life. 18 Hee addeth peculiar exhortations according as he knew the Galatians subiect to diuers vices: and first of all hee warneth them to take heede of ambition, which vice hath two fellowes, backebiting and enuie, out of which two it can not bee but many contentions must needes rise.

CHAP. VI.

1 Nowe he entreateth particularly of charitie towardes such as offend, 6 towarde the Ministers of the worde, 10 and those that are of the houshold of faith: 12 Not like vnto such who haue a counterfaite zeale of the Lawe, 13 glorying in the mangling of the flesh, 14 and not in the crosse of Christ.

BRethren, [1] if a man bee [a] suddenly taken in any offence, ye which are [b] spirituall, [c] restore such one with the [d] spirit of meekenesse, [2] considering thy selfe, least thou also be tempted.

1 Hee condemneth impurtunate rigour, because that brotherly reprehensions ought to be moderated and tempered by the spirite of meekenesse. a Through the malice of the flesh and the deuill. b Which are vpholden by the vertue of Gods Spirite. c Labour to fill vp that that is wanting in him. d This is a kinde of speach which the Hebrewes vse, giuing to vnderstand thereby, that all good giftes come from God.

2 He toucheth the sore: for they commonly are most seuere iudges, which forget their owne infirmities.

3 He sheweth that this is the end of reprehensions, to raise vp our brother which is fallen, and not proudly to oppresse him. Therefore euery one must seeke to haue commendation of his owne life by approuing of himselfe, and not by reprehending others.
e Christ, in plaine and first wordes, calleth the commandement of charitie, his commandements.

3 For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiueth himselfe in his imagination.

4 But let euery man proue his owne worke: and then shall he haue reioycing in him selfe only, and not in another.

5 ✣ [4] For euery man shall beare his owne burden.

7 [6] Be not deceiued: God is not mocked: for whatsoeuer a man soweth, that shall hee also reape.

8 For hee that soweth to his [g] flesh, shall of the flesh reape corruption: but hee that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reape life euerlasting.

9 ∴ [7] Let vs not therefore be weary of well doing: for in due season we shall reape, if wee faint not.

10 [8] While we haue therefore time, let vs doe good vnto all men, but specially vnto them, which are of the houshold of faith.

7 Against such as are liberall at the beginning, but continue not, because the harueste seemeth to be deferred very long as though the seede time and the harueste were at one instant.
8 They that are of the houshold of faith, that is, such as are ioyned with vs in the profession of one selfe same religion, ought to be preferred before all other, yet so notwithstanding that our liberalitie extend to all.

11 ¶ [9] Ye see how large a letter I haue written vnto you with mine owne hand.

12 As many as desire to make a [h] faire shewe in [i] the flesh, they constraine you to be circumcised, onely because they would not suffer persecution for the [k] crosse of Christ.

13 For they themselues which are circumcised keepe not the law, but desire to haue you circumcised, that they might reioyce in [l] your flesh.

14 [10] But God forbid that I should [m] reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lord Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the world.

15 For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision auaileth any thing, nor vncircumcision, but a newe creature.

16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shalbe vpon them, and mercie, and vpon the [n] Israel of God.

17 [11] From henceforth let no man put me to businesse: for I beare in my body the [o] markes of the [p] Lord Iesus.

18 [12] Brethren, the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with your [q] spirit, Amen.

9 The fourth and last part of the Epistle, wherein he returneth to his principall end and purpose: to wit, that the Galatians should not suffer themselues to be led out of the way by the false apostles: & he painteth out those false apostles in their colours, reproouing them of ambition, as men that do not that which they do, for any affectiō & zeale they haue to the law, but only for this purpose, that they may purchase themselues fauour amongst their owne sort, by the circumcision of the Galatians.
h He setteth a faire shew against the truth. i In keeping of ceremonies. k For the preaching of him that was crucified. l That they haue entangled you in Iudaisme, and yet he harpeth on the forme of circumcision. 10 He sticketh not to compare himself with them, shewing that on the contrary part he reioyceth in those afflictions which he suffreth for Christes sake, and as he is despised of the world, so doeth he in like sort esteeme the worlde as nought: which is the true circumcision of a true Israelite.
m When Paul vseth this word in good sense or part, it signifieth to rest a man selfe wholly in a thing, and to content himselfe therewith. n Vpon the true Israel, whose praise is of God, and not of men, Rom. 2. 19. 11 Continuing still in the same metaphore, he opposeth his miseries and the markes of those stripes which he bare for Christes sake, against the skarre of the outward Circumcision, as a true marke of his Apostleship.
o Markes which are burnt into a mans flesh, as they vsed in olde time, to marke their seruants that had runne away from them. p For it importeth much, whose markes we beare: for the cause maketh the Martyr, & not the punishment. 12 Taking his farewell of them, he wisheth them grace, and the Spirite against the deceits of the false Apostles, which laboured to beat those outward things into their braines.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE EPHESIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 he entreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption, 7. 13 from whence mans saluation floweth, as from the true & naturall fountaine: and because so hie a mysterie cannot be vnderstood, 16 he prayeth that the ful 20 knowledge of Christ may by God be reuealed vnto the Ephesias.

1 The inscription and salutation, whereof we haue spoken in the former Epistles.
✣ 1. Cor. 1. 2.
a That is, the destination of the Saints, shewing what they are.
✣ 1. Cor. 1. 3. 1. pet. 1. 3.
2 The first part of the Epistle, wherein hee handleth all the partes of our saluation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and vsing diuers exhortations, and beginning after his maner with thankesgiuing. 3 The efficient cause of our saluation is God, not considered confusedly and generally, but as the Father of our Lorde Iesus Christ. 4 The next finall cause, and in respect of vs, is our saluation, all thinges being bestowed vpon vs which are necessarie to our saluation, which kinde of blessing is heauenly, and proper to the elect.
b With all kinde of gratious and beautifull goodnesse which is heauenly indeede and from God onely. c Which God our Father gaue vs from his high throne from aboue: or because the Saintes haue those gifts bestowed on them, which belong properly to the citizens of heauen. 5 The matter of our saluation is Christ, in whome onely we are indued with spirituall blessing and vnto saluation.

PAVL [1] an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST by the will of God, to the ✣ Saints, which are at Ephesus, and to the [a] faithfull in Christ Iesus:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 ✣ [2] Blessed be God, and the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, [b] which hath blessed vs with all spirituall blessing in [c] heauenly things in [5] Christ,

4 [6] As he hath chosen vs in [d] him, before the foundation of the world, 7 that we [e] should [f] be holy, and without blame [g] before him in loue:

5 [8] Who hath predestinate vs, to be adopted through Iesus Christ [h] in himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will,

6 ∴ To the [i] praise of the glory of his grace, [10] wherewith he hath made vs freely accepted in his beloued,

7 [11] By whome we haue redemption through his blood, euen the forgiuenesse of sinnes, accor-

6 He declareth the efficient cause, or by what meanes God the Father saueth vs in his Sonne: Because saith he, he chose vs from euerlasting in his Sonne.
d To be adopted in him.
7 He expounded the next finall cause, which hee maketh double, to wit, sanctification, and iustification, whereof he will speake hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holinesse of life cannot be separate from the grace of election: and againe, what puritie soeuer is in vs, is the gift of God, who hath freely of his mercie chosen vs.
e Then God did not chuse vs, because we were, or otherwise should haue bene holy, but to the end we should be holy.
f Being clothed with Christs righteousnes. g Truely, and sincerely. 8 Another plainer exposition of the efficient cause, and also of eternal election, whereby God is said to haue chosen vs in Christ, to wit, because it pleased him to appoint vs out when we were not yet borne, whome he would make to be his children by Iesus Christ: so that there is no reason here of our election to be sought, but in the free mercie of God, neither is faith which God foresaw the cause of predestination, but the effect.
d God respecteth nothing either that present is, or that is to come, but himselfe only. 9 The vttermost and chiefest finall cause is the glory of God the Father, who saueth vs freely in his Sonne.
i That as his bountifull goodnes deserueth all praise, so also it should be set forth and published. 10 Another finall cause more neere, is our iustification, while that he freely accounteth vs for iust, in his Sonne.
11 An expounding of the materiall cause, how we are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is he onely, whose sacrifice by the mercie of God is imputed vnto vs, for forgiuenesse of sinnes.

ding to his rich grace:

8 [12] k Whereby he hath bene aboundant toward vs in [l] all wisedome and vnderstanding,

9 And hath opened vnto vs the [m] mysterie of his will [13] according to his good pleasure, which he hath purposed in him.

10 [14] That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, he might [n] gather together in one al things, both which are in heauen, & which are in earth, euen in Christ:

11 [15] In whome also we are chosen when we were predestinate according to the purpose of him, which worketh [o] all things after the counsell of his owne will,

12 That wee, which [p] first trusted in Christ, should be vnto the praise of his glorie:

13 [16] In whom also ye haue [q] trusted, after that yee heard the [q] worde of trueth, euen the Gospel of your saluation, wherein also after that yee beleeued, ye were [r] sealed with the holy [s] spirite of promise, 14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the [t] redemption of that libertie purchased vnto the praise of his glory.

15 [17] Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lorde Iesus, and loue toward all the Saints,

16 I cease not to giue thankes for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 [18] That the God of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of [u] glory, might giue vnto you the Spirite of wisedome, and reuelation through the [x] acknowledging of him,

18 That the eyes of your vnderstanding may be lightned, that yee may knowe what the [y] hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 [19] And what is the exceeding greatnes of his power toward vs, which beleeue, ✣ according to the working of his mighty power,

20 [20] Which he wrought in Christ, when hee raised him from the dead, and set him at his [z] right hand in the heauenly places,

21 Farre aboue all principalitie, & power, and might, and domination, and euery [a] Name, that is named, not in this world only, but also in that that is to come,

22 [21] And hath made all things subiect vnder his feete, and hath giuen him ouer all things to be the [b] head to the Church, 23 Which is his body, euen the [c] fulnesse of him that filleth all in all things.

12 Now he commeth at length to the formall cause, that is to say, to vocation or preaching of the Gospel, whereby God executeth that eternall counsell of out free reconciliation and saluation in Christ. And putting in place of the Gospel all wisedome and vnderstanding, he sheweth how excellent it is.

k By which gracious goodnesse and bountifulnesse.

l In perfite and sound wisedome.

m For vnlesse the Lord had opened vnto vs the mysterie, we could neuer haue so much as dreamed of it our selues.

13 Not onely the election, but also the vocation proceedeth of meere grace.

14 The Father exhibited and gaue Christ, who is the head of all the elect vnto the worlde, at that time which was conuenient, according as he most wisely disposed all times from euerlasting. And Christ is he, in whome all the elect from the beginning of the worlde, (otherwise wandering and separated from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heauen, when he came into the earth (to wit such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being founde vpon the earth were gathered together of him, and the rest are daily gathered together. n The faithfull are sayde to bee gathered together in Christ, because they are ioyned together with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

15 He applieth seuerally the benefite of vocation to the beleeuing Iewes, going backe to the very fountaine, that euen they also may not attribute their saluation, neither to themselues, nor to their flocke, not to any other thing, but to the onely grace and mercie of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called. o All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that we are not stocks, for hee giueth vs grace both to will and to be able to doe those things that are good, Philippi.2.13.

p He speaketh of the Iewes.

16 Now he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equall to the Iewes, because that notwithstanding they came last, yet being called by the same Gospel, they imbraced it by faith, and were sealed vp with the same spirit, which is the pledge of election, vntill the inheritance it selfe bee seene, that in them also the glory of God might shine forth, and be manifested. q That worde which is trueth in deede, because it commeth from God.

r This is a borowed kinde of speach taken of a seale, which being put to any thing, maketh a difference betweene those things that are autentical, and others that are not.

s With that spirite, which bringeth not the Lawe, but the promise of free adoption.

t Full and perfect.

17 He returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before: the first is, that all good things come to vs from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be prayed of vs. The second is, that all those things (which he bringeth to two heades, to wit, faith and charitie) are increased in vs by certaine degrees, so that we must desire encrease of his grace. from whom we haue the beginning and of whom we hope for the ende.

18 The causes of faith, are God the Father lightning our mindes with his holy Spirite, that we may embrace Christ opened vnto vs in the Gospel, to the obtayning of euerlasting life, and the setting foorth of Gods glory. u Full of maiestie.

x For it is not enough for vs to haue knowen God once, but we must knowe him euery day more and more.

y What blessings they are which he calleth you to hope for whom he calleth to Christ.

19 The excellency of faith is declared by the effects, because the mighty power of God is set forth and shewed therein. ✣ Chap.3.7.col.2.12.

20 The Apostle willeth to be hold in our most glorious Christ with the eyes of faith, that most excellent power and glory of God, whereof all the faithfull are partakers, although it be as yet very darke in vs, by reason of the ignominie of the crosse and the weakenesse of the flesh.

z To be set on Gods right hand, is to be partaker of the soueraintie which he hath ouer all creatures.

a Euery thing whatsoeuer it be or aboue all things be they of neuer such power or excellencie.

21 That wee shoulde not thinke that that excellent glory of Christ is a thing wherewith wee haue nought to doe, hee witnesseth that he was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be ioyned to this head which otherwise should be a maymed thing without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessitie (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and sustained by the onely vertue of Christ, so farre off is it, that he needeth the fulnesse therof) but of the infinite good will and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to ioyne vs to his Sonne.

b Insomuch that there is nothing but is subiect to him.

c For the loue of Christ is so great towards the Church, that though her doe fully satisfie all with all things, yet he esteemeth himselfe but a maymed and vnperfect head, vnlesse he haue the Church ioyned to him as his body.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to set out the grace of Christ, he viseth a comparison, calling them to minde, 3 that they were altogether castawayes and aliantes, 8 that they are saued by grace, 13 and brought neere, 16 by reconciliation through Christ, 17 published by the Gospel.

AND [1] ✣ you hath he quickened, that were [a] dead in [2] treſpasses and sinnes,

2 [3] Wherin, in times past ye walked, [4] according to the course of this world, and [b] after the prince that ruleth in the aire, euen the spirite, that now [5] worketh in the [c] children of disobedience,

3 [6] Among whom we also had our conuersation in time past in the lusts of our [d] flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the mind, & [7] were by nature the [e] children of wrath, as well as [f] others.

4 [8] But God which is rich in mercie, through his great loue wherewith he loued vs,

5 Euen when wee were dead by sinnes, hath quickened vs together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saued,

6 And hath raised vs vp [g] together, and made vs sit together in the heauenly places in Christ Iesus,

1 He declareth againe the greatnes of Gods good will, by comparing that miserable state wherein we are borne, with that dignitie whereunto we are aduanced by God the Father in Christ. So that he describeth that condition in such sort that he saith, that touching spirituall motions we are not onely borne halfe dead, but wholly and altogether dead. ✣ Col.2.13.

a Looke Rom 6.2. So then he calleth them dead, which are not regenerate: for as the immortalitie of them which are damned, is no life, so this knitting together of body and soule, is properly no life, but death in them which are not ruled by the spirit of God.

2 He sheweth the cause of death, to wit, sinnes.

3 He proueth by the effects that all were spiritually dead.

4 He proueth this euill to be vniuersall, in so much as all are slaues of Satan.

b At the pleasure of the prince.

5 Men are therefore slaues to Satan, because they are willingly rebellions against God.

c They are called the children of disobedience, which are giuen to disobedience.

6 After that hee hath seuerally condemned the Gentiles, he confesseth that the Iewes amongst whom he numbreth himselfe, are not a whit better.

d By the name of flesh in the first place, he meaneth the whole man, which he deuideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that the Philosophers terme without reason, and into the thought, which they call reasonable: so that he leaueth nothing in man halfe dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the sonne of wrath.

7 The conclusion: All men were borne subiect to the wrath and curse of God.

e Men are said to be the children of wrath passiuely, that is to say, guiltie of euerlasting death by the iudgement of God, who is angrie with them.

f Prophane people which knew not God.

8 Nowe hereof followeth another member of the comparison, declaring our excellencie, to wit, that by the vertue of Christ we are deliuered from that death and made partakers of eternall life, to the ende that at length we may reigne with him. And by diuers and sundrie meanes hee beateth this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this benefite is the free mercie of God: and Christ himselfe is the material cause: and faith is the instrument, which also is the free gift of God: and the ende is Gods glory.

g To wit, as he addeth afterwards in Christ. for as yet this is not fulfilled in vs, but only in our head, by whose spirit we haue begun to die to sinne, & liue to God, vntil that worke be fully brought to an end: but yet the hope is certaine, for we are as sure of that we looke for, as we are of that we haue receiued already.

7 That

7 That hee might shewe in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindnesse toward vs in Christ Iesus.

8 For by [h] grace are yee saued through faith, and that not of your selues: it is the gift of God, 9 Not of workes, least any man should boast himselfe.

10 For we are [i] his workemanship created in Christ Iesus vnto good workes, which God hath ordeined, that we should walke in them.

11 [10] Wherefore remember that yee being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and [k] called vncircumcision of them, which are [l] called circumcision in the flesh made with hands, 12 That yee were, I say, at that time [m] without Christ, & were [n] aliants from the common wealth of Israel, and were strangers from the couenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

13 [11] But nowe in Christ Iesus, ye which once were farre off, are made neere by the blood of Christ.

14 [12] For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoppe of the partition wall,

15 In abrogating through his flesh, the hatred, that is, the Lawe of commandements which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one newe man in himselfe, so making peace,

16 And that hee might reconcile both vnto God in [o] one body by his crosse, and [p] slay hatred thereby,

17 [13] And came, and preached peace to you which were a farre off and to them [ŷ] were neere.

18 For [q] through him wee both haue an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirit.

19 [14] Nowe therefore yee are no more strangers and forreiners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the houshold of God,

20 [15] And are built vpon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Iesus Christ himselfe being the [r] chiefe corner stone,

21 In whom all the building [s] coupled together groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord, 22 In whome ye also are built together to bee the habitation of God by the Spirit.

b So then Grace, that is to say the gift of God, and faith, do stand one with another, to which two these are contrary, To be saued by our selues, or by our workes. Therefore what meane they which would ioyne together things of so contrarie nature?

9 He taketh away expressely and namely from our workes the praise of iustification, seeing that the good workes themselues are the effectes of grace in vs.

1 He speaketh here of Grace, and not of nature: therefore be the workes neuer so good, looke what they are, they are it of grace.

10 Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he sheweth that they were not only as the Iewes, by nature, but also after an especiall sort, strangers and without God: and therefore they ought so much the rather remember that same so great a benefit of God.

k You were called no otherwise then Gentiles, that all the world might witnesse of your vnthankfulnesse.

l Of the Iewes which were known from you by the marke of circumcision, the marke of the couenant. m He beginneth first with Christ, who was the end of all the promises. n You had no right or title to the common wealth of Israel. ✣ Rom. 9. 4. 11 Christ is the onely bonde of the Iewes and Gentiles, whereby they be reconciled to God. 12 As by the ceremonies and worshippes appointed by the Lawe, the Iewes were deuided from the Gentiles, so now Christ, hauing broken downe the partition wall, ioyneth them both together, both in himselfe, and betwixt themselues, and to God. Whereby it followeth, that whosoeuer establisheth the ceremonies of the Lawe maketh the grace of Christ voyde and of none effect. ✣ 1 Cor. 2. 14. o He alludeth to the sacrifices of the Lawe, which represented that true and onely sacrifice. p For he destroyed death by death, and fastened it as it were to the crosse. 13 The preaching of the Gospel is an effectuall instrument of this grace, common as well to the Iewes as to the Gentiles. q Christ is the gate as it were, by whom we come to the Father, and the holy Ghost is as it were our lodesman who leadeth vs. 14 The conclusion: The Gentiles are taken into the fellowship of saluation. And hee describeth the excellencie of the Church, calling it the citie and house of God. 15 The Lorde committed the doctrine of saluation, first to the Prophets, & then to the Apostles, the ende whereof, and matter as it were and substance, is Christ. Therefore that is in deede the true and Catholike Church, which is builded vpon Christ by the Prophets and Apostles, as a spirituall temple consecrate to God. r That is the head of the building, for the foundations are as it were the heads of the buildings. s So that God is the workeman not onely of the foundation, but also of the whole building.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee declareth that therefore hee suffered many things of the Iewes, 3 because he preached the mysterie touching the saluation of the Gentiles, 8 as Gods commaundement. 13 After he desired the Ephesians not to faint for his afflictions: 14 And for this cause hee prayeth vnto God, 18 that they may vnderstand the great loue of Christ.

FOr [1] this cause, I Paul am the [a] prisoner of Iesus Christ for you Gentiles,

2 If ye haue heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is giuen me to you ward,

3 That is, that God by reuelation hath shewed this mysterie vnto mee (as I wrote aboue in fewe wordes,

4 Whereby when yee reade, yee may knowe mine vnderstanding in the mysterie of Christ)

5 Which in [b] other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is nowe reuciled vnto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentiles should be inheriters also, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel,

7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God giuen vnto mee through the effectuall working of his power.

8 Euen vnto mee the least of all Saintes is this grace giuen, that I should preach among the Gentiles the vnsearchable riches of Christ,

9 And to make cleare vnto all men what the fellowship of the mysterie is, which from the beginning of the worlde hath bene hid in God, who hath created all things by Iesus Christ,

10 [2] To the intent, that now vnto principalities and powers in heauenly places, might be knowen by the Church the [c] manifold wisdome of God,

11 According to the [d] eternall purpose, which he wrought in Christ Iesus our Lord:

12 By whom we haue boldnesse and entrance with confidence, by faith in him.

13 Wherefore I desire that yee faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glory.

14 [3] For this cause I bow my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, 15 (Of whome is named the whole [e] family in heauen and in earth)

16 That he might graunt you according to the [f] riches of his glory, that ye may be strengthened by his Spirit in the ginner man,

17 That Christ may dwell in your heartes by faith:

18 That yee, being rooted and grounded in [h] loue, may be able to comprehend with al Saints, [i] what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to knowe the [k] loue of Christ, which [l] passeth knowledge, that ye may be filled with al [m] fulnesse of God.

20 [4] Vnto him therefore that is able to doe exceeding abundantly aboue all that wee aske or thinke, according to the power that worketh in vs, 21 Be praise in the Church by Christ Iesus, throughout all generations for euer, Amen.

1 He maintaineth his Apostleship a. gainst the offence of ŷ crosse, whereon also he taketh an argument to confirme himselfe affirming that he was not onely appointed an Apostle by the mercy of God, but was also particularly appointed to the Gentiles, to call them on euery side to saluation because God had so determined it from the beginning, although he deferred a great while the manifestation of that his counsell.

a These wordes, the prisoner of Iesus Christ, are taken passiuely, that is to say, I Paul am cast into prison, for maintaining the glory of Christ.

b He meaneth not that none knew the calling of the Gentiles before, but because very few knewe of it, and they that did know it, as the Prophets, had it reuciled vnto them very darkely, and vnder figures.

2 The vnlooked for calling of the Gentiles, was as it were a glasse to the heauenly Angels, wherein they might behold the marueilous wisedome of God.

c God neuer had but one way onely, to saue men by: but it had diuers fashions and formes.

d Which was before all beginnings.

3 He teacheth by his owne example, that the efficacie of the doctrine dependeth vpon the grace of God, and therefore we ought to ioyne prayers with the preaching and hearing of the worde: which are needefull not onely to them which are yonglings in Religion, but euen to the oldest also, that they growing vp more and more by faith in Christ, being confirmed with all spirituall giftes, may be grounded & rooted in the knowledge of that immeasurable loue, wherewith God the Father hath loued vs in Christ, seeing that the whole family, whereof part is already receiued into heauen, and part is yet here on earth, dependeth vpon that adoption of the heauenly Father, in his onely Sonne.

e All that whole people, which hath but one heauenly Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Christ. f According to the greatnesse of his mercie. g Luke Rom. 7. 22. h Wherewith God loueth vs, which is the roote of our election. i Howe perfit that worke of Christ is in euery part. k Which God hath shewed vs in Christ. l Which passeth all the capacitie of mans wit, to comprehend it fully in his minde: for otherwise who so hath the spirit of God, perceiueth so much (according to the measure that God hath giuen him) as is sufficient to saluation. m So that we haue abundantly in vs, whatsoeuer things are requisite to make vs perfit with God. 4 Hee breaketh so with into a thanksgiuing, whereby the Ephesians also may be confirmed to hope for any thing of God.

CHAP. IIII.

These three last chapters contein precepts of manners. 1 He exhorteth them to mutuall loue. 7 Sundry gifts are therefore bestowed of God, 16 That the Church may be built vp. 18 He calleth them from the vanitie of the infidels, 25 from lying, 29 and from filthie talke.

1 Therefore, [1] being prisoner in the Lord, pray you that yee walke woorthy of the [a] vocation whereunto ye are called,

2 [2] With all humblenesse of minde, and meeknesse, with [b] long suffering, supporting one another through loue,

3 [3] Endeuouring to keepe the vnitie of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 [4] There is one [c] body, and one Spirit, euen as ye are called in one hope of your vocation.

5 There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptisme,

6 One God and Father of all, which is [c] aboue all, and [d] through all, and [e] in you all.

7 [5] But vnto euery one of vs is giuen grace, according to the measure of the [f] gift of Christ.

8 Wherefore he saith, When he ascended vp on hie, he led [g] captiuity captiue, and gaue gifts vnto men.

9 (Now, in that he ascended, what is it but that he had also descended first into the [h] lowest parts of the earth?

10 He that descended, is euen the same that ascended, farre aboue all heauens, that he might [i] fill [k] all things)

11 [6] He therefore gaue some to be [l] Apostles, and some [m] Prophets, and some [n] Euangelists, and some [o] Pastours, and Teachers,

12 7 For the repairing of the Saints, for the worke of the ministerie, and for the edification of the [p] body of Christ, 13 [8] Till we all meet together (in the [q] vnitie of faith and that acknowledging of the Sonne of God) vnto a perfit man, and vnto the measure of the [r] age of the fulnesse of Christ.

14 [9] That we henceforth be no more children, [10] wauering and caried about with euery winde of doctrine, by the [s] deceit of men, and [t] with craftines, whereby they lay in waite to deceiue.

15 [11] But let vs follow the trueth in loue, and in all things grow vp into him, which is the head, that is, Christ.

16 By whom all the body being coupled and knit together by euery ioynt, for [y] furniture thereof (according to the [u] effectual power, which is in the measure of euery part) receiueth [x] increase of the body, vnto the edifying of it selfe in [y] loue.

17 [12] This I say therefore and testifie in the Lord, that yee henceforth walke not as [z] other Gentiles walke, in [z] vanitie of their minde,

18 Hauing their vnderstanding darkened, and being [z] strangers from the [a] life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardnesse of their heart:

19 Which being [b] past feeling, haue giuen themselues vnto wantonnesse, to worke all vncleannesse, euen with [c] greedinesse.

20 [13] But ye haue not so learned Christ,

21 If so be ye haue heard him, and haue beene taught by him, [d] as the trueth is in Iesus,

22 ✣ That it, that ye cast off, concerning the conuersation in time past, [e] that olde man, which is corrupt through the deceiuable lusts,

23 And be renued in the [f] spirit of your mind,

24 And put on the new man, which [g] after God is created vnto [h] righteousnes, and [i] true holines.

25 [14] Wherefore cast off lying, and speake euery man trueth vnto his neighbour: for we are members one of another.

26 [15] Be [k] angrie, but sinne not: let not the sunne go downe [l] vpon your wrath, 27 Neither giue place to the deuill.

28 [16] Let him that stole, steale no more: but let him rather labour, and worke with his hands the thing which is [m] good, that he may haue to giue vnto him that needeth.

29 [17] Let no [n] corrupt communication proceed out of your mouthes: but that which is good, to the vse of edifying, that he may minister [o] grace vnto the hearers.

1 Another part of the Epistle, conteining precepts of Christian life, the summe whereof is this, that euery man behaue himselfe as it is meet for so excellent grace of God.

a By this is meant the generall calling of the faithfull, which is this, to be holy as our God is holy.

2 Secondly, he commendeth meeknes of minde, which is shewed foorth by bearing one with another.

b Luke 21. 18 25.

3 Thirdly, he requireth perfit agreement, but yet such as is knit with the band of the holy Ghost.

4 An argument of great weight, for an earnest entertaining of brotherly loue & charity one with another, because we are made one body as it were of one God and Father, by one spirit, worshipping one Lord with one faith, and confecrated to him with one Baptisme, and hope for one selfe same glory, whereunto wee are called. Therefore whosoeuer breaketh charitie, breaketh all these things asunder.

c Who onely hath the chiefe authority ouer the Church. d Which onely powreth foorth his providence, through all the members of the Church. e Who onely is ioyned together with vs in Christ. 5 He teacheth vs, that we in deed are all one body, and that all good gifts proceed from Christ onely, who teigneth in heauen hauing mightily conquered all his enemies (from whence hee heapeth all gifts vpon his Church:) but yet notwithstanding these gifts are diuerslie and sundrie wayes diuided according to his will and pleasure, and therefore euery man ought to bee content with that measure that God hath giuen him, and to bestow it to the common profite of the whole body.

f Which Christ hath giuen. g A multitude of captiues. h Downe to the earth, which is the lowest part of the world. i Fill with his gifts. k The Church. 6 First of all he reckoneth vp the Ecclesiasticall functions, which are partly extraordinary and for a season, as Apostles, Prophets, Euangelists, and partly ordinary and perpetuall, as Pastors and Doctors.

l The Apostles were those twelue, vnto whom Paul was afterward added, whose office was to plant Churches throughout all the world. m The Prophets office was one of the chiefest, which were men of a marueilous wisdom, and some of them could foretell things to come. n Those the Apostles vsed as fellowes in the execution of their office, being not able to answere all places themselues. o Pastors are they which gouerne the Church, and teachers are they which gouerne the schooles. 7 Hee sheweth the ende of Ecclesiasticall functions, to wit, that by the ministerie of men all the Saintes may so grow vp together, that they may make one mystical body of Christ.

p The Church. 8 The vse of this ministerie is perpetuall so long as we are in this world, that is, vntil that time that hauing put off the flesh, and throughly and perfitly agreeing betwixt our selues, we shalbe ioyned with Christ our head. Which thing is done by that knowledge of the Sonne of God increasing in vs and he himselfe by little and little growing vp in vs vntil we come to be a perfit man, which shalbe in the world to come, when God shalbe all in all.

q In that most neere coniunction which is knit and fastened together by faith. r Christ is said to growe vp to full age, not in himselfe, but in vs. 9 Betwixt our childhood (that is to say very weake state, while as we do yet altogether winer) and our perfite age, which we shall haue at length in an other world, there is a meane, to wit, our youth, and steadie going forward to perfection. 10 He compareth them which rest not them selues vpon the worde of God, to litle boates which are tossed hither and thither with the doctrines of men as it were with contrary windes, and therewithall forewarneth them that it commeth to passe not onely by the lightnesse of mans braine, but also by the craftinesse of certaine, which make as it were an arte of it.

s With those vncertaine ordinances which tosse men to and fro.

t By the deceit of those men which are very well practised in deceiuing of other.

11 By earnest affection of the truth and loue we grow vp into Christ: for he (being effectual by the ministery of his word, which as the vitall spirit doth so quicken the whole body, that it nourisheth all the limmes thereof according to the measure and proportion of euery one) quickeneth and cherisheth his Church, which consisteth of diuers functions, as of diuers members, and preserueth the proportion of euery one. And thereof it followeth that neither this body can liue without Christ, neither can any man grow vp spiritually, which separateth himselfe from the other members.

u Of Christ, who in maner of the soule, quickeneth all the members.

x Such increase as is meet the body should haue.

y Charitie is the knitting of the limmes together.

12 He descendeth to the fruits of christian doctrine, and reasoneth first vpon the principles of maners and actions, letting downe a most graue comparison betweene the children of God, and them which are not regenerate. For in these men, all the powers of the mindeare corrupted, & their mind is giuen to vanity, & their senses are darkened with most grosse mistines, & their affections are so accustomed by litle & litle to wickednes, that at length they run headlong into all vncleannesse, being vtterly destitute of all iudgement. ✣ Rom. 12. 2 z If the noblest parts of the soule be corrupt, what is man but corruption only? a Whereby God liueth in them. b Void of all iudgement. c They studie to passe one another, as though there had ben some gaine to be gotten by it. 13 Here followeth the contrary part touching men which are regenerate by the true & liuely knowledge of Christ, which haue other principles of their doings far different, to wit, holy and honest desires, and a minde cleane changed by the vertue of the holy Ghost, from whence proceed also like effects, as a iust and holy life in deed.

d As they haue learned, which acknowledge Christ in deed, and in good earnest. ✣ Colos 3.8.

e Your selues. f Where there ought to haue bene the greatest force of reason, there is the greatest corruption of all which maketh all things. g After the image of God. h The effect and end of the new creation. i Not fained nor counterfeit. 14 He commendeth seuerally certeine peculiar Christian vertues, and first of all he requireth truth, (that is to say sincere maners) condemning all deceit & dissembling, because we are borne one for another. 15 He teacheth vs to bridle our anger in such sort, that although it be hote, yet that it breake not out, & that it be straitwayes quenched before we sleepe, lest Satan taking occasion to giue vs euil counsell through that wicked counseller, destroy vs.

k If it so fall out, that you be angrie, yet sinne not: that is, bridle your anger, & do not wickedly put that in execution, which you haue wickedly conceiued. l Let not the night come vpon you in your anger, that is, make an atonement quickly for all matters. 16 He descendeth from the heart, to the hands, condemning theft: and because that men which giue themselues to this wickednesse, vse to pretend pouerty, he sheweth that labour is a good remedy against pouerty, which God blesseth in such sort, that they which labour haue alwayes some ouerplus to helpe other, so far is it from this that they are constreined to steale other mens goods.

m By labouring in things that are holy, & profitable to his neighbour. 17 He bridleth the tongue also, teaching vs so to temper our talke, that our hearers minds be not onely not destroyed, but also instructed.

n Word for word, rotten. o By grace, he meaneth that, whereby men may profit in the going on forward in godlinesse and loue.

18 A generall precept against all excesse of affections which dwel in that part of the minde, which they call, Angry, and he setteth against them ỹ contrary means: & vseth a most vehement preface, how wee ought to take heed that wee grieue not the holy Spirit of God through our immoderateneſſe and intemperancie, who dwelleth in vs to this end, to moderate all our affections. 19 An argument taken from the example of Christ, most graue and vehement, both for pardoning of those iniuries which haue bene done vnto vs by our greatest enemies, and much more for hauing consideration of the miserable, and vsing moderation and gentle behauiour towards all men.

30 [18] And grieue not the holy Spirit of God, by whom ye are sealed vnto the day of redemption.

31 Let all bitternesse, and anger, and wrath, crying, and euill speaking be put away from you, with all maliciousnesse.

32 Be ye curteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiuing one another, [19] euen as God for Christs sake, freely forgaue you.

CHAP. V.

2 Leſt, in thoſe vices which he reprehended, they ſhould ſet light by his admonitions, 5 he terrifieth them by denouncing ſeuere iudgement, 8 and ſtirreth them forward: 15 Then he deſcendeth from general leſſons of maners, 21 to the particular dueties of wiues 25 and huſbands.

✣ Iohn 8.34. and 15.12. 1.ioh 3.23. ✣ *Chap.*4.29. col. 3.5. 1.theſſ 1.17.

BE ye therfore followers of God, as deare children,

2 ✣ And walke in loue, euen as Christ hath loued vs, & hath giuē himselfe for vs, to be an offering & a sacrifice of a sweet smelling sauor to God.

3 ✣ [1] But fornication, and all vncleannesse, or couetousnesse, let it not be once named among you, as it becommeth Saints,

4 Neither filthinesse, neither fooliſh talking, neither [a] iesting, which are things not comely, but rather giuing of thanks.

5 [2] For this ye know, that no whoremonger, neither vncleane person, nor couetous person, which is an [b] idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Christ, and of God.

6 ∵ Let no man deceiue you with vaine words: for, for such things commeth the wrath of God vpon the children of disobedience.

7 [3] Be not therefore companions with them.

8 For ye were once darkenesse, but are now [c] light in the Lord: walke as children of light,

9 (For the fruit of the [d] Spirit is in all goodnesse, and righteousnesse, and trueth)

10 Approouing that which is pleasing to the Lord.

11 And haue no fellowship with the vnfruitful works of darknes, but euen [e] reproue them rather.

12 For it is shame euen to speake of the things which are done of them in secret.

13 But all things when they are reproued of the light, are manifest: for it is light that maketh all things manifest.

14 Wherefore [f] he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and stand vp from the [g] dead, and Christ shall giue thee light.

15 [4] Take heede therefore that ye walke circumspectly, not as fooles, but as ✣ wise, 16 [h] Redeeming the season: for the [i] dayes are euill.

17 ✣ Wherefore be ye not vnwise, but vnderstand what the will of the Lord is.

18 [5] And be not drunke with wine, wherein is [k] excesse: but be fulfilled with the Spirit,

19 Speaking vnto your selues in psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing, and making melodie to the Lord in your [l] hearts,

20 Giuing thankes alwayes for all things vnto God euen the Father, in the name of our Lord Iesus Christ, 21 [6] Submitting your selues one to another in the feare of God.

22 ¶ ✣ [7] Wiues, submit your selues vnto your husbands, [8] as vnto the Lord.

23 ✣ [9] For the husband is the wiues head, euen as Christ is the head of the Church, [10] and the same is the sauiour of his body.

24 [11] Therefore as the Church is in subiection to Christ, euen so let the wiues be to their husbands in euery thing.

25 ¶ ∵ [12] Husbands, loue your wiues, euen as Christ loued the Church, and gaue himselfe for it,

26 [13] That he might [m] sanctifie it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the [n] worde, 27 That hee might make it vnto himselfe a glorious Church, [o] not hauing spot or wrinckle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blame.

28 [14] So ought men to loue their wiues, as their owne bodies: he that loueth his wife, loueth himselfe.

29 For no man euer yet hated his [p] own flesh, but nourisheth & cherisheth it, euen as the Lord doeth the Church.

30 For we are members of his body, [q] of his flesh, and of his bones.

31 ✣ For this cause shal a man leaue father and mother, and shall [r] cleaue to his wife, and they twaine shalbe one flesh.

32 [15] This is a great secret, but I speake concerning Christ, and concerning the Church.

33 [16] Therfore euery one of you, do ye so: let euery one loue his wife, euen as himselfe, and let the wife see that she feare her husband.

✣ Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 1.ioh 3 23. ✣ *Chap.*4.29. col. 3.5. 1.theſſ 1.17.

1 Now he cōmeth to another kinde of affections, which is in that part of the minde, which men call couetous or desirous: and he reprehendeth fornication, couetousnesse, and iesting very sharply.

a Ieſts which men caſt one at another: that no lightneſſe be ſeene, nor euill example giuen, nor any offence moued by euill words or backbiting.

2 Because these sinnes are such that ỹ most part of men count them not for sinnes, he awaketh the godly, to the end they should so much ỹ more take heed to themselues from them, as most hurtfull plagues.

b A bondſlaue to idolatrie: for the couetous man ſheweth that his life ſtandeth in his goods.

∵ Mat 24.4. mark. 13.5. luke 21.8. 2.theſſ 2.3.

3 Because we are not so readie to any thing as to follow euill examples, therefore the Apostle warneth the godly to remember al ways, that the other are but as it were darkenesse, and that they themselues are as it were light. And therefore the other commit all villanies (as men are wont in the darke) but they ought not onely not to follow their examples, but also (as the propertie of the light is) reproue their darknesse, and to walke so (hauing Christ that true light going before them) as it becommeth wise men.

c The faithfull are called light, both becauſe they haue the true light in them which lightneth them, and alſo becauſe they giue light to others, inſomuch, that their honeſt converſation reproueth the life of wicked men.

d By whoſe force we are made light in the Lorde.

e Make them open to all the world, by your good life.

f The Scripture, or God in the Scripture.

g He ſpeaketh of the death of ſinne.

4 The worse and more corrupt that the maners of this world are, the more watchfull ought we to be against all occasions, and respect nothing but the will of God. ✣ *Col.*4.5.

h This is a metaphore taken from the marchants: who preferre the leaſt profite that may be, before all their pleaſures.

i The times are trouble ſome and ſharpe. ✣ *Rom.*12.2. 1.theſſ 4.3.

5 He setteth the sober and holy assemblies of the faithfull against the dissolute banketsof the vnfaithfull, in which the praises of the only Lord must ring, be it in prosperitie or aduersitie.

k All kind of riot, ioyned with all maner of filthineſſe and ſhamefulneſſe.

l With an earneſt affection of the heart, and not with the tongue onely.

6 A short repetition of the ende whereunto all things ought to be referred, to serue one another for Gods sake. ✣ *Coloſſ.*3.18. titus 2.5. 1.*pet.*3.1.

7 Now he descendeth to a family, diuiding orderly all the parts of a family. And hee saith that the duetie of wiues consisteth herein, to be obedient to their husbands.

8 The first argument, for they can not be disobedient to their husbands, but they must resist God also, who is the authour of this subiection.

✣ 1.*Cor.*11.3.

9 A declaration of the former saying: Because God hath made ỹ man head of the woman in mattimonie, as Christ is the head of the Church.

10 Another argument: Because the good estate of the wife dependeth of the man, so that this submission is not onely iust, but also very profitable: as also the saluation of the Church is of Christ, although farre otherwise.

∵ *Coloſſ.*3.19.

11 The conclusion of the wiues dueties towards their husbands.

12 The husbandes duetie towardes their wiues, is to loue them as themselues, of which loue, the loue of Christ toward his Church, is a liuely patterne.

13 Because many men pretend the infirmities of their wiues to excuse their owne hardnesse and cruelties, the Apostle willeth vs to marke what maner of Church Christ gate, when he ioyned it to himselfe, and how he doth not onely not lothe all her filth and vncleanneſſe, but ceaseth not to wipe the same away with his cleannesse, vntill he haue wholly purged it.

m Make it holy.

n Through the promiſe of free iuſtification and ſanctification in Chriſt, receiued by faith.

o The Church as it is conſidered in it ſelfe, ſhall not be without wrinckle, before it come to the marke it ſhooteth at: for whoſoeuer it in this life it runneth in a race: but if it be conſidered in Chriſt, it is cleane and without wrinckle.

14 Another argument: Euery man loueth himselfe, euen of nature: therefore he striueth against nature that loueth not his wife: he prooueth the consequent, first by the mysticall knitting of Christ and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who saith, that man and wife are as one, that is, not to be diuided.

p His owne body.

q Healſideth to the making of the woman, which ſignifieth our coupling together with Chriſt, which is wrought by faith, but is ſealed by the Sacraments of the Supper.

✣ Genes. 2.2. *matth.*19.5. *mar.*10.7. 1.*cor.*6.16.

*r Looke Matth.*19.5.

15 That no man might dreame of naturall coniunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wiues is) hee sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spirituall and such as farre differeth from the common capacitie of man: as which consisteth by the vertue of the Spirit, and not of the flesh, by faith, and by no naturall band.

16 The conclusion both of husbands duetie toward his wife, and of the wiues toward her husband.

CHAP. VI.

1 He ſheweth the duties of children, 5 ſeruants, 9 and maſters: 10 Then he ſpeaketh of the fierce battell that the faithfull haue, 12 and what weapons we muſt vſe in the ſame.

1 He commeth to another part of a familie, and sheweth that the duetie of the children toward their parents, consisteth in obedience vnto them.

✣ Colos 3.20.

2 The first argument: because God hath so appointed: whereupon it followeth also that children are so far forth bound to obey their parents, as they may not swarue from the true worship of God.

a For the Lord is author of all fatherhood, and therefore we must yeelde such obedience as he will haue vs.

3 The second argument: because this obedience is most iust.

✣ Exod. 20. 12. deuteronom 5. 16. eccles. 3. 9 matth. 15. 4. mark. 7. 10.

4 A proofe of the first argument.

5 The third argument taken of the profit that ensueth thereby: Because the Lord vouchsafed this commandement amongst all the rest, of a speciall blessing.

b With a speciall promise: for otherwise the second commaundement hath a promise of mercy to a thousand generations, but this promise is generall.

6 It is the duetie of fathers to vse their fatherly authoritie moderately and to Gods glory.

c Such informations and precepts as bring taken out of Gods booke, are holy and acceptable to him.

7 Now he descendeth to the third part of a familie, to wit, to the duetie both of the masters and of the seruants. And he sheweth that the duetie of seruants consisteth in an haertie loue and reuerence to their masters.

∵ Colos 3. 22. titus 2. 9. 1 pet. 2. 18.

8 He mitigateth the sharpnesse of seruice, in that they are spirituallye free notwithstanding the same: & yet that spirituall freedome taketh not away corporall seruice: in so much that they cannot be Christs, vnlesse they serue their masters willingly and faithfully, so farre foorth as they may with safe conscience, d With carefull reuerence: for flatterie is not allowable, much lesse in Christian seruants.

9 To cut off occasion of all pretence, he teacheth vs that it is Gods will that some are either borne or made seruants, and therefore they must respect Gods will although their seruice be neuer so hard.

e Being moued with a reuerence to Godward, as though ye serued God himselfe.

10 Although they serue vnkinde and cruell masters, yet the obedience of seruants is no lesse acceptable to God, then the obedience of them that are free.

11 It is the duetie of masters to vse the authoritie that they haue ouer their seruants, modestly and holily, seeing that they in an other respect haue a common master which is in heauen, who will iudge both the bond and the free.

✣ Deut. 10. 17. 2 chro. 16 7. iob 34. 19. acts 10. 34. rom. 2. 11. gal 2. 6. colos 3. 25. 1 pet. 1. 17.

f Either of freedome or bondage.

12 He concludeth the other part of this Epistle, with a graue exhortation, that all be ready and fight constantly, trusting to spirituall weapons, vntill their enemies be cleane put to flight. And first of all he warneth vs to take the armour of God, whereby onely our enemie may be dispatched.

1 Children, ✣ obey your parents [2] in the [a] Lord: [3] for this is right.

2 ✣ [4] Honour thy father and mother ([5] which is the first commandement with [b] promes)

3 That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest liue long on earth.

4 [6] And yee, fathers, prouoke not your children to wrath: but bring them vp in instruction and [c] information of the Lord.

5 [7] ∴ Seruants, bee obedient vnto them that are your masters, [8] according to the flesh, with [d] feare and trembling in singlenes of your hearts as vnto Christ,

6 Not with seruice to the eye as men pleasers, but as the seruants of Christ, [9] doing the will of God from the heart,

7 With good wil, seruing [e] the Lord & not men.

8 [10] And knowe yee that whatsoeuer good thing any man doeth, that same shal he receiue of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.

9 [11] And ye masters doe the same things vnto them, putting away threatning: and know that euen your master also is in heauen, neither is there ✣ [f] respect of person with him.

10 ¶ [12] Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

11 Put on the whole armour of God, [g] ye may be able to stand against the assaults of the deuill.

12 [13] For wee wrestle not against flesh and [g] blood, but against ✣ [h] principalities, against powers, and against the worldly gouernours, the princes of the darkenesse of this worlde, against spiritual wickednesses, which are in the hie places.

13 [14] For this cause take vnto you the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to resist in the [i] euill day, and hauing finished all things, stand fast.

14 Stand therefore, and your loynes girded about with verity, and hauing on the brest plate of righteousnesse, 15 And your feete shod with the [k] preparation of the Gospel of peace.

16 Aboue all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith yee may quench all the fierie dartes of the wicked, 17 And take the helmet of saluation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

18 And pray alwaies with all maner prayer and supplication in the [l] spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseuerance & supplication for al Saints,

19 And for me, that vtterance may be giuen vnto mee, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel, 20 Whereof I am the ambassadour in bonds, that therein I may speake boldely, as I ought to speake.

21 ¶ [15] But that ye may also knowe mine affaires, and what I doe, Tychicus my deare brother and faithfull minister in the Lord, shall shew you of all things, 22 Whome I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that ye might knowe mine affaires, and that he might comfort your hearts.

23 Peace bee with the brethren, and loue with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

24 Grace bee with all them which loue our Lord Iesus Christ, to their [m] immortalitie. Amen.

¶ Written from Rome vnto the Ephesians, and sent by Tychicus.

12 Put on the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to stand against the assaults of the deuill.

13 Secondly, hee declareth that our chiefest and mightiest enemies are inuisible, that we may not thinke that our chiefest conflict is with men.

g Against men, which are of a fraile and brittle nature, against which are set spirituall substitutes, more mighty then the other by a thousand parties.

h He giueth these names to the euill angels, by reason of the effectes which they worke: not that they are able to doe the same of themselues, but because God giueth them the bridle.

14 Hee sheweth that these enemies are put to flight with the onely armour of God, to wit, with vprightnesse of conscience, a godly and holy life, knowledge of the Gospell, faith, and to be short, with the word of God, and vsing daily earnest prayer for the health of the Church, and especially for the constancie of the true godly and valiant Ministers of the worde.

i Looke Chapter 5. 16.

k That the preparation of the Gospell may be as it were shooes to your feete.

15 A familiar and very amiable declaration of his state, together with a solemne prayer, wherewith Paul is wont to end his Epistles.

m To life euerlasting.

THE EPISTLE OF PAVL
TO THE PHILIPPIANS.

CHAP. I.

3 Hauing testified his godly and tender affection towards the Philippians, 12 he entreateth of himselfe, & his bonds: 22 And prickеth them forward by his owne example, 27 and exhorteth them to vnitie. 28 and patience.

¶ The marke whereat he shooeth in this Epistle, is to confirme the Philippians by all meanes possible, not onely not to faint, but also to goe forward. And first of all he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to goe forwarde: which thing he faith he hopeth fully they will doe, and that by the testimonie of their liuely chastitie, but in the meane season he referreth all things to the grace of God.

a By the Bishops are meant both the Pastours, which haue the dispensation of the worde, and the Elders that gouerne: and by Deacons are meant those that were Stewards of the treasurie of the Church, and tied to looke vnto the poore.

PAul [1] and Timotheus the seruants of IESVS CHRIST, to all the Saintes in Christ Iesus which are at Philippi, with the [2] Bishops, and Deacons:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 I thanke my God, hauing you in perfect memorie,

4 (Alwayes in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladnesse)

5 Because of the [b] felowship which ye haue in the Gospel, from the [c] first day vnto now.

6 And I am perswaded of this same thing, that he that hath begun this good worke in you, will performe it vntil the [d] day of Iesus Christ,

7 As it becommeth me so to iudge of you all, because I haue you in remembrance, that both in my [e] bands, and in my defence, & confirmation of the Gospel you all were partakers of my [f] grace.

b Because that you also are made partakers of the Gospel.

c Euer since I knew you.

d The Spirit of God will not forsake you vnto the very latter end, vntill your mortall bodies shall appeare before the iudgement of Christ to be glorified.

e A true proofe of a true knitting together with Christ.

f Hee calleth his bandes, grace, as though he had receiued some singular benefite.

2 Hee declareth his good will towards them, therewithall shewing by what meanes chiefly they may be confirmed, to wit, by continuall prayer.
3 Hee sheweth what thing wee ought chiefly desire, to wit, first of all, that we may increase in the true knowledge of God (so that we may be able to discerne things that differ) one from another: and also in charity, that euen to the end we may giue our selues to good workes in deede, to the glorie of God by Iesus Christ.
2 If righteousnesse be the tree, and good workes the fruites, then must the Papists needs be deceiued, when they say that workes are the cause of righteousnesse.
4 He preuenteth the offence that might come by his persecution, whereby diuers tooke occasion to disgrace his Apostleship. To whom he answereth, that God hath blessed his imprisonment in such wise, that hee is by that meanes become more famous, and the dignitie of the Gospel by this occasion is greatly enlarged, although not with like affection in all men, yet in deede.
b For Christes sake,
i In the Emperors court.
k The Gospel is called the worde, to set forth the excellencie of it.
l Not with a pure minde: for otherwise their doctrine was pure.
5 He sheweth by setting foorth his owne example, that the ende of our afflictions is true ioy, and that through the vertue of the Spirit of Christ, which he giueth to them that aske it.
m Vnder a goodly colour and shewe: for they made Christ a clobe for their ambition and enuie.
6 Wee must continue euen to the ende, with great confidence, hauing nothing before our eyes but Christs glory onely, whether we liue or die.
7 An example of a true shepheard, who maketh more accompt how he may profite his sheepe, then hee doeth of any commoditie of his owne wha[t]soeuer.
n To liue in this mortall body.
8 Hauing set downe those things before, in maner of a preface hee descendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knit together with those common bandes, they continue through the strength of faith to beate all aduersitie in such sort, that they admit nothing vnworthie the profession of the Gospell.
o The word signifieth to stand fast, and is a proper to wrestlers, that stande fast and striue not afoote.

8 [2] For God is my recorde, howe I long after you all from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ.
9 [3] And this I pray, that your loue may abound, yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement,
10 That ye may allowe those things which are best, that yee may bee pure, and without offence vntill the day of Christ,
11 Filled with the [g] fruites of righteousnesse, which are by Iesus Christ vnto the glory and prayse of God.
12 ¶ [4] I would yee vnderstood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the further[ing] of the Gospel,
13 So that my bandes [h] in Christ are famous throughout all the [i] iudgement hall, and in all other places, 14 Insomuch that many of the brethren in the Lorde are boldened through my bandes, and dare more frankely speake the [k] word.
15 Some preache Christ euen through enuie and strife, and some also of good will.
16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention and not [l] purely, supposing to adde more affliction to my bands.
17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospel.
18 [5] What then? yet Christ is preached al maner wayes, whether it be vnder a [m] pretence, or sincerely: and I therein ioy: yea and will ioy.
19 For I know that this shall turne to my saluation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the spirit of Iesus Christ,
20 [6] As I feruently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, so now Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life, or by death
21 For Christ is to me both in life, & in death aduantage.
22 [7] And whether to liue in the [n] flesh were profitable for me, and what to chuse I know not.
23 For I am distressed betweene both, desiring to be loosed and to bee with Christ, which is best of all.
24 Neuertheless, to abide in the flesh, is more needefull for you.
25 And this am I sure of, that I shal abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith, 26 That ye may more aboundantly reioyce in Iesvs Christ for mee, by my comming to you againe.
27 [8] Onely let your conuersation be, as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you or els be absent, I may heare of your matters that ye [o] continue in one spirit, and in one mind, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.
28 [9] And in nothing feare your aduersaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and that of God.
29 [10] For vnto you it is giuen for Christ, that not only ye should beleeue in him, but also suffer for his sake, 30 [11] Hauing the same fight, which ye saw in me, and nowe heare to be in me.

9 We ought not to be discouraged, but rather encouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine & practise against vs: seeing that they are certaine witnesses from God himselfe both of our saluation, & of the destruction of the wicked. 10 Hee proueth that his saying, that persecution is a token of our saluation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestoweth vpon his owne, as hee doeth the gift of faith. 11 Now hee sheweth for what purpose he made mention of his afflictions.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth them about all things 3 to humilitie, 6 and that by the example of Christ. 19 Hee promiseth to send Timotheus shortly vnto them, 25 and excuseth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

1 A most earenest request to remoue all those things, whereby that great and speciall consent and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it commeth to passe that they separate themselues one from another.
a Any christian comfort.
b If any feeling of inward loue.
c Like loue.
2 He setteth before them a most perfite example of all modestie and sweete conuersation, Christ Iesus, whom we ought to follow with all our might: who abased himselfe so farre for our sakes, although he be aboue all, that hee tooke vpon him the forme of a seruant, to wit, our flesh, willingly, subiect to all infirmities, euen to the death of the crosse.
d Such as God hitherto hath fulfilled, and therefore God, for there is none in all parts like to God but himselfe.
e Christ that glorious and euerlasting God knewe that hee might rightfully and lawfully not appeare in the base flesh of man, but remaine with Maiestie vncle for Gods yet he chose rather to debase himselfe.
f If the Sonne be equall to the Father then is there of necessitie an equalitie, which Arrius that Heretike denieth: and if the Sonne be compared with the Father, then is there a distinction of persons, which Sabellius that heretike denieth.
g Hee brought himselfe from all things, as it were to nothing.
h By taking our manhood vpon him.
3 Hee sheweth the most glorious estate of Christes submission, to teache vs that modestie is the true way to true praise and glory.
i Dignitie and renowme, and the matter with it.
k All creatures shall at length bee subiect to Christ.
l Euery nation.
4 The conclusion: Wee must go on to saluation with humilitie and submission by the way of our vocation.
m He is saide to make an ende of his saluation, which runneth in the race of righteousnesse.
5 A most sure and grounded argument against pride, for that wee haue nothing in vs praise worthy, but it commeth of the free gift of God, and is without vs, for wee haue no abilitie or power, so much as to will well (much lesse to doe well) but onely of the free mercy of God.
n Why then, we are not stockes, but yet we doe not will well of nature, but onely because God hath made of our naughtie will a good will.
6 Hee describeth modestie by the contrary effects of pride, teaching vs, that it is far both from all malicious & cloke of inward hatred, and also from open contentions and brawlings.
o Iud. 9. 9.

2 [1] If there be therfore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of loue, if any felowship of the Spirit, if any [b] compassion and mercie,
2 Fulfill my ioy, that ye bee like minded, hauing the [c] same loue, being of one accord, and of one iudgement,
3 That nothing be done through contention or vaine glory, but that in meekenesse of minde euery man esteeme other better then himselfe.
4 Looke not euery man on his owne things, but euery man also on the things of other men.
5 [2] Let the same minde be in you that was euen in Christ Iesus,
6 Who being in the [d] forme of God, [e] thought it no robbery to be [f] equall with God:
7 But he made himself of [g] no reputation, and tooke on him the [h] forme of a seruant, & was made like vnto men, and was found in shape as a man.
8 He humbled himselfe, & became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the crosse.
9 [3] Wherefore God hath also highly exalted him, and giuen him a [i] name aboue euery name,
10 That at the Name of Iesus shoulde [k] euery knee bow, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth,
11 And that [l] euery tongue shoulde confesse that Iesus Christ is the Lorde, vnto the glorie of God the Father.
12 [4] Wherefore my beloued, as yee haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my presence only, but now much more in mine absence, [m] so make an end of your own saluation with feare & trembling.
13 [5] For it is God which worketh in you, both [n] the wil and the deed, euen of his good pleasure.
14 [6] Do all things without [o] murmuring and reasonings,

15 7 That ye may be blamelesse, and pure, and the sonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughtie and crooked nation, among whom ye shine as ✣ lights in the world,

16 Holding forth the ° word of life, 8 that I may reioyce in the day of Christ, that I haue not runne in vaine, neither haue laboured in vaine.

17 Yea, and though I be offered vp vpon the P sacrifice, and seruice of your faith, , I am glad, and reioyce with you all.

18 For the same cause also be ye glad, and reioyce with me.

19 9 And I trust in the Lorde Iesus, to send ✣ Timotheus shortly vnto you, that I also may be of q good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I haue no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 ∴ For r all seeke their owne, and not that which is Iesus Christs.

22 But yee know the proofe of him, that as a sonne with the father, he hath serued with me in the Gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send as soone as I know how it will go with me, 24 And trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

25 But I supposed it necessarie to send my brother Epaphroditus vnto you my companion in labour, and fellow souldier, euen your messenger, and he that ministred vnto me such things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was full of heauinesse, because ye had heard that he had bene sicke.

27 And no doubt he was sicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercy on him, and not on him onely, but on me also, lest I should haue sorow vpon sorow.

28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when ye should see him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might be the lesse sorowfull.

29 Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such:

30 Because that for the ſ worke of Christ hee was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that seruice which was lacking on your part toward me.

CHAP. III.

2 He refuteth the vaine boastings of the false apostles, 7 and setteth Christ against them. 10 He setteth out the force and nature of faith, 13 that laying all things aside, they may bee partakers of the Crosse of Christ, 18 the enemies whereof, be not therewith out.

MOreouer, 1 my brethren, reioyce in the Lorde. 2 I grieueth me not to write the a same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of dogs: beware of euill workers: beware of the b concision.

3 3 For we are the circumcision, which worship God in the spirit, and reioyce in Christ Iesus, and haue no confidence c in the flesh:

4 4 Though I might also haue confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinke that hee hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I,

5 Circumcised the eight day, of the kinred of Israel, of the tribe of Beniamin, ✣ an Ebrewe of the Ebrewes, ✣ by the Lawe a Pharise.

6 Concerning zeale, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousnesse which is in the Law, I was vnrebukeable.

7 But the things that were d vantage vnto me, the same I counted losse for Christes sake.

8 Yea, doubtlesse I thinke e all things but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lord, for whome I haue counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to be doung, that I might f winne Christ.

9 And might be found in g him, that is, h not hauing mine owne righteousnesse, which is of the Lawe, but that which is through the faith of Christ, euen the righteousnesse which is of God through faith,

10 5 That I may i know him, & the vertue of his resurrection, and the 6 fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable vnto his death,

11 If by any meanes I might attaine vnto the k resurrection of the dead:

12 Not as though I had already attainted to it either were already perfect: but I followe, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am l comprehended of Christ Iesus.

13 Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I haue attained to it, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behinde, and endeuour my selfe vnto that which is before,

14 And follow hard toward the marke, for the prise of the high calling of God in Christ Iesus.

15 7 Let vs therefore as many as be m perfect, be thus minded: and if ye be otherwise minded, God shall reueile euen the same vnto you.

16 Neuerthelesse, in that whereunto wee are come, let vs proceede by one rule, that wee may minde one thing.

17 Brethren, bee followers of me, and looke on them, which walke so, as ye haue vs for an ensample.

18 8 ∴ For many walke, of whom I haue tolde you often, and now tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the Crosse of Christ:

7 To be short, he requireth a life without fault, and pure, that being lightned with the worde of God, they may shine in the darkenesse of this world.
✣ Mat.5.14.
° The Gospel is called the word of life, because of the effect which is worketh.
8 Againe he pricketh them forward, setting before them his true Apostolike care that hee had of them, comforting them moreouer, to the ende they should not be sory for the greatnesse of his afflictions, no not although he should die to make perfite their oblation with his blood, as it were with a drinke offering.
P As if he sayd, I brought you Philippians to Christ, my desire is that you present your selues a liuely sacrifice to him, & then shall it not grieue me to be offered vp as a drinke offering, to accomplish this your spirituall offering.
9 Moreouer, hee confirmeth their mindes both by sending backe Epaphroditus vnto them, whose fidelitie towards the, & great paines in helping him, hee commendeth: and also promising to send Timothie shortly vnto them, by whose presence they shall receiue great commoditie, and hoping also to come himselfe shortly vnto them, if God will. ✣ Actes 16.1. q May be confirmed in my ioy of minde. ∴ 1.Cor.10.24. r The most part. ſ He calleth it here the worke of Christ, to visite Christ, being poore and in bandes in the person of Paul.

1 A conclusion of those things which haue bene before said, to wit, that they go forward chere fully in the Lord.
2 A preface to the next admonition that followeth, to take good heede and beware of false apostles, which iovne circumcision with Christ, (that is to say, iustification by workes, with free iustification by faith) and beate into mens heads the ceremonies which are abolished, for true exercises of godlinesse and charitie. And he calleth them dogges as prophane barkers, and euill workemen, because they neglected true workes, and did not teach the true vse of them. To be short, he calleth them Concision, because in vrging Circumcision, they cut off themselues and others from the Church. a Which you haue oftentimes heard of me. b Hee alludeth to Circumcision, of the name whereof whilst they boasted, they cut asunder the Church.

3 He sheweth that we ought to vse true circumcision, to wit, the circumcision of the heart, that cutting off all wicked affections by ✣ vertue of Christ, we may serue God in purnie of life.
c In outward things, which do pertaine nothing to the soule.
4 He doubteth not to prefer himselfe euen according to the flesh, before those peruerse hote vrgers of the Law, that all men may know what he doeth with good iudgement of minde, lightly esteeme all those outward things: forasmuch as he lacketh nothing, which hath Christ, nay, the confidence of our works can not stand with the free iustification in Christ by faith.
✣ 2.Cor.11.22.
d Which I accounted for vantage.
e He setteth out all workes of men: those that go before, as those that come after faith.
f That in their place I might get Christ, & of a poore man become rich: so farre off am I from losing any thing.
g In Christ: for they that are found without Christ are subiect to condemnation.
h That is to be in Christ, to be found not in a mans owne righteousnesse, but clothed with the righteousnesse of Christ imputed to him.
5 This is the ende of righteousnes by faith touching vs, that by the vertue of his resurrection wee may scape from death. i That I may stele him in deede and haue a triall of him.
6 The way to that eternall saluation is to followe Christ his steps, by afflictions and persecutions, vntil we come to Christ himselfe who is our marke whereat we shoote, and receiue that reward whereunto God calleth vs in him. And the Apostle setteth these true exercises of godlines against those vaine ceremonies of the law, wherein the false apostles put the summe of godlines. k To life euerlasting, which followeth the resurrection of the Saints. l For we runne not but so farre forth as we are laide hold on of Christ, that is, as God giueth vs strength, and sheweth vs the way.
7 The conclusion of this exhortation standing vpon three members: The one is, that such as haue profited in the trueth of this doctrine, should continue in it. The second is, that if there bee any which are yet ignorant and vnderstand not these things, & doubt of the abolishing of the Law, they should cause no trouble, and should be gently borne withal, vntil they also be instructed of the Lord. The third is, that they esteeme the false apostles, by their fruits: where in he doubteth not to set forth himselfe for an example. m He said before that he was not perfect. So that in this place he calleth them perfect, which haue somewhat profited in the knowledge of Christ and the Gospel, whom he setteth against the rude & ignorant, as he expounded himselfe in the next verse following.
8 He painteth out the false apostles in their colours, not vpon malice or ambition, but with sorow and teares, to wit, because that being enemies of the Gospel (for that it is ioyned with affliction) they regard nothing else, but the commodities of this life: that is to say, that flowing in peace quietnesse, and all worldly pleasures they may liue in great estimation amongst men: whose miserable end he forewarneth them of. ∴ Rom.16.17.

u Rewarde. o Which they hunt after at mens handes.

19 Whose [a] ende is damnation, whose God u their bellie, and whose [o] glorie is to their shame, which minde earthly things.

20 [9] But our conuersation is in heauen, from whence also we looke for the ✣ Sauiour, euen the Lord Iesus Christ, 21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like vnto his glorious bodie, according to the working, whereby he is able euen to subdue all things vnto himselfe.

9 He setteth against these lewd followes, true pastors which neglect earthly things, and aspire to heauen onely, where they know, that euen in their bodies they shall be clothed with that eternall glorie, by the vertue of God. ✣ 1. Cor. 15.

1 Iohn 2.15.

CHAP. IIII.

1 From particular exhortations, 4 he commeth to generall. 10 He saith that he tooke such ioy in their readinesse to liberalitie, 12 that he will patiently beare the want.

THerefore, [1] my brethren, beloued and longed for, my ioy and my [a] crowne, so continue in the [b] Lord, ye beloued.

2 [2] I pray Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord.

3 Yea, and I beseech thee, faithfull yokefellow, helpe those women, which laboured with me in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellowe labourers, whose names are in the ✣ [c] booke of life.

4 [3] Reioyce in the [d] Lord alway, againe I say, reioyce.

5 [4] Let your [e] patient minde be knowen vnto all men. [5] The Lord is at hand.

6 [6] Be nothing carefull, but in all thinges let your requests be shewed vnto God in prayer, and supplication with [f] giuing of thankes,

7 And the [g] peace of God which passeth all vnderstanding shall preserue your [h] hearts and mindes in Christ Iesus.

8 [7] Furthermore, brethren, whatsoeuer thinges are true, whatsoeuer things [i] are honest, whatsoeuer things are iust, whatsoeuer things are pure, whatsoeuer things are worthie loue, whatsoeuer things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any praise, thinke on these things,

9 Which ye haue both learned and receiued, and heard, and seene in me, those things doe, and the God of peace shall be with you.

10 [8] Nowe I reioyce also in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care for me springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were carefull, but ye lacked opportunitie.

11 I speake not because of [k] want: for I haue learned in whatsoeuer state I am, therewith to be content.

12 And I can be [l] abased, and I can abound: euery where in all things I am [m] instructed, both to be full, and to be hungrie, and to abound, and to haue want.

13 I am able to doe all things through the helpe of Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding yee haue well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 [9] And ye Philippians know also that in the [n] beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, concerning the matter of giuing and receiuing, but ye onely.

16 For euen when I was in Thessalonica, yee sent once, and afterward againe for my necessitie.

17 [10] Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruite which may further your reckoning.

18 Now I haue receiued all, and haue plentie: I was euen filled, after that I had receiued of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an [o] odour that smelleth sweete, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.

19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches with glorie in Iesus Christ.

20 Vnto God euen our Father be praise for euermore, Amen.

21 Salute all the Saintes in Christ Iesus. The brethren which are with me, greete you.

22 All the Saintes salute you, and most of all they which are of [p] Cesars houshold.

23 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 he praiseth them the more to make them attentiue vnto him. 7 Hee reporteth the testimonie of the doctrine which they heard of Epaphras. 13 Hee magnifieth Gods grace towardes them, 20 and sheweth that all the parts of our saluation consist in Christ alone.

PAul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the [a] will of God, and Timotheus our brother,

2 To them which are of [b] Colosse, Saints and faithfull brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

a By the free bounteousnesse of God.

b Colosse is situated in Phrygia, not far from Hierapolis & Laodicea, on that side that they bend toward Lycia and Pamphylia.

3 [1] We giue thankes to God euen the [c] Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, alway praying for you:

4 Since wee heard of your faith in Christ Iesus, and of your loue toward all Saints,

5 For the [d] hopes sake, which is laid vp for you in heauen, whereof ye haue heard before by the word of trueth, which is the Gospel,

6 Which is come vnto you euē as it is vnto all the world, & is fruitful, as it is also among you frō the day ỹ ye heard & truly knew ỹ grace of God,

8 [2] Who hath also declared vnto vs your loue in the [e] Spirit.

9 For this cause we also, since the day that we heard of it, cease not to pray for you, & to desire that ye might be fulfilled with knowledge of his will in all wisdome, and spirituall vnderstanding,

10 That ye might walke worthy of the Lord, and please him in all things, being fruitfull in all good workes, and increasing in the knowledge of God,

11 [3] Stengthened with all might through his glorious power, vnto all patience, and long suffering with [f] ioyfulnesse,

12 [4] Giuing thankes vnto the [5] Father, which hath made vs meete to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saints in [h] light,

13 Who hath deliuered vs from the power of darkenesse, and hath translated vs into the kingdome ✣ of his deare Sonne, 14 [6] In whom wee haue redemption through his blood, that is, the forgiuenesse of sinnes.

15 [7] Who is the ✣ image of the inuisible God, [i] the first begotten of euery creature.

16 ∴For by him were all things created which are in heauen, and which are in earth, things visible and inuisible: whether they be [k] Thrones or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him, 17 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist.

18 [8] And hee is the head of the body of the Church: he is the beginning, [x] and the [l] first begotten of the dead, that in all things hee might haue the preeminence.

19 ✣ For it pleased the Father, that in him should [m] all fulnesse dwell,

20 [9] And through peace made by that blood of that his crosse, to reconcile to himselfe through him, through him, I say, [n] all things, both which are in earth, and which are in heauen.

21 [10] And you which were in times past strangers and enemies, because your mindes were set in euill workes, hath [o] he now also reconciled,

22 In that body of his [p] flesh through death, to make you holy, and vnblameable, and without fault in his sight,

23 [11] If ye continue, grounded and stablished in the faith, & be not moued away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye haue heard, and which hath bene preached to [q] euery creature which is vnder heauen, [12] whereof I Paul am a minister.

24 Now reioyce I in my [r] sufferings for you, and fulfill the [s] rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his bodies sake, which is the Church,

25 [13] Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is giuen mee vnto youward, to fulfill the word of God,

26 ✣ Which is the mysterie hid since the world began, and from all ages, but now is made manifest to his [t] Saints,

27 To whome God [u] would make knowen what is the riches of his glorious mysterie among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory, 28 [14] Whome we preach, admonishing euery man, and teaching euery man in [x] all wisdome, that wee may present euery man perfect in Christ Iesus.

29 Whereunto I also labour & striue, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

[2] He declareth his good will towards them, telling them that they must not still remaine at one stay, but go on further both in the knowledge of the Gospell, and also in the true vse of it.

[e] Your spirituall loue, or your loue which commeth from the Spirit.

[f] Gods will.

3 The gift of continuance is not of vs, but it proceedeth from the vertue of God, which he doeth freely giue vs.

[g] It must not be vnwilling, and as it were drawen out of vs by force, but procede from a merie and ioyfull minde.

4 Hauing ended the preface, he goeth to the matter it selfe, that is to say, to an excellent description (although it be but short) of whole Christianitie, which is fitly diuided into three treatises: for first of all he expoundeth the true doctrine, according to the order of the causes, beginning from this verse to the 24. And from thence he beginneth to apply the same to the Colossians with diuers exhortations to the 6 verse of the second Chapter. And last of all in the third place, euen to the third Chapter, he refuteth the corruptions of true doctrine. 5 The efficient cause of our saluation is the onely mercy of God the Father, who maketh vs meete to be partakers of eternall life, deliuering vs from the darkenesse wherein wee were borne, and bringing vs to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Sonne. b In that glorious and heautnly kingdome. ✣ Matth.3.17. and 17.5. 2.Peter 1.17. 6 The matter it selfe of our saluation, is Christ the Sonne of God, who hath obteined remission of sinnes for vs, by the offering vp of himselfe. 7 A liuely description of the person of Christ, whereby we vnderstand that in him only, God sheweth himselfe to be seene: who was begotten of the Father before any thing was made, that is, from euerlasting, by whome also all things that are made, were made without any exception, by whom also they doe consist, and whose glory they serue. ✣ Hebr. 1.3. 2 Begotten before any thing was made: and therefore the euerlasting Sonne of the euerlasting Father. ∴ Iohn 1.3. k Hee setteth foorth the Angels with glorious names, that by comparison of most excellent spirits, we may vnderstand howe farre passing the excellencie of Christ is, in whome onely we haue to content our selues, and let go all Angels. 8 Hauing gloriously declared the excellent dignitie of the person of Christ, he describeth his office and function, to wit, that hee is that same to the Church, that the head is to the body, that is to say, the Prince and gouernour of it, and the very beginning of true life, as who rising first from death, is the Authour of eternall life, so that he is aboue all, in whom only there is most plentiful abundance of all good things, which is powred out vpon the Church. ✣ Reuela. 1.5. 1.cor.15.20. l Who so rose againe that he shall die no more, and who raiseth other from death to life by his power. ✣ Iohn 1.14. chap.2.9. m Most plentifull abundance of all things pertaining to God. 9 Now he teacheth how Christ executed that office which his Father inioyned him, to wit, by suffering the death of the crosse (which was ioyned with the curse of God) according to his decree that by this sacrifice he might reconcile to his Father all men, as well them which beleeued in him to come, and were already vnder this hope gathered into heauen, as them which should vpon the earth beleeue in him afterward. And thus is iustification described of the Apostle, which is one and the chiefest part of the benefite of Christ. n The whole Church. 10 Sanctification is another worke of God in vs by Christ, in that that he restored vs (which hated God extremely, and were wholly and willingly giuen to sinne) to his gracious fauour in such sort, that hee therewithall purifieth vs with his holy Spirit, & consecrateth vs to righteousnes.

o The sonne.

p In that fi. shly body to giue vs to vnderstand, that his body was not a fantasticall body, but a true body.

11 This second treatise of this part of the Epistle, wherein he exhorteth the Colossians not to suffer themselues by any meanes to be moued from this doctrine, shewing and declaring that there is no where any other true Gospel.

q To all men: whereby we learne that the Gospel was not shut vp within the corners of Iudea alone.

12 He purchaseth authoritie to this doctrine by his Apostleship, and taketh a most sure proofe thereof, of his afflictions which he sustaineth for Christ his Name to instruct the Churches with these examples of patience.

r For your profite and commoditie. s The afflictions of the Church are sayd to be Christs afflictions, by reason of that fellowship and knitting together, that the body and the head haue the one with the other, wss that there is any more meede to haue the Church redeemed, but that Christ sheweth his power in the daily weakenesse of his, and that for the comfort of the whole body. 13 Hee bringeth another proofe of his Apostleship, to wit, that God is the Authour of it, by whome also hee was appointed peculiarly Apostle of the Gentiles, to the end that by this meanes, that same might be fulfilled by him, which the Prophets foretold of ỹ calling of the Gentiles. ✣ Rom. 16.25. ephr.3.9. 2.tim.1.10. 1.pet.1 20. t Whom he chose to sanctifie vnto himselfe in Christ: moreouer he saith that the mysterie of our redemption was hidden since the world began, except it were reuealed vnto a fewe, who also were taught it extraordinarily. u Thus Paul brideleth the curiositie of men. 14 He protesteth that hee doeth faithfully execute his Apostleship in euery place, bringing men vnto Christ onely, through the Lords plentifull blessing of his labours. x Perfect and sound wisedome, which is perfect in it selfe, and shall in the ende make them perfect that follow it.

CHAP. II.

4 He condemneth, as vaine, whatsoeuer is without Christ, 11 intreating specially of circumcision, 16 of abstinence from meates, 18 and of worshipping of Angels. 20 That we are deliuered from the traditions of the Law through Christ.

FOr I [1] would yee knew what great fighting I haue for your sakes, and for them of Laodicea, and for as many as haue not seene my [a] person in the flesh,

2 [2] That [b] their hearts might be comforted, and they knit together in loue, and in all riches of the [c] full assurance of vnderstanding, to know the mysterie of God, euen the Father, and of Christ:

3 In whom are hid all the treasures of [d] wisedome and knowledge.

4 [3] And this I say, least any man should beguile you with [e] entising wordes.

5 ✣ For though I be absent in the flesh yet am I with you in the spirit, reioycing & beholding your [f] order, and your [g] stedfast faith in Christ.

a Me present in body.

2 He concludeth shortly the summe of the former doctrine, to wit, that the whole summe of true wisedome, and most secrete knowledge of God, consisteth in Christ only, & that this is the vse of it touching men, that they being knit together in loue, rest themselues happily in the knowledge of so great a goodnes, vntil they come fully to enioy it. b Whom he neuer saw. c Of that vnderstanding, which bringeth forth a certaine & vndoubted perswasion in our minds. d There is no true wisdome without Christ. 3 A plaising oner to the treatise following, against the corruptions of Christianitie. e With a framed kinde of talke made to perswade. ✣ 1.Cor.1.3. f The maner of your Ecclesiasticall discipline. g Doctrine. h So then Christ hangeth not vpon mens traditions.

the faith, as yee haue bene taught, abounding therein with thankesgiuing.

8 4 Beware lest there be any man that [i] spoile you through philosophy, & vaine deceit, 5 through the traditions of men, [6] according to the [k] rudiments of the world, 7 and not after Christ.

9 8 For [l] in him [m] dwelleth [n] all the fulnesse of the Godhead [o] bodily.

10 And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principalitie and power.

11 9 In whom also yee are circumcised with ✣ circumcision made without handes, by putting off the [p] sinfull body of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ, 12 10 In that yee are ✣ [q] buried with [r] him through baptisme, 11 in whome yee are also raised vp together through the faith of the operation of [s] God, which raised him from the dead.

13 ∴ 12 And you which were dead in sinnes, 13 and in the vncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, forgiuing you all your trespasses,

14 14 And putting out the ✣ [t] hand writing of ordinances that was against vs, which was contrarie to vs, hee euen tooke it out of the way, and fastened it vpon the crosse,

15 And hath spoyled the [u] Principalities, and Powers, and hath [x] made a shew of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in the [y] same crosse.

16 15 Let no man therefore condemne you in meate and drinke, or in respect of an holy day, or of the newe moone, or of the Sabbath dayes, 17 Which are but a shadowe of things to come: but the [z] body is in Christ.

18 15 Let no man at his pleasure beare rule ouer you by [a] humblenesse of minde, and worshipping of Angels, 17 aduancing himselfe in those things which hee neuer sawe, 18 b rashly puft vp with his fleshly minde, 19 19 And holdeth not the [c] head, whereof all the body furnished & knit together by iointes and bands, increaseth with the increasing of [d] God.

20 20 Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ from the ordinances of the world, why, [e] as though ye liued in ỹ world, are ye burdened with traditions?

21 21 As, Touch not, Taste not, Handle not.

22 22 Which all perish with the vsing, 23 and are after the cõmandements & doctrines of men.

23 23 Which things haue in deede a shewe of [f] wisedome, in [g] voluntarie religion and humblenesse of minde, and in [h] not sparing the body, which are things of no value, sith they pertaine to the [i] filling of the flesh.

---

4 He bringeth all corruptions to three kindes: The first is that, which resteth of vaine and curious speculations, and yet beareth a shew of a certaine subtill wisedome.

i This is a word of warre, and it is as much as to driue or cary away a spoyle or bootie.

5 The second, which is manifestly superstitious and vaine, & standeth onely vpon custome and ained inspirations.

6 The third kind was of them which ioyned the rudiments of the world, (that is to say, the ceremonies of the Law) with the Gospel.

k Principles and rules, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were vnder a schoolemaster.

7 A generall confutation of all corruptions is this, that that must needes be a false religion, which addeth any thing to Christ.

8 A reason: Because only Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth farre aboue all things, so that whosoeuer hath him, may require nothing more.

l By these words, is shewed a distinction of the natures. m This worde (Dwelleth) noteth out vnto vs the ioyning together of those natures, so that of God and Man, is one Christ. n These wordes set downe most perfect Godhead to be in Christ. o The knitting together of God and man, is substantiall and effectuall.

9 Nowe hee dealeth precisely against the third kinde, that is to say, against them which vrged the Iewish religion: and first of all, he denieth that wee haue neede of the Circumcision of the flesh, seeing that without it we are circumcised within by the vertue of Christ. ✣ Rom.2.29. p These many wordes are vsed to shewe what the olde man is, whom Paul in other places calleth the body of sinne.

10 The taking away of an obiection: We neede not so much as the external signe which our fathers had, seeing that our baptisme is a most effectuall pledge and witnesse, of that inward restoring and renuing. ✣ Rom.6.4. ephes.1.19. q Looke rom.6.4. r So then all the force of the matter commeth not from the very deede done, that is to say, it is not the dipping of vs into the water by a Minister that maketh vs to be buried with Christ, as the Papists say, that euen for the very actes sake, we become verely Christians, but it commeth from the vertue of Christ, for the Apostle addeth the resurrection of Christ, and faith.

11 One ende of Baptisme is the death and burial of the old man, and that by the mightie power of God onely, whose vertue wee lay holde on by faith, in the death and resurrection of Christ. f Through faith which commeth from God. ∴ Ephes.2.1.

12 An other ende of Baptisme is, that wee which were dead in sinne, might obteine free remission of sinnes and eternall life, through faith in Christ who died for vs.

13 A new argument which lyeth in these fewe wordes, and it is thus: Vncircumcision was no hinderance to you, why you being iustified in Christ should not obteine life, therefore you neede not circumcision to the attainement of saluation.

14 Hee speaketh nowe more generally against the whole seruice of the Law, and sheweth by two reasons that it is abolished: First, to what purpose should he that hath obtained remission of all his sinnes in Christ, require those helpes of the Law? Secondly, because, that if a man doe rightly consider those rites, he shall finde that they were so many testimonies of our guiltinesse, wherby we manifestly witnessed as it were by our owne hand writings, that we deserued damnation. Therefore did Christ put out that handwriting by his comming, and fastening it to the crosse, triumphed ouer all our enemies, were they neuer so mightie. Therefore to what end and purpose should we now vse those ceremonies, as though we were still guiltie of sinne, and subiect to the tyrannie of our enemies. ✣ Ephes.2.15. t Abolishing the rites and ceremonies. u Satan and his angels. x As a conqueror made he a shewe of those captiues, and put them to shame. y The crosse was as a chariot of triumph. No conqueror could haue triumphed so gloriously in his chariot, as Christ did vpon the crosse.

15 The conclusion: wherein also he nameth certaine kindes, as the difference of dayes, and meates, and peoueth by a newe argument that wee are not bond vnto them: to wit, because those things were shadowes of Christ to come, but we possesse him nowe exhibited vnto vs. z The body as a thing of substance and pith, he setteth against shadowes.

16 He disputeth against the first kinde of corruptions, and setteth downe the worshipping of Angels for an example: which kinde of false religion he confuteth, first, this way: because that they which bring in such a worship, attribute that vnto them selues which is proper onely to God, to wit, authoritie to binde mens consciences with religion, although they seeme to bring in these things by humblenesse of minde.

a By foolish humblenesse of minde: for otherwise humblenesse is a vertue. For these Angel-worshippers blamed such of pride, as would goe straight to God, & vse no other vnder meanes besides Christ. 17 Secondly, because they rashly thrust vpon them for oracles, these things which they neither sawe nor heard, but deuised of themselues. 18 Thirdly, because these things haue no other ground, whereupon they are built, but onely the opinion of men, which please themselues without all measure in their owne deuices. b Without reason. 19 The fourth argument, which is of great waight, because they spoyle Christ of his dignitie, who onely is sufficient both to nourish and also to increase his whole body. c Christ. d With the increasing which commeth from God. 20 Now last of all he fighteth against the second kinde of corruptions, that is to say, against mere superstitions, inuented of men, which partly deceiue the simplicitie of some with their craftinesse, and partly with very foolish superstitions, and to be laughed at: as when godlinesse, remission of sinnes, or any such like vertue is put in some certaine kind of meate and such like things, which the inuenters of such rites themselues vnderstand not, because in deede it is not. And he vseth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who established a new couenant with his blood, you be deliuered from those externall rites wherewith it pleased the Lorde to prepare the worlde, as it were by certaine rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why would yee bee burdened with traditions? I wote not what, as though ye were citizens of this world, that is to say, as though ye depended vpon this life, and earthly things? Now this is the cause why before verse 8. he folowed another order then he doth in the confutation: because he sheweth there by what degrees false religions came into the world, to wit, beginning first by curious speculations of the wise, after which in processe of time succeeded grosse superstition, against which mischiefes the Lord set at length that seruice of the Lawe, which some abused in like sort: but in the confutation hee began with the abolishing of the Law seruice, that he might shew by comparison, that those false seruices ought much more to be taken away. e As though your felicitie stoode in these earthly things, & the kingdome of God were not rather spirituall. 21 An imitation in the person of these superstitious men, rightly expressing their nature and vse of speech.

22 An other argument: The spirituall and inward kingdome of God cannot consist in these outward things, and such as perish with the vsing. 23 The third argument: Because God is not the authour of these traditions, and therefore they doe not bind the consciences. 24 The taking away of an obiection. These things haue a goodly shewe, because men by this meanes, seeme to worship God with a good mind, & humble themselues, & neglect the body, which the most part of men curiously pamper vp & cherish: but yet notwithstanding the things themselues are of no value, for so much as they perteine not to things that are spirituall & euerlasting, but to the nourishment of the flesh. f Which seeme in deed to be some exquisit thing, & so wise deuices as though they came from heauen. g Hence sprang the works of supererogation, as the Papists terme them, that is to say, needlesse works, as though men performed more then is commanded them: which was the beginning and the very ground whereon Monks merits were brought in. h A lively description of Monkerie. i Seeing they stand in meat & drinke, wherein the kingdome of God doth not stand.

6 For the which things sake the wrath of God [d] commeth on the children of disobedience.

7 Wherein yee also walked once, when ye liued in them.

8 But now put yee away euen all these things, wrath, anger, maliciousnes, cursed speaking, filthie speaking, out of your mouth.

9 Lye not one to another, [7] seeing that yee haue put off the olde man with his workes,

10 And haue put on the new, [8] which is renewed in [e] knowledge after the image of him that created him, 11 [9] Where is neither Grecian nor Iewe, circumcision nor vncircumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Christ is all, and in all things.

12 Nowe therefore as the elect of God, holy and beloued, [f] put on the [g] bowels of mercies, kindenesse, humblenesse of minde, meekenesse, long suffering:

13 Forbearing one another, and forgiuing one another, if any man haue a quarell to another: euen as Christ forgaue, euen so doe ye.

14 And aboue all these things put on loue, which is the [h] bond of perfectnesse.

15 And let the peace of God [i] rule in your hearts, to the which yee are called in [k] one body, and be ye thankefull.

16 Let the word of Christ dwell in you plenteously in all wisdome, teaching and admonishing your owne selues, in [l] Psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing with a grace in your hearts to the Lord.

17 ✣ And whatsoeuer ye shall doe, in word or deede, doe all in the [m] Name of the Lord Iesus, giuing thankes to God euen the Father by him.

18 ¶ ∴ [10] Wiues, submit your selues vnto your husbands, as it is [n] comely in the Lord.

19 ✣ [11] Husbands, loue your wiues, and be not bitter vnto them.

20 ¶ ✣ [12] Children, obey your parents in [o] all things: for that is well pleasing vnto the Lord.

21 [13] Fathers, prouoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.

22 ¶ [14] ∴ Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things, not with eye seruice as men pleasers, but in singlenesse of heart, fearing God.

23 And whatsoeuer ye doe, doe it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men, 24 Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receiue the [p] reward of the inheritance: for ye serue the Lord Christ.

25 [15] But hee that doeth wrong, shall receiue for the wrong that he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

b So he calleth that shewe of religion, which he spake of in the former Chapter.

4 A reason taken of the efficient causes and others: you are dead as touching the flesh, that is, touching the olde nature which seeketh after all transitorie things, and on the other side, you haue begun to liue according to the Spirit, therefore giue your selues to spirituall and heauenly, and not to carnall and earthly things.

5 The taking away of an obiection: whiles we are yet in this world, we are subiect to many miseries of this life, so that the life that is in vs, is as it were hidden: yet notwithstanding we haue the beginnings of life and glory, the accomplishment whereof which lyeth now in Christs and in Gods hand, shalbe assuredly and manifestly performed in that glorious comming of the Lord.

6 Let not your dead nature be any more effectuall in you, but let your liuing nature be effectuall. Now the force of nature is knowen by the motions. Therefore let the affections of the flesh die in you, and let the contrary motions which are spirituall, liue. And hee reckoneth vp a great long scroule of vices, and their contrary vertues. ✣ Ephes.5.3.

c The motions and lustes that are in vs, are in this place very properly called members, because that the reason and will of man corrupted, doeth vse them as the boy doeth his members.

d Vseth to come.

7 A definition of our newe birth taken of the partes thereof, which are the putting off of the olde man, that is to say, of the wicked nesse which is in vs by nature, and the restoring, and repairing of the newe man, that is to say, of purenesse which is giuen vs by grace: but both of them are but begunne in vs in this present life, and by certaine degrees finished the one dying in vs by little and little, and the other comming to the perfection of another life, by little and little.

8 Newenesse of life consisteth in knowledge which transformeth man to the image of God his maker, that is to say, to the sincerities and purenesse of the whole soule.

e He speaketh of an effectuall knowledge.

9 He telleth them againe that the Gospel doeth not respect those externall things, but true iustification and sanctification in Christ onely, which haue many fruites, as he reckoneth them vp here: But commendeth two things especially, to wit, godly concord, and continuall study of Gods word.

f So put on, that you neuer put off.

g Those most tender affections of exceeding compassion.

h Which bindeth and knitteth together all the duelies that passe from men to man.

i Rule and gouerne all things.

k You are ioyned together into one body through Gods goodnesse, that you might helpe one another, as fellowe members.

l By Psalmes he meaneth all godly songs which were written vpon diuers occasions, and by Hymnes, all such as conteine the prayse of God, and by spirituall songs, other more peculiar and artificious songs which were also in prayse of God, but they were made fuller of Musicke.

CHAP. IIII.

2 He returneth to generall exhortations, 3 touching praiers, and gratious speech, 7 and so endeth with gretings & commendations.

✣ 1. Tim. 4. 11.

14 ✣ Luke the beloued physician greeteth you, and Demas.

15 Salute the brethren which are of Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the Church which is in his house.

16 And when this Epistle is read of you, cause that it bee read in the Church of the Laodiceans also, and that ye likewise reade the Epistle written from Laodicea, 17 And say to Archippus, Take heede to the ministerie, that thou hast receiued in the Lorde, that thou fulfill it.

18 The salutation by the hand of me Paul. Remember my bands. Grace be with you. Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to the Colossians, and sent by Tychicus, and Onesimus.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 He therefore beginneth with thankesgiuing, 4 to put them in minde that whatsoeuer was prayse worthy in them, it came of Gods goodnesse: 8 and that they are ensamples vnto others.

PAVL, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, & in the Lord Iesus Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

2 [1] Wee giue God thankes alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers

3 [2] Without ceasing, remembring your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Iesus Christ, in the sight of God, euen our Father,

4 Knowing, beloued brethren, that yee are [a] elect of God.

5 [3] For our Gospel was not vnto you in word only, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in [b] much assurance, as ye knowe after what maner we were among you for your sakes.

6 [4] And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lord, and receiued the word in much affliction, with [c] ioy of the holy Ghost,

7 So that ye were as ensamples to all that beleeue in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For from you sounded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but your faith also which is toward God, spred abroad in all quarters, that wee neede not to speake any thing.

9 For [d] they themselues shew of vs what maner of entring in we had vnto you, & and how ye turned to God from idoles, to serue the liuing and true God,

10 And to looke for his sonne from heauen, whom he raised from the dead, euen Iesus which deliuereth vs from [e] that wrath to come.

1 An example of a right Christian reioycing, whereby also we learne, that such as haue great giftes in them, are in two sortes brideled, to wit, if they consider that they haue receiued all from God, and that continuance must be desired at his hands, whereunto also the whole Epistle exhorteth the Thessalonians.

2 He commendeth them for three special gifts, effectuall faith, continuall loue, and patient hope: to the ende they might be ashamed being indued with such excellent gifts, not to continue in Gods election.

a Word for word, that your election is of God.

3 Another reason why they ought in no wise start backe but continue to the ende, because they cannot doubt of his doctrine which hath bene so many wayes confirmed vnto them, euen from heauen, as they themselues did wel know.

b Paul sheweth by two things, that there followed very great fruite of his preaching, to wit, by these gifts of the holy Ghost, & that certaine assurance which was throughly setled in their mindes, as appeared by their willing hearing of the Crosse. 4 An other reason, because euen to that day, they embraced the Gospel with great cheerefulnesse, in so much that they were an example to all their neighbours: so that it should be more shame to them to faint in the mid race.

c With ioy which commeth from the holy Ghost. d All the beleeuers. 5 It is no true connection to forsake idoles, vnlesse a man therewithall worship the true and liuing God in Christ the onely redeemer.

e This word (That) is not put here without cause: and by (wrath) is meant that reuenge and punishment, wherewith the Lord will iudge the world at length in his terrible wrath.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee declareth how faithfully he preached the Gospel vnto them, 5 seeking neither gaine, 6 nor praise of men: 10 and he proueth the same by their owne testimonie: 14 that they did courageously beare persecutions of their countrey men: 17 that he desireth very much to see them.

FOR [1] ye your selues know, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine,

2 [2] But euen after that wee had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated at ✣ Philippi, (as ye knowe) we were bolde in [a] our God, to speake vnto you the Gospel of God, with much striuing.

3 [3] For our exhortation was not by deceite, nor by [b] vncleanesse, nor by guile.

4 [4] But as we were [c] allowed of God, that the Gospel should be cõmitted vnto vs, so we speake, not as they that please men, but God, which [d] approueth our hearts.

5 Neither yet did we euer vse flattering words, as ye knowe, nor coloured couetousnesse, God is record.

6 [5] Neither sought we prayse of men, neither of you, nor of others, when we might haue bene [e] chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ.

7 But we were [f] gentle among you, euen as a nource cherisheth her children.

8 [6] Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Gospel of God onely, but also our owne soules, because ye were deare vnto vs.

9 [7] For ye remember, brethren, ✣ our labour and trauaile: for we laboured day and night, because wee would not bee chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospel of God.

10 [8] Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and iustly, and vnblameably wee behaued our selues among you that beleeue.

11 [9] As ye know howe that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought euery one of you (as a father his children)

12 [10] That ye [*] would walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glorie.

13 [11] For this cause also thanke wee God without ceasing, that when yee receiued the word of God, which yee heard of vs, yee receiued it not as the word of men, but as it is in deede the word of God, which also worketh in you that beleeue.

1 That which he touched before shortly concerning his Apostleship, he handleth nowe more at large, and to that ende and purpose which we spake of.

2 The vertues of a true Pastour are, freely, & without feare to preach the Gospel, euen in the midst of dangers.

✣ Actes 14. 12.

a Through God his gracious helpe

3 To teach pure doctrine faithfully and with a pure heart.

b By any wicked and naughtie kinde of dealing.

4 To approoue his conscience to God, being free from all flatterie and couetousnesse.

c Seeing there is this difference betweene the iudgements of God and the iudgements of men, that when men choose, they respect the qualities of those things which stand before them, but God findeth the reason of his counsell onely in himselfe, it followeth that seeing we are not able to thinke a good thought, that whom soeuer he first chuseth to those holy callings, he maketh them able, and doeth not finde them able. And therefore in that we are allowed of God, it hangeth vpon his mercie. d Which liketh and alloweth of them. 5 To submit himselfe euen to the basest, to winne them, and to eschewe all pride.

e When I might lawfully haue liued vpon the expenses of the Church. f We were not rough, but easie, and gentle as a nource that is neither ambitious nor couetous, but taketh all paines as patiently as if she were a mother. 6 To haue the flocke that is committed vnto him in more estimation, then his owne life. 7 To depart with his owne right, rather then to be chargeable to his theepe. ✣ Actes 20. 34. 1. cor. 4. 12. 2. thes. 3. 8. 8 To excell other in example of godly life. 9 To exhort and comfort with a fatherly minde and affection. 10 To exhort all men diligently and earnestly to leade a godly life. ∵ Ephes. 4. 1. philip. 1. 27. colossians 1. 10. 11 Hauing approoued his ministe. ie, he commendeth againe (to that end & purpose that I spake of) the cheerefulnesse of the Thessalonians which was answerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

12 He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they suffered of their owne people, because they were afflicted of their owne countrey men: which came aswell (saith he) to the churches of the Iewes, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.

g Which Christ hath gathered together.

h Euen of them which are of the same countrey, and the same towne that you are of.

13 He preuenteth an offence which might be taken, for that the Iewes especially aboue all other persecuted the Gospel. That is no new thing (sayeth hee), seeing they slew Christ himselfe and his Prophets, and haue banished me also. 14 He foretelleth the vtter destruction of the Iewes, lest any man should be moued by their rebellion.

i For the Iewes would neither enter into the kingdome of God themselues, nor suffer other to enter in.

k Vntill the wickednesse of them, which they haue by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be growen so great, that the measure of their iniquitie being filled, God may come forth to wrath.

l The iudgement of God being angrie, which indeed appeared shortly after in the destruction of the cittie of Hierusalem, whither many resorted euen out of diuers prouinces, when it was besieged. 15 He meeteth with an obiection, why he came not to them straightwayes being in so great miserie, I desired often times (saith he) and it lay not in me, but Satan hindred my endeuors, and therefore I sent Timothie my faithfull companion vnto you, because you are most deare vnto me.

14 [12] For brethren, ye are [g] become followers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in [g] Christ Iesus, because ye haue also suffered the same things of your owne [h] countrey men, euen as they haue of the Iewes.

15 [13] Who both killed the Lord Iesus & their owne Prophets, & haue persecuted vs away, [i] and God they please not, and are contrary to [i] all men, 16 And forbid vs to preach vnto the Gentiles, that they might be saued, to [k] fulfill their sinnes alwayes: for the [l] wrath of God is come on them to the vtmost.

17 [15] Forasmuch, brethren, as we [m] were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, wee enforced the more to see your face with great desire.

18 Therefore we would haue come vnto you (I Paul, at least once or twise) but Satan hindred vs.

19 For what is our hope or ioy, or crowne of reioycing? are not euen you it in the presence of our Lord Iesus Christ at his comming?

20 Yes, ye are our glory and ioy.

CHAP. III.

1 To shew his affection towards them, he sendeth Timothie vnto them: 6 He is so moued by the report of their prosperous state, 9 that he cannot giue sufficient thanks, 11 and therefore he breaketh out into prayer.

✣ Acts 16.1.

1 The will of God, who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction, is a most sure remedie against all afflictios.

2 Because they haue hitherto gone so well forward, he exhorteth them againe to make an end of the rest of the iourney, seeing that therein also they shall do him their Apostle a great pleasure.

a For now you can not otherwise thinke me safe and in good case, vnlesse you goe forward in religion and faith.

✣ Rom. 1.10. and 15.23.

b Paul was constreined through the importunate dealing of the enemies to leaue the building which he had scarse begun: And for that cause he had left Silas and Timothie in Macedonia, and when Timothie came to Athens to him, he sent him backe againe straightway. So that he desireth to see the Thessalonians, that he may thoroughly accomplish their faith and religion, that was yet imperfect.

WHerefore since wee could no longer forbeare, we thought it good to remaine at Athens alone,

2 ✣ And haue sent Timotheus our brother and minister of God, and our labour fellow in the Gospel of Christ, to stablish you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3 That no man should be moued with these afflictions: [1] for ye your selues know, that we are appointed thereunto.

4 For verily when we were with you, we told you before that wee should suffer tribulations, euen as it came to passe, and ye know it.

5 Euen for this cause, when I could no longer forbeare, I sent him that I might know of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labour had bene in vaine.

6 [2] But now lately when Timotheus came fro you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith & loue, and that ye haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, desiring to see vs, as we also do you.

7 Therefore brethren, we had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessitie through your faith.

8 For now are wee [a] aliue, if ye stand fast in the Lord.

9 For what thankes can wee recompense to God againe for you for all the ioy wherewith we reioyce for your sakes before our God,

10 Night and day, ✣ praying exceedingly, that we might see your face, and might [b] accomplish that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Now God himselfe, euen our Father, and our Lord Iesus Christ, guide our iourny vnto you.

12 [3] And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in loue one toward another, and toward all men, euen as we do toward you:

13 ✣ To make your hearts stable & vnblameable in holinesse before God euen our Father, at the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ with all his Saints.

g Ye are become followers of the Churches of God, in that ye haue suffered the same things of your owne countrey men, that they did of the Iewes.

h Which Christ hath gathered together.

i Euen of them which are of the same countrey, and the same towne that you are of.

13 He preuenteth an offence which might be taken, for that the Iewes especially aboue all other persecuted the Gospel. That is no new thing (sayeth hee), seeing they slew Christ himselfe and his Prophets, and haue banished me also. 14 He foretelleth the vtter destruction of the Iewes, lest any man should be moued by their rebellion.

k For the Iewes would neither enter into the kingdome of God themselues, nor suffer other to enter in.

l Vntill the wickednesse of them, which they haue by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be growen so great, that the measure of their iniquitie being filled, God may come forth to wrath.

m The iudgement of God being angrie, which indeed appeared shortly after in the destruction of the cittie of Hierusalem, whither many resorted euen out of diuers prouinces, when it was besieged. 15 He meeteth with an obiection, why he came not to them straightwayes being in so great miserie, I desired often times (saith he) and it lay not in me, but Satan hindred my endeuors, and therefore I sent Timothie my faithfull companion vnto you, because you are most deare vnto me.

n Were kept aliue from you, and as it were orphans.

1 [1] Now therefore we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Iesus, that ye [a] increase more and more, as ye haue receiued of vs, how ye ought to walke, and to please God.

2 For yee know what commandements wee gaue you by the Lord Iesus.

3 ✣ [2] For this is the will of God euen your [b] sanctification, and that ye should abstaine from fornication,

4 [3] That euery one of you should know how to possesse his vessell in holinesse and honour,

5 [4] And not in the lust of concupiscence, euen as the Gentiles which know not God:

6 [5] That no man oppresse or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is auenger of all such things, as we also haue told you before-time, and testified.

7 [6] For God hath not called vs vnto vncleannesse, but vnto holinesse.

8 He therefore that [c] despiseth these things, despiseth not man, but God who hath euen giuen you his holy Spirit.

9 [6] But as touching brotherly loue, ye need not that I write vnto you: ✣ for ye are taught of God to loue one another.

10 Yea, and that thing verely ye doe vnto all the brethren, which are thorowout all Macedonia: but we beseech you brethren, that ye increase more and more,

11 [7] And that ye study to be quiet, & to meddle with your owne businesse, [8] and to worke with your owne hands, as we commanded you,

12 That ye may behaue your selues honestly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you.

13 ¶ [9] I would not, brethren, haue you ignorant [10] concerning them [11] which are asleepe, that ye sorow not euen as other which haue no hope.

14 [12] For if we beleeue that Iesus is dead, and is risen, euen so them which sleepe in [d] Iesus, will God [e] bring with him.

a Thirdly, he requireth a ready minde to all maner of louing kindnesse, and exhorteth them to profit more and more in that vertue. ✣ Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 1.Iohn 2.8 and 4.21. 7 He condemneth enquiet braines, and such as are curious in matters which appertaine not vnto them. 8 He rebuketh idlenesse and slouthfulnesse, which vices whosoeuer are giuen vnto, fall into other wickednesse, to the great offence of the Church. 9 The third part of the Epistle, which is enterlaced among the former exhortations (which he requireth vnto afterward) wherein he speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the maner of the resurrection, and of the later day. 10 We must take heed that we do not immoderately bewaile the dead, that is, as they vse to do which thinke that they are vtterly perished. 11 A confirmation: for death is but a sleepe of the body (for he speaketh of the faithfull) vntill the Lord commeth. 12 A reason of the confirmation, for seeing that the head is risen, the members also shall rise, and that by the vertue of God.

b Ye are in Christ, which continue in faith whereby they are grafted in Christ, euen to the last gaspe.

c Will call their bodies out of their graues, and ioyne their soules to them againe.
